Toronto, Oct. 18 (CP)—Synopsis: Cool air covers all of Canada, with below freezing temperatures tonight over most of Quebec and the Prairie Provinces. This cold air also covers the northwest and central states and has extended southward to near the Gulf of Mexico. Much warmer air covers the southeastern States. On the boundary between the warm and cold air a storm has developed and now is 4centred southeast of Lake Michigan and is moving rapidly east-northeastward. This storm is causing general rain over Southern Ontario and westward across Michigan and is expected to cause gales over the lower lakes today.

Boundary Between Hungary, Romania Causes Dispute

By ROBERT EUNSON

Paris, Oct. 18 (AP)—Delegates to the Paris Peace Conference found themselves faced with settling accounts for Attila the Hun and disputes dating back to the fifth century when they made a study of the boundary between Hungary and Romania.

They took Transylvania and its valuable farming lands away from Hungary, erasing the maps Hitler and Mussolini drew at Vienna in 1940 when Transylvania was taken from Romania, but the root of the problem goes back to 434 A.D.

By the fifth century, the tribes occupying what now is Hungary had overflowed into Transylvania by crossing the high ground between their land and settling the fertile valley beyond. When Attila and his Huns swept across Europe from the east they drove the Hungarians out of the lowlands and scattered them.

Since then there has been a confusion of races in what are known as the Balkan or Danubian States, with minority groups often suffering persecution. This has led to war so often that the Balkans have been termed the "powder keg of Europe."

The Paris map makers gave Transylvania back to Romania, concurring with an act of the Versailles Peace Conference. This was a great disappointment to the Hungarians, who failed to find a friend among the major powers to support them as did some of the other enemy states.

The only consolation Hungary got was the privilege of writing a bilateral treaty with Czechoslovakia on the disposition of 200,000 Hungarians who constitute a minority group in that Allied state. Czechoslovakia had asked the conference to expel the Hungarians immediately.

Sumner Welles to Speak For Dafoe Foundation

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State in the United States, will speak in Toronto Monday in the first public activity of the J. W. Dafoe Foundation, established in honor of the late doctor who brought the Dionne quintuplets into the world at Callander. Mr. Welles' tour also includes addresses in Winnipeg and Montreal.

MACLEAN SOUGHT DICK AFTER HIS DISAPPEARANCE

Supervisor of Street Railway Testifies Accused Asked For Word of Son-in-Law

By ALAN RANDAL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Hamilton, Oct. 18 — (CP)—On several occasions after John Dick disappeared his father-in-law, Donald MacLean who is charged with killing the Hamilton street car driver, went to Dick's supervisor and asked was there any word about him, an Assize Court jury heard today.

This was brought out in Crown testimony during the second day of the trial of MacLean and William Bohozuk, both charged with the March 6 torso killing of John Dick.

"Sometimes," said street railway supervisor William Motrom, "MacLean asked for him by name, John Dick, sometimes he just asked if we had heard anything about 'that Russian.' "

Through the morning of the second day of Hamilton's second torso murder trial the Crown spun its skein of circumstantial evidence in the same pattern it used earlier in the case against Mrs. Evelyn MacLean Dick, convicted and sentenced to be hanged next Jan. 7.

Evidence Unconnected

Sometimes, as the evidence came out it seemed unconnected to anyone who had not heard the Dick trial.

But the Crown assured Mr. Justice Urquhart that "it will all be connected later."

Before the morning session opened Mrs. Alexandra MacLean, wife of Donald MacLean, came to the courthouse at the request of the Crown.

Her visit gave promise of another session of dramatic court developments, similar to one week ago Tuesday when she took the witness stand against her daughter.

Mrs. MacLean is free on bail as a material witness in this case and as such is subject to any call from the Crown.

"She was told to be here and she's here," said one Crown official working on this second trial that grew from the March 6 slaying of John Dick and the finding of his mutilated torso March 16 on Hamilton Mountain.

Handcuffed Together

Outside in the rain a crowd of about 100 waited, hoping for admission to the courthouse. Spectators were kept out because members of the petit jury panel, were in the courthouse at the outset and filled all the seating capacity.

Bohozuk, a 27-year-old steelworker, and MacLean, 68, and a former employees of the Hamilton Street Railway were brought to court handcuffed together.

Turkey Answers 2nd Russ Demand For Joint Defence of Dardanelles

Ankara, Oct. 18 —(AP)— A detailed reply to the Soviet Union's second demand on Turkey for joint defence of the Dardanelles was delivered to Russian representatives today. Informed sources said they were certain the Russian proposal was flatly rejected.

Turkey was reported to have turned down the Russian plan for administration of the, vital strait only by Black Sea Powers, and to have frowned on any bilateral conversations with the Soviet Union preliminary to an international conference for revision of the 1936 Montreux convention governing the strait.

Informants said Turkey probably proposed again an international commission to determine whether Turkey had complied fully during the war with the terms of the Montreux Convention.

The Russian note of Sept. 24, renewing proposals for joint Soviet- Turk defence of the strait, charged that Axis ships had used the strait during the war. In her reply to the original Russian note Turkey conceded that some vessels passed through illegally, but said Turkey felt able to demonstrate she had acted in good faith in enforcing the terms of the convention.

Turkey has been backed in her stand by Britain and the United States.

London, —(CP)— Cevad Acikalin, Turkish ambassador in London, said today in an interview with Reuters News Agency that defence of the straits of Dardanelles "must remain in Turkish hands."

Acikalin's statement, made to Reuters diplomatic correspondent Pamela Mathews, came simultaneously with reports from Ankara that Turkey has delivered to Russian representatives a detailed reply rejecting the Soviet Union's second demand for joint defence of the Dardanelles.

Ackalin said the Russian proposals, which include a plan for administration of the strait only by the Black Sea powers, cannot be accepted because they would force Turkey "into a regional and exclusive policy for which the Turkish government has no taste."

"Turkey is a Mediterranean as well as a Black Sea power but the Turkish government would be no more willing to see the straits which connect the two seas controlled exclusively by the Mediterranean than by the Black Powers."

"The very definite attitude which the Turkish government has taken up on the matter is not a gamble on any hypothetical foreign support. Turkey feels herself strong and united and can not compromise on the issue."

New York Makes Bid To Become Permanent Home United Nations

By JOHN A. PARRIS Jr.

New York, Oct. 18 — (AP) — The city of New York made its big bid today to become the permanent home of the United Nations while San Francisco prepared to renew its efforts to establish the world capital on the west coast.

As Mayor William O'Dwyer formally transferred a 1939-40 World's Fair building to the United Nations he announced that the city had offered a portion of Flushing Meadow Park to the U. N. for its permanent home.

Mayor O'Dwyer handed to secretary-general Trygve Lie of the U. N. the keys to the fair's New York City building in which the General Assembly will open next Wednesday. Sessions of the Assembly will be held here until a permanent site is selected.

San Francisco, which has fought for the site since the organization was born there last year, failed by three votes in London to become the U.N. seat during the U. N. Preparatory Commission session.

A part of the San Francisco delegation arrived in New York several days ago. Governor Earl Warren of California and Mayor Roger Lapham are expected here soon to bolster San Francisco's fight for the world capital.

The General Assembly in London approved the Westchester (N.Y.)-Fairfield (Conn.) area as a sit for the headquarters, but a site commission eliminated the Fairfield area. Now it has been narrowed down to five proposed sites in the Westchester County area.

Most observers believe that when these proposed sites are submitted to the General Assembly here ,the entire question of the permanent site will be reopened.

Mayor O'Dwyer said that if the United Nations should indicate its acceptance of the Flushing site, the City of New York would immediately request state and local legislation authorizing it to carry out the terms of the offer.

The Mayor's architects and engineers estimate that the project can be built at this location for $65,000,000. The land would be free.

If one of the Westchester sites were selected the United Nations would have to buy the land which ,it is pointed out, comes at a highly-inflated price.

NOV. 1 DEADLINE FOR SCRAPPING PRICE CONTROLS

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—The administration's program for ridding the United States economy of federal restraints went into high gear today, with Nov. 1 set at the deadline for scrapping a majority of wartime price controls.

A high official said that foods, services and many commodities will be taken out from under ceilings by them—two months or more earlier than had been planned before President Truman's meat decision.

This official emphasized that it will be "an orderly retreat" from controls and will not result in "riots or chaos."

For the less immediate future, he added that price lids will remain on rents, automobiles, building materials, refrigerators, furniture, basic clothing items and farm implements.

Major developments on the fast-moving decontrol front include:

1. Flour, ,bread and other bakery products figured in speculation as the next important food items to be freed of price ceilings.

Chicago flour circles voiced doubt, however, that flour ceilings would be scrapped immediately. Selling in wheat broke the prices of bread cereal in a jittery Chicago market.

2. Coffee went off the controlled list completely. And price lids were hoisted slightly on jams, jellies, fruit preserves and men's white handkerchiefs among other things.

3. South of the border, the vanguard of 500,000 young Mexican beef cattle began to move toward fattening pastures and ranges throughout the southwest United States.

The cattle must be fed, fattened and processed, however. Hence their entrance will have little or no immediate effect on the current meat situation.

4. An avalanche of meat—the biggest in 10 months—jammed United States livestock markets. Prices collapsed from $1 to $10 a hundred pounds yesterday. Butter, eggs and poultry also dropped.

5. Administration leaders, forecasting a congressional drive aimed at junking all controls (including rents and the veterans housing program), agreed that the entire office of price administration staff of 34,000 and its functions must be slashed to the bone before the lawmakers reconvene in January.

6. Labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board renewed their demands on the White House to kill all wage controls immediately.

7. The C.I.O. cost of living committee assailed rising meat prices and declared that "millions of miners, railroad, steel and other workers will lack important ingredients in their diet."

8. Automotive production, still under controls, slumped during September. The civilian production administration blamed shortages in sheet steel, pig iron, copper and lead.

HUNT FOR JEWELS GOES ON APACE IN ENGLAND, EUROPE

London, Oct. 18—(CP)— Ace investigators from Scotland Yard streched a dragnet across England and into Europe today in search for thieves who stole part of the Duchess of Windsor's jewlry, even as a military car, tentatively identified as Canadian, was declared as the most important clue in the case.

Several persons living near Ednam Lodge in Sunningdale, Berkshire, scene of the theft, reported to police that a large military-type car was seen in the vicinity of the lodge three times during the last week.

Police said the vehicle was described as a Canadian army staff car, but that the description given was not detailed enough to make its identification as Canadian certain.

Ednam Lodge, an hour's drive from London, is owned by the Earl of Dudley, Banker and international industrial and a close associate of the Duke of Windsor before the war.

The tweed-clad Duke, who had come to England for a private, quiet visit, himself valued the loot at not more than £20,000 ($80,000). Speaking from his temporary home at Sunningdale, where the robbery was committed Wednesday night, he told British newspapermen he was ,deeply concerned and annoyed at "the exaggerated reports of the value of the stolen jewelry," which one British paper placed as high as £500,000 ($2,000,000).

"There is absolutely no truth in the published statement that the jewelry was worth £250,000 ($1,000,000)," the Duke said. "I can understand that £250,000 makes better reading than £20,000, but £20,000 is the value."

The British Press Association said later that it had been confirmed officially that the value of the stolen jewels did not exceed £20,000 (80,000).

Jewelry was taken from the Duchess' bedroom in the Ednam Lodge home of the Earl of Dudley Wednesday night by a "cat burglar" who police said, evidently climbed an ivy-encircled pipe to a second-storey window.

Some Jewels Found on Golf Course

More mystery was added to the circumstances surrounding the daring theft when searchers last night found a substantial quantity of the Duchess' world-famous collection scattered over a golf course adjoining the grounds of the lodge.

Police combed London's underworld, tightened a dragnet around airfields and seaports and notified the Paris Surete and police in Amsterdam, New York City, Buenos Aires and other jewel markets to be on the lookout. Scotland Yard's senior detectives coastal inspectors were on the case.

BAND OF LEFTISTS SUFFERS LOSSES WHEN REPULSED

Greek Town Siatista Is Badly Damaged In Three-Hour Battle Two Other Clashes

Athens, Oct. 18 —(AP)— A Leftist band of 200 attacked the town of Siatista and suffered heavy losses when driven off by gendarmerie yesterday, the Ministry of Public Order said today.

Siatista, a town of 5,000 about 12 miles west of Kozane in western Macedonia, was badly damaged in the three-hour battle, during which the attackers abandoned an anti-tank gun and seized one townsman, officials said. The precise number of casualties was unavailable because the attackers took their dead and wounded with them when they withdrew.

In another attack in the Kozane area, at Vlatsi village, nve Leftists were reported killed when ambushed by gendarmes.

Nine others were reported killed in a clash between Litochoron and Platomone on the west side of the Gulf of Salonika on the main Athens-Salonika railway line.

Quantity of Liquor Unchanged Though U.S. Bottles Larger

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Hon. William Griesinger, chairman of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, said today it is unlikely that if bottles from the United States are used for Canadian liquor that buyers will find any more than the usual 25 ounces of rye in their bottles.

Commenting on a dispatch from Windsor yesterday saying that the U. S. bottles hold 26 2/3 ounces and their use might add 1 2/3 ounces to the province's monthly liquor ration, Mr. Griesinger said the question is under study but it is more than likely that Canadian distillers will put only 25 ounces in the bottles and state on the seal the amount they contain. The extra capacity of the U. S. bottles, larger than Canadian, would go unused.

Mr. Griesinger said the bottle situation now is under study and he is hopeful of improvement. But he declined to say when a restoration of the ration cut could be expected.

Investigators Are Still Uncertain Where Goering Swallowed Poison

By THOMAS A. REEDY

Nuernberg, Oct. 18—(AP)— A theory that Hermann Goering slipped his poison vial into his mouth while in the toilet cubicle in a corner of his cell Wednesday night was advanced by prison officials today.

Col. B. C. Andrus, prison commandant showing correspondents the cell occupied by the condemned Reichsmarshal, said the toilet was so located that the guard peering constantly through the door could not possibly have seen the upper part of the prisoner's body.

It was recalled that Robert Ley, Nazi Labor chief, managed to avoid detection in the same way when he hanged himself by attaching a wet towel to a plumbing fixture.

The legs and feet of the prisoner were plainly visible to the guard, who was then instructed to enter the cell on the slightest suspicion. Some prisoners frequently objected to this, said Capt. Robert Starnes, a prison officer.

How the poison vial, contained within a two-inch cartridge, got into the cell remained a major mystery. Col Andrus said it would have been impossible for Goering to conceal the cartridge on his person for any length of time. He said the prison doctor never at any time made a rectal examination of Goering after the Nazi leader was committed to this jail.

A high source, meanwhile, revealed that the Allied control council had rejected after long and bitter argument a proposal that the brains of Goering and the 10 executed leaders who followed him in death be examined scientifically.

The subject of examining the brains of the men condemned to death by the International Military Tribunal was raised in several sessions of the four - power council for Germany, an anonymous but throughout reliable officer said, but it was vetoed each time.

Investigation of the means by which Hermann Goering obtained the cyanide which enabled him to cheat the gallows Tuesday night continued today, but without any indication from the three - man board as to what progress it was making, if any.

With the ashes of the 11 dead Nazis scattered to the winds, it became apparent here that the decision to cremate the executed men, together with that of Goering, was made only a short time before Wednesday morning's hangings, because officials in Nuernberg were preparing as recently as last Thursday for ordinary, but secret, burials.

Reports circulating here indicated that discussion among the four occupying powers as to what to do with the bodies after death centred around two main factors:

1. How much criticism would be involved in cremating the 11 men—including five Roman Catholics — inasmuch as the Roman Catholic church prohibits cremation?

(An informed source of the Vatican said last night that the cremation of the Nazis was "not approvable" by the church but that he doubted any official pronouncement would be made in the case.

2. Which is better, to keep the world in the dark about the final disposition of the bodies, or to make it impossible for anyone to do anything about the bodies even if everyone knew what happened?

10 Cents an Hour Increase Will Be Retroactive June 1

Other Employees of C.P.R. Given the Same Raise

Ottawa, Oct. 18 —(CP)— The National War Labor Board today authorized wage increases of 10 cents an hour or the equivalent for 17,000 trainmen of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

In a second decision, the Board also authorized a similar wage increase for other employees of the Canadian Pacific ranging from engineers, telegraphers and hotel employees to steel metal workers, boilermakers and maintenance of way workers.

The increases are retroactive in both cases to June 1 this year.

The board directed that proposals for changes in rules governing working conditions affecting compensation be reserved until next Feb. 1.

In dealing with the increases for those employees other than trainmen employed by the Canadian Pacific, the board observed that it already had granted a 10-cent-an-hour increase Aug. 26 for C.N.R. workers in those classifications.

The increases for trainmen go to 17,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in the following railroads:

Canadian National Railways, Canadian Pacific Railway Co., Dominion Atlantic Railway; Grand Riger Railway Co., Lake Erie & Northern Railway Co., Montreal & Southern Counties Railway Co., Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway, Northern Alberta Railways Co., Oshawa Railway, Quebec Central Railway Co., Temiscouata Railway Co., Hamilton & Buffalo Railway Co., Toronto Terminals Railway, Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway (Ontario Northland Railway) and Winnipeg Public Market (Union Stock Yards.)

Four companies were excluded from the decision on the grounds they were "regional" employers and were directed to apply to Regional War Labor Boards having jurisdiction. They were Algoma Central & Hudson Bay Railway Co., Essex Terminal Railway, Pacific Great Eastern and Sydney & Louisburg Railway Co.

Unions to Benefit

The increases applying to the Canadian Pacific and previously granted to C.N.R. employees went to employees of the C.P.R. and the following subsidiary companies.

Lake Erie & Northern Railway; Grand River Railway; Napierville Junction Railway; Dominion Atlantic Railway; Quebec Central Railway; Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railroad; Toronto Terminal Railway; Public Markets Ltd; Northern Alberta Railways; Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and the Railway Association of Canada.

They apply to employees in the following unions:

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; Order of Railway Conductors; Order of Railroad Telegraphers; Commercial Telegraphers' Union; Railway employees' Department; International Association of Machinists; International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, Steam Plant Employees, Round-House & Railway Shop Laborers; Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees; Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen; Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees & other Transport Workers; Brotherhood of Railway & Steamship Clerks Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; Hotel and Restaurant Employees, International Alliance and Bartenders International League; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers, International Brotherhood of Sheet Metal Workers; Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America; Brotherhood of Express Employees, Canadian Pacific Railway; United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters of the United States and Canada; International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America.

No One Can Tell What Will Happen To Bread Prices

Toronto, Oct. 18 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said today that the price of bread "is just as likely to go down as to go up" if and when federal wheat controls and the wheat subsidy are ended.

"No one can tell at this stage what will happen," Mr. Gardiner told The Canadian Press, amplifying his recent speech in the Portage La Prairie federal by-election campaign when he said the life of the present wheat controls differential is talked of now as between three and six months.

Today Mr. Gardiner said wheat controls and subsidy would end sometime but when that would come about "depends on what happened to a lot of other things."

As to what would happen to the price of bread when wheat control ended, he said "you can't be sure of any of these things," mentioning the meat price situation in the United States where prices rose when controls were lifted early this week and then slumped yesterday.

C.N.R. OFFICIALS VISIT TERMINAL

Mr. R. C. Vaughan, Montreal, chairman of the board and president of the Canadian National Railways, with R. C. Johnston, Toronto, assistant general manager and vice president of the central region, and J. A. Argo, freight traffic manager, was in the city recently on a routine inspection trip of the division from Belleville to Midland.

29 RADIO OWNERS HAD NO LICENCES

Twenty-nine radio owners paid $2 fines and $3 costs this week as a result of a check-up on city radios by A. G. E. Argue, Department of Transport, Radio Division, Ottawa.

Three cases were adjourned in city police court today when the matter was brought up before the county magistrate.

Sale of licences in the city now amounts to approximately 3,200, according to Mr. Argue. This amounts to roughly 80 per cent of the number which ordinarily should be sold here.

The inspector is continuing his check-up of delinquents in the city and district, and intimated today that further court action will be taken in the immediate future.

SCOUT "APPLE DAY" REALIZES $791.27.

The Belleville Boy Scout Association, despite inclement weather, did its collective good deed on Saturday last, "Apple Day." For the scouts, like the good scouts they are braved everything the weather man had to offer and sold their apples to an appreciative public.

Over 60 bushels of the tasty fruit were sold and a gross amount of $791 27 realized.

Scout officials, announcing complete figures today, expressed their sincere appreciation of the generous response to their appeal for funds through the medium of their now traditionally famous "Apple Day."

Ottawa Man Charged With Assaulting Officer

Appearing before Magistrate T. Y. Wills on a charge of assaulting a police officer, A. Ethier of Ottawa, today was remanded until Tuesday to give him the opportunity of securing counsel.

The charge arose as a result of an alleged attack on P.C. Charles Moore when on Saturday evening the officer was struck over the head by a bottle as he was escorting a drunk to the police station. It is charged that Ethier came up behind the officer and struck him.

Rent Increased Illegally.

Drunk charges predominated the morning's court procedure, while one charge under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board against B. Spiegel, Station Street, for increasing rent without the approval of the Prices Board saw the accused plead guilty and assessed a fine of $25 and costs.

Defence Counsel Robt. McCulloch stated the accused had increased the rent without making application to the Prices Board, following installation of additional plumbing at the tenant's request. E. E. Follwell acted as special prosecutor for the case.

Radio Advertising Subject of Talk To Underwriters

Presenting a program of unusual interest, Mr. T. V. Wilkinson, commercial manager of radio station CJBQ was guest speaker at the regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association held on Thursday at the Bar-B-Q Resaurant. Members were given an insight into the technique of radio advertising and were entertained with a sample program "Strange Wills."

The meeting was under the auspices of the Great West Life Assurance Company with Mr. A.L. Burke, past president, introducing the guest speaker for his company. Also present was Mr. Hanle MacDonald of the CJBQ commercial department who assisted in the program.

Awards Presented

The business session on Thursday was the happy occasion of the presentation of National Quality awards to seven members of the local association. These awards conferred for the first time this year by the Life Underwriters of Canada are made in recognition of the high quality of the underwriter's work and service to his policyholders. Those winning the Award were— Henry Sager, Prudential Life Insurance Company, George A. Reid, Great West Life Assurance Co., J. J. Hibbard, Imperial Life Insurance Company, R. B. Morden, Canada Life Assurance Company, F. B. Elliott, C. L. U., Great West Life Assurance Company, Napanee, Carman Burr, Mutual Life Assurance Company Picton, and D. G. Williams, Mutual Life Assurance Company.

Mr. Don Williams, president, was in the chair for the meeting The names of Jack Murphy and Don Ridley were added to the members of the executive committee and Eric Cooper was elected chairman of the membership committee. Mr. A. L. Burke was named as nominee from the local organization for the position of provincial vice-president, while the president was chosen as delegate to the annual meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association in Toronto in January.

In introducing Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Burke referred to the rapid growth of interest in the local radio station and spoke of the excellent coverage being given community affairs, especially Belleville Fair.

Create Good Will

Mr. Wilkinson discussed in an interesting manner various phases of radio advertising. At present with conditions as they are, advertisers are not able to obtain the products which they wish to publicize and so must confine their appeals to keeping their name before the public and creating good will so that when they are able to supply products their name will be familiar to the buying public.

Selling to the radio public brings the advertiser into the home without him having to ring the doorbell. His message comes to the listener when he is relaxed and in a receptive mood. In order to arouse and sustain the hearer's interest, the program sponsored must have direct audience appeal. Mr. Wilkinson stressed the need of having the radio program adapted to the product advertised and as an illustration he presented a sketch entitled "Strange Wills" which he said would be suited for a program advertising life insurance. The program was heard with keen enjoyment by the members present and at its conclusion, Mr. Wilkinson answered questions by the audience.

The appreciation of the Association for the splendid address and program was conveyed to the guests, Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. MacDonald, by Mr. George A. Reid who paid tribute to the fine work being accomplished by the Belleville radio station. Mr. Reid who has been a member of the Life Underwriters' Association for twenty-eight years referred to the National Quality Award and to the policy of the Association as a whole.

HUNT FOR JEWELS

jewels prompted two lines of theory in the investigation—(1) That the theives had been surprised in the act of dividing up the haul and had fled, leaving some behind, or (2) that they deliberately discarded pieces too well known to be disposed.

Scotland Yard's assessors still were examining the recovered jewelry today.

The Duke's solicitor, H. G. Allen, tentatively valued the gems at £20,000, ($80,000) and those recovered at £5,000 (20,000), but London newspapermen said other sources had assured them the missing treasure was worth much more.

The Daily Mail, headlining the "Greatest Robbery on Record," places the value of the gems at £500,000 ($2,000,000) and says those recovered were worth at least £100,000 ($400,000).

Mr. Allen, onetime advisor to the Duke, said it had not been possible to get a full evaluation yet but declined to revise the figures he said he had been "authorized to give for publication."

20th Anniversary of Institute in This District Celebrated by Banquet

On Thursday afternoon at the Women's Institute Convention a panel discussion led by Mrs. C. Holmes on the theme of the meeting was held with the presiding officers taking part. Mrs. Hoskins summarized that homes are the structure of our family where dictatorship gives way to democratic living. She defined a good citizen as one who knows and obeys the laws, makes use of his franchise, sets a good example to the younger generation, and helps others to live. Mrs. R. Badgley, who presided at the afternoon session stated that now that we are Canadian citizens we have assumed responsibilities with our nationality. Mrs. K. Faul spoke in favor of better housing with Hydro so country women may have more leisure. She advocated training women to be school trustees. Mrs. Gawley of Eldorado said loyalty should first be taught at home, then at school if we expect our children to be loyal to the British Empire when they are adults.

Traces Growth of Movement

Mrs. A. Summers of Fonthill, who is President of the Provincial Women's Institute, traced the growth of the movement from its small beginning forty-nine years ago at Stoney Creek when a few women banded together to try to make available better knowledge for home and community living. Quoting Oliver Wendell Holmes, the speaker said, "It is better to light a little candle than to curse the darkness."

"We have reached adulthood as an organization," said Mrs. Summers, "and it is time we took our place in formulating public opinion and public policy. It is the responsibility of the Women's Institute to awaken women to take their place in the pageant of life and come out from behind kitchen stoves and kitchen sinks. We cannot escape and cannot shelve our responsibilities. Get in contact with your member of parliament," the speaker urged.

Help Young People

"Let them know what we think of new legislation," continued the speaker. Do not be content when you have cast your ballot, but express your opinion. "We should have more women in the legislatures.

"There is nothing more important than helping young people, promoting community centres; and aiding home making groups. To celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the Institutes next year a scholarship fund in Home Economics is to be established to give leadership in homemakers' field.

"A home is to be built in Stoney Creek to mark the spot where the Institute was started. This will be used as an Institute centre where visiting celebrities may stay.

"Aid your schools in having hot lunches served to rural schools. Clean up the roadsides so our country will look attractive to our American guests. Get behind the health services. Give warm welcomes to war brides and thus help to establish friendly relationships, and strengthen the bonds of kinship. The spirit of good-will reaches out and spreads in ever-widening circles of peace and good-will through the community."

16,000 Volunteer Workers

Mrs. H. Webb of Brockville, vice chairman of the Consumer's Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board stated that there are over sixteen thousand volunteer employees still with this department because their duties did not end on VJ- Day. There is also a small paid office staff. People are not asking for repeal of price controls in Canada, although controls have been removed from some good that were plentiful. Prices have gone up here and there, but a careful watch is kept. Canada can control prices from the wholesaler and the retailer but not on imports. After the last war prices were up 66.3 per cent, but this time they are up just 27.6 per cent. The increase is due to the increased cost of production, to the removal of price control on some articles.

More Items Expected

There are shortages in some items due to industrial strikes and short supplies. More corn starch is expected to be on the market in November as large quantities of corn have been imported. More men's shirts have been manufactured than in the previous three years, but the demand has been greater with discharged service personnel. The government is directing materials into the making of garments that are scarce, but we are not able to get our full quota of cotton. Mrs. Webb urged her listeners if they knew any child who was unable to go to school because of the acute shortage of children's underwear to write to the Consumer's Branch and they would remedy such a situation.

By means of price cards, normal buying was checked, and women were asked to help by reporting any goods of inferior quality, or flagrant abuse of price ceiling. Panic buying makes shortages, and Mrs. Webb related an instance where a large department store asked their customers to save on paper bags as soon there would not be any paper, and in two hours there was no paper in the city of Toronto.

Banquet Held

The twentieth anniversary banquet was served by the ladies of the Tabernacle Church. In honor of this event a birthday cake with candles was lighted, and the Past Presidents of the districts each performed the ceremony of cutting a piece of cake.

When the meeting convened for the evening session the band of the Belleville Collegiate with Mr. Cooper directing contributed several musical numbers.

B.C.I. Principal Speaker.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. G. E. Currie, principal of the Collegiate, who based his remarks on "The Psychology of the Teen-Agers."

"The growth of the child takes in his mental, physical, emotional, social and spiritual development," Mr. Currie stated.

"The teen-age has been overstressed. It is a transitional period. Their personality is a product of their environment and their heredity.

"The child experiences emotions of anger, amusement, joy, fear and so on, and he learns how to control them. Sometimes a child experiences fear through terror of something and sometimes through continued failure he feels frustrated. Emotionally unstable parents who express fear at a flash of lightning, naturally terrify the child, as the parent is his only source of protection. Sometimes parents play on a child's fear to discipline him, and tell him things that are not true like stories of a bogeyman, which inspire fear.

Child Needs Affection.

"A child experiences pleasure which satisfies an emotional craving. He should be allowed exercise of his mind and body, and allowed adventures into new experiences which are wholesome and where he has reasonable protection. He needs praise which gratifies him, and he needs affection, and a feeling of security. He should have laughter and humor, as much good-natured, happy fun in the family as possible. Losing one's sense of humor may be the first step to mental ill-health. He is a social creature and affection is important to him from his first breath.

The average person reaches the peak of his mentality at the age of sixteen, and if he enters high school at fifteen he finds the work getting progressively harder. Some people with limited mentality overwork, and should change to another course where they can make use of their hands. They should have a sense of achievement.

"Adolescents have certain needs. They should live in a warm, reciprocal affection to give them a feeling of security. They need the feeling of belonging in the home and with playmates. We should make every effort to make the child feel secure. Insecurity is closely related to delinquency, he will seek satisfaction by a means not wholesome. When parents disagree on discipline or show favoritism, irregular discipline, or too much over-indulgence, the child is bewildered.

Needs Independence.

A child needs independence. In adolescence a child should begin to set his own standards, and think for himself. He should be encouraged to make his own choice and take responsibility for his own actions, within the limits of his age.

"He needs hobbies and a chance to do things, creative activities. He needs to feel socially acceptable. We should seek out something a child excels in and praise it. He needs a sense of self-esteem, of his personal worth in the sight of God and man.

"He should find a philosophy by which to live and this is the place for religion. He must face his fears and his limitations. Evolution is on a spiritual plane. Our boys and girls cannot run any better than they did five thousand years ago. They cannot think any better than they did five thousand years ago. The only way we can advance is on a spiritual plane, therefore our children need a religion."

Importance of Safety Committee Work in Industry Stressed at Meeting

Approximately fifty persons representing fourteen industrial plants in the city attended the monthly meeting of the Belleville section of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association held at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday evening.

As guest speaker for the evening Fred Ethier, works manager of the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corp. pointed out the importance and advantages of a safety committee in industry and also outlined how they can be best put into operation. Management of all industry today attached great importance to a progressive safety program he stated.

For best results it was pointed out that top management must first be sold on the idea of a safety committee as being a body which can do a job in preventing accidents in the plant, and then follow up this action as the program can be carried on successfully when backed by the management.

H. M. Burley, chairman of the Belleville section, pointed out that nearly all firms represented at the meeting had active safety committees doing a splendid job. This was indicated by the fact that the Central Ontario Division has the lowest accident record in Ontario.

However, Mr. Burley stated that several industries in the district still have no safety program and he called upon these to co-operate with the committee in their efforts to have a safety committee in every plant. In this connection a special meeting is being held in Trenton, on Nov. 13 under the sponsorship of Mr. G. Reilly, superintendent of the Benedict Proctor Co.

A vote of thanks to the guest speaker was extended by J. Collins of the Consolidated Optical while entertainment was provided by Jimmy Corradi at the piano, with Frank Lang acting as song leader.

REV. DR. NORMAN COLL

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, celebrates its 93rd. anniversary Sunday, 20 October with services at 11 and 7.30. The preacher for the day will be Lt.-Col. The Rev. Dr. Norman Coll, M.A., O.B.E., of Parkdale United Church, Ottawa, who served with distinction for six years overseas with the Canadian Army as original Padre of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and later as Senior Protestant Padre of First Canadian Army Troops. He is also a veteran of the First World War. Dr. Coll is one of the United Church of Canada's ablest preachers.

Car, Transport In Collision, Two Are Hurt

Result of a sideswipe collision between a westbound Burford Transport truck and an eastbound automobile, Alex Calberry, St. Paul Street, and William Maracle, Deseronto, are in Belleville hospital suffering from multiple injuries. Neither was seriously injured, it was reported. Bush's ambulance took the men to hospital.

The accident occurred approximately one mile west of Shannonville shortly before five o'clock Thursday evening when the automobile in which Calberry and Maracle were riding was in collision with the transport driven by Hugh Parkhurst, Pinnacle St., Belleville. According to Traffic Officer Sam Ervine the car was a complete wreck, while the truck tractor was also considerably damaged. Driver of the truck escaped injury.

Bazaar and Tea Sponsored by OES No. 55 Success

On the afternoon of Wednesday, the Belleville Chapter No. 55 of the Order of the Eastern Star, held a bazaar and afternoon tea in the Oddfellows' Hall, from three to six o'clock, with Mrs. Phyllis Barlow as convener assisted by Mrs. Edna Morden and Mrs. Mary MacLean.

The Worthy Matron, Mrs. Margaret Shaw, received the guests, and Mrs. Elsie Harrison convened the tea room, assisted by Mesdames Hazel Baragar and Aletha Cornish. Here ferns and Autumn flowers were used for decorations, and the tea table covered with a lace cloth, was centred with a unique silver vase, with yello wand branze 'mums, on a large reflector. This was flanked with candelabra holding ivory tapers, the whole presenting a very attractive appearance.

The ladies pouring tea were Mesdames M. J. Barlow, E. Taylor, E. Reid, Grace McEwan, Maud Elliott, and Edna Dobbs, Worthy Matron of Minerva Chapter. Replenishing the plates were Mesdames Essie Naylor, Beatrice Embury, Flossie Smith and Lily Law, while the ladies serving were Mesdames Lola Wilkin, Ethel Stewart, Rachel Lundy, Jean Stephenson, Mae Elliott, Greta Baker, Nora MacDonald, Marie Barlow, Ada MacDonald, Marjorie Onderdonk, Ada Thompson, Dorothy McGlashon, Mary Newman, Glass White, Olive Whitehead, Emily Stevens, Jennie Lummis, Lillian Hall, Grace Brown, Freda LaRue, Gladys Grey, Bessie Bush; and the Misses Mary Lloyd and Hazel Smith.

Fancy work, in pink and blue with Mrs. Leah Pitt, as convener; Novelties, in mauve and yellow with Mrs. Marjorie Stratton as convener; Aprons, in blue and yellow, with Mrs. Kathleen Adams as convener; Home-cooking, in rainbow colors with Mrs. Mary MacLean as convener; Handkerchiefs, in Autumn shades with Mrs. Irene Brown as convener; Plants, in Hallowe'en colors, with Mrs. Elizabeth Holst, as convener.

The Grocery Basket under the supervision of Mrs. Nellie Armstrong and Mrs. Sarah Morgan, and well patronized and Greeting cards offered by Miss Mary Carmichael and Miss Phyllis Clapp were very popular. Treasurers for the afternoon were Mesdames Ethel Adams, Sarah Bowyer, Maria Stephenson and B. Mills.

Ald. Woodley Talks On Civic Administration

Mr. Harold "Twig" Woodley was guest speaker at the regular Thursday dinner meeting of the Y's Men's Club when he spoke on the "Cost of Civic Administration in Belleville." Mr. Woodley outlined the cost of the various departments and how they functioned, discussed housing needs, garbage disposal, civic park, and new industries and the work of the industrial commission, the hospital and other points, and following the address answered a number of questions from Y members. The speaker was introduced by President Archie Boyd and thanked by Vice President Bud Trill.

Arrangements were completed for members to attend the Y's Regional Conclave at Brantford this weekend.

Proposal Made by Mayor to Bring Question of Finance Before Council

An estimated $400,000 cost of construction of the proposed new Chronic Convalescent Hospital here, which threw a bombshell into financial plans of the Women's Christian Association, sponsors of the institution, precipitated a keen discussion between W.C.A. members, Mayor Frank Follwell and the city council, Hastings County officials and members of the medical profession in the City Hall on Thursday afternoon.

The discussion called by the W.C.A. for the purpose of suggesting remedial financial measures for the surprise increased cost, was productive of nothing more than proposals by Mayor Follwell that the W.C.A. present recommnedations to the City Council to the effect that that body extend further grants, or that it take over the Belleville General Hospital and erect the new chronic hospital.

Govt. Grant of $100,000

Mrs. J. Imlah, president of the W.C.A. told the meeting that the government had provided a grant of $100,000 with the proviso that a similar amount be raised in Belleville for the construction of a 50-bed hospital. This bed capacity had since been increased to 66, with additional cost of construction resulting.

The City of Belleville, she said, had promised a grant of $40,000; the County of Hastings, $25,000. The township of Ameliasburg, $2,500, with the balance of $32,500 to be raised by her association.

"At that time," Mrs. Imlah said, "the W.C.A. thought it was within its abilities to raise this amount, but since the cost has increased by $200,000 which leaves $232,500 to be procured, we feel that we are not able to raise this amount. We have called this meeting in the hope that we can get assurance from the city and the county of increased financial backing."

Interested in New Hospital.

"The city council is very much interested in the new hospital," Mayor Follwell told the meeting, "otherwise it would not have granted $40,000 to its cost of construction." He and his council realized the necessity of going forward with the project," he said and he felt that the Ontario Government would consider an additional grant if it were approached on the matter.

The Mayor suggested two ways of financing the increased cost of construction. One was to approach the city council for additional grants, and secondly for W.C.A. to request the city, in view of the heavy financial burden placed on that organization, to take over the Belleville hospital and erect the new institution. He, personally, was in favor of the proposals and would do his best to promote them.

Alderman Glen Thompson bluntly told the meeting that the city council had no authority to make exorbitant grants to hospitals, but in answer to Mrs. Imlah's inference that the hospital would be used as a "political football" stated that in a number of cases municipality-owned hospitals were proving a success.

County Warden Heard.

Warden James Nickle, Hastings County, stated that his council will be faced with many requests for grants for hospitals this year including Trenton and Bancroft. While he was definitely in favor of the construction of the new chronic convalescent institution, he was not, he said, in a position at the present time to say what the county would do regarding the question of an increased grant.

The Ontario Department of Health had discontinued grants to hospitals for capital expenditure, J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A., Hastings West, told the meeting. "But," he added, "if an application is made for an increase of the grant already given, I will be glad to do all I can for it."

Mayor Follwell stated at this point that he was strongly in favor of the W.C.A. maintaining an active interest in the operation of the hospital in the event the city takes it over. "You have done such a wonderful job in the past" he said, "that I would like to see your organization continue in its sphere of hospital activities."

Mrs. Imlah at this point said she was "rather hesitant in turning over to the city something worth three quarters of a million dollars with no recompense." She suggested the possibility of selling the hospital to the city and using the proceeds for the construction of a new Old Peoples' Home.

"There might be a possibility of selling—at a reasonable price," replied the mayor suggesting that the W.C.A. draft their proposition and present it to council as soon as possible.

Points Out Need

Gordon Friesen, Hospital Administrator here pointed out the vital need for increased hospital accommodation in the city. There was a definite need for a convalescent institution here inasmuch as it would greatly alleviate congested conditions in the active treatment hospital. "If we had one available now," he said, "we could evacuate 68 patients immediately."

He felt the new hospital would be a definite benefit to all concerned, although the cost is high because the government has set certain constructional standards and do not permit of shoddy buildings.

"This city," he said, "has been lucky this far in that it has not been asked to pay one cent for capital expenditure for a hospital. It did not pay one dollar toward the erection of the new $300,000 wing."

Belleville, in Mr. Friesen's opinion, as far as facilities go, has one of the most modern hospitals in Canada. Its payroll next year will be $200,000. "How many industries pay that amount?" he asked.

Upwards of $50,000 was spent last year for foods and supplies, while 5,813 operations were performed and 1035 deliveries made. "The hospital will be more active in 1946," he predicted.

If the convalescent hospital is erected, he went on, it will serve two purposes, one to provide accommodation for convalescent patients and secondly it will alleviate the terrific congestion in the general hospital.

Volunteer Workers Preparing Lists For Sale of Seals

For weeks now a group of voluntary workers, with the Secretary, Miss N. Armstrong, has been carrying out an exacting task: the preparation of nearly 20,000 envelopes, the folding of appeal letters and twice that number of seals, the checking and double-checking of names and addresses and many other duties involved in preparing for a local Christmas Seal campaign.

"If you think getting an accurate compilation of names in Hastings County and district is easy, try it sometime," Miss N. Armstrong, who is one of the most energetic members of the committee, told this reporter. "It's interesting at first, but then it becomes one of the most tedious tasks you can imagine. One thing about it, however, you certainly get to know, at least by name, the people who live around you.

"An accurately compiled mailing list is absolutely essential to a successful Seal Campaign," Miss Armstrong said. She, too, admitted that it is "no easy chore" to bring one up to date so that duplication, wastage or omissions would be avoided.

"That's only half the task, however," Miss Armstrong explained. "Once the list is finished, two sheets (of one hundred seals each) have to be folded along with the appeal letters, envelopes in which the contribution may be returned have to be addressed to each name on the list and this material placed in envelopes and stamped all ready for mailing."

Miss Armstrong said that Christmas Seals will be mailed in time to reach every home in Hastings County and vicinity the day the campaign opens, November 25.

Keep Index Cards

"Here at campaign headquarters," she stated, "we keep index cards listing the names of persons to whom Seals are sent each year. These cards help us to keep tab on money contributed and to avoid sending duplicate appeal letters."

"Mailing of the Christmas Seals is just one part of the job," Miss Armstrong added. "From the day the campaign opens until it officially ends, returns in the form of cash or cheques have to be properly entered on our cards and each contributor credited with the amount of his or her purchase. We are especially proud of our system of handling money, which is one that has been recommended after years of experience by the Canadian Tuberculosis Association. By following that system, every cent is accounted for — and every cent made available for fighting tuberculosis is very important."

Miss Armstrong and her committee, who are working under the general chairmanship of Mr. D. L. Storey, are convinced that the County of Hastings Christmas Seal campaign will this year be the most successful yet. They feel that people generally are more interested in TB control work and are anxious to play their part in the local fight against it.

All money raised through the sale of Seals is, as in other years, to be used exclusively in TB prevention. Local plans for 1947 call for mass x-ray surveys in Trenton, Deseronto, Belleville and district.

Belleville Immunization Week

Whooping Cough Deadly To Small Children

Whooping Cough (pertussis) is a highly infectious disease which causes more deaths than diphtheris, scarlet fever and measles combined. About half the deaths occur in the first year of life.

Whooping cough vaccine provides protection in over 85 per cent of children; if the disease is contracted it is much milder. It is given under the skin like diphtheria toxoid and should be given preferably between the ages of three and six months. Three visits to the doctor or clinic are required. There is also a preparation combining whooping cought vaccine and diphtheria toxoid which is proving satisfactory.

Immunization is the best and most effective means of protection at present offered by medical science against communicable diseases. Immunization is safe, cheap and efficient.

"Don't wait for fate;
Be wise and immunize."

Believe Japs Are Humble Only by Order

Brantford, Oct. 18 —(CP)— Sgt.-Maj. Tatsuro (Buck) Suzuki of the Canadian army intelligence corps has returned from Japan to see his 14-month-old son for the first time and express the opinion that the United Nations have only a slim chance of making Japan into a democracy within one generation.

"I saw a great deal with the intelligence division that an ordinary soldier does not see," the Japanese-Canadian N.C.O. said. "I am convinced that—though the Japanese people are treated well by the Allies—they are not ready in this generation to absorb democracy. One reason for this is that the policies of the Allies may be excellent but the administration is still in the hands of the Japanese, and if it is bad . . . the Japanese are going to blame . . . the Allies. From my observation, the Japanese right now . . . do not feel humbled. They are humble by order, nothing more."

Golden Jubilee
Navy Week—October 19th - October 26th

"Established in 1896, The Navy League of Canada in this, its Jubilee Year, faces what may conceivably become its most important era, and it accepts the challenges of the future in the confidence born of fifty years' experience." One such challenge emanates from today's youth and has its origin in the aftermath of war. We therefore commend the Sea Cadet movement to all who are interested in this important problem.

"I suggest it is the duty of all of us to devote what time we can to some sort of youth training, all directed to one great object, to produce men of character who will be of real value to nations in the days that lie ahead." (Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein.)

Old Craftmanship and Science

On the way across the Atlantic on her first civilian passage as a luxury liner is the great liner the Queen Elizabeth. She has had a record of about half a million miles of wartime travel. Now she settles down to the task for which she was built.

On this giant modern craft old craftmanship vies with science and the ship preserves the hardy traditions of the sea. If Joseph Conrad could only make an inspection tour today of this ship he would find himself bewildered by the miracles of modern navigation. But at the same time he would find that science has failed to oust some of the hardy old traditions of the sea with which he was so familiar and which he has indicated in the stories of the sea he left the world.

He would probably eschew the "mechanical mike," automatic steering devices, radar, giant engines, air-conditioning and electrical kitchens in favor of things nearer and dearer to his heart — the ship's lamp-trimmer, rope-splicer, sailmaker and kinker-out. All of these are jobs still performed on the 83,673-ton liner. Despite the fact that the Queen Elizabeth has installed the most modern wiring system to feed its navigation lights, the ship's lamp-trimmer still maintains a set of oil lamps for emergency use. Regulations requiring the lamp-trimmer to burn his lamps at least three hours every week to be sure they are in condition.

Rope-splicing, an important function aboard a modern liner, is still the same job that Conrad knew when he sailed the seas. Now it is performed by the ship's storekeeper, who acts as sailmaker, too, looking after the canvas covers that protect hatches, ventilators and awnings. Sailmaking hasn't changed much since Conrad's day.

The carpenter is still a key figure among the ship's company. This busy crewman might be called a shipwright, since he has served his apprenticeship in shipyards and can work in metal as well as wood. Major repairs at sea are in his line of duty as are transfer of water ballast and supply from tank to tank and pumping in water ballast to replace oil as it is used.

Last, but by no means least of the traditional men of the sea aboard the liner are the able-bodied seamen who scrub the decks, polish metal, batten down hatches and help dock the ship as they did in the old days. Swabbing has not undergone very many changes. The retention of the old ocean terminology would warm Conrad's heart. The sailors still refer to the "holystones" they use to scrub the decks. The big stones are "bibles," the little ones "prayerbooks." The fellow who squirts the hose still wears a canvas apron and his assistant — the sailor who unsnarls the hose around the bend — is still known as the "kinker-out."

This great luxurious ship is bringing a great list of passengers, many of them of note, on this trip to New York. While it was thought that she might seek a record to break that held by her sister ship the Queen Mary, it is stated that the objective of a new record will not likely be set up until next spring.

To This Little Measure

Nazi leaders who found Germany far too small and cramping to their vaulting ambition and sought to grab the wealth and power of a world they set out to conquer, occupy no space now; they are nothing. They fell from their great estate, a prison in a German city became large enough to hold the bigwigs, the chief remnants of the Nazi party, the Hitler gang. They were tried and taken to their doom, one of the eleven seeking refuge in suicide. Official report from Nuernberg where Goering suicided and the other ten were executed states the bodies were cremated and their ashes "dispersed secretly."

Strong justice that seeks peace for the world put them away where they can no longer trouble man, who now has the opportunity to find the way back to recovery from the midnight of terror and gloom these men and their associates made but a short while ago. Where there were the ranting of the gang, the pompousness and strutting and pluming of the decorations and adornments by Goering, the plottings of Von Ribbentrop, the cruel philosophy of Rosenberg and all the sinister trickery and scheming to add wealth and power to their names by the others, there is quiet, there is now nothing but their ashes whose whereabouts will always be unknown. To this insignificant measure have they come from the length and breadth of the world they once found too circumscribed for their selfish ambitions.

Because these men lived, millions upon millions suffered and died, families and peoples were separated and scattered, more millions have starved and are homeless. But the world is seeking peaceful solution of all its troubles. The Hitler gang are gone and are no longer able to disturb. The world now has rest from them.

Radar Against Smugglers

Radar has added a new adaptation to the many of this science in Britain, the birthplace of the scientific wonder. Radar is making war on smugglers. It is being used to protect ships in fog and storm. The first cutter in Britain bears the name "Vigilant" and has headquarters in the Thames Estuary at Gravesend, her territory being the patrol between southeast England and the Continent. Radar's ability to penetrate and show what is beyond the thickest wall of cloud or fog indicates how effective this invention can be and is proof of what it will be able to do about the coast.

Trace Lost Children's Relatives

One of the more dramatic recent BBC public service broadcasts has been a series designed to trace relatives of lost children from concentration camps. Many of these children spent years orphaned and alone in Auschwitz, Dachau and similar plague spots. In order to assist UNRRA and the Red Cross five weekly five-minute broadcasts entitled "Captive Children" were given in the BBC's Home Service with the names and descriptions of forty-five children who were thought to have connections in the United Kingdom. An enormous volume of correspondence resulted and at last positive results are coming in.

Two young people, Rachol Einhorn and Friedrich Fanty, have already been resettled. Rachel is a seventeen-year-old Czech Jewess who was in three concentration camps and in camps for displaced persons at Prague and Pilsen. Her family—mother, father, sister and two brothers—are missing. The BBC's appeal for relatives has found for her a good home, a chance to complete her education, and a guardian.

Friedrich's father and mother both died in a concentration camp and left him at the age of sixteen with an unpromising future. An appeal was broadcast to an uncle believed to be living in England, without result; but a second cousin heard and will help.

Another case is still being followed up and is typical of the difficulties involved. It is that of a Jewish boy whose relations have left England for Palestine and have still to be located.

The pioneer of mechanized farming was Jethro Tull, a farmer in Berkshire, England, who two centuries ago devised a revolutionary method of sowing seed. Instead of broadcasting, or dribbling, as it was then called. Tull planted the seed in straight rows so that cultivation could go on during growth. More than that, he invented and made a machine for his seed drilling, says Huron Expositor, Seaforth.

It is well to cultivate the saving habit learned in wartime. Buying Savings Bonds today is most attractive, assuring saving and security of investment. Many hundreds of thousands of persons found the advantage in wartime and no doubt will carry on the lesson taught in those years.

THE FAILURE

"Teacher doesn't like me!"
As a boy he said.
"I don't get my lessons;
Rather play instead."

"Foreman doesn't like me!"
Later on he told.
"Says that I'm too lazy Any job to hold."

"Wife no longer likes me!"
He was heard to say
Bitterly and sadly,
When she'd run away.

"Everyone's against me!"
To the end he cried;
Since to gain approval
Never once he'd tried.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 18th. 1926.

Mr. George N. Simmons has returned home after spending several weeks in Western Canada.

Mr. Harvey Ross was home from Queen's University to spend yesterday.

Mr. Jack VanNorman was home from Toronto to spend yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Young and Mrs. M. Young are visiting friends in Watertown, N.Y., and Syracuse, N.Y.

Miss M. Tait was elected a director of the Ontario Hospital Association at a recent meeting in Toronto.

Oct. 18th., 1916.

Fire was discovered in the Frankford cheese factory on the afternoon of Oct. 17th., and it apparently was extinguished. However, this morning fire broke out again and the factory and contents were entirely destroyed. Cheese to the value of $2,000 was lost. The building, which was of cement block construction, was erected eight years ago at a cost of $5,500. The entire loss will exceed $8,000, with insurance of $4,000; on the building $3,000 and on the contents $1,000.

At a meeting of the Peterboro Cheese Board Mr. J. A. Kerr of this city bought all cheese boarded, namely 1780 boxes, at 21 5-9 cents.

40 YEARS AGO

Oct. 18th., 1906.

Mr. Allan Miller of Toronto spent yesterday in town.

Mr. Albert Carr of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, spent yesterday here with friends.

Mr. N. Baker of Lanark is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Baker, in this city.

Mr. W. A. G. Hardy, organizer for the C.M.B.A., spent yesterday at his home here.

Messrs W. R. Finkle, C. P. Finkle and A. H. Finkle of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, spent yesterday here with relatives.

Mr. Albert Vandervoort spent yesterday in Toronto.

Mr. George H. Thompson of the Montreal Herald, spent yesterday here with his parents.

Mr. Percy Geen was home from the College of Pharmacy, Toronto, to spend yesterday.

50 YEARS AGO

Mr. A. W. Carscallen, M.P., Marmora, is stopping at Hotel Quinte.

Messrs. James Coulter and Edgar Stimers of Trenton wheeled to the city today.

Miss Allie Chisholm is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. Arthur Conger of Peterborough, formerly of Belleville, is spending a few days in the "old home town" and all the boys are glad to see him.

Mr. Stillman Herrington has sold his fine residence on West Bridge Street to Mr. Sydenham Hagerman of Huntingdon township, who will take possession early next month.

Mr. John Stokes, Reeve of Hungerford township, was in town today.

Mr. C. D. Macaulay, barrister, is attending Division Court in Trenton today.

C.C.F. Wants No Assistance

Portage La Prairie, Man., Oct. 18 (CP)—The C. C. F. party wants no help from the Labor-Progressive party in its Portage La Prairie federal by-election campaign, Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan told a meeting last night.

(In a statement issued earlier the Labor-Progressive party urged voters to support Sidney Coulthard, C.C.F. candidate in Monday's by-election. "Defeat of the Liberal and Tory candidates," the statement said, " . . . can only be done by voting for the C.C.F. candidate in the present instance, despite the weakness and shortcomings of the C.C.F.")

Repudiating the offer of assistance, Premier Douglas said the gulf between the two parties was "too deep". The Labor-Progressives wanted security without freedom, whereas the C.C.F. believed it possible to have both freedom and security.

"They castigate all the parties, but consider us the least of the three evils," Mr. Douglas said.

Turning to the two other parties involved in the campaign, the Saskatchewan Premier charged Liberal government price controls were "weighted in the interests of big business." Housing had been left to private enterprise and private enterprise wasn't interested in building homes because it could make more money shipping lumber to the United States.

10-YEAR-OLD SISTER HEIR OF SOLDIER

Shelburne, Oct. 18 — (CP) — When 10-year-old Shirley Berry is found, she will be told that she is heiress to the estate of her brother, Trooper William Richard Berry, who was killed in action with an armored regiment in Holland. Her last known address was Route 1, St. Catharines. After the death of her mother she left here and went to live in the St. Catharines area, when her father lost touch with her.

'Ordinary Person' Tires of Being Shoved Around

By An "Ordinary Person" in the Calgary Herald

The time has arrived for the ordinary people of the world to gird on their armor and take some active role in the battle which is now being waged on the economical and political front They have been victims of their own apathy too long.

The ordinary people of this world are not confined to any class or caste but are to be found in high and low places. They are the people who go uncomplainingly about their business, rain or shine, boom or depression. They are happy in good times, and rustle for themselves in bad times. They look for no manna handouts and expect no manna from heaven.

They are not interested in any "ism" except what perhaps might be termed let-me-alone-ism. They wish to enjoy life in the present, they wish to forget the woes of the past, and they do not want to be panicked by gruesome prophecies of a cataclysmic future.

The ordinary people far outnumber any other class, and their number is legion. But they are an unorganized mass, and being by nature peace-loving and non-violent, they are at the mercy of a minority of cranks, reformers, rabble-rousers, malcontents, and outright crooks.

This minority class is vociferous, and definitely militant, and on account of its militancy it attracts notice and gets attention out of all population to its size and importance. What it lacks in size it makes up for in aggressiveness and brawn. In most cases it is devoid of scruples, and when allowed to run rampant, the inevitable result is a tale of affairs best depicted by a tough guy with a club intimidating a crowd of respectable and innocent bystanders.

History of very recent date bears this out. Germany, Italy and various parts of the world have all been thrown into confusion by a few individuals with a club. Even in the United States, Al Capone might easily have pulled a coup d'etat had he possessed political ambitions instead of monetary greed.

In Canada today, we are living under conditions which are almost ideal. To some Europeans Canada would indeed be a paradise. We have emerged victors in a great war. There is work to provide full employment at good wages for many years to come The farmer has never been as prosperous as he is now.

There is a demand for practically all our products. Our raw materials are the envy of the world. If there ever was a time when we should be happy and contented it is now. But we are not. We have a bad case of national jitters.

The reason is obvious. If the ordinary people were left to themselves they would be happy, and life might run along easily and be pleasant. But the ordinary people are not left alone. They submit to being pushed around by rough and noisy minority groups.

It is these minority groups who are precipitating all the storm and strife today, presuming to speak for millions of ordinary people who are so apathetic that they allow them to go on their way unchallenged.

There are examples of it in almost every walk of life. Union leaders dominate the lives of thousands of workers who ask only to be let alone to enjoy the wages they already command. Thousands of happy and prosperous farmers watch mutely while a few hotheads dump their cream and grain. Million of satisfied bank depositors remain quiescent while a few disgruntled borrowers precipitate a Royal Banking Commission.

Thousands of decent citizens, moderate drinkers, submit unprotestingly to extortion, adulteration, and restriction of their freedom on account of a few overzealous reformers; millions of newspaper readers enjoy their papers but never think to rouse themselves and write a letter of commendation to combat the perennial critics of the press.

Beneficiaries of the capitalist system (which would include anyone who came out on the winning side of the war) listen docilely to agitators who would tear the whole system down. One drunk at a baseball game can disrupt the entire game with his forceful demands to "kill the ump" and a thousand well-behaved spectators lack the gumption to join forces and throw him out.

And so it goes. One might well paraphrase Churchill and quote "Never was so much done to so many by so few."

If they sincerely wish for peace and happiness, the ordinary people must become militant too, or if not actually militant, more vocal. They must gang up and shout down the loud-mouthed agitator. They must convert wishes for peace and happiness into action and combine to throw out the racketeer. They must stand together with their collective chest stuck out and growl right back:

"Quit shoving us around!"

EVEN IF YOU HATE EXERCISE, DO SOMETHING

I have heard of some persons who seemed to be breathing boast of their repugnance for exercise in any form or amount, but I have not heard of such persons surviving long enough to show whether their abstention makes life after sixty tolerable. It is true enough that exercise or physical training which produces big muscles serve no good purpose and nourishing them saps the strength and vitality. But that does not signify that no exercise or physical training or development at all is consistent with good health. The purpose of physical training is to develop control, agility and speed, and over-developed strong man muscles are anything but.

Students, clerical or so-called "brain" workers, sedentary persons, professional and business people, teachers, salesmen and saleswomen, conductors, drivers, cashiers, ticket-sellers and others whose occupation is not muscular, should take advantage of whatever opportunity they may have to walk to and from work if they can possibly afford walking. It is great mistake for such workers to ride to and from work as a daily habit when they have only a few miles to travel. Aside from the boon to health and good looks and efficiency any one may gain by taking two to six miles of oxygen on the hoof every day, this method of transportation saves a lot of folks from exposure to goodness knows what in the open-face sneeze and cough and the polite conversational spray to which one is necessarily exposed when riding in train, street car or bus in the season when these conveyances are kept tightly closed and overcrowded.

Walking is the best all-around exercise to keep any one in trim—and I mean walking at a fairly brisk pace, not strolling or dragging along like a tired old... and if part of the daily walk is up-hill, all the better, provided it doesn't wind you for more than a few moments.

When you go for a walk, don't be a molly-oddle and bundle up against the weather. You needn't take my word for this (I suppose you are onto my untenable notions) but perhaps you can take the word of Dr. Leonard Hill, the English physiolgist and authority on fresh air and ventilation: "It is absurb to put on an overcoat when going out for a walk. It is good to go out and be braced by feeling cold and so impelled to take vigorous exercise."

Shucks, I doubt if it ever gets cold enough in England to warrant wearing an overcoat. That reminds me of a cold, cold night in Buffalo when I went out in my trunks to run around the park drive (a little less than two miles as I recall)—the snow was deep and diving into it for safety when I met a car made heavy going. I really was worried around the far turn—feared I'd freeze before I got home—but I made it finally—and I haven't developed rheumatiz yet.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Do prairie dogs and rattlesnakes live together?

Ever since prairie dogs were observed on the Western Plains there has been a popular notion that they live together in peace and harmony with rattlesnakes and burrowing owls.

Of course, the prairie dog, of which there are five known species, is not a "dog," but a social ground squirrel that received its misnomer because when excited it makes a sound described as a weak, short bark.

Prairie dogs live in large colonies and put in their extra time burrowing. A "prairie dog town" in Kansas and Colorado was nearly a hundred miles long and from one to five miles wide and had a population running into millions.

Rattlesnakes and burrowing owls are often found in the dens of prairie dogs, but the relationship is far from a peaceful one Both the rattlers and the owls visit the prairie dog towns chiefly to catch and eat young prairie dogs. The snakes prowl among the burrows and fill themselves with "hot dogs," after which they often linger in the holes while digesting their meals. Occasionally a snake tackles even an adult prairie dog. It involves a battle that the snake generally wins. Frequently rattlesnakes are seen sunning themselves at the entrances of the prairie dog holes after having preyed upon the original owners.

Burrowing owls not only feed upon young prairie dogs but also use the abandoned burrows for building their nests and rearing their young. When they get a chance the rattlesnakes also prey upon the owls.

In "The Oregon Trail" (1849) Francis Parkham wrote: "Several times I passed through villages of prairie dogs, who sat, each at the mouth of his burrow, holding his paws before him in a supplicating attitude, and yelping away most vehemently, energetically whisking his little tail with every squeaking cry he uttered. Prairie dogs are not fastidious in their choice of companions; various, long, checkered snakes were sunning themselves in the midst of the villages, and demure little gray owls, with a large white ring around each eye, were perched side by side with the rightful inhabitants." And again: "The snakes are apparently the prairie dogs' worst enemies, at least I think too well of the latter to suppose that they associate on friendly terms with these slimy intruders, who may be seen at all times basking among their holes, into which they always retreat when disturbed. Small owls, with wise and grave countenances, also make their abode with the prairie dogs, though on what terms they live together I could never ascertain."

Prairie dogs, though harmless in themselves, do considerable damage. As rodents they are vegetarians and deprive livestock of large quantities of vegetation. Some of their burrows go down 14 or 15 feet and the pioneers avoided riding or driving across prairie dog towns because of the danger that the horses might break their legs by stepping in the holes. Those who have eaten it say that prairie dog flesh, though a little stringy in the spring, is tasty and tender during the rest of the season.

COURT AGREES WITH ACCUSED

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Sam Berlin testified in Magistrate's Court yesterday that his army service taught him how to walk along the street and still keep a nating committee directed today hind him. This faculty, he continued, enabled him to see Fred Grychanik chasing him with a long knife — his gestures indicated it was two feet long. But Grychanik said he never owned a knife and never chased Berlin whom he never saw before. Magistrate T. S. Elmore agreed with the accused and dismissed a charge of threatening.

OLD 'SPANISH PRISONER' TRICK FAILS

Brockville, Oct. 18 — (CP) — A revival of the old "Spanish prisoner" confidence trick failed to impress a Brockville resident who recently received two letters from Mexico written by an individual who said that great wealth would be the reward if the receiver obeyed instructions. The sender claimed to have secreted $285,000 which could be shared between the two parties if the Brockville man rushed to Mexico City and helped him to escape from jail. Like most victims of the time-worn gag, he threw the letter in the waste-basket.

TORONTO DRUGGIST DIES

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP) — William G. McKay, an active druggist for more than 40 years and a native of Creemore in Simcoe county, died yesterday at his home after a long illness.

Wished Officers Success

Following the general business of the lodge, Mrs. McCarey, D.D.P., gave a very instructive address and wished the new officers every success, after which a presentation was made to her on behalf of the lodge by Miss Phyllis Twiddy and Mrs. Jennie Redner.

Two recent brides and one bride-to-be, namely Mrs. Lena Barrett, Mrs. Helen Currie and Miss Phyllis Twiddy, all members of the order were presented with gifts from the lodge by Mrs. Margaret Anne Cherrie, Mrs. Ethel Sandercock and Mrs. Georgina Charlton respectively. The recipients making brief replies of thanks.

Repair to Banquet Hall

After several brief remarks from the visiting members; and many congratulatory words for the splendid work of the visiting installing staff by Quintena members the lodge closed and the ladies were invited to the banquet hall where beautifully decorated tables laden with dainty refreshments awaited the members and their guests.

Mrs. Margaret Anne Cherry was in charge of the tea room and serviteurs. Those pouring tea were Mrs. Ethel Sandercock, P.D.D.P., Mrs. Janet Twiddy, P.N.G., Mrs. Florence Crake, P.N.G., and Mrs. Ruth Charlton, P.N.G.

A vote of thanks was extended to the refreshment committee for the delicious refreshments prepared by them and another enjoyable Rebekah evening came to a close.

Preceding the evening's activities, a beautiful corsage was presented to the outgoing Noble Grand, Mrs. G. Charlton, also the incoming Noble Grand, Miss E. Frost by the Four Square Club of the Rebekahs and a corsage to Miss Frost from her mother and sisters.

107th Birthday Celebrated By Mrs. I. Sharow

North Bay, Oct. 18 (CP)—Meet Mrs. Isabella Sharow, a tiny little woman whose eager blue eyes sparkle at you across a goblet of sherry as she tells stories of pioneer life in Renfrew County nearly a century ago.

Mrs. Sharow celebrated her 107th birthday Tuesday at North Bay's Home For The Aged with a party for the press.

The little woman—she stands less than five feet—lives in the present and the past—and the present is interesting to her.

She's up each day at 6 a.m.—"though mind you, dear, I don't really have to be up as early as the rest; I'm a fast dresser and some of them are slow." She naps briefly in the morning and afternoon and at mealtimes she's always there, although "my appetite isn't what it was."

Mrs. Sharow, whose maiden name was McDonald, was born in Renfrew in 1839. Oldest of 14 children, she went with her family into the county's wilds, where her father was a lumberman.

When she married her late husband—also a lumberman—she went north to Trout Mills, where she lived for 45 years or so; she can't quite remember.

Nibbling a bit of biscuit and munching it with enjoyment, she replied to a query: "My teeth? Oh, dear, no. I lost them long ago. There were no doctors or dentists around either. It was way up in the back country and they had to use wire cutters to pull them."

"Who pulled them for you?"

"Oh, any of the men around camp. It hurt, too, and my face was swollen up for days afterwards."

Lack of teeth didn't hamper Isabella when the other residents sang 'Happy Birthday to You' and her tiny, wrinkled hand grasped a knife and began to cut her blazing birthday cake.

Marmora

Mr. F. R. Johnston conducted a successful sale of household articles at the home of William Bulbuck on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook of Saskatoon visited their aunt, Mrs. M. Crawford on Tuesday.

Born—In Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, October 13th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. McCrodan, Deloro, a son.

SENTENCED ON BLACK MARKET CHARGES

Yokohama, Oct. 18 — (AP) — Eighth Army headquarters announced today four American soldiers and 16 Japanese were convicted of black market charges involving illegal possession and sale of American and British goods. The Americans each was sentenced to five years at hard labor, dishonorable discharge and total pay forfeiture. They were accused of stealing and selling to a Japanese 10 drums of American gasoline for 10,000 yen ($667). The Japanese previously were sentenced to two years in jail.

Navy League Appeals For Generous Support

On Saturday the Ontario Division of the Navy League of Canada will ask for the financial support through the medium of its annual tag day which is, this year, a special occasion marking the League's fiftieth or "Golden Jubilee" year since its inception in 1896.

Because of the demands now being made for the further development and expansion of the Sea Cadet movement as a proven, youth-training program, the need for funds with which to carry on this increasingly important work is greater than ever before.

Owing to the emergency of war and the services the Navy League was called upon to provide, it was not possible to fully acquaint public opinion with the peacetime value of the Sea Cadet movement during the war years but to Federal, Provincial and Civic Officials as well as to many men and women in private life, the advantages offered through membership in a Sea Cadet Corps are, and have been, well known.

In brief, Sea Cadet training directs youthful energies along useful lines and gives an active boy a definite objective to work for and think about. A new interest in school studies is awakened when he discovers that he can make practical use of his book learning, in such subjects, for example, as navigation and radio. He develops good habits and traits that stand him in good stead for the rest of his life. He spends two weeks at a well-organized and properly supervised summer camp and he can qualify for a Navy League scholarship to The Royal Canadian Naval College.

Such a movement commends itself to parents, ministers, teachers, employers and all others interested in Canadian youth, but the extent to which it can be made effective depends upon the extent to which it receives public interest and support.

Special Services To Mark 80th Anniversary

Bayside—The 80th Anniversary of Wesley United Church will take place on Sunday, 20 with morning and evening services. Ample preparations have been made and a good crowd is expected. The Rev. James a Plant, B.A., Brighton, will be the guest speaker. He is a former pastor of this charge. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Tom Irwin will have charge of the singing.

Wesley Church, substantially built and situated on the Front Road between Trenton and Belleville is a landmark worthy of the old pioneers. The church was built in 1866. Among those responsible for its erection were such names as Rev. C. A. Morrow, Messrs. Alex Abel, William McMaster, John Jones, Robert Lawrence and Elijah Ketcheson. The oldest charter member is Mrs. Donald Gunn, Toronto who is in her 99th year, and up to a few years ago was a faithful attendant at the church services.

Minister of early pioneering days included: Rev. Mr. Ward, Rev. Mr. Massey and Rev. C. A. Morrow, the latter being a member of the building committee.

The church auditorium seats about two hundred worshippers and has a bright appearance.

The present pastor is Rev. A. C. McCallum who succeeded Rev. J. Spence in 1944. The official board comprises the following members. Mr. Frank Reid, Mr. Gunn (Elders) Stewards Messrs. Fred Denyes, Ken York and H. M. Rutter, Recording Steward.

WEDDINGS

SHYMEYSHYN—KOVACH

St. Ann's Church, Hamilton, was the scene for a quiet wedding at ten o'clock, Saturday morning, when Rose Mary Kovach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kovach was united in marriage to Mr. John Shymzyshyn, of Belleville, with Rev. Jos. W. Englert performing the ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Stephen Lovach, while Mr. Wm. Shymzyshyn assisted his brother as groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, following which Mr. and Mrs. Shymzyshyn left for a trip to New York City. Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

MOON—NOLAN

At nine oclock Saturday morning, a quiet marriage ceremony was solemnized at St. Michael's Church, Belleville, when Miss Helen Mary Nolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nolan, was united with Mr. Hubert Gilbert Moon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moon, Belleville. Rev. Father A. L. O'Donnell was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a street-length dress of light blue crepe, with navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. Her only attendant, Mrs. C. Male wore a tailored dress of light brown gabardine, with dark brown accessories and a corsage of white and yellow roses.

AKEY—FOX

Trenton.—On Saturday, October 5, a wedding of interest took place in St. George's Anglican Church ,when Miss Kathleen Ruth Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Fox of Trenton, was united in marriage to Mr. John Akey, of Roblin, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Akey. Rev. A. S. McConnell performed the ceremony.

The bride looked very attractive in her floor length gown of white net over taffeta, with sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves; her long veil falling from a coronet of white daisies. She carried a bouquet of white and pink gladioli. Miss Lona Akey, sister of the groom, was the only attendant, in a floor length gown of blue net over taffeta, with matching fingertip veil, which fell from a feather halo. Her bouquet was similar to that of the bride.

Mr. Joseph Fox, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman..

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Out-of-town guests were from Oshawa, Kingston, Napanee, Belleville and Robindale.

Young Couple Feted by Friends

3rd Thurlow. — On Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, a large gathering of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweedy in honor of their son, Jack, and his bride, nee Jean Fraser. An address was read by Mr. Norman Christie and the newlyweds were presented with a floor lamp, end table and mirror, by Bernard O'Carroll and Thomas Vanvalkenburgh. The young couple made suitable replies and invited all to come and see them in their new home. Serving of refreshments concluded the pleasant evening.

State Secretary Byrnes, to Give Report to Nation

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP) — State Secretary Byrnes today drafted a report to the American people on the diplomatic conflict between the United States and Russia.

Top authorities suggested he would make use of the occasion to lash back at criticism of his foreign policies by former Commerce Secretary Wallace.

Mr. Byrnes, who returned yesterday from the Paris Peace Conference and received President Truman's congratulations on a "most excellent job," was scheduled to broadcast for 30 minutes begining at 10 p.m. (E.S.T.) tonight. NBC and some MBS stations arranged to carry the speech.

In writing his address Mr. Byrnes was reported to have two principal objectives in view:

1. To try to knock down Russian charges that the capitalist world is seeking to encircle the Soviet Union.

2. To smash the Wallace implications that his policy toward Russia is a policy of "toughness" and should be softened even at the risk of actions which, in Mr. Wallace's words, might be called appeasement.

Family Honors 82nd Birthday Of Mrs L. Aselstine

Mrs. Luck Aselstine, 40 East Moira Street, celebrated her 82nd birthday on Wednesday, Oct. 16. Friends and relatives called during the afternoon from three till five o'clock.

An attractively arranged tea table was centred with a large birthday cake the gift of her great-grandsons of Louville, N.Y.; on either side of which were tall orchid tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Aselstine was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Guests with Mrs. Aselstine during the week were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mairs, of Utica, N.Y.; Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Campbell, (granddaughter). Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Aselstine, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Aselstine, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oliphant Jr., of Toronto; Mrs. Lester Stedman, Mr. and Mrs. George Aselstine, Miss Judy Aselstine, Master Douglas Aselstine, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Patrick, Mrs. Ross Irwin, Mrs. Ernest Bolton, Mrs. Dawkins, Miss Rose Dawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Quirt and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Oakes, of Toronto; Mrs. Annie Oliphant.

Mr. and Mrs. Mairs entertained Mrs. Aselstine at dinner at the Queen's Hotel, Wednesday evening.

JUMPS TO SAFETY

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP) — Robert Thorne, 23-year-old war veteran from nearby Stroud, jumped to safety yesterday a split second before a Canadian National Railways southbound passenger train struck his auto at a level rossing and demolished it. Thorne, who was unhurt, said the train tossed the light sedan 27 feet from the rossing. "There isn't anything left of it — not even enough to be worth selling for salvage parts."

INCREASE WAGE GERMAN MINERS

Berlin, Oct. 18 — (AP)—The Allied Control Council's co-ordinating committe directed today that the average wage of German miners be increased up to 20 per cent. The increase is intended as an incentive to attract apprentices, keep manpower from turning to better paying industries and spur coal production.

Delegates Welcomed by Mayor Follwell; Purpose of Convention Outlined

Setting the key-note of the convention with the theme, "Loyalty to the Throne and Empire; Service to the Country, through country women, for country women, by country women," the Women's Institute combining the districts of Hastings, Northumberland and Prince Edward Counties convened on Thursday morning at the Belleville Collegiate auditorium.

The delegates were formally welcomed by Mayor Frank Follwell, who extended to them warm greetings, and the courtesy of the City of Belleville. Mrs. R. Robson, Holloway, replied for the Institute.

Mrs. W. A. Hoskin of Cobourg, chairman for the Area, presided at the opening session and reminded the delegates that as they helped themselves they helped others, and that their purpose was to guide homemakers in their vocational skills.

A roll call of districts was responded to by brief talks on "The Ideal Community Centre for our District". Speaking for Prince Edward County, Mrs. H. McDonald, of Bloomfield, described two community centres, one at Picton where they have a full-time recreational director, and the rural centre at Milford. Money for the Milford centre was raised by holding auction sales, presenting plays, and having ball games. They now have a flood-lighted baseball diamond, concrete tennis courts, fully equipped playgrounds for small children; and they are now working on an ambitious plan for a rink to be housed in a building which can also be used for other meetings and activities.

Park Described

Mrs. G. Page from Cobourg, described the park there which is the centre of their recreational activities with its supervised bathing beach, band concerts, family, picnics and dance pavilion. At Cold Springs plans for a community hall are going ahead as a memorial project.

Mrs. E. G. Puddephat, of Codrington representing Northumberland East stated that only three out of one hundred soldiers returned to the land after discharge. She attributed this to the fact that they had become used to recreational halls, libraries and discussion groups and these were not provided in rural life. An active interesting social life should be developed.

Mrs. E. Moore, of Madoc, replying for Hastings North, said, "that due to the scattered population it was impossible to have a central community hall, but claimed the Women's Institute was behind all activities and recreation including baseball, rugby, and hockey."

In Favor of Centre

Mrs. B. Bush, of Frankford, for Hastings West, thought all communities should have a centre that would provide educational, cultural, recreational, and social facilities for young and old. In her district she suggested about five acres near Wallbridge where local talent could be developed and outdoor activities be arranged. The building should be decorated with taste, refinement, and beauty. The magnitude of such a task was a challenge to each one.

Mrs. W. Tufts responding for Hastings East, declared the government was too far behind public opinion, and that the districts and communities were showing the way. A living memorial to commemorate the war dead could be planned with nursery schools for the youngest, activities for the teen-aged, and handicrafts and cultural arts for adults.

Urged to Keep Identity

Mrs. R. Bush, of Consecon, Board Director, presented "Echoes from the District Annual", urging woman to keep their identity as farm women. She also impressed upon them their outstanding responsibility as farm women to cultivate rural culture. "You cannot work sixteen hours out of twenty-four and still have time for training your children in the cultural arts. Many deeply religious women feel that they have no time for anything outside the church, but a cleric recently said that there is no better way to manifest religion than in joining an organization like the Women's Institute".

Community singing was led by Miss Bernice Robinson of Corbyville, with Mrs. K. Wensley, Belleville accompanying at the piano.

Work of Institute Given in Reports At Convention

The report on Social Welfare was given by Mrs. S. Foster, Hillier. This contained details of the work accomplished by various branches and included receptions given to returned men, picnics, financial assistance to the cancer fund, donation of a silver cup for public speaking contest, donations to the new hospital to be built at Campbellford, purchase of a hot plate for a school at Pine Grove, a study of organization of a health unit in the county; vaccination and toxoiding for school children of rural districts; help in purchasing a piano for the school in East Hastings, and donation to the rink at Roslin, aid to the 'Teen-Towners' at Wellington; showers for war brides at Bloomfield, and donations to libraries.

Four suggestions were offered by Mrs. Foster: (1) If you have not a County Health Unit be ready to use your influence as an organization and as individuals to influence your County Councillors when it is time to vote for it; (2) Make the most of the home-making courses for girls, (3) Recognize in some fitting way the return of our service men and help them to become stabilized citizens in our communities, (4) Give the church of your choice the some loyal support as is given the Institute.

Home Economics

Home Economics was reported by Mrs. J. Frederick, Holloway. This subject embraced a wide range of interests and included the exchange of recipes; domestic science scrap book, modern etiquette, sugar saving hints, refooting of holes in toes and heels of sox, preparing our youth for future citizens, social relations, suggestions for an ideal farm home, demonstration of summer salads, home management, dressmaking and home nursing.

Convener of war work was Mrs. G. Armstrong, Cobourg. Grouping the amount of money given under four headings these were Salvation Army $323; Red Cross $1,500; War Work $1,475; Boys' Overseas parcels $2,035; Central Fund $160; a total of $5,493. In addition 5,641 pounds of jam and 905 cases of honey as well as 1,388 pieces of knitting and 285 quilts were given. Demorestville Club adopted a French child at a cost of $48 a year. In addition war brides were befriended, welcome homes were arranged for returned boys, and bereaved families helped.

Report on Citizenship

Mrs. B. R. Baxter, of Bloomfield, read the report on Citizenship. This included all relationships and responsibilities in the art of living, in relation to government and law and to home and community. All were urged to vote, using knowledge and clear thinking without prejudice. Subjects pertaining to the law were studies including laws relating to gambling at fall fairs; Laws concerning child and youth protection; laws governing poolrooms and raffles; temperance laws comparing the government revenue from the sale of liquor and the amount of money spent to remedy the crime caused by liquor; family allowance act; traffic act, and common errors made by drivers. Emphasis was placed on developing a spirit of international goodwill and a friendly attitude toward the people of other nations.

Mrs. Clarence Hall, of Plainfield, gave the report on Publicity which stated that community events were well advertised and brought splendid results. Record books or clippings were kept, and members in hospitals were cheered with flowers or fruit.

Friends Honor Recent Newlyweds

Stirling.—On Thursday evening, about seventy-five friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pitcher to honor Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cooke, recently newlyweds. Mrs. Cooke is the former Jean Dafoe, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Pitcher. Community singing and cards were enjoyed in the early part of the evening and a short program followed. The gathering was brought to order by the Master of Ceremonies. Mr. Roy Eggleton and the program opened with a duet by Misses M. Eggleton and A. Tummon accompanied by Mrs. Tumman at the piano. A solo was contributed by Mrs. C. Rodgers followed by a reading by Mrs. H. Rollins. The address was read by Mrs. S. McIntosh and signed by Mrs. M. Tanner and Mrs. W. Savage on behalf of many friends and neighbors. After a fitting response by the guests of honor, a delicious refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. Numerous pieces of red and white enamelware and a pressure cooker, gifts of the charivari gang of Monday night ,were attractively displayed.

Four of Canada's Leading Warships To Leave Soon on Training Program

Ottawa, Oct. 18—The full cruise program of warships of the Royal Canadian Navy, involving the 18,000-ton aircraft carrier, H.M.C.S. "Warrior", the cruiser, H.M.C.S. "Uganda" and the destroyers, H.M.C.S. "Nootka" and H.M.C.S. "Crescent", was announced today by Naval Service Headquarters. These programs are designed to give the maximum sea training to new entry personnel and as well to allow the ships to take part in naval exercises and manoeuvres.

The program of the four ships is being timed to coincide with the cruise of "Warrior" from Halifax, N.S., to Esquimalt B. C. "Warrior" will operate on the West Coast during the winter months as she has not yet been winterized.

"Warrior" will leave Halifax on November 5, and will carry out training exercises on her way to the Pacific coast via the Panama Canal. She will reach Esquimalt on December 14. "Nootka," Canadian-built Tribal class destroyer and most recent warship to join the fleet, will accompany "Warrior" to Kingston, Jamaica, and the Canal Zone, returning by way of Bermuda to reach Halifax on November 29.

Off the coast of Central America, "Crescent" will rendezvous with "Warrior" on November 21 and the two ships will proceed up the coast to join "Uganda" in Magdalena Bay, Mexico.

The three warships remain in company in Magdalena Bay from November 27 until December 3, continuing their training program in the area off Lower California. Magdalena Bay is an excellent harbor and climatic conditions make it particularly suitable for carrying out sea exercises with small likelihood of interruption.

"Uganda" is familiar with tropical seas, having fought in the closing battles of the war in the Far East and having made a training cruise completely around the South American continent early this year. "Crescent" passed through the West Indies and the Panama Canal on her way to the West Coast, but the cruises will be the first made that far south by "Warrior" and "Nootka".

"Warrior" and "Nootka" are currently engaged in flying exercises off the coast of Nova Scotia and "Uganda" and "Crescent" are carrying out training in British Columbia waters. B. C. ports which will be visited by "Uganda" during October and the early part of November include Maple Bay, Cowichan, Skidegate, Alert Bay, Comox, Nanaimo and Vancouver. From October 20 to 28, "Uganda" will be in the Esquimalt area to take part in Navy Week ceremonies.

"Crescent" is at present taking cadets from the Royal Canadian Navy College, Royal Roads, B.C., to sea for short training periods.

The only United States port other than in the Canal Zone to be visited during the cruises will be San Diego, California, where "Crescent" will re-fuel between November 11 and 13 and where "Warrior", "Uganda" and "Crescent" will visit from December 5 to December 9.

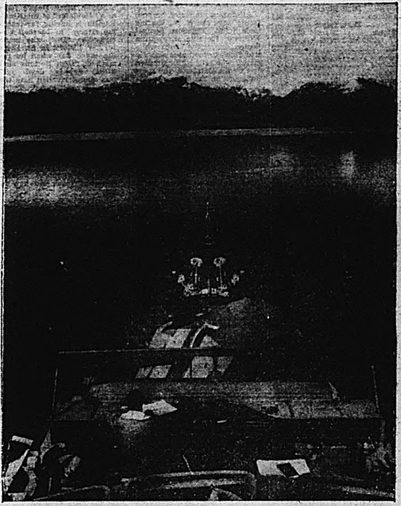
The Canadian-built Tribal Class destroyer, "Nootka," only this month completed her "working up" exercises and joined the fleet. She will accompany "Warrior" as far as Colon, Canal Zone, and then return to Halifax by way of Bermuda.—(R.C.N. Photo.)



About the time most Canadians are beginning to do some real worrying about such things as coal shortages and ear muffs, the officers and men of four Royal Canadian warships will be off for tropical seas. On November 5, the aircraft carrier H.M.C.S. "Warrior" sets sail for Halifax, N.S., on her journey by way of the Panama Canal to her winter base at Esquimalt, B.C. Advantage is being taken of the trip for training purposes and "Warrior" will be joined in naval exercises by the cruiser, H.M.C.S. "Uganda" and the destroyers, H.M.C.S. "Nootka" and H.M.C.S. "Crescent."

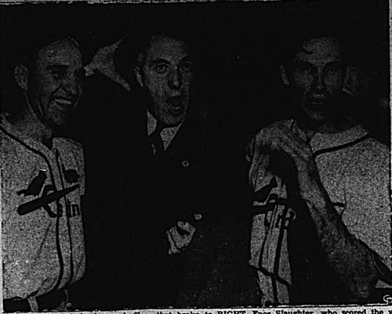
HURRAY FOR THE NATIONAL LEAGUE!



Characteristic of the joyous bedlam that broke loose in the Cardinals dressing room after St. Louis won the seventh and deciding game of the World Series is the ABOVE picture. The triumvirate of National League celebrities are, LEFT to RIGHT, Enos Slaughter, who scored the winning Cardindl run that enabled St. Louis to achieve a 4 to 3 victory; Ford Frick, the president of the National League, and Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, the winning pitcher.

OTTAWA CAN TIE ARGOS BY WIN OVER THAT CLUB

(By The Canadian Press)

A killing schedule which offered a gambler's chance to square things with their deadliest rivals faced George Fraser's Ottawa Rough Riders today as they set out for Toronto and a tough pair of mid-season football games.

Deadlocked with Montreal Alouettes for second place in the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union standings, Fraser's iron men could tie with Argos at the top of the loop by defeating the Toronto club tomorrow and then taking Alouettes at Montreal Sunday.

Argos can just about clinch one of the two playoff positions by winning over Ottawa. If this did it would give them a six - point margin over Alouettes.

Though the Big Four struggles seem to highlight the east's program, a pretty situation might evolve in the Ontario Rugby Football Union, where Toronto Indians must win over the third-place Sarnia Imperials to protest their two-point league leadership.

They're going to try it at night, too, in a venturesome experiment in Toronto Saturday sport, mainly because they figure Big Four contests are too hard to compete against as fan attractions.

Meanwhile, the second - place Hamilton Wildcats will be gunning for the fifth-place Windsor Rockets. Toronto Balmy Beach, with an opportunity to make a play-off spot, meet the last-place Trojans at Ottawa in the loop's other game.

The western Canadian schedule winds up Saturday when Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders travel east to encounter Winnipeg's Blue Bombers. Though Roughriders, with a lone win in seven starts, are out of the contention, Winnipeg and Calgary Stampeders are tied for first place in the three-team group.

In the other major circuit, the Intercollegiate Union, University of Western Ontario's unbeaten Mustangs clash at London with second-place McGill and Toronto Varsity travels to Kingston to meet the last place Queen's.

Saint Paul Saints Open With Victory

By The Canadian Press

In the only scheduled United States Hockey League game last night Saint Paul Saints opened the 1945-46 season on home ice by defeating Omaha Knights 3-2.

The front line of Nakina Smith, Norman Mann, and Joe Shack, assembled a few hours before game time, paced the Saints.

Smith, who signed with St. Paul at noon Thursday, tallied the first goal early in the first period, and Mann made it 2-0 midway in the session. He got an assist on the other Saints' tally by Shack in the second session. Boyce and Jimmy Skinner accounted for Omaha's points.

No games are scheduled tonight.

Series Postmortem Potpourri

Here's the $64 question the baseball wise ones are pondering over now that the world series has been relegated to history. Who will manage the Yankees next year? According to the baseball bible the Sporting News, Yankee officials headed by Larry McPhail Dan Topping and Del Webb hied themselves to a rendezvous in French Lick Springs, Indiana where they will meet in solemn conclave and come up eventually with Joe McCarthy's successor.

Here is the managerial summation:

1. Bucky Harris can have the job if he asks for it.
2. Charley Dressen, coach of the Dodgers, who ran the Reds for Larry, stands high on the list.
3. Jimmie Dykes has been recommended highly by Ed Barrow.
4. Frankie Frisch's name has been pushed by some pretty strong influences.
5. Frank O'Doul, considered by the Giants, also is being thought about by MacPhail. He admits it.
6. Bill Meyer would be the first choice if his health were good.

All during the series, on both fronts, says the S. N., the big topic was Theodore Samuel Williams, the slim sliver from Boston, whom the Cards whittled down to toothpick size. No matter who pitched for the Red Sox or the Cardinals, the spotlight was on the Boston outfielder. One day it was rumored that he would be disposed of that Tom Yawkey had tired of the young man's quirks and anti-social habits. Another day a Boston paper came out with a headline that Joe Cronin and Williams had had a tiff. All the while the player himself obviously was very much disturbed. It is quite likely that the Red Sox will offer Williams to the Tigers, as Ted wants to move to Detroit, where he hit quite a few homers this year and where he believes he would be the supreme high potentate of the Four-Base Boys. Williams is just a kid growing up and he has come along too fast to assimilate things in a normal way. He will mellow, and looking back at his recent mistakes and shortcomings, call himself names.

When Joe Cronin substituted Earl Johnson for Tex Hughson in the October 6 game of the World's Series, he walked to the mound for a chat with the smooth lefthander, relates Ed McAuley of the Cleveland News. Thirty six thousand spectators in the stands wondered why Johnson laughed. Here's the explanation:

"Earl," asked Cronin, "what was the battle you took part in while you were in Europe?"

"Do you mean the Battle of the Bulge?" questioned the twice-decorated Johnson.

"That's right," said Cronin. "Well, this ain't it. Relax."

Doc Empson's Latta baseball squad Intermediate "B" champions of Eastern Ontario face a stern test on Saturday when they trek to Strathroy, Ont., to take on the squad from that town in a double-header which may or may not settle one phase of the semi-finals in "Intermediate "B" circles.

The first game starts at 12.15 with the second scheduled for 3.15 in the afternoon. If the issue is not settled then arrangements will be made for the third and deciding game to be played here probably next week.

The Latta squad will be at full strength and if they come through with a double win will meet the winners of the Thornbury-Western Counties champions for the provincial title.

Ivan (The Terrible) Rasputin, the bewhiskered gent from the steppes of Russia, who is well-known to wrestling fans of the city is tabbed for the semi-final at the rassle-dassle at the Hume arena tonight in which the Whipper Billy Watson, Empire champion will attempt to hold his title away from the clutching digits of the Sheik Emir Badui of Iraq. Rasputin, who has a number of holds in his warbag is slated to meet Natie Brown, ex-prizefighter who is no shrinking violet when it comes to handing out wrestling tidbits. On the same card is Olaf Olsen and Terry McGuinness. The card reeks with wrestling class and is easily one of the top-notch bills of the current season. Better be early.

Maybe Dizzy Dean's fame as a "Molderer" of the King's English is having far-reaching effects in baseball circles. The "Diz" who made further history in St. Louis the other day when he remarked: "Dem Bostons ain't killed nobody dead yet" was almost rivalled here the other day. "Smoky" Smith, playing first base in that Flyer-Batawa brawl following a fast play at the sack yelled out to "Moose" Matthews:—"Can't ya learn these Flyers how to play baseball?"

"What did you say?" thundered back the "Moose" in his best parade ground manner?"

This afternoon at four o'clock Albert College senior gridders took on the St. Mike's squad (unless rain stopped the game) in an exhibition tilt on the college gridiron. The lads from atop the Church Street mountain have shown surprising strength this fall thus far despite the fact they use players over-age. Tomorrow on the college stripes, the collegians will entertain the strong Regiopolis crew from Kingston. The Kingston youngsters boast a powerful squad and the game should be well worth sighting. Next Saturday both Albert squads journey to the Limestone City where they will play the Regi teams in a twin bill.

They're apparently running into difficulty up around Windsor-Chatham way in trying to decide a finalist in the OBA Intermediate "A" playdowns. The two squads have been endeavoring to settle their two-of-three series for the right to meet the Bata Shoemen in the finals for the past ten days and the best they have done so far is one game which Chatham won a week ago Thursday in their own bailiwick by a 1-0 score

The teams were rained out last Saturday and yesterday something cropped up that prevented the teams from playing. Manager Bill Easton of the Batawa Shoemen and convener Ernie Summers of the OBA have received word from OBA officials that if the Windsor-Chatham squabble isn't settled on Saturday, tomorrow, that is, the parent body will award the series to Chatham by default.

For it appears that the Border City is in the throes of the annual fall football epidemic and a lot of the lads who play for the Windsor Woodbine Lunch baseball squad, are members of the pigskin fraternity.

At that the Ontario Baseball Association is not altogether blameless. Its officials know, or should know, that baseball series carried into second and third weeks in October are bound to encroach on football time. The Latta squad plays tomorrow in Strathroy and that is only the Intermediate "B" semi-finals. The OBA should adjust schedules so that all titles are decided by the first week in October at the least. The Eastern Ontario squads Latta and Bata have been sitting on their respective fannies for two or three weeks awaiting playdown winners from western Ontario.

The OBA has no control of the weather, and can do nothing about it; but it can arrange its playdown schedules so that all winners are decided before the uncertain weather arrives around Oct. 5. Baseball is not a winter game and neither players nor fans want to indulge when there is a threat of snow, or near freezing temperatures around the corner. And the box-office, the thing that makes the baseball mare go, suffers heavily at this time of the year.

Herman Keiser moved to the front yesterday in Knoxville, Tenn. invitation golf tournament, the Akron, O., shotmaker having a 36-hole total of 142. He was one stroke ahead of Clayton Heafner, of Chicago.

"AND FURTHERMORE, PLAYER'S MILD CIGARETTES HAVE WETPROOF PAPER. IT WON'T STICK TO THE LIPS."

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Oct. 18—(CP)—Football referees in Ontario appear to lead hazardous lives — possibly more so than the players.

Twice this week football crowds have given vent to their displeasure over official rulings. In a Big Four game at Hamilton Monday, the Hamilton Tigers had to come to the rescue of referee Buff Horton of Toronto who was attacked by a swarm of irate Tiger fans after Toronto Argonauts defeated their favorites.

At Windsor fans booed Bill Consiglio of Hamilton and one fan took a swing at him for decisions in a game the home-town Rockets lost to Toronto Indians in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Ivan (Hamilton Spectator) Miller offered no support to those who attacked Horton and knocked out four of his teeth before the Tigers intervened.

Wrote the forthright Ivan' "The demonstration was certainly no credit to this city, or to Hamilton fans, and cannot for a moment be condoned. There is no place in decent sport for such unsportsmanlike outbreaks, and it had no connection whatever with the Tigers who, despite the fact they felt the loss keenly and took the weak officiating to heart, had no wish to win any way but in the clean, hard fighting on the field with their opponents."

President Eddie McLean of the O.R.F.U. came out last week and promised to eliminate faulty officiating in his union, recounted Ivan, and "now the Big four must take a leaf out of Eddie's book and examine its staff of arbiters and methods."

But the O.R.F.U. has its troubles — as witness the Windsor outburst. Doug (Windsor Star) Vaughan reports that the Rockets were out-kicked, out-smarted and out-played by the Indians but he wasn't in entire agreement with the play which led to loudest objections by fans and Windsor officials. He relates that a horn was blown on a Toronto kick — sounded because Windsor players roughed the kicker — and the receiver fumbled. The Indians recovered for a touchdown. Doug holds that the Windsor objections to the official ruling on this play were unjustified because a horn doesn't stop the play and the penalty gave Indians the choice of the yardage they'd gain if it were applied or of taking the touchdown. Naturally, they picked the score.

Ted (Toronto Telegram) Reeve, an acknowledged expert, sums it up like this: "We maintain that the rules have got so far ahead of most officials that anything is liable to happen out there in a close game. The high tackle penalty is especially out of place in these days of downfield blocking and blocking coming out of the backfield (legal or otherwise) for with a blocker driving at a secondary's knees or blocking out an end, how can the tackler get at the ball carrier except by snatching at his shoulders?"

Hal (Toronto Globe and Mail) Walker plugs for the referees saying they "know more about the rules than either players or fans" and says the two Monday incidents "may be the forerunner of more serious implications unless the leagues act against the offending clubs."

TENTATIVE PLANS FOR NEW LEAGUE

Arnprior, Oct. 18 —(CP)— Tentative plans were laid here last night for formation of an Upper Ottawa Valley senior B hockey league comprising teams from Ottawa Senators, Pembroke, Renfrew and Arnprior.

The proposition, suggested by manager Jim McCaffrey of the Ottawa club and Cecil Duncan, secretary of the Ottawa and district association, received support from Renfrew and Arnprior delegation, while Pembroke delegates decided to study the matter further. They will report to the president within a few days and a further meeting will be held, probably in Ottawa next week.

WHEN GOLDHAM BANKED A FIFTY BUCK PUCK!

Just why Detroit goalkeeper Harry Lumley and defenceman Doug. Baldwin, RIGHT, are paying such close attention to Syl Apps, who is parked at the far side of the goal is not so clear, because the puck is in the Detroit net, put there by Bob Goldham (No. 2), on whom Hal. Jackson (No. 4) is riding herd too late. Goldham didn't know until later that the goal, first of the season for the Leafs, won him a $50 Savings Bond from Maple Leaf Gardens.

Richard Scores Two and Kenny Reardon the Other as Team Plays Fine Hockey

Montreal, Oct. 18 —(CP)— Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers today were in their respective final 1945-1946 National League standings—Montreal on top and the Blue Shirts in the cellar—as the Flying Frenchmen rode to a 3-0 victory over the Manhattanites before 12,000 fans last night.

Maurice Richard lived up to his name of Rocket as he blasted home two tallies in the 1946-47 schedule opener.

The quiet right-winger scored in the first and final periods. Defenceman Ken Reardon snaggled the other tally when he converted George Allan's pass in the middle frame.

Rangers battled hard but goalie Bill Durnan's quick action and Montreal's tight defence kept the disc from denting the champion's cage.

Both teams showed plenty of fight and aggressiveness as 12 penalties —six to each side—were handed out.

A healthy free-for-all threatened in the closing period as Rangers Grant Warwick grabbed centre Kenny Mosdell of Montreal by the neck and dragged him to the ice—throwing punches at the same time. Both were penalized.

Stepping in where they left off last season, Montreal's first string of Elmer Lach, Maurice Richard and Toe Blake proved to be the punch behind Canadiens' attack.

Batawa-Flyers Will Seek League Title Saturday Afternoon

The second game of the Batawa - Trenton Flyers Belleville Baseball League finals, and the third if necessary, will be played on the Batawa diamond tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, Batawa manager Bill Easton announced today.

The Shoemen defeated the Flyers 9-2 in the first game of the two-of-three series, and tomorrow will see a champion declared as the teams will immediately go into the third game if the Flyers even the series in the first tussle.

The first tilt, a nine-innings affair will start at 1:30 p.m. sharp, and the second immediately following. The third game, if played, will be a 7-innings battle.

BUREAU ESTABLISHED

New York, Oct. 18 — (AP) — Speacer J. Drayton, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, announced today that the Bureau has instituted a country-wide identification program as a further step in the elimination of undesirable personnel from United States racing circles.

While some fingerprinting and photographing of personnel has been done from time to time at several tracks, the Bureau plan seeks to unify the program on a national basis, Mr. Drayton said.

EX-LEAF GETS TWO

Pete Langelle, who hails from Winnipeg, got himself two goals for his new club, Pittsburgh Hornets, when the Toronto Maple Leaf farm club downed Philadelphia Rockets in the opening game of the American Hockey League. Sent down to Pittsburgh in the pre-season sort-out of a major and minor league material, Langelle showed he still has a potent scoring punch.

BUFFALO BISONS, PROVIDENCE REDS WIN FIRST GAMES

Defending Champs Beat Capitals and Reds Take New Haven

By The Canadian Press

With all teams except St. Louis and Springfield having seen action twice in the American Hockey League's young season, a full card of five games is slated for tomorrow night, and there are already signs of a tight race all around.

Evidence of good competition in the eastern division was seen in the comeback last night of Providence Reds in edging out New Haven Ramblers 4-3. New Haven had taken the league opener Tuesday night by trouncing Providence 7-0.

A crowd of 6,063 witnessed the Providence victory in the Red's first home victory. Roger Bedard put the Reds in the lead at 18:57 of the first period. After the veteran Ott Heller tied it up for the Ramblers early in the second Bill Earwick and Billy McComb young centre playing his second season of professional hockey, tallied in succession to make it 3-1 for the Rhode Island team.

With the Ramblers' Norm Burns and Norm Tustin scoring later, McComb's second goal early in the final session, proved the deciding tally.

At Indianapolis, Buffalo Bisons, defending Calder Cup champions, spoiled the Capitals' home opening by turning in a 3-1 victory before 8,234. Indianapolis and Buffalo had fought to a 1-1 deadlock in their first game, at Buffalo the previous night.

Goals by Buck Lewis and Johnny Mahaffey in the first period gave the Bisons an early lead they never relinquished. The Caps' Tony Licari hit the nets midway in the second period while Buffalo defenceman Roger Leger was in the penalty box.

Indianapolis drove repeatedly in the first 15 minutes of the final frame but couldn't get past goalie Connie Dion. Then Bison centre Murray Armstrong came out of a mid-rink scramble and raced down the middle to score the final counter.

SPORTS FALLACIES

By MARGERY MILLER

The American Bowling Congress is the world's series of bowling, an annual event which draws a lot of publicity. It is recognized as one of the classics of sport.

Yet those who compete in it may expect comparatively little monetary reward for their time and trouble. Leo Rollick, who last May proved the brightest individual star the ABC event ever has known, "cleaned up" just $948 for his efforts. He had won the singles crown; rolled a perfect 300 game in doubles; served as a member of the championship five-man team; finished second in the all-events division; set a tournament record for the most strikes, and rolled the best three-out-of-nine games.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

The 11-team Pro Basketball League, of which Toronto is the only Canadian member, will be permitted unlimited substitutions during a game, it was announced by President Maurice Podoloff at Philadelphia yesterday. Games will consist of four 12 - minute periods and Podoloff said no doubleheaders would be scheduled.

Quarter-final victors in the men's singles of the Pan-American tennis tournament at Mexico City yesterday proved to be Frank Parker and Bob Falkenburg of the United States, Armando Vega of Mexico and Pancho Segura of Ecuador. Vega defeated Tom Brown of San Francisco in five sets.

Once holder of U. S. pro championships simultaneously in lawn tennis, squash and racquet sports, Thomas Pettitt, 86, died yesterday at Newport, R. I. He held the world pro tennis title from 1885 to 1898.

Manager of Los Angeles Angels in the Pacific Coast League for the past four years, William J. Sweeney was added to the coaching staff of Detroit Tigers in the American League yesterday. He was first-baseman with the Bengals in 1928.

Trainer Claims Malnutrition Responsible For Size of Jockeys

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Oct. 18 (CP)— It wouldn't be advisable to approach the nearest jockey and ask if his mother fed him gin to stunt his growth. A straight left to a place that would show probably would follow.

You wouldn't expect a 17-hand colt from a Shetland mare or a breed of giants from tiny parents, would you? Don't be silly, say the experts.

This is by way of introduction to a discussion, current in Britain, on the subject: "The decline of the leightweight jockey," or "the slow death of flat racing." Anybody can get in on it.

The whole thing was started by Mrs. Gerald Armstrong, mother of three and wife of one of the country's leading racehorse trainers. She contends lightweight jockeys are a dying race, that in two or three generations they will be extinct and, furthermore, flat racing in this country will "die" with them.

Her opinion is based on the idea that pre-natal care, clinic facilities for mothers, plus modern ideas for feeding infants, make for bigger boys. Malnutrition is responsible for the size of jockeys (we still quote Mrs. Armstrong) and that, as there will soon be no such beings as improperly-reared youngsters, there will be an end to the midget saddle-riders.

Indignant Protests

These statements, of course, brought indignant protests from the riders themselves. Their remarks, summed up, were: "Why blame our mothers? We were reared just as any other baby. Our starving came later and was voluntary to meet the weights."

Professional opinion was expressed by doctors at the Queen Charlotte Hospital, London, the largest maternity centre in the country. They said: "Our experience shows that pre-natal care has nothing to do with the weight of babies. Jockeys are often examples of inherited dwarfism; smallness being passed on by parents." Nobody, they added, can breed giants from small parents.

Sir Adolphe Abrahams, medical adviser to British Olympic teams and a diet expert, entered the debate. Nutrition does make a difference to size, he said, and pointed out that British boys and girls are bigger than a generation ago because starvation is 4-43.

The real knock-down for Mrs. Armstrong came from her husband who said he is inundated with aplications from small boys who want to become jockeys.

"There may be a good deal of truth in what my wife says," he commented diplomatically. Then with lowered voice he added he can see no shortage of lightweights for some time.

"THE MOOSE"

Based upon a picture painted for Carling's by C. H. Sinclair.

This is one of a series of illustrations on the subject of the Conservation of Canada's natural assets designed to emphasize the fact that the beauties of unspoiled nature that we enjoy today are a precious birthright which we must protect for tomorrow.

† COPYRIGHT BY CARLING'S, 1946

"Give Him a Sporting Chance"

Wily, courageous, resourceful, the Canadian moose asks of mankind only a sporting chance of survival. In the vast forests which are his home, he is king—able to overcome most of the dangers that beset the creatures of the wild.

His sharp hooves and antlers are a match for predatory wolves—his thick coat and mighty frame equal to the hardest winter—his skill, speed and endurance are such that he can be expected to survive even the high-powered rifle of the huntsman — providing that the hunting is carried on according to the reasonable and just laws of conservation.

Things that he cannot survive are indiscriminate hunting, the destruction of his feeding grounds by fire, and the disturbance of the "natural balance" by which Nature protects all wild-life. The destruction of beaver causes marshes to be drained and the moose are deprived of their best feeding grounds. The destruction of smaller game will cause wolves to turn in ravenous packs upon deer and moose. Thus we see how conservation protects not one, but all wild creatures.

We all have a vital interest in the conservation of our wealth of wild-life and natural resources, for these are part of a heritage in which we all share. The preservation of that heritage demands, from each one of us, a thorough understanding of the needs and methods of conservation, and this realization prompted the forming of The Carling Conservation Club.

MARMORA

C.W.L. Holds Monthly Meeting

Marmora.—The October meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in Sacred Heart School on Tuesday evening with a good attendance. The President Mrs. J. Black, occupied the chair. The meeting opened in the usual manner.

Mrs. Black thanked the members for their co-operation and assistance at the Victory Dinner sponsored by the Welcome Home Committee and the Legion. She also remarked that the League had received a cheque for $25 from Mr. W. Mumby, president of the Legion.

Mrs. Black also referred to the success of the picture "The Eternal Gift" sponsored by the League and thanked the members for the sale of tickets for same. She also reported that more donations had come in for the groups, who sponsored the activities during the months of July and August, bringing the total receipts to $315.55. The prize winning group was Deloro Village.

Correspondence Read

Correspondence held over from the September meeting was read and this included fifteen thank-you letters and one from the Salvation Army, asking for material to assist them in their work.

Mrs. Black informed the members that on Wednesday evening October 23, in the Town Hall. Officers of the "Red Shield" from Tweed, will present shields to all members who assisted in war work.

It was decided to send a donation to the Salvation Army and also to contribute $10 to the propogation of the Faith".

Mrs. Charles Crawford gave the treasurer's report and reports were read from the conveners of Social Service, Membership Red Cross and magazines.

Convention Report

Mrs. Black then gave a lengthy and interesting report on the Diocesan Convention held in Picton, two weeks ago.

The wool blanket on which tickets will be sold was on display and the tickets were distributed to the group members to be disposed of before the annual bazaar in November. Each member was asked to donate three articles to the Fancy Goods table and it was decided to purchase material to make other articles for sale.

Names Drawn

Eight names were then drawn for the refreshment committee for the November meeting.

It was decided to send eight boxes to members of the Catholic Women's League in England, whose names had been drawn, the boxes to contain articles, which are hard to procure in that country. They are to be sent in time for Christmas.

The president announced that the Study Clubs will be organized at the November meeting.

Rev. Father Farrell then addressed the meeting, complimenting the members on the progress they were making. He urged the reciting of the Rosary in the home and asked for the co-operation and assistance of all in the coming bazaar.

A few games of bingo were enjoyed and refreshments were served by the ladies in charge.

New Handicraft Grows into Business From Little Acorns and Pine Needles

Wilful Damage Charged Against Local President

Timmins, Oct. 18 (CP)— Marc Leclerc, President of Local 2995 of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers (AFL) was arrested yesterday on a charge of wilful damage and remanded on bail till Tuesday.

The charge arose from the alledged overturning of a Feldman sawmill truck last Monday night, police said.

Tom Venner, driver of the truck, said he was driving from the mill when pickets of the striking union stopped his truck and overturned it.

Leclerc told reporters "I was framed by the forces of reactionary capitalism" and claimed the truck left the mill at an excessive speed and, in turning to avoid the pickets, Venner overturned it in the ditch.

It was the first incident of violence leading to the placing of charges since the strike of an estimated 12,000 bushmen began at midnight last Friday. The men seek a $5 daily minimum wage and union security.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

More than once have we played with a dub unafraid who will never have all that he thinks. He will suddenly cram any bid to a slam on a raise and a couple of drinks.

Many an expert will also stretch his hand now and then. The only influence he needs is confidence in his own ability. And oddly enough, he makes it pay dividends in a great many cases.

There was a deal like this:

NORTH
♥A 6 5
♦J 8 4
♣8 6 4

WEST
♥Q J 8 7 4 2
♣Q J 9

EAST
♠9 8 3 2
♥K
♦9 7 6 2
♣7 5 3 2

SOUTH
♠J 7 5
♥10 9 3
♦A K Q 3
♣A K 10

The bidding went like this:

SOUTH	NORTH
1 D	1 S
1 NT	3 NT
6 NT	Pass

The opening bid of one diamond was correct. South had five tricks, among which were at least four high cards of which at least two were sure tricks; and a biddable suit. He had more in some items.

The first response by north was correct, too. A takeout comes before a no-trump bid in the order of choice of bids. And north has not enough tricks for a jump takeout in a suit.

The next round of bidding is perfect. But the contract should have ended at three no-trump. South knew he was taking a long chance at a slam. But he hoped to make it with clever play. And did.

West led the club queen. Seldom is such a lead without the jack and ten or jack and nine. So, south realized that his third club would not win with a finesse.

When a good player realizes or suspects that a finesse may lose, he looks for an alternative plan of play. Such a one is the strip-and-endplay. So, that is what he decided to try.

It looks tough. Do you see how it was made?

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 18 (AP)—Now we know why Eleanor Powell is returning to professional life. Her husband, Glenn Ford, is a square. The boy can't dance.

Glenn explained the whole situation to me between scenes of "They Walk Alone."

"We don't go to the night clubs any more, because every time we got up to dance, people would clear the floor to watch us. Me, all I can do is a slow Abe Lincoln shuffle!"

He didn't elaborate on what kind of dance the railsplitter favored, but added, "I can do a pretty good square dance."

Besides his faulty foxtrot, Glenn pointed out "we'd run up a bill of $55 for the evening at a night club. Think of all the phonograph records we could buy with that!" The Fords have 7,000 records on their collection.

As a result, the Fords' social life consists of: Dinner at home, listening to records or watching movies from the home projector. To complete a rousing evening, Glenn might turn on the outdoor floodlights and putter around the garden.

As some wives will allow, this constant home life can get rather dull, and especially when the spouse would like to be in pictures and isn't. Eleanor, perhaps with the hope of resuming her film career, will dip her toe in snow business after a two-year idleness. She opens next month in a Chicago night club.

Glenn may be taking steps to improve his "Abe Lincoln" shuffle. He and Eleanor have just bought a house next door to Fred Astair's.

You may have read about Bob Burns applying to the United States Department of Interior for a homestead on the moon. Well, the sage of Van Buren received a lengthy answer, straight from Fred W. Johnson, acting director of the Bureau of Land Management. It said in part:

"If land on the moon should at any time be officially proclaimed to constitute public land of the United States as a result of sovereignty obtained through exploration or any other means, arrangements will doubtless be made at that time . . . Until such arrangements have been officially established, however, this Bureau has no authority to receive applications for land on the moon . . ."

Howard Hughes has a strange way of seeing movies. The other night he rented a projection room for eight hours and sat alone through six or seven pictures. Among them was "Summer Storm" with Linda Darnell, who is his current interest.

AT THE BELLE

"The Green Years"

The management of the Belle Theatre wishes to remind patrons that "The Green Years" which commences its Belleville showing on Saturday is attracting record audiences throughout Canada and is to be shown locally for four days only.

In view of reports from leading Canadian cities that patrons are returning several times to enjoy this wonderful motion picture, Manager Forhan respectfully suggests that early attendance at the local showing would be advisable.

Latta

Latta—Deepest sympathy is extended to all sorrowing relatives of the late Miss Rose Fargey of Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. George Close of Peterborough, Mrs. Alice Moore, Gerald, Bobbie and Alice Moore of Belleville called on Mr. and N. Wilder on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton called on Mr. and Mrs. N. Wilder on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Drury Denyes of Belleville spent Thanksgiving weekend with Mr. Denyes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Denyes and celebrated their 1st wedding anniversary on Oct. 13th.

Mrs. H. K. Denyes spent Thanksgiving Day with Mrs. E. Denyes and family.

Mr. Wellington Chapman of Toronto called at the Hamilton-Wilder home on Sunday and on Mr. Wallace Sills.

Mr. Donald Hall and Mr. Will Hall attended the funeral of their niece, the late Miss Rose Fargey of Rochester, on Sunday.

A large number from Plainfield Institute are attending the W. I. Convention in the auditorium of the Collegiate on Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Norman Hall Jr. and Mrs. Clayton Hall were appointed delegates.

Donnie Meeks spent the tea hour Tuesday evening with his playmate, David Stanley Wilder.

2,000 Mennonites Will Migrate To Paraguay

Kitchener, Oct. 18 (CP)—Remnant of a perilous wartime trek across Europe, 10,000 Russian Mennonites are assembling in towns and villages along the western fringe of the continent to await transportation by sea to new homes in the western hemisphere.

About 2,000 are to sail for Paraguay, South America, on a ship chartered by a central committee of the 175,000 Mennonites in Canada and the United States. Destination of the others has not been announced.

Mennonites who went to Paraguay in a previous colonization program in 1930 have undertaken to settle the first 1,000 persons. A fund of $500,000 collected by Mennonite churches in Canada and the United States will be used to transport the entire 2,000 and to settle the second 1,000 on Paraguayan farm lands.

First word of the project came from Rev. C. L. Graber of Goshen, Ind., who addressed the seventh annual session of the conference of Historic Peace Churches here this week. He told of the plans and said the evecuation would cost millions of dollars, to be raised by the Mennonites on this continent.

A committee to handle the funds has been set up in Chicago.

Hardships and migrations are nothing new to this Protestant sect which originated from a congregation formed in Zurich, Switzerland, in 1525. Recognizing the sanctity of human life and a man's word, they refuse to bear arms or take oaths. They acknowledge only the authority of the Bible, postpone baptism until after a confession of faith, and dislike all forms of church hierarchies.

LOSES BOTH LEGS; LEARNS TO DANCE

Kitchener, Oct. 18 — (CP) — Despite the loss of both legs in a bomber crash Victor McDonald, former R.C.A.F. air gunner, is learning to dance. He tried dancing once, but the nervousness of his partner knocked him off balance. He says he is certain that he will be proficient soon.

AT THE CAPITOL — Honest Plush Brannon, played by Wallace Beery, finds it hard to go straight when his former partner, Duke Cleat (John Carradine), double-crosses him by stealing the money entrusted to Brannon by the citizens of Gold Town who have invested in Brannon's gold mine. A scene from "Barbary Coast Gent," the new M-G-M film now playing at the Capitol Theatre. The added action hit, "Corpus Christi Bandits," stars Allan Lane.

U.K. Does Not Intend to Resell Canadian Wheat

London, Oct. 18 (CP)— The United Kingdom does not intend to resell Canadian wheat she will buy under contract during the next two years at prices which have been 30 per cent less than current open market rates, Food Ministry officials say.

The four-year agreement with Canada for wheat purchases, setting the price for the first two years at $1.55 a bushel, with minimum prices of $1.25 and $1 for the last two years, has a clause permitting the United Kingdom to dispose of the wheat and flour wherever she deems expedient with no restriction on either destination or price.

Asked whether they anticipated sales could be made to other countries from the 600,000,000 bushels to be bought in four years, authorities replied:

1. The United Kingdom is unlikely to take advantage of the resale clause as long as there is a world shortage of bread grains. All quantities taken from Canada under the contract will be required by the United Kingdom to meet its supply responsibilities while the shortage remains.

2. When world supplies become easier the United Kingdom might then decide to take advantage of the resale clause but an increase in world supplies probably would be accompanied by a fall in prices.

Because of the minimum price provisions of the contract for the last two years, the United Kingdom might be faced with a loss rather than a profit on resales made to other countries.

HOSPITAL FOR CHRONICALLY ILL

Chatham, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Immediate establishment of a separate hospital for the chronically ill was urged in a report of the Grand Jury of the Supreme Court of Ontario sitting here Thursday. The jurors said that the installation would leave more space for acutely sick which need the immediate attention of the hospital staff.

CHAPTER 21

"He asked could he talk to you, madam," said the maid. Isabel went to the instrument.

"Yes—I had a telegram," Isabel said lifelessly. "Will you come up? I've had several wires."

Haddon Buckley was manager of the New York office; a great friend of Avery's. He wore summer clothing, carried a white panama. His honest young face was stricken.

"He was just coming home, Mrs. Latimer."

"Yes, I expected him two days ago."

"There's nothing I can say."

Haddon looked over the wires; sighed.

"You'll want to go straight back to California?"

"I think so."

"Tomorrow?"

"Well, I know it's hard to get reservations."

"Oh, we'll not have any trouble with that," said Haddon, eager to do anything—anything.

The sun was striking full on the southwestern windows now, and, piercing the jalousies, it lay in bright thin stripes on the carpet. Man and woman sat silent; the buzz and hum of the city came to them muted and far away. Horns poured forth their wistful plaints on the river. Suddenly sirens shrieked in a rising and falling terror of alarm.

"That's just the Saturday practice for raids," Haddon said.

"Yes, I know. They did that when we were here before. Hardly a year ago."

"Hardly a year ago," the man echoed. "Bad luck for Avery—I'm sorry. I'm horribly sorry."

"He had so much to live for. He loved life so."

"He wrote me. He said nobody ever had such a break, and there never was such a swell war."

"He felt that way. But that didn't prevent him from doing so much—everywhere—for the men in hospitals. Whatever he could."

"Oh, Lord, I know that. There never was such a feller for having his hand in his pocket."

Was there anything he could do for her? Any friend near her who should be notified?

"I think—really—that I'd rather be alone, Haddon."

Sure, he could see that. He'd attend of course to tickets and baggage, telephone her later—she'd be in?

"I'll be in all day." She didn't hear herself say it, and immediately added, "I'll walk in the park this afternoon—when it gets cooler."

"Now about telegrams," he said. There were half a dozen telegrams; she worded them with his help.

"That's all, I think, Haddon, and thank you so much."

"Thank me! If you only knew how I want to help."

He went away, and the dream went on. Telegrams from California began to arrive in bunches of three and four. Isabel herself quite composed enough to attend to packing but found, she was trembling and cold; it was strange to put his clothes back into Avery's trunk. The hotel manager came upstairs, sent her a nice quiet secretarial type of girl to help with her packing.

Then it was night, hot bright night with the light lingering until late over the city. Haddon was there again, and the secretarial girl was back with a black gown and a round black hat, and gloves. She helped Isabel dress, and found among Isabel's things a plain loose black coat. Isabel asked her her name and wrote it down, and said she would send Miss McKeogh a present from California.

Haddon and she went downstairs and through lobbies and into a waiting limousine, and over the bridge to La Guardia Field. Isabel thanked Haddon and asked him about the little boy who had been so badly burned. Fine, he said. And that bouncing Susan?

"Oh, nothing hurts her," Haddon said. He went with her to the actual seat in the plane, stayed with her until the last minute. Then the door was slung shut, and the engines started to roar as the mighty thing shivered; they were moving, still tied to the earth. They had stopped; the engines rose to a frenzy and the wheels hammered the earth again. Then up—up, free, and the field wheeled about and sank down and Isabel looked out on the spread of the gray wing, and the tiny aligned houses below, and the flat putty strips of the rivers.

And it was all a dream.

Avery's mother, who arrived on the home scene dressed in becoming unobtrusive mourning, but with small stubby fingers blazing with jewels, found Avery's widow singularly apathetic.

"She must really have loved him!" Ethel Bamberger mused in surprise. She had vaguely anticipated trouble with Isabel, but there was no trouble. Isabel quietly—almost dazedly, her mother-in-law thought — accepted any and all arrangements, signed anything and everything after one questioning look at Wilson and the lawyers.

"I am going to put the house on the market, they'll probably tear it down and turn the place into a development," Ethel told Isabel. "But meanwhile you take anything you want."

"Oh—I don't want . . ." Isabel's voice drifted into a vague silence. "My clothes," she suggested. "I'll have Edna pack them."

"Your clothes of course! But I want you to take some of the china, too, and a few of the rugs."

"I don't know where I'll be," Isabel said, in the tone of one hardly hearing what was said.

"I hope it will be somewhere that you can have your little girls with you."

"Oh, I hope so." But there was no particular hope in Isabel's voice, no particular interest.

Presently there was a doctor in the picture; he recommended mild amusement. Why not go to a picture some afternoon? See her friends.

"There is too much sorrow on all sides of us, Mrs. Latimer, to to have anyone indulge in it too long."

"I know." She fixed her eyes on him as if she were puzzled. He told the older woman later that Mrs. Latimer was suffering from shock, and left a mild sedative.

After there were lawyers. They placed papers before her, and Isabel signed them.

"Mrs. Bamberger's suggestion was for a much more generous settlement on condition of your not marrying again," said old Mr. Kinsolving.

"Oh. Avery had something, I know—that will be plenty."

"Something, yes. But she wishes to make this arrangement either for a smaller life income, or the larger settlement now. Of course," the old man said, looking at her kindly, "you are not thinking of another marriage now. But I decided for you upon the former plan."

"Thank you very much." Her tone was absent; she signed in her own strong square hand.

"Her heart is broken, she doesn't know what is going on," Philip Kinsolving thought. Aloud he said, "After the lavish scale upon which Mr. Latimer has always arranged his affairs——"

"Oh yes, I know," Isabel said, with a shade of a smile. "But I have never been accustomed to that sort of thing. It won't be hard to go back to a simpler way of living. Mr. Latimer's mother," she added, "is being very generous. She always has been, to Avery and me."

This was repeated to Mrs. Bamberger, who shortly bid fair to become deeply attached to her son's widow. It was impossible for Isabel to find any sort of small quarters in San Francisco, which was her first impulse; service men were pouring through the port city, ships coming and going, young sailors and soldiers sleeping in hotel lobbies and on park benches.

She and Avery's mother lived on in the big country house with the subdued staff of perfect servants. The older woman spent her days with friends, lunched and dined out, came home late from bridge games, looked at the accumulated treasures of the place and observed that she must shortly "get at them."

"Want that?" Want that? Want that?" she would say, carelessly tossing over fans and laces. Venetian shawls and odds and ends of silver—trays and bottles, frames and spoons. "Why do we all want so much junk! My Florida house is just as crammed as this one."

"What does one do with statues—like all the Neapolitan girls and the marble Astarte?"

"Heavens knows! Movies, I guess. They are always buying up stuff like that. I'll ask Preston. And by the way, my dear, I'm putting some of the silver and china in storage for you."

"You're terribly generous, Ethel."

"Well, maybe I am," said Ethel. "But I'm not much else. I'm rotten really. But you were awfully good to Avery, and he adored you. You were really making him quite human."

"I suppose that was the way he would have wanted to die. But he did love life so."

"Yes, Avery had a good life, except that when he was a small kid I was being married and divorced a good deal. It upset him. Bamberger was my fourth husband, you know, and of course—well, of course, there were other men."

"Come, now, you're not as pretty or as fascinating as that" Isabel said. It was the type of comment that delighted her mother-in-law.

"Of course I wasn't, but I had my little ways."

"Why the past tense?"

"Because I'm fifty-eight, and my faithful watchdog Douglas would kill anyone who came near me, and anyway, I'm tired of men," Ethel Bamberger admitted.

It was a strange phase of her life, but it suited Isabel's mood to lose herself in the big house and the life of the other woman. Nobody paid much attention to her, except at such hours as Totty or Millie or Ann came to lunch, or carried her off to lunch with them. Sally della Farese came sometimes and almost the only time that Isabel laughed was when she was retailing Sally's absurdities to Mrs. Bamberger, and they were reviewing her futile passion for Avery.

In the soft mornings when fog drenched the lawn Isabel sometimes walked for an hour or two, up into the woods. Autumn was coming on early, the discolored leaves were falling in dull yellow and brown; sometimes a brave little maple flared forth in vermilion, but for the most part Nature's coloring matched her sober mood.

Among scores of shocked and sympathetic letters was a brief one from Dennis; Isabel answered it as briefly, and he did not write again. It was Madge, signing a bold "Madge Coke Hardisty," who acknowledged the trunkful of New York frocks that were sent to the Hardisty girls. Isabel had not forgotten to include Fume in her gift giving; the small step-sisters would be coated alike this winter.

In the late mornings she played games of rummy and backgammon with her hostess; when the whining summer winds began to whistle about the house in the endless afternoons she would lie on the chaise longue in her big bedroom, dozing and reading.

"Aren't you going to have your little girls down here for a visit?" Ethel said. "I'd love it."

"You're awfully nice, but not just now. I don't seem to have any energy. I just drift from day to day."

"The father's married again, isn't he?"

"Yes, some months ago."

"Met her?"

"Yes, when I took the girls there a month or two ago. They were married not long after that, but I didn't know it."

"Nice?"

"Yes, in a very businesslike British way. Yes, she's nice. Square and practical, with sort of dull yellow hair. Her husband was R.A.F.—killed early in the war—and her small boy was killed too."

"Gosh," Ethel commented simply.

"She has one small girl left; she's opened a school, over there in Sausalito. Across the road from our place."

"Propinquity. And you're still in love with him—pity," the other woman said. Isabel felt her throat close.

"With Dennis," she tried to say on a note of amused interrogation. But the effort failed, and the confused sound that came from her made the other woman's smile deepen.

"You know that, I suppose," said Ethel.

Isabel's face was flaming.

"Yes, I know that."

"And does he?"

"Yes, I think we both know it—now."

"I knew it, the minute I divorced Frank Avery Latimer," said the older woman. "I'll never forget the feeling I had when it came time to walk out. One word from him, and I'd have gone back, to stay. I was distracted—I felt I was going crazy."

"I know."

"I went to stay with a friend," pursued Ethel. "She was divorced, too. She kept reminding me how badly Frank had treated me, and all I could think of was how wonderful he'd been!"

"Oh, I know."

"I never felt so badly about any other divorce," Mrs. Bamberger mused, fascinated by her own reflections. "You get over it, of course."

"Yes, I suppose so," Isabel made herself say determinedly.

"Avery's going was a lot more of a shock to you than I would have thought," said his mother. "But you don't feel that way twice—I mean the way you feel with the first man you marry."

They were upstairs in the linen closet, a spacious windowed room lined with shelves upon which linen lay in orderly piles. Old Mamie had been displaying fluffy blankets, so many blankets that Isabel wondered what was on the many beds in the house.

"I'd like this," she said suddenly. It was the white rabbit cover from the nursery sofa that Pussy and Catherine loved; many a time Isabel had seen the little girls fling themselves upon it to kiss it good night. If either one was ever in bed for a day or two with a cough or sniffles, the rabbit rug shared the sickbed, tasted the medicines, and was fed scraps of toast and potato.

Avery had got it for them from a Boston shop. On each corner was a rabbit face with pink glass eyes; it seemed a part of her children themselves, and Isabel gathered it to her heart.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Oct. 18 —(CP)— Industrial stocks were up narrowly at mid-day and the mining groups and Western oils were lower. Trading continued in light volume and the turnover for the first three hours totalled 391,000 shares.

Foods and utilities posted a margin of gains over losses. Papers were a bit heavy.

In the gold group weakness dominated the list in the early hours and in the early afternoon the losses were reduced. Osisko traded in heavy volume and it had a small net gain after mid-day. Duquesne also traded actively on an advance of 5 to 10 cents.

LORNE McDOUGALL

Soon after court opened the petit jury panel was dismissed until Monday.

G. A. Martin, K.C., counsel for Bohozuk, asked had the Crown any objection to the presence of Lillian Bohozuk in court.

He said she would be a defence witness and while she wanted to sit through proceedings against her brother, Mr. Martin noted the order was for exclusion of all Crown witnesses until they are called.

The Crown said it had no objection to the presence of Miss Bohozuk, a tall girl with dark shoulder length hair who exchanges a smile with her brother each time he enters or leaves court.

The day's first witness was Alex Field, car dealer, who told, as he had during the trial of Mrs. Dick, how when he went to Bill Landeg's garage to negotiate for an outboard motor he was present when Landeg took from the back seat of his black sedan a blue sweater since identified as that of John Dick.

This was the car which Mrs. Dick says she borrowed March 6 and in which Mrs. Dick says her husband died from bullets fired by Bohozuk from the back seat while she drove it with her husband beside her.

Field said it was March 7 when he went to look at the motors and saw the bloodstained sweater, a Crown exhibit taken from the car.

"The car was a bit muddy, as though it had been driven over a muddy road," said Field.

Blood on Seat

Roy Graham, garage mechanic told of Mrs. Dick returning Bill Landeg's car late, explaining blood on the seat by saying in a note she had had to take her daughter to hospital after the girl cut herself.

The heavy-set Bohozuk sat, seemingly tense, as evidence came out. He had his knees crossed, his stubby-fingered hand clasped in his lap. Bohozuk had been separated for some time from his wife when he knew Mrs. Dick.

Mrs. Bohozuk, whose parents live in Hamilton, operated a small stable of horses and travels with them most of the time.

On the prisoner's bench Donald MacLean shifted position from time to time, first sitting with his elbows braced behind him on the back of the prisoner's bench, then bolt upright, his prominent blue eyes sweeping the court, or sometimes leaning forward with his elbows on his knees and looking at the witness stand.

Follows Previous Trial

The Crown case followed the same early pattern as it had in the Dick case. Mrs. Agnes Viola told of the slain street car operator hurrying away from a meal in the Windsor dining room "about 2.15 or 2.20 p.m.," the day he died. William Motrom, street railway supervisor, repeated his story of Dick leaving at his office on the morning of March 6 his conductor's cap and his satchel.

"On several occasions after the disappearance of John Dick, Donald MacLean came to the office and asked if there was any word of Dick," said Mr. Motrom under direct examination by T. J. Rigney, special Crown prosecutor.

Mrs. Georgina Stonehouse, a back neighbor of Mrs. Dick, described watching Mrs. Dick's attempt to get a large car in her garage on the afternoon of March 6. In the car she saw only Mrs. Dick, she said.

A blood-stained shirt, fully buttoned but with the arms cut off, found on a Hamilton Mountain road on March 7, the day after Dick disappeared, was exhibited.

The jury passed the tattered shirt from hand to hand, examining particularly two holes in the right chest.

The tale of finding the torso on March 16 came, as before, from 13-year-old Jimmy Weaver, one of a group of boys who were hiking on Albion Mountain.

With this evidence court adjourned to 2.30 p.m.

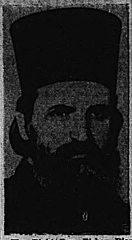
BAILEY BRIDGE INVENTOR REACHES OTTAWA

Sir Donald Bailey, O.B.E., inventor of the famous Bailey Bridge, is shown as he arrived in Ottawa for a brief visit. The bridge which bears his name was one of the most successful articles of engineering equipment produced for any army in the late war. The bridge was used almost exclusively by all the Allied armies in the European theatre, and was also extensively used by American, Australian and British forces in the Pacific. LEFT to RIGHT are: Col. E. C. Thorne, director of engineering development, N.D.H.Q.; Col. Harold H. Drayson of the British liaison office in Washington, and Sir Donald Bailey.

PRELATE ACCUSED



The Right Rev. Bishop Dionisije, Bishop of the Sergian Orthodox Church diocese in Canada and the U.S., who has been accused by "Borba," a Yugoslavia Communist organ in Belgrade with activities against the Tito government. Among the charges made against the prelate are that he dismissed from his church in Libertyville, Ill., a number of "peoples' priests" after they had openly supported the Tito government and that during the tension between the U. S. and Yugoslav governments that followed the shooting down of U. S. planes over Yugoslavia Bishop Dionisije asked President Truman to break off diplomatic relations with the Yugoslav government and to "commence a crusade against the people of Yugoslavia, the Soviet Union and other Slav states."

FREE U.S. RELIGIOUS PRISONERS
PRES. TRUMAN AMNESTY For Imprisoned WAR OBJECTORS

This is part of the picket line ,which included 30 ministers, that paraded before the White House in Washington, in an effort to obtain amnesty for all American draft law violators during the war. The pickets represent the Committee for Amnesty, New York City. A spokesman for the group said that it was their aim not only to obtain the release of all conscientious objectors still held by U. S. Federal authorities, but also to restore citizenship to those already released. One thousand, two hundred objectors of the 6,000 held during the war are still in custody.

GUERNSEY MEDAL MARKS LIBERATION

St. Thomas, Oct. 18—(CP) — A medal struck by the people of Guernsey in the Channel Islands, commemorating their liberation from German occupation has been received by Abraham Vidamour of this city. It was sent to him by his 85-year-old mother who lived in the island all through the occupation. The small group of islands off the coast of France were the only part of the British Empire occupied by German forces.

BEAR'S SECOND VISIT FATAL

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 18—(CP) —If it isn't wolves around here it's bears. A 200-pound black bear who made two visits to the home of a farmer named Sirvio, who lives near Thesault, tried hard for a pork dinner. It killed a pig on its first visit and was driven away. On the second trip, Sirvio, a little tired of all this nonsense, killed the bear. Now he has pork and bear to eat — and a bearskin to boot.

HENS LAY EGGS IN CRATES

London, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Hens apparently don't let a train ride interrupt their laying schedule. Charles Bleck, C. N. R. express employee unloading a crate of hens from the Brussel - London run, found three eggs in the crate. "Sometimes a crate will yield half-a-dozen eggs," he said.

How to Have Good Plants in the Home

House plants add to the comfort and enjoyment of a home, particularly during the winter months. The tough old Aspidistras and Sanserverias can stand a great deal of neglect in dry or draughty shaded corners but most plants respond quickly either to good care or unsuitable environment, states R. W. Oliver, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Most flowering plants, like Geraniums, Cineraria, and Primula like plenty of sunshine, but cool temperature. The hot, dry winter atmosphere of most Canadian homes ruins most attempts at indoor gardening. This is the usual cause of fine Cyclamen plants, obtained from the florists at Christmas, being a wreck in a week or two. Begonias of the Lady Mac and Christmas Cheer type, African Violets and Achemenes are the most satisfactory flowering plants for the average home where heat is plentiful and sunlight scarce.

Ferns, and foliage plants, as well as African Violets, are the most suitable plants for bright north or east windows. Ivy, Wandering Jew, and Angel's Tearz grow in even less light but Coleus are more brightly colored in sunlight.

Soil varies for different plants from the mixture of gritty sand and leaf-mould suitable to cacti and succulents to the heavy clay loam preferred by the Geranium In general, an open loam soil with plenty of decaying root fibre is best as a basis. Sand or leaf mould can then be added to suit individual requirements.

Water for house plants is best supplied from the bottom, by standing the pot in shallow pans 1"-1 1-2" deep until the moisture reaches the surface of the soil. This will only need to be done once or twice a week. Plants growing rapidly in sunshine at high temperature will need water more often than those under opposite circumstances.

Hot, dry air is not only detrimental to the growth of house plants but encourages the development of white fly, red spider and aphids, which are annoying pests. The best method of controlling such pests is to stand the pots, where possible, on a trayful of moist gravel and to syringe the foliage occasionally with a fine spray of cool water.

MEDAL AND AWARD

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP) — The Electrochemical Society, Inc., last night presented to Dr. H. Jermaine Creighton, head of the chemistry department of Warthmore College in the United States the Acheson Gold Medal and a $1,000 award for his electrochemical work on sugars. The award is made by the Society every two years.

Dr. Creighton is a native of Dartmouth, N.S.

11-YEAR OLD YOUNGSTER IS HERO IN DRAMATIC RESCUE OF GIRL

MICHEL MORISSET WINS Dow Award

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Victory Bond. Winners are selected by The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Montreal daily newspapers.

On the diving board at Cap-Rouge, Georgette Grenier, 15, felt out of the fun . . . for she wasn't a good swimmer. But on a sudden urge, she jumped in, thinking the current would bring her back to the board. But instead it began to carry her away. Hearing her screams, first one boy and then another swam to the rescue. But the girl foiled their efforts, struggling violently.

She had gone under the third time when 11-year-old Morisset saw her plight from shore. Leaping in, he swam to the drowning girl. She was lying at the bottom — 8 feet down — and as he swam to her he feared he was too late. With all the strength he could muster, Michel grasped her foot, brought her to the surface . . . and then back to shore where she recovered after artificial respiration had been applied.

For his courageous action, we are proud to present The Dow Award to Michel Morisset of Quebec City.

REAL LIFE DRAMA ON BROADWAY

A real life drama was played out on a Broadway sidewalk in New York when a Czech father and his daughter, each of whom thought the other murdered by the Nazis, were reunited under a movie marquee. The father, Arthur Goss-Polesiuk, 46, had been in a Nazi concentration camp in Prague during which time he believed his daughter dead. Walking along Broadway he suddenly recognized Irving Gray, his brother-in-law. After mutual greetings the father learned that his long "dead" child was very much alive and in New York. The daughter was to meet Gray for lunch and so a few minutes later father and daughter embraced as they wept. Here the happy father and his daughter, Erika, are shown following stranger-than-fiction reunion.

Yugoslavia Denies American Citizens Have Been Enslaved

By GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The United States and Yugoslavia today clashed in a bitter diplomatic debate over whether Tito's government has enslaved and caused the death of American citizens.

The State Department charged Yugoslavia has thrown at least 165 into concentration camps, rented them out at forced labor without pay, shipped three to Russia, and permitted maltreatment fatal to as many as 10.

The Yugoslav Charge D'Affaires in Washington promptly countered with a press statement declaring that "under Yugoslav law, which is the only relevant law in this matter" the persons concerned are Yugoslav citizens.

The statement denied flatly that any Americans are enslaved, or that slave labor conditions exist in Yugoslavia.

The controversy exploded with an American note delivered in Belgrade yesterday, which asserted that persons having "a valid claim" to American citizenship were being denied their international rights.

Enlarging on the note, government officials said the American Embassy in Belgrade had furnished details on the slavery charge, adding the fact that those held were of German ancestry.

Dr. Sergeije Makiedo, the Yugoslav Charge D'Affaires, asserted that there are approximately 110,000 persons "of the German minority in Yugoslavia," and said this group included "those to whom the State Department referred in its press release."

But these persons had belonged to the Yugoslav equivalent of the German-American Bund and had formed "Hitler's most effective fifth column in Yugoslavia," Makiedo said.

He declared that many of them had joined the Germa army when it over-ran Yugoslavia and had formed the Prince Eugen division, "an S.S. outfit that was unequalled in the barbarity with which it slaughtered Yugoslav soldiers and civilians alike."

Cites Tobacco Production As Proof of Progress

Toronto, Oct. 19 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Kennedy said last night that the people and government of Ontario must plan and act now to develop the province's national resources.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the York South Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Kennedy cited development of the tobacco growing and pulp industries as examples.

"Twenty-one years ago not a pound of tobacco was produced in Canada," said Mr. Kennedy, mentioning the recent opening of a new processing plant at Aylmer, near St. Thomas. "Now Ontario itself is averaging 1,100 pounds of tobacco per acre in the fertile belt around Aylmer."

As to pulp, some $80,000,000 was being spent in five projects in Northern Ontario, aimed at using woodlands that formerly went to waste.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Oct. 19 (CP)—Weather synopsis: The storm which caused general rain and strong winds over Southern Ontario on Friday has moved rapidly northeastward and now is centred over Gaspe Peninsula, and is causing general rain over the Maritimes. Cool air covers Southern Ontario and the Eastern and Central States, while somewhat colder air covers Northern Ontario and Manitoba and will extend southeastward over Southern Ontario today. With the exception of rain over the Maritimes, the weather is generally clear over all of Canada.

Ottawa, Oct. 19 — (CP)—Cumulative sales of the new Canada Savings Bonds across the country aggregated $41,787,750 for the first three days of the current campaign, National Headquarters reported today. Total sales for the first two days were $25,512,300.

Behind the official totals of sales during the first three days is a pattern of public activity across the country that continues to surprise officials at National Headquarters.

Hangman of Ten Nazis Says Job Needed Doing for Long Time

(The soldier hangman at the Nuernberg executions has written his story for the Associated Press. Sgt. John C. Woods, 43, has been in the United States Army off and on for 19 years. He landed in Normandy on D-Day and saw combat in Africa.)

By SGT. JOHN C. WOODS
(Copyright, 1946, By The Associated Press)

Heidelberg, Germany, Oct. 19—(AP)—I hanged those 10 Nazis at Nuernberg and I'm proud of it.

That was a job that needed doing for a long time. I did a good job of it, too. Everything clicked perfectly. I've hanged 347 people in the last 15 years and I never saw a hanging go off any better. I'm only sorry Goering escaped. I wanted him especially.

But this Nuernberg job was one I really wanted to do. I wanted that assignment so bad I stayed over here after I could have gone back home just to do it. Those guys really deserved hanging.

I'll say this for those Nazis, though. They died like brave men. Only one of them showed any signs of weakening. When (Wilhelm) Frick was climbing those 13 steps of the gallows one leg seemed to go bad on him, and the guards had to steady him.

They were all arrogant. You could see they hated us . . .

There's not much to tell about the actual hangings. They went off just like any routine hangings. Ten men in 103 minutes. That's fast work . . .

The way I look at this hanging job, somebody had to do it.

PRIME MINISTER ANSWERS DREW ON CONFERENCE

Denies Door Closed To Further Dominion-Provincial Parley On Tax Agreements

Ottawa, Oct. 19 (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a letter last night to Premier Drew of Ontario reiterated the Federal Governments' decision not to reconvene the Dominion-Provincial Conference until the Provinces have indicated their attitude toward Dominion proposals for new taxation agreements.

The letter, written in reply to a letter Wednesday in which Mr. Drew charged that Mr. King was breaking faith with all the Provinces by not reconvening the conference, indicated the Dominion was leaving to the Provinces the initiative in paving the way for resumption of the conference discussions, which ended in disagreement last May.

"There has been no closing of any door," said Mr. King in reply to Mr. Drew's charge that the Federal government was refusing to consider requests for a new conference.

"The people of Canada have not forgotten the circumstances which occasioned the adjournment of the conference in May last," the Prime Minister added. "It is the situation disclosed at that time which causes the Dominion government to feel that it would be inadvisable to have the conference reassemble before the Provinces have indicated their attitude toward the proposals of the Dominion government."

Involves Added Burdens

He recalled how Mr. Drew had stated before the conference broke up in failure that the Ontario government had gone as far as it possibly could toward making agreement possible.

He said Mr. Drew in his letter had claimed that at no time had Ontario asked for a larger annual payment than was actually offered by the Dominion.

"The fact is," said Mr. King, "that, over and above the annual payments to the Provinces, the Ontario proposal involves added burdens and substantial additional losses of revenue to the Dominion treasury."

Mr. King also recalled how Premier Duplessis of Quebec had left the May conference before its conclusion. He referred to Mr. Drew's statement to the effect that Mr. Duplessis was ready to resume discussions as soon as the Dominion was ready to show some spirit of co-operation.

"As all who were present at the conference are fully aware, the fact is that despite repeated requests from the representatives of the Dominion and of the Provincial government, the Premier to whom reference is made (Mr. Duplessis), at no time stated what were the concrete terms on which his Province was prepared to make an agreement," said Mr. King.

Ontario had yet to indicate its position respecting the proposals made in the Federal budget of June 27 for new taxation agreements with the Provinces. The proposals were put forward following failure of the conference.

Mr. King said the Federal government had kept its pledge to reduce taxes before expiration of the 1942 tax agreements, most of which end March 31, 1947. It had given assurances that it would not, except to meet a national emergency, increase the rate of certain minor taxes. It had taken steps to enable Provinces not signing new agreements to re-enter tax fields occupied provincially prior to the war.

Life Among Lolo Villagers Described by AP Photographer

(Editor's note: Julian Wirn, Associated Press photographer, was one of only six men who managed to scale 14,400-foot Liang-Feashan in the Wualai Mountains of wild, western China in the search for survivors of the four-engined bomber (B-29) that crashed there in March, 1945. He found the skeletal bones of one crew member which were taken to Sichang. His story of a night in a Lolo village, where the party rested, follows.)

By JULIAN WIRN

Sichang, Oct. 15 (Delayed) — (AP)—The Lolos are just as curious about visitors as we were about them.

Lt.-Col. Herbert Wurtzler, other members of his American graves registration search team and I learned that as a Lolo chieftain and his villagers carefully examined us, our clothes, our equipment and my cameras. They even pinched our skin.

Satisfied, they admired us and feasted us.

Our party of 50 spent one night at Lanchang, a Lolo village. The chief, Meh lo-Yu, received us cordially. Considered wealthy by tribal standards, he controls 500 families and 1,000 rifles. He owns 40 rifles himself.

All members of the ruling Blackbone class are distinguished by black turbans, an ornament they wear in one ear, and an ever present rifle slung over a shoulder.

There were few women about. Those we saw wore silver necklaces and colored cloths around her necks which, like the men's, appeared never to have been washed. It is reported the Lolos never bathe.

The chief's house is 40 feet long and 20 wide made of stamped mud. Windowless, it is pitch dark inside. There are no air holes except two vents near the chimney to let out smoke from the cooking fires.

The door is only 3 1-2 feet high and we had to crawl in.

Inside, there was a fire in the centre of the floor.

The chief asked us what we wished to eat. sked for chicken, he brought out a rooster and killed it before us. Then he led in a goat, slit its throat, skinned it, cut it up, roasted it and served it as we sat around the fire.

The Lolos evidently treat their slaves with consideration. Slaves' tasks are not onerous and the captives share food and quarters with the Backbone superiors.

That a white man could survive among them for years, if he were captured uninjured and was sub-

COURT ACTION IS STILL UNDER CONSIDERATION

If Any Charge is Laid Against Dairies it Will be Test Case

Toronto, Oct. 19 (CP)—The question of court action against dairies for selling milk in the Toronto area at 16 cents a quart is still under consideration, it was learned last night.

Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden said no decision had been reached as to whether to act against the Borden Company, Limited, on information supplied by Controller Stewart Smith who maintained yesterday the company acted illegally in increasing the price from 13 to 16 cents Oct. 1. If any charge is laid, it would be in the nature of a test case as all dairies in Ontario increased the retail price of milk by three cents at the first of the month, bringing the price to 15 to 17 cents throughout the Province.

It was reported that Mr. McFadden conferred yesterday with the Ontario Attorney-General's Department and J. Palmer Kent, Deputy City Solicitor for Toronto, on the matter. Mr. Kent previously expressed the opinion that dairies acted illegally in increasing the price because the Ontario Milk Control Board had not passed an order approving it.

The question of this legal action arose after the Board submitted an affidavit to the Supreme Court of Ontario saying that the increase was agreed on between producer and distributor organizations but that it had not issued an order.

The affidavit was presented to the court in connection with an application for a writ of injunction restraining dairies from charging the additional three cents.

24 Sentenced To Death Now Free in Ontario

Toronto, Oct. 19 (CP)—Twenty-three men and one woman, once sentenced to death, live and work in freedom in Ontario. This information came today from Col. Wallace Bunton, chief rehabilitation officer of the Salvation Army, who said "they have fitted themselves back into society and have become some of our best citizens.

All 24 were sentenced to be hanged, later the sentences were commuted to life imprisonment and still later they were released from penitentiary after terms of varying length. The woman was in prison for 10 years.

Col. Bunton, who knows each of them, says "we get them to look forward into the future and forget the past, and it is wonderful how they respond."

Execution Pictures Inspected

Berlin, Oct. 18 (AP)—American military government headquarters said today the official photographs taken at the execution of 10 Nazi war criminals in Nuernberg Wednesday will be reviewed by the Allied Control Council Monday to decide whether any shall be released for publication.

FORMER LEADER GERMAN SPY RING HELD BY F.B.I.

Arrest Climaxes Five-Year Hunt on Three Continents for Wanted Spy

New York, Oct. 19 —(AP)— Teodore Erdmann Erich Lau, 44-year-old German-born Argentine citizen described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the key figure in a notorious German spy ring, was held by Federal authorities today on espionage charges, climaxing a five-year hunt on three continents.

The F. B. I. said last night, in announcing his arrest, that Lau was the paymaster of the Kurt Frederick Ludwig spy ring which the government said relayed sufficient information to Germany before it was uncovered in 1941 to account for the sinking of at least 12 Allied vessels.

Lau was arrested by Federal agents Wednesday upon his arrival from Canada—his first visit to the United States since he fled in 1941, at which time he was known to government investigators only as the mysterious "Bill," whose name appeared on captured spy documents written in invisible ink.

Lau was arraigned yesterday before Federal Judge Simon Rifkind on the espionage charges and bond was set at $50,000.

Nine Members Sentenced.

Nine members of the Ludwig spy ring, which planned to send to Germany information on convoy movements, location of armaments and military information, were sentenced in March, 1942 to a total of 132 years in prison. Ludwig himself received 20 years, the maximum allowed by law.

An 18-year-old German-born high school girl, Lucy Boehmler, who had joined the ring "for fun" was the key government witness who tattled on the group, gave the most damaging testimony that led to its members being convicted.

The F.B.I. said Lau had "been operating a hosiery business in Argentina during the war and also had an office in New York City as a front for his activities in 1940 and 1941. Lau has been under indictment for his espionage activities in New York City since the trial of Ludwig."

The announcement said government agents had conducted investigations concerning Lau in South America, Britain and Canada since 1941.

ASSERTS PERMISSION RECEIVED

Hamilton, Oct. 19 —(CP)— An assertion that Ontario dairies received permission to increase price of milk three cents a quart when the federal government subsidy was discontinued Oct. 1, and that Ontario Agriculture Minister Kennedy stated he would see that the new prices were enforced, was made by T. H. Ward, secretary-manager of the Hamilton milk distributors.

DIES IN TAXI ON WAY TO VISIT HIS BROTHER

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP)— Joseph A. Ryan of Mobile, Ala., 70, died yesterday in a taxi as he rushed from Oakland airport to the hospital bedside of his brother, William M. Ryan, 77. En route to hospital he complained of felling faint. The driver stopped, purchased spirits of ammonia and revived him. Later, when they arrived at hospital, the driver found Ryan dead.

MRS. A. MACLEAN GIVES EVIDENCE AGAINST BOHOZUK

Justice Urquhart Tells Witness Testimony Will Not Apply Against Her Husband

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hamilton, Oct. 19 (CP) —Mrs. Alexander MacLean took the stand as a crown witness today at the torso murder trial of her husband, Donald MacLean, and William Bohozuk.

The small, grey-haired mother of Evelyn Dick, convicted of slaying her husband, John Dick last March, stood silent in the witness stand while counsel for Bohozuk asked and received permission of the court to have later and additional cross examination of Mrs. MacLean, than is given today, in the event it is desirable.

Mrs. MacLean had her black hand bag tucked under her arm and wore a small black hat and a black and white checked suit.

Mr. Justice George Urquhart made it clear to her she was not being called on to testify against her husband, but only against Bohozuk, 27-year-old former steelworker who Mrs. Dick, in her statements to police and admitted as testimony at her trial, said killed her husband in a March 6 automobile ride while Mrs. Dick held the wheel.

Donald MacLean spread his arms on either side of himself along the back of the prisoner's bench and watched his wife as she testified to meeting John Dick first about two weeks before John and Evelyn were married Oct. 4, 1945.

Evelyn's mother said she saw Bohozuk only once before Mrs. Dick's marriage to Dick. "That was one Saturday evening," she said. "He was in his car. I was with Evelyn."

She said that at that time she knew Bohozuk as "Bochuk."

After that she never saw the street car operator whose headless, limbless torso was found on Hamilton Mountain March 16.

Talked to Dick

Mrs. MacLean said she had talked to John Dick on the telephone, once as late as "nine o'clock Tuesday morning" on March 5 — the day before John Dick died — when the slain man wanted to borrow money.

The one-hour earlier court opening did not phase the crowd. They were on hand long before the 9 a.m. start of proceedings.

As in the trial of her daughter Mrs. MacLean told of Evelyn's vain efforts March 6 to get a large car into her garage back of her 32 Carrick Avenue home.

Says Ashes Taken Out

She said that on March 13 she say Evelyn take ashes out of the cellar and scatter them in the alley in front of the garage, where, the Crown says, investigating police recovered human bones from ashes, and in the Dick trial brought expert testimony to show the pieces of bone fitted the same parts of the body as were missing from John Dick's torso.

Mrs. MacLean's answers were firm and she appeared to have herself under good control for this ordeal of her second court appearance in Hamilton's torso murder trials.

Officials Not Impressed With Rumor Stalin May Visit Canada and U.S.

Halifax, Oct. 19 (CP) — Premier Stalin of Russia, may visit the United States, and possibly Canada, early in November, the Halifax Chronicle said today quoting a "highly-placed informant."

Although the report is unconfirmed the informant said a suite aboard the liner Aquitania is to be prepared for the Russian chief and that he will be aboard the big ship on her next westward trip from Britain.

The Aquitania will proceed direct to New York from the United Kingdom on her next trip reaching there about November 5, the date when the Big Four foreign ministers are scheduled to open a conference.

An official of the Cunard White Star line, the Aquitania's operators, said no passenger list was available here but that he understood some "special parties" were to be carried.

London, (AP) — A Halifax Chronicle report that Russian Premier Stalin would travel to the United States aboard the Aquitania next month was greeted with skepticism in London diplomatic circles today.

A Foreign Office spokesman broke into an unfinished request for information about it with "you mean that Canadian story about Stalin, I suppose. Well, we've had no information at all about it. Why don't you try the Russian Embassy or 10 Downing Street?"

No. 10 Downing Street's spokesman was spending the weekend in the country. His secretary said —"I'm afraid I can't help, but it's really an interesting rumor."

The young woman in the Russian Embassy's Press office said: "We have had no news of it, thank you."

Cunard Lines, owners of the vessel, said: "The ship is being prepared for ranking delegates of the United States, Britain, France and Russia as well as other United Nations leaders. I suppose if Stalin wants on, he can get on but we don't know anything about it."

'Patient But Firm' U.S. Foreign Policy Charted by Byrnes

Blames Tension on Russian Relations on Moscow Policy

By ALEX SINGLETON

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)— State Secretary Byrnes today pointed the United States along a "patient but firm" foreign policy course with Russia, declaring that the United States will neither yield to all demands of other nations nor expect them to yield to all ours.

Voicing concern over "the continued if not increasing tension between us and the Soviet Union," Mr. Byrnes urged rejection of the thought that delays in achieving peace "make armed conflict inevitable."

"It is entirely possible," he said in a broadcast last night on the Paris Conference, "that the failure or inability of the Soviet leaders to rid themselves of that belief lies at the very root of our difficulties."

His address, obviously aimed at Moscow as well as his home audience, acknowledged Mr. Byrnes' distress over war talk which is "throttling the economic recovery of Europe," but affirmed his hope that a just peace can be attained without one-sided concessions.

Mr. Byrnes said the United States will stand "irrevocably" behind the "right of every people to organize their economic and political destiny through the freest possible expression of their collective will."

Defend Freedom Everywhere

"We defend freedom everywhere," he asserted. "And in our view human freedom and human progress are inseparable."

He made it plain that his goal is co-operation with the U.S.S.R. —but not continued concessions.

"We must be willing to co-operate with one another—veto or no veto—to defend, with force if necessary, the principles and purposes of the charter of the United Nations," he said.

An apparent reference to the debate which stormed up over former Commerce Secretary Henry Wallace's criticism of the administration's policy toward Russia came in Mr. Byrnes' declaration:

"In following those policies we have been criticized at times for being too 'soft' and at times for being too 'tough.' I dislike both terms. Neither describes our earnest efforts to be patient but firm.",

Wallace Comment.

Mr. Wallace commented later: "After listening to the speech of the Secretary of State I am more certain than ever that we must adopt a real American foreign policy. I am glad that he has progressed since his Stuttgart speech (warning that Germany must be neither 'pawn or partner' in any power struggle between East and West.)

"I sincerely hope that further progress will be made and that the Secretary of State will eventually realize that the American people demand justice, good neighborliness and peace in the world."

Mr. Byrnes expressed "bewilderment" at Russian accusations that the United States "enriched itself during the war" and now seeks "to enslave Europe economically."

Bracken Declares King, Free Press Distorted Facts

Oakville, Man., Oct. 19 (CP)— Turning on his attackers for the first time in the Portage La Prairie by-election campaign, John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, told an audience last night the Liberal government and the Winnipeg Free Press had deliberately distorted the facts of Dominion-Provincial relations.

In a strongly-worded address, Mr. Bracken charged both Liberal speakers and the Free Press had brought up "phoney issues" and "misrepresentations" which sought to divert the minds of the electors from the "real issues."

"One of these side-issues the Free Press has dragged in is that of Dominion-Provincial relations. The Free Press says you should vote against C. C. Miller (Progressive Conservative candidate in Monday's by-election for three reasons:

"First, because the Dominion government failed to get unanimous acceptance by the Provinces of its August, 1945 plans; second, because it says George Drew and Maurice Duplessis are alone to blame for the conference failure; and third, because it says John Bracken changed his attitude to Dominion-Provincial relations.

"The last two declarations are deliberate distortions of the facts. The last Dominion-Provincial conference failed to get unanimous agreement because the Dominion government wanted it to fail. For what George Drew and Maurice Duplessis say or think, they are responsible to their own electors.

"In any event their views, whether good or bad, have nothing whatever to do with mine . . .

"As for John Bracken having changed the views he formerly held, I give to that statement the lie direct. I have not changed my views one iota. I favored the principles of the Sirois report. I do still . . .

Mrs. Evelyn Dick Refuses to Testify In Murder Trial

Hamilton, Oct. 19. (CP) — Evelyn Dick, convicted of murdering her husband, John Dick, persists in her refusal to testify in the trial of her father and William Bohozuk for the same killing, The Canadian Press learned today.

The court had given the 28-year-old widow now under sentence to be hanged Jan. 7, until this morning to make up her mind whether to testify for the Crown after refusing to do so yesterday.

Today she did not appear in court and her counsel, John J. Sullivan said she still refuses to testify in this trial of Donald MacLean and her former friend, Bohozuk.

The charge against the two men is the same as that on which Mrs. Dick was found guilty Wednesday at conclusion of a nine-day trial and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 7.

LATE MRS. GRACE COLE

The funeral of Mrs. Grace (Gilbert) Cole, wife of Mr. Percy T. Cole, Toronto, and formerly of Belleville, took place Friday morning from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, to the Belleville Cemetery where entombment took place in the mausoleum. The service there was conducted by the Rev. D. C. Amos, minister of Bridge Street United Church.

The bearers were Dr. Austin Walters, Dr. F. R. Ross, R. D. Arnott, Samuel Curry, Stanley Hagerman and John E. Marsh.

MISS ROSE A. FARGEY
(Roslin - Buffalo)

Miss Rose A. Fargey, formerly of Roslin district, died in Buffalo, N.Y., on Oct. 10th., after an illness of ten months' duration.

The late Miss Fargey was born about 42 years ago at Roslin and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fargey. For the past twenty-one years she made her home in Buffalo. Old friends in this district will regret to learn of her death.

Surviving her are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fargey, Buffalo, N.Y.; one brother, Mr. Kenneth Fargey of Belleville; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Hare of Medina, N.Y., and Mrs. George Douglas of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Mr. W. J. Hall of this city and Mr. Donald Hall of Plainfield, uncles of the late Miss Fargey, attended the funeral in Buffalo last Sunday.

Wells Replenished By Heavy Rain

With wells and creeks in the Bay of Quinte district either dry or exceptionally low for the past several weeks, farmers wore satisfied smiles on Saturday following Friday's all day rain which served to provide surface water for stock requirements.

Many farmers in the district have been forced to draw water for their stock for the past several weeks as wells failed and daily trips to larger creeks, rivers and lakes for water supply were forced. Others drove their stock to drink.

On Saturday farmers reported that surface water was apparent in the low lying levels and it was felt that this would seep into the ground to replenish stock wells.

Board Will Not Provide Transportation for Pupils From One School to Another

Members Claim Children Moved to Save Expense of Another Teacher

The Belleville Board of Education will no longer provide bus transportation for children of one school section who may be transferred to another school it was decided at the regular board meeting Friday evening.

The matter came up for discussion following an inquiry from one of the board members as to the cost of providing bus transportation for the 38 children from Queen Mary School who at the beginning of the fall school term were transferred to King George School.

At the time the transfer was made, the board as a temporary measure decided to provide bus transportation for those pupils who had been transferred to King George School. Secretary-Administrator L. A. Kells stated that the probable cost of transportation for these pupils had not been accurately estimated, but it was expected the cost would be in the neighborhood of $4 per month per pupil.

Collection Difficult

Question of the parents of the children being assessed 25 cents for each dollar's worth of bus tickets saw opposition from board members as the matter of collection would be difficult.

"If this continues we will have established a precedent in that all school children who might be transferred to another school will demand transportation," stated Mr. Ed. Shortt.

Mr. B. C. Sisler declared that the whole thing was wrong, while Mr. Robt. McCullough opined that as the board supplied the school and the teacher, it was up to the pupil to get to school.

Mr. Kells stated that it was the board's responsibility to decide which school a pupil might be required to attend and he knew of no law requiring that transportation be provided within a three-mile limit.

Save Expense of Teacher

Chairman of the board Mr. W. H. Finkle stated that the transfer of the pupils was made to King George School to save the expense of another teacher and board members agreed that bus transportation costs would soon amount to an equal expense.

The matter was brought to a climax when Mr. Shortt moved that the provision of bus transportation for pupils be discontinued and that in the future it be the policy of the board not to provide transportation for school pupils. The motion was passed by board members.

A communication from city council was read asking permission to place sandwich boards in front of Queen Alexandra School and King George School for the protection of pupils during the time they were coming to and leaving school. Approval of the chief of police had been granted for the measure.

To Meet Commission

A number of the board members felt, however, that it was the duty of the police department to provide protection for pupils at the schools and the idea of giving responsibility to the older pupils in placing and taking away the signs, was frowned upon. A committee of Harold Seldon and L. A. Kells was appointed to meet the police commission on the matter.

The board passed an Advisory, Vocational committee recommendation asking that prices be obtained and orders placed for 8 new Underwood and two new Remington typewriters for use in the commercial department. Applications will be made to the deputy minister of education for approval of qualification for the following teachers for the year 1946-47: Miss E. Plumsteel; Miss G. Neal and Mr. R. W. Phillips.

Permission Granted.

Passing a recommendation from the Collegiate management committee the board gave approval for the matter of campus improvement to be referred to the property committee. The Women's Canadian Club were granted the use of the school auditorium for the evening of Nov. 21 for a lecture by Mr. Albert. A part-time stenographer will be hired for the guidance department.

In view of cramped quarters in the public schools a special committee composed of Chairman W. H. Finkle with chairmen of the public school management committee, chairman of the finance committee and L. A. Kells, were authorized to renew activity regarding suitable and sufficient accommodation for public school pupils, with particular attention to be given to a site for a new building.

A report on the adjustment of fire insurance on the four public schools and the Collegiate was confirmed with the new schedule to be effective January 1st., 1947. Minor salary adjustments for certain classes of public school teachers were ratified. Financial statements for the third quarter for the four public schools and the Collegiate were presented to the board.

In his principal's report, Mr. G. E. Currie stated that total registration for the entire composite school was 880 with 524 attending the Collegiate courses. Mr. Currie also advised that the agricultural class at the Collegiate would construct the proposed fence running diagonally from the corners of the Collegiate building to stop traffic across the school lawns. Materials for the fences were acquired some time ago and are still available in the school basement.

Enrolment at the four public schools is 1742 as at Sept. 30 with an average attendance of 96.17 for the month, it was reported by Inspector Kells.

Testing Pupils

In accordance with instruction from the board Mr. Kells reported the transfer of 17 pupils from Queen Victoria School to Queen Alexandra School to provide for establishment of a girls' handicraft class at the former school. Since Oct. 1st Miss H. Burley has spent almost full time testing pupils as a part of the survey to determine girls most needing help in a special class. It is expected that this survey will be completed in time to permit notification of parents and opening of the class sometime before the 1st of November.

The nurse's report presented by Mrs. Watt, P.H.N. showed that dental work is being carried out at King George School. Consent slips have been sent home to all parents of children not already toxoided against diphtheria and a clinic will be held on October 22nd and 23rd in all four schools by Dr. Cronk, medical officer of health.

Reports were made on health and home conditions of children to enter the special girls' class at Queen Victoria School.

Colorful Canned Fruits, Vegetables Are Displayed

An interesting feature of the evening session of the Women's Institute on Thursday was the girls' session directed by Miss Elsie Irvine, Home Economics coach, assisted by Mrs. R. Rollins of Madoc. A table of colorful canned fruits and vegetables was displayed. This represented the work of one young girl who planted, tended, and harvested the berries and vegetables, and then preserved them. She described the methods of canning which she preferred for the cherries, pumpkin, beets, pears and so on which she had used. She also had grown flowers and learned flower arrangements to make attractive bouquets.

Northumberland junior girls acted out a little playlet entitled, "Jackie's Luck". This brought out the teachings of the homemaking groups including the study of vitamins, table setting, attractive well-planned/meals and making menus. Miss Beth Oliver, the Home Economist of Northumberland County described homemaking clubs and declared it made better wives of the girls, gave them self-assurance and a higher standard of social conduct. The Plainfield girls gave a demonstration from their home interest group on how to be well-dressed and well-groomed. This showed how to care for the face, hands, nails, hair, teeth, posture and clothing.

Speaks on Training Clubs

Miss Elsie Irvine spoke on the training clubs for homemakers, composed of junior girls, usually sponsored by the Women's Institute. They are planning a project called "The Cereal Shelf", and as part of it they are planning a visit to the Quaker Oats Company at Peterboro.

Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow whose husband is Minister of Welfare in the Ontario Legislature spoke for a few moments on the need of women in political life and mentioned that she was glad to see three wives of Members of Parliament at the meeting—Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Robson, and herself.

Miss Anna P. Lewis who is Superintendent of Women's Institutes called on the delegates to realize that they were at "Operations Crossroads". The work must be geared to peace now, and all must pull together to get the machinery going to right living. But machinery must have proper lubrication and that is supplied by human kindness, and understanding.

Bright Future

"The outlook shows a bright and successful future," declared Miss Lewis. "If girls work is sponsored. We can meet the future with hope and courage. We have laid a fine foundation in the past, and now we have new opportunities to challenge women. In the first place we have learned to work harmoniously together, to work together and to bring right conditions in the community. Then we have learned that people are important. Not just the officers, but every one has some contribution to make. We have developed a tolerant, broad-minded attitude, where we are able to look at situations from other's points of view. If the meetings are the right kind the members should go home with happiness in their hearts.

"There are immediate things you can do," said Miss Lewis. "Listen to the Farm Forum radio programs and the Citizens' Forum. They will broaden your outlook. And remember, "A horse can't kick when he's pulling and he can't pull when he's kicking!"

WALLY'S JEWEL CASE NOW EMPTY

Scotland Yard is in a dither because this jewel case is now empty. Fifty of its best operatives are working on the daring burglary which saw thieves decamp with the million dollar collection of gems of the Duchess of Windsor, which she housed in this case. The Duchess is shown receiving the jewel case at ceremony when she was the governor's lady of the British West Indies — it's empty now. It was emptied by the nocturnal visitors who staged a "welcome home" party for the recently-returned Duchess (while she was absent) at the secluded Ednam Lodge of the Duke of Dudley at Sunnington in Berkshire county, England.

Several B.C.I. Teachers May Resign Unless Living Quarters Are Obtained

Inability of recently hired high school teachers to acquire living accommodation in Belleville for their wives and families may cause a number of resignations from the staff at the Christmas holidays, members of the local board of education were told at their regular monthly meeting held Friday evening.

Members of the board Mr. Harold Seldon told the board that something must be done to provide these teachers with living accommodation or in all probability they will resign their positions during the coming holiday. He asked that the board do something toward acquiring housing for these teachers.

One of the board members came up with the suggestion that action in assisting teachers secure homes might establish a precedent for the board but this was immediately spiked by Mr. Seldon. "If something isn't done we will probably lose five or six teachers who would be difficult to replace," he said. "That would put us in a difficult position."

Following discussion on the matter the board authorized the placing of a display advertisement in the press, while the board also agreed to the purchase time on the local radio for appeals asking for accommodation for the members of the Collegiate teaching staff without housing for their families.

B.C.I. Students Above Average In 9 Subjects

Upper school students at the Belleville Collegiate were above the provincial average in nine out of fourteen subjects tried during last June's examinations, according to figures recently announced by Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of education for Ontario.

Subjects in which Belleville Collegiate students rated higher than the provincial average were English Composition, Modern History, Algebra, Botany, Chemistry, Latin Authors, Latin Composition, French Authors, French Composition, and possibly in music.

Comparison of this year's results with those of last year show that Belleville students made a higher percentage pass in seven subjects and were lower in seven.

Eight scholarships were won by Belleville Collegiate Upper School students last year, it was reported.

Donald Beavis won the Ellen M. Nickle Scholarship in English, attaining second highest in the province, while Norman Meyers won the Bell Scholarship in Chemistry, also with the second highest standing in the province. Both scholarships are valued at $40.

Donald Beavis also won the Leonard Foundation award of $250 per year during University courses, while Eric Payne, Donald Jeffrey and Carlyle McKay won University Student Aid Scholarships valued at $400.00. Grade XIII student and scholarships valued at $100 were won by Robert Willoughby and Eunice Veley.

Large Quantity Apples Offered

With attendance down from that of the past few weeks, apples were again featured on the local produce market Saturday, with first grade McIntosh bringing up to 70 cents the basket, while cooking varieties ranged down to 50 cents. Talman Sweets and Snows brought 50c, while Delicious were available at 55c the basket.

On the inside market eggs held firm at 50 to 55 cents the dozen for firsts, with mediums being quoted at 45 cents and pullets at 40 cents the dozen.

Fowl was quite plentiful at from 38 to 40 cents with capons selling up to 45 cents pound.

On the vegetable market potatoes were plentiful with price generally asked for bag lots being $1.75 and bushels at $1.50. Parsnips and carrots were 35c the small basket; onions 10 cents the berry box and cabbage five and ten cents each. Cauliflower sold up to 40 cents each. Corn was 25 and 30 cents the dozen ears with hickory nuts at 35c the quart.

The offering of young pigs was greater than usual with farmers asking from $8 to $10 each, according to age and quality.

CANCEL RUSSIAN ORDER

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP) — William L. Clayton, Under-Secretary of State, has notified Governor Earl Warren of California that U.N.R.R.A. will cancel an order calling for delivery of 183 miles of steel wire to Russia, informed government officials said last night.

REFUSE TO SAIL FREIGHTER

Baltimore, Oct. 19 (AP) — Striking deck officers and engineers today refused to sail a freighter loaded with coal consigned to the United States army in Italy because, their spokesman said, the steamship company had assigned a non-union captain to the ship.

IN MEMORIAM

HARROW — In loving memory of a dear mother, Abbie Annie Harrow, who passed away October 19th., 1945; also a dear father, Alfred Henry Harrow, who passed away November 29th., 1938.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
but never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts of those they leave behind.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Rose.

HARROW — In loving memory of my dear grandmother, Abbie Annie Harrow, who passed away one year ago today, October 19th., 1945.

My lips cannot tell how I miss her,
My heart cannot tell what to say.
God alone knows how I miss her
In a home that is lonesome today.
—Sadly missed by Lila and great-grand-daughter Doreen.

Psychiatric Treatment Improves Deaf Hearing

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP) — Dr. Herman Semenov of Beverly Hills, Calif., said that psychiatric treatment of deaf patients while under the influence of drugs has "resulted in a dramatic improvement of hearing in 78 per cent" of those suffering non-organic difficulties. The response to narco-synthetic treatment was described in a paper by Dr. Semenov prepared for the 51st annual session of the American Academy of Opthamology and otoloaryngology yesterday.

Mrs. V. Blochin, Noted Writer, Dies in Toronto

Toronto, Oct. 18 (CP)—Mrs. Victor Blochin, known in the writing and publishing world as Anne Elizabeth Wilson, author of two books and formerly on the editorial staffs of Chatelaine, Mayfair and Canadian Homes and Gardens magazines, died at her suburban farm home yesterday.

Born in Kentucky she began her writing career in New York and moved to Canada several years later. She was first associated with the Musson Book Company and then became associate editor of Canadian Homes and Gardens and Mayfair. When the Chatelaine was first published she became its first editor but resigned in 1929.

She resumed her association with the publishing field in 1943, joining the editorial staff of MacMillan's of Canada but retired early in 1946 because of ill health.

Her two books, published over a wide interval, were "Eager Footsteps," a volume of verse, and "That Dog of Yours," a textbook reflecting her lifelong interest in dogs.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at Newmarket.

Autumn Meeting Of Ruridecanal Chapter Held

The Autumn meeting of the Ruri-Decanal Chapter of Lennox and Addington in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Deanery, was held at Sandhurst in the parish of Adolphustown on Thursday.

Holy Communion was celebrated at St. Paul's Church the celebrant being Archdeacon Dumbrille, and the preacher, Rev. F. Ware, Tamworth.

The chapter met in St. Paul's Church in the afternoon.

An expression of appreciation for the long and faithful service in the Diocese and outside the Diocese of the late Canon Radcliffe, was recorded in the minutes.

The clergymen present were: Rural Dean Pringle, Deseronto; Archdeacon Dumbrille, Napanee; Rev. F. Ware, Tamworth; Rev. S. G. Secker, Adolphustown; Rev. M. Oldham, Camden East; Rev. L. G. Osborne-Walker, Bath.

Laymen present: Mr. Sills, Sandhurst; Mr. Coxall, Tamworth; Mr. Brim, Deseronto.

A vote of thanks was extended to Rev. H. C. Secker and the members of St. Paul's Church, Sandhurst, for their hospitality.

W. Fletcher Appointed Organist, Choir Leader At St. Andrew's

Appointment of W. E. Fletcher, A.R.C.M., A.T.C.L., (London) as organist and choir leader of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, has been announced by the board of management. Mr. Fletcher succeeds Mr. and Mrs. John Deacon who had acted respectively in the capacity as choir leader and organist.

Director of music at the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School, Mr. Fletcher came to Belleville at the beginning of the school term from Lindsay. He has purchased a home on Bleecker Ave., and expects shortly to move his family to the city.

Obituary

MERVYN R. BEST

(Bannockburn—Limerick, Sask.)

Announcement of the death of Mervyn R. Best, a former resident of this district, has been received by friends in this city. His death occurred on Sept. 16th., in hospital at Regina, Sask., after a lengthy illness. His home was at Limerick, Sask. He was a member of the United Church.

The late Mr. Best was born 63 years ago at Kellar's Bridge, near Bannockburn, and he was a son of Mr. Joseph Best and the late Mrs. Best. Forty years ago he left this district to make his home in Western Canada. Old friends here will regret to learn of his death.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Olgo Headburg of Weyburn, Sask.; his father; two sons, Morley and Milton; three daughters, Evelyn, Mary and Violet, all at home; one brother, Wellesley Best of Frankford. Three sons, Melvin, Carman and Roy, died some years ago.

PATIENT BUT FIRM

"Coming from any state these charges would be regrettable to us," he said.

"They are particularly regrettable when they are made by the Soviet government to whom we advanced more than $10,000,000,000 of lend lease during the war and with whom we want to be friendly in time of peace."

Wants to Assist.

Mr. Byrnes added the United States wants to assist in European reconstruction "because we believe that European prosperity will contribute to world prosperity and world peace."

He conceded that the peace treaties born of the Paris conference were "not written as we would write them if we had a free hand," but said "they are as good as we can hope to get by general agreement now or within any reasonable length of time."

The State Secretary spoke only a few hours after these two developments underscored the strain on Soviet-American relations:

1. A Russian Embassy accusation that the United States had increased misunderstanding between the peoples of the two countries by ordering Soviet delegates to the all-Slav Congress in New York last month to register as agents of a foreign power.

2. State Department release of a note charging Yugoslavia, consistent supporter of Russian views, with making "slave" laborers of at least 165 persons claiming American citizenship. The Yugoslav Embassy here issued a prompt and vigorous denial.

Mr. Byrnes did not refer directly to either of those developments.

Deplores Tendency

He did, however, "deplore the tendency upon the part of the Soviet Union to regard states which are friendly to us as unfriendly our efforts to maintain traditionally friendly relations with states bordering on the Soviet Union."

He deplored also "talk of the encirclement" of Russia, saying that "we have it from no less authority than Generalissimo Stalin himself that the Soviet Union is in no danger of encirclement."

He detailed Russia's territorial gains as a result of the war:

"Koenigsberg, Bessarabia, Bukowina and Ruthenia are to be given her. In the Pacific, the Kuriles, Port Arthur and Sakhalin have been assigned to her.

"Certainly," he said, "the Soviet Union is not a dispossessed nation."

PLAINFIELD W. I.

Plainfield.—The October meeting of the Plainfield W.I., was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Hall with 18 ladies present. The President, Mrs. Violet Elliott, presided, opening the meeting with a poem followed by the Ode and The Lord's Prayer. Community singing followed with Mrs. Don Hall as song leader in the absence of Mrs. Almond Hall. Reports during the business meeting were: The Salvation Army canvass was $18.75. A letter on Girls' Work was read by Mrs. Hazzard. Mrs. Violet Elliott and Mrs. Stanley Hazzard were appointed a girls' work leaders for the coming term.

Mrs. Clayton Hall and Mrs. Norman Hall Jr., were chosen as delegates to the convention in Belleville.

It was decided to invite Mrs. C. J. Akey the newly elected Dist. President as guest to the November meeting.

A motion to send for the government grant was carried.

Mrs. Arthur Hall was chosen as soloist to go to a W. I. meeting in Bethel. Mrs. Don Hall had charge of the topic for the day on Historical Research. A solo by Mrs. Wm. Sills, "Memories" was much enjoyed. Mrs. Don Hall gave a reading and Mrs. Norman Hall Jr., read a poem "The Barefoot Boy".

Mrs. C. Holmes was guest speaker and gave a very inspiring address closing with a 'Thanksgiving menu':

Broth of Contentment, clear and sparkling extraction of Happiness

Entrees—Love, Smiles, Pleasant speech

Main Course—Hospitality served with forgiveness and the healing of broken quarrels.

Beverage— Overflowing cups of kindness.

The meeting closed by all singing "Long, Long Ago".

Mrs. Hall and her assistants served dainty refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Holmes for her splendid address and to Mrs. Hall for her hospitality.

Average Farm Cash Income During War

Average cash income per farm in Canada during the war years was $1750, according to figures compiled by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, from returns made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The bureau's figures show that the total cash income of all farms in Canada, including subsidies, for the six years from 1940 to 1945 inclusive, was $7,702,000,000 or an average over the six years of $1,283,767,000. Using the 1941 census total of farms in Canada at 732,700 the average total cash income per farm, including subsidies, works, works out as follows for each of the six years:

1941	1245.00
1942	1500.00
1943	1900.00
1944	2500.00
1945	2300.00
Average per farm, war years	$1750.00

At the Plowing Match

Canada's Governor-General put his hand to the tractor plow the other day at Port Albert, north of Point Albert airport, when he opened the first international plowing match since 1941. His Excellency plowed a fine forty yards, proof that he knows something of the ancient art of plowing and the modern acquirement of handling a tractor.

In his war service in the momentous years he did another form of successful plowing, uprooting the weeds of Fascism and Nazism with remarkable skill, one of the great contributions to Allied victory.

His Excellency is now engaged in the peacetime art which is of the utmost interest and importance to Canada, representing His Majesty the King as Governor-General of this country. He has made contacts with many parts of Canada and is fast gaining a profound knowledge of the Canadian people and of their development and history and of the future possibilities of this country.

In extending his interest to the international plowing match he was placing the stress on the basic industry of agriculture, from which will stem so much of the progress and possibilities of Canada.

Colonial Veterans

Active participation of the colonial peoples in the war against aggression and in the victory over tyranny has led to vital changes in the colonial countries. All parts of the British Empire sent men as soldiers who gained valuable experience which can be put to good use on their return home.

Planning for such returned veterans has been a matter of major concern to the colonial governments since well before the end of the war.

Colonial troops totalled nearly half a million in the service of the Empire, of whom over 350,000 came from Africa, some 228,000 from east and central Africa and nearly 150,000 from West Africa by the end of this year or earlier it is expected that local forces will be reduced to approved interim strength. By the end of May 163,000 men from east and central Africa and 67,000 from West Africa had been demobilized. The principal contribution from the West Indies to the fighting forces had been some 8,000 men and women volunteers who joined the R.A.F. and the W.A.A.F. By June over 4,000 of these were demobilizezd.

Returned veterans to Africa had a duty to perform in their predominantly agricultural territories. In order that they may make continued use of their experience in the forces and help in the economic development, in education, in social welfare and all other aspects of African rural life, special technical and vocational training centres have been set up to enable them whether fit or disabled, to take their proper place in the life of the community. For the man who learned an army trade, more advance courses are provided and every effort is being made to see that this further training is suited as far as possible to his existing qualifications, inclinations, local conditions and needs.

There are the advantages and help given by the home colony and there is also the arrangement of the United Kingdom government for technical and professional education to be given in Britain to suitably qualified men and women from the Colonies. Training is free and there is allowance for living expenses.

These schemes are but examples of the variety of training and help which veterans will receive from the United Kingdom Government and many of the Colonial Governments as some part of the recognition of the magnificent contribution by the Colonial troops between 1939 and 1945.

Musical Cycles

The latest design of bicycle in Britain has a radio and a motor that stores energy going downhill and releases it in up-grades. The cyclist's joy in swooping down a steep incline is always slightly marred by that unfortunate tendency of roads to provide a reverse slope immediately. He sees the hill ahead, and his thought, as he " . . . turns the giddy wheel around, Revolves the sad vicissitude of things." says Christian Science Monitor.

Now, however, he can at least take comfort in looking forward to the time when he will freewheel uphill to the sound of music—a vision he could hitherto only associate with the peddler of dreams.

Of course, the design may not please everyone. For, in the future, when numbers of British cycling clubs gather in their hundreds for a rally, what a stirring clamor will herald their approach—especially if they are not all tuned to the same program!

A Test of Skill

Down through the years one of the lasting institutions in the rural communities across the length and breadth of the land has been the plowing match. Despite the passage of the years it is as popular today as it ever was. In Ontario competitions are held in almost every county while an international match each year attracts its thousands of enthusiastic patrons.

It is perhaps due to that spirit of chivalry to be found among men that the plowing match continues to be so popular. It takes as prominent a place among those who live in agricultural sections as in the industrial cities. Each farmer desires to be just a little bit better than his neighbor. Hence the success of fall fairs, which specialize in produce and livestock, and plowing matches, where personal ability is at a premium.

Monday Holidays

The coming 10 months are going to see a scarcity of Monday holidays. Christmas and New Year's falls on Wednesday, There is Easter Monday, next April 7, but that never is observed very wholeheartedly. Dominion Day next year falls on a Tuesday —unless Parliament in the meanwhile abolishes it. So it is that for full-scale Monday holidays, and the long weekends they allow most workers, we must wait for Civic Holiday and Labor Day next August and September.

It is one of the arguments for calendar reform that it would give us our holidays on fixed dates and days.

APOLOGY

I was sorry, oh so sorry! when the lady tossed her head
And, "You passed me by unnoticed, several times!" she coldly said.
"You seemed to stare right through me." I admitted to my shame,
Though we'd met at several places,
still she didn't look the same.

She had on another bonnet and she wore a different dress.
Had I seen her, when I didn't, at her name I'd had to guess.
I'm a blundering fool with women,
though I love them one and all.
It's my pitiful misfortune that their names I can't recall.

Now I'm pleading for forgiveness, and
I hope 'twill granted be.
It's the swiftly changing fashions that so oft embarrass me.
That we'd met, I well remember. Lady smile at me once more!
'Twas the hat that you were wearing
I had never met before.

Capital Closeups

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Oct. 19 — (CP)—Government departments will start preparing material probably next week for one of Canada's most important annual publications and certainly the one parliament spends the most time considering — the main estimates for the fiscal year beginning next April 1.

It has grown to be quite a book. The last issue had 285 pages of small type and provided for the spending of $4,650,540,645 divided among 647 items, each of which had to be voted on separately.

About the middle of October each year the finance minister sends a note to the head of each department telling him to get busy on his estimates and have them ready for a deadline, usually around Dec. 1. Whether they have ever been ready for the deadline is not known but it's unlikely. Anyhow, it is a goal to aim at.

After the estimates have been prepared they are turned in to the Treasury Board, headed by Finance Minister Ilsley, and meet the glare of economy-minded minister and his advisers.

The main estimates are an annual headache for the ministers, their deputies and heads of the branches because there always are so many more ideas for spending government money forthcoming than can possibly get by the treasury board.

The expenditures are so necessary, too, in the opinion of the officials recommending them but the Treasury Board so often does not agree as to the necessity and ruthlessly cuts them out.

Big expenditures such as building a new highway, an important government block or extensive harbor improvements become matters of government policy and the minister has to get them passed by the cabinet before even putting them down in the estimates.

After the estimates have passed the Treasury Board, the blue book containing them is printed. It should be ready when parliament meets but is not brought down in the House until after the debate or the Throne Speech is over. It usually is a rush to get it printed in time because of all the delay before the Treasury Board.

No government money can be spent that is not provided by the estimates and new needs always arise after the book is published. That is why each year the finance minister has to bring down supplementary estimates later in the session.

Long wait! John Francois Pouliot, Independent Liberal member of the Commons for Temiscouata, reported success the other day in a six-year campaign to get a picture of the King and Queen.

He said he first asked the defence department for the picture in 1940 as a means of stimulating recruiting. He has finally obtained one — almost life-size — from the National Film Board. It will be hung in the Canadian Legion Hall in his riding.

As he supervised the packing, Mr. Pouliot noted criticism of the Film Board by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader. "If the Film Board turned out only pictures of Their Majesties the Tories would not object," he quipped.

Allied Powers Watch Municipal Voting on Berlin

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, Oct. 19—(AP)— More than 2,000,000 Berliners will cast their first free vote in fourteen years tomorrow in a municipal election which is being watched closely by the Allied powers as a yardstick of German choice between the eastern and western concepts of democracy.

The election will be held under the precautionary vigilance of the four Allied occupying powers to ensure that the voting is secret and fair.

Lt.-Col. Louis Glaser, chief of the political affairs branch of the American Military government's Berlin district, said the election issue clearly was drawn between the east and the west.

This was particularly true, he said, because Berlin was the one German city where the citizens have experienced and been in a position to judge the different kinds of democracy and government for which the Allied powers stand.

"Germany ultimately must make a decision in the respect," he continued. "The Berlin vote, establishing such a decision, will have great influence upon the ultimate destiny of Germany and therefore upon the political destiny of Europe."

There are 2,319,061 voters eligible to cast ballots for a city council and borough councils, slated to serve for a period of two years. With the population unbalanced by war losses, 63.5 per cent of the registered voters are women.

Discovery that a number of Germans had received authorization to vote in more than one place prompted the Allied powers to order every voter to take his ration card to the polls and have it stamped when he casts his ballot.

IODINE DEFICIENCY

Every little pig, pussy, pup, chicken, child, goat, gazelle and goldfish needs just a wee bit of iodine every day, or every week. A canary or a chipmunk would need only a thousandth part of the iodine or iodide, organic or inorganic iodine compound that a youth or a colt or a heifer needs, but all God's creatures need a daily or weekly ration of iodine in one form or another, to keep in fine fettle.

Nutrition authorities estimate that the minimum daily requirement of iodine for man, woman or child is one-tenth of a milligram, or approximately 1/650th of a grain. That amount may be sufficient for a child weighing 50 pounds. I like to take three times that amount daily, to supplement what iodine I get in food — such food as fresh sea fish, canned tuna, canned salmon, shrimp, oysters, lobsters, sole, sea bass, swordfish, clams or what have you.

Children or grown-ups who get insufficient iodine are likely to present some of the following manifestations of iodine deficiency. I do not mean to imply that these manifestations are invariably due to iodine deficiency. I do say that it can do no harm in an instance to test the thing by taking a suitable iodine ration for a few months. It may do no good, but it can't do any harm no matter what ails you. I am speaking now of a suitable ration of iodine — nutritional iodine or iodide or iodine compound, not medicinal iodine. That is to say it is FOOD, food of a sort everybody must have, in order to keep in prime condition. Therefore the ration of iodine, iodide or iodine compound I recommend for every pig, pup or person is not suited for medicinal use and I do not advise anybody to use it as a remedy or treatment for his or her ailment unless under direction of a physician. Will resume this talk tomorrow.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Might Keep Doctor Away

I am an old lady 75 and was told it is healthy to eat a piece of raw garlic every day.

(E. L.)

Answer—Harmless if you like to eat raw garlic or onion. I know of no remedial effect.

Soluble Potassium Chloride

Daughter has taken soluble potassium chloride as described in your pamphlet on allergy, and amazingly has found complete relief from clogged and stuffed nose from chronic sinusitis. She is not completely free of trouble, but for the first time in years she can breathe through her nose Just what doses should she continue to take?

(Mrs. M. H.)

Answer—I wouldn't know, Madame. It can do no harm if she takes ten grains from time to time, not regularly, but just as she feels the need of it—much as though she were using adrenalin in the nose. Any reader may have copy of the pamphlet "Relief for Allergy" on request — inclose stamped envelope bearing your address.

Tapeworm

If the tapeworm parasite is embedded in beef, why do doctors recommend rare steak or rare beef for invalids? Cooking thoroughly destroys any such parasites in meat, does it not?

(Mrs. G. M.)

Answer—Yes. There is no good reason why any one should take rare meat. It is at least as digestible and nourishing properly cooked, and safer so far as infestation with tapeworm is concerned.

Sleep As You Like

Several of our high school class insist doctors say it is hard on the heart if you sleep on your left side. I am a minority one, as I say there is no sense in that idea. We voted to leave it to you.

(A. H.)

Answer—Move over, Anita. A little further,please. Thank you. Now you and I constitute a minority of two. On our side we have all the authoritative works on human physiology. The rest of the class has only a few quaint almanacs and quack doctor books to uphold their queer notion.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Where did the white potato originate?

The white potato (Solanum tuberosum), member of the nightshade family and botanic cousin of the tomato, egg-plant and belladona, appears to have been indigenous to the Pacific side of South America.

The earliest known printed reference to it occurs in Pedro de Cieza de Leda's "Chronicle of Peru," first published in 1553. Cieza, soldier and explorer, joined the Spanish conquerors in 1538. As the army moved southward through Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia the chronicler saw white potatoes growing in the fields of the Incas. In some sections of the high Andes white potatoes were then, as now, the chief food of the natives. The Spanish writer surmised that the white potato had been cultivated in those regions for centuries. Even at that time, according to Cieza, there were different varieties, some with white skins, others red and still others dark purple bordering on black.

The natives did not cook white potatoes, but ate them frost-cured and sun-dried. Modern potato chips, introduced by a Negro chef about the time of the American Civil War, are similar to potatoes as prepared by the Incas. The Indians brought guano from the sea islands and maintained elaborate systems of irrigation for white potato cultivation. Among the natives white potatoes were known as "papas," but the Spaniards called them "potatas," the same term they had applied to sweet potatoes in the West Indies half a century earlier, and this was the beginning of the confusion in terminology.

From South America the Spaniards introduced the white potato into Spain, whence it spread gradually to Portugal, Italy, other parts of Europe and ultimately to the British Isles in the latter part of the 16th century. At first Europeans were reluctant to eat the white potato because they suspected that this member of the nightshade family might be poisonous. But horticulturists gradually improved the size and quality of the white potato by selective breeding and in Ireland it began to replace grain as the chief food staple of the common people in the 17th century. White potato cultivation in Europe made dense population possible. It became to Europe what rice was to the Orient. Failure of this crop in Ireland was largely responsible for the famine of the 1840's and the emigration of large numbers of Irish to the United States.

The English colonies in America were slow in adopting the white potato, which was unknown in North America in 1492 and for generations thereafter. It is supposed to have been first cultivated in the United States at Londonderry, New Hampshire, about 1719 by Irish Presbyterian immigrants from Northern Ireland. As its cultivation gradually spread through the English colonies it became known as the "Irish potato" to distinguish it from the sweet potato. George Washington raised large quantities of white potatoes and some sweet potatoes on his plantations. In his dairy white potatoes are referred to as "Irish potatoes" or simply "potatoes," while sweet potatoes are invariably so designated.

PRIME MINISTER

He denied that the Provinces were being forced to accept the Dominion proposals.

"It is for each Provincial government to judge for itself as to the course in its opinion will best serve the interest and welfare of the people of its Province," said Mr. King.

The Dominion government was not insisting that the Provinces continue to stay out of the income and corporation tax fields. Under the Dominion proposals each Provincial government "is wholly free" to rent its tax fields or not, as it seems fit.

He said the Dominion had not refused to give any undertaking that it would avoid duplication of Taxes. The Dominion's wish to avoid duplication had led to the offer to rent the income and corporation tax fields from the Provinces. The Dominion was prepared to consider any offer the Provinces might make to rent the exclusive use of minor direct tax fields.

Missed Collision by 8 Days

He declined to say what would have happened had the earth collided with the comet.

Inventor Can Get Monopoly On Invention for $25 and Right To Make Money on it for 17 Yrs.

Ottawa, Oct. 19 (CP)—If you've got any ideas on a new kind of ice cream goblet, handcuffs or embalming apparatus, don't keep them to yourself. The Canadian Patent Office here will give you a monoply on your invention for $25—if it's new—and the exclusive right to make what money you can from it for 17 years.

First of all, though, be certain you've got an "invention." It must be "any new and useful art, process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter" or an improvement of one of these before your brain-child can be filed away with the approximately 530,000 other patents that have been collected by the Patent Office since 1824.

Furthermore, it isn't cricket to borrow an idea from a neighbor or a friend. Before making an application for a patent the applicant must swear he is "the first and true inventor." So if you've been intending to patent some of those handy gimmicks your inventive neighbor has perfected but doesn't seem to care about, just forget it.

Though many of the inventions are simple things like the new style golf bag, mechanical coin changer and shirt folding table patented along with about 140 other items last week, your chances are much better of becoming a second Edison if you can come up with something more scientific like a new synthetic resin, some electronic apparatus or a photographic color sensitizing emulsion.

First Patent in 1824

Canada's inventors, who now father discoveries of the first magnitude, in pioneer days confined there talents to devising gadgets and simple labor-saving devices. The first Canadian inventor was Noah Cushing of Quebec City, who shouted "Eureka" and got patent number one in 1824 for a "washing and fulling machine." Last week the Patent Office chalked up number 437,328 for a "foldable fish landing net."

Early Canadian inventors were granted patents for such grisly "new and useful improvements" as a "pig's nose cartilage divider" and a coffin "to prevent infection." More in line with present day "miracles" was the invention of Isaac Ogden of Three Rivers, Que., who in 1842 devised a "method of propelling vessels by means of heated air acting on the fluid in which they float."

Today, with most of the inventions submitted by large industrial concerns and dealing with technical subjects, patent attorney prepare 99 per cent of the patent applications.

Lawyers Have Trouble

And even the lawyers must have their troubles describing for example, a "composition of matter comprising a polymeric synthetic linear polyamide having an intrinsic viscosity of at least 0.4 and being the reaction product of a polymer-forming composition comprising reacting materials selected from the class consisting of polymerizable monoaminomonocarbxylic acids and mixture of diamines and dibasic arboxylic acids."

It isn't the formula for a more powerful atomic bomb but merely man duplicating an invention nature hasn't bothered patenting—a membrance similar to the skin just under the shell of an egg.

Last year—lowest since 1919—7,084 patents were granted to inventors in more than 30 different countries. Canadians came away with 486 but United States with 5,682 was by far the leading invention-producting country. The 41 patents which were granted to inventors living in Germany are still being held pending their disposal by the custodian of enemy property.

With the stimulus of post-war needs, patent officials expect this year to outstrip the war years in the volume of applications as many concerns built up a backlog during the war.

PICTON

Large Tonnage Canned Goods Being Shipped

Picton, —The wharf at Picton is one of the busiest spots in the district as the Fall shipping rush is under way. Large C.S.L. freighters are calling every few days, taking out huge cargoes of canned goods. Agent Arnold Covert stated that if the canned goods in the district can be handled in the two months period, an all-time shipping record will have been set.

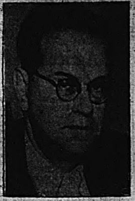
Not only does a large part of the output of Prince Edward County's factories pass through this harbor, but that from canning factories as far west as Port Hope and east to Frankford. Picton is fortunate in having a natural deep-water harbor where the largest freighters can call without difficulty.

During an average year, 17,000 tons of canned goods are shipped from Picton, and a survey reveals that there are some 14,000 tons ready at the present time with many canning factories still operating.

The freighter Edmonton took on a large cargo here Wednesday, leaving early yesterday for western ports. In command is Capt. Harry Clarke of Picton. Today, the Fernie is loading here and on Sunday and Monday two westbound freighters are expected. Earlier in the week, the Beaverton spent two days loading here and at Cressy.

Members of the C.S.L. staff are working 24 hours daily, Agent Covert said, in an effort to handle the record rush.

SWEDEN'S PREMIER



Tage Erlander, the new prime minister of Sweden, is pictured at his desk in Stockholm as he took over his new duties. He succeeded Per Albin Hansson, 60-year-old head of the Social Democrat party, who died of a heart attack. Hansson was prime minister for the past 14 years.

When Mr. Justice Dalton Wells presides at the sittings of the Supreme Court for Prince Edward County here next week he will be presented with the traditional white gloves as there are no criminal cases on the docket. Scheduled to sit on Monday, the court will adourn for a day as Mr. Justice Wells cannot attend until Tuesday. There are nine divorce cases on the docket.

M. Rodden to Speak

Members of the softball teams who participated in the Picton and district softball league this season are to enjoy a banquet next Thursday night at the Presbyterian church hall. Guest speaker will be Michael J. Rodden, sports editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard.

Personals

Major and Mrs. J. C. Duff and son, Douglas, Kingston, were guests early in the week of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson Dever.

RESCUE NINE FROM BURNING SHIP

Lifeboats of the Norwegian-American liner Stavangerfjord, manoeuvring through seas made livable only by a heavy oil slick, succeeded in transferring eight passengers and the purser from the fireswept Swedish freighter Kristina Thorden. Four of the passengers, including Walter Heilberg, former U. S. naval attache at Stockholm, perished in the blaze. One of the rescued may be seen being lowered into a lifeboat.

Every FATHER

...should answer these questions:

"How much are my savings really WORTH?" The cash value of your savings is not what counts most. What is important is the amount of continuous income they would provide, if your wife and children were left without other means of support. In most cases ordinary savings can't provide enough! That is why you need life insurance...

"Is it important WHICH life insurance company I choose?" It is! Life insurance companies are much alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. We invite you to compare The Mutual Life of Canada's record with that of any other company.

Evidence of the satisfaction of our policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life of Canada, and each year approximately 33% of its new business comes from policyholders. Ask your Mutual Life representative to explain the special features of this Company.

WEDDINGS

REID—KIDD

St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg, was made more than usually attractive on Saturday, with an effective arrangement of Autumn flowers, for the wedding of Miss Mary Alice Kidd, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George C. Kidd, of Brighton, (formerly of Trenton), and Mr. Robert John Kinnear Reid, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Reid, of Kingston, with Rev. R. Seaborn officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, entering the church to the strains of bridal music played by Miss K. Warner at the organ, made a charming picture in a gown of imported ivory brocade, with sweetheart neckline and short train, her scalloped fingertip veil falling from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses and bouvardia.

Mrs. D. E. Hayden, of Gravenhurst, was her sister's matron-of-honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Helen Lamon, of Oshawa, and Miss Madge Kidd, of Brighton. All wore gowns of Agnes blue taffeta faille, the bodices having sweetheart necklines and short sleeves, and the full skirts being fashioned with tiers. They wore matching elbow length gloves, headdresses of purple and cerise ostrich plumes and carried bouquets of purple and cerise 'mums, shading to pastels. The bride's niece, Miss Jo-Ann Waught, of Oshawa, was flower-girl wearing a gown of Agnes blue taffeta, with matching beaded headdress.

Mr. William Kidd, of Kingston, performed the duties of groomsman, and the ushers were Messrs. J. Reid, Kingston, G. W. E. Kidd, Brighton, K. C. Brown, Montreal and Stewart Boyd of Kingston. The soloist was Dr. R. Robertson, of Cobourg.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Lakeview House, Cobourg, where Mrs. G. C. Kidd received in a floor-length gown of gold crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of Mary Alice 'mums. The groom's mother assisted wearing an African violet wool gown with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

For a honeymoon to New York City, the bride donned a suit of Richelieu red wool, with beige cuffs, wearing an orchid corsage and black accessories. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Reid will reside in Montreal, Que.

V.O.N. News

Belleville is this week observing immunization week when newspaper and radio publicity is calling to the attention of parents their grave responsibility to ensure the protection of their children against diphtheria and whooping cough. The first of these diseases is becoming practically unknown in most communities because of the preventive measures taken to immunize children as early as possible. As this disease is so frequently fatal in the very young, mothers and fathers should not neglect the very simple precaution of having their children immunized. Whooping cough, which years ago, was stamped as a usual childhood ailment, is also an illness which need not exist, if the proper precautionary measures are taken.

The Victorian Order of Nurses has been conducting free toxoid clinics, for pre-school age children, the next of which will be at 3.30 p.m., on Thursday, October 24th., at the Kiwanis Community Centre, in charge of Dr. G. S. Cronk, Medical Officer of Health. Those who did not attend clinic last month will be able to take advantage of this clinic and are strongly urged to make arrangements to bring small children without delay.

Prior to the Toxoid Clinic, next Thursday, Dr. Jack Marshall will be in attendance at a Dental Clinic for pre-school age children at three o'clock in the afternoon.

HOCKEY REFEREE DIES

Farm Women Should Not Become Unpaid Hired Help Says Speaker From Federation of Agriculture

Mrs. Campbell from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture who writes a weekly column stated that farm women should not become unpaid hired help when she spoke to the Women's Institute Friday. Agriculture is the important thing, and farm women should form the nucleus of an educated intelligent rural population. This is the economic age of agriculture. The future depends on the farmer getting a satisfactory part of the national income. He needs it to give his children educational advantages, and enough income to be able to put aside enough to look after his retired years, if it is only a simple life.

"The women's Institute," declared Mrs. Campbell, "is the most marvellous thing that ever came into the lives of rural women for cultural and social aids." She urged the women to try to have a county representative to attend meetings of the Department of Federation of Agriculture.

Need Homemakers.

Miss Ethel Chapman, an editor of Farmers' Magazine addressed the meeting on the subject "Going on Growing."

"Growing vocationally means your job, which is broadly speaking, homemaking, and women need a satisfying home life. They want good heating systems not houses which are so cold that children have to be undressed in the kitchen and bundled quickly through the icy halls to a bedroom which may be heated with a stove-pipe. And they want a conveniently planned kitchen with running water, and a home that is artistically satisfying.

"Growing culturally is done with group study where you learn to search your minds, and become tolerant of other people's opinions. A popular way to spread a song is to bring it to a meeting and sing it, then give each one a copy to take home and pin above the kitchen sink. Each day as you see it you sing it. Soon the children are singing it, and father is whistling it in the field. This game is called 'Sing-Sing.' There are radio forums to hear and discuss.

"Growing socially means mutual affection and respect in family living. Then there are interests outside the home.

Can Get Director

"Any County Council that gets a recreational director can get assistance from the government. The Women's Institutes forwarded a resolution to the government asking them to close the beverage rooms to mixed drinking, and this was right and proper because women are the guardians of the home. But you must have something suitable to put in the place of beverage rooms. You must have suitable recreation.

"Health services too must be improved. It is a most illogical thing when a farmer is sick and his bills pile up until they eat away all his money. We need health insurance on a co-operative plan where the profits will be returned to a fund for better services. It is a huge task, but you can do it."

Mrs. J. Gawley of Eldorado presided at the session on Friday afternoon which was featured by a brief address by Miss Irene McBride, psychologist, who is on the staff of the Institute, the first fulltime instructress to be so employed. A movie on cancer was shown and the danger signals pointed out, stressing an early diagnosis of any suspicious lump or sore which does not heal quickly. A film on Institute work in England was also shown.

Question Box

A question box was in charge of Miss Anna Lewis, Superintendent, and many questions of general interest were discussed. The members were especially interested in the new scholarship for rural girls which is being planned to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Women's Institutes. This will entitle the winner to a course is Home Economics at Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph.

The registrations were in charge of Mrs. M. B. Weese, Belleville and Mrs. R. Robson, Halloway.

During the convention a display of handicraft products was exhibited. This was in charge of Miss Audrey Spencer of Toronto who spoke on the project, explaining that making these things has a social value, keeping the family together by giving a common meeting ground; it is an excuse for a community gathering and it promotes discussion. The articles displayed were fine examples of skill and beauty, and included objects showing the art of weaving, whittling, lino printing, and articles made of wood, leather and metal.

Reports

"It is time women hung up their overalls for good," said Mrs. F. M. Rutherford of Campbellford, in making her report, on Agriculture and Canadian Industry. She stated that the war emergency is over when manpower was depleted by sixty-five percent and it was necessary for women to go out in the fields and help, but now she should turn her attention to her children, husband and home, and make herself into an educated, cultured and intelligently informed person. She should study the economics of agriculture and stimulate it. Some of the subjects touched on were beautifiying the home surroundings; distinguishing and extinguishing weeds; rural problems; use of agricultural products in industry as milk for plastics, soy beans for many purposes, and corn; diseases of poultry and their cure; a suggestion was made of planting flowers in tin cans which had holes punched in them, then when the flowers were watered the cans retained part of the water.

Taken Seriously

Agriculture was their way of life and should be taken seriously and respected. In England they have National Farm Unions which was commended. The increased cost of milk since the removal of the milk subsidies gives the farmer only one cent increase a quart, but the public believes he gets the advantage of the three cent raise. Country life as a means of making a living is far from ideal, but women have it in their power to make it better.

The report on Historical Research was given by Mrs. Grigg of Roseneath who stated that this subject had a prominent place on the Institute program. It is important to be well-acquainted with historical details of the locality. Papers had been given on Mothers of Yesterday and Today; How the first settlement came; Social life one hundred years ago; Early histories of towns and villages; The first church, school and cheese factory; Our village 1845-1945; Delegates to San Francisco conference; Life of Winston Churchill; Life of Franklin D. Roosevelt; Some of the first ministers, teachers and blacksmiths.

Mrs. W. A. Hoskins in presidential address said "I feel assured we are met here in mutual happiness and thankfulness, that we have been spared and permitted to reassemble in convention and to even rejuvenate ourselves. We trust we are entered upon an era of everlasting peace and reconstruction, certainly Women's Institutes shall assist in every way to promote.

So rapidly and constantly does the world change that we become almost unaware of the process and waken only occasionally to realize that new solutions must be made for these new conditions. As we help others, we help ourselves.

So let us strengthen our program in guiding homemakers in their vocational skills, increase their cultural appreciation and community satisfactions, and promote good health and progressive attitudes.

Women's Institutes have a wonderful background of almost fifty years and during the war our work was boundless. We have a great future, let us be even more effective and prove even more our worth in time of peace. I trust each and every branch celebrates next year our fiftieth anniversary on Feb. 19th, 1947. We also hope our membership will be 50,000 and that each branch will have a well-planned scrap book from 1897 to 1947.

Mrs. W.A. Hosskins, Cobourg Re-elected Area Chairman;

Mrs. W. A. Hoskins, of Cobourg, was re-elected to the office of Area Chairman of the combined districts of Hastings, Northumberland, and Prince Edward Counties at the Women's Institute Convention on Friday, October 18, for the year 1946-47.

3rd Vice Chairman, Mrs. J. Gawley, Eldorado.

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. H. Ketcheson, Holloway.

Auditors, Mrs. Ralph Sills, Holloway, Mrs. H. Harrison, Latta.

Conveners: Agriculture and Canadian Industries, — Mrs. George Foster, Moira; Citizenship —Mrs. George McCaw, Picton; Historical Research—Mrs. Frank Brown, Roseneath; Social Welfare—Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow, Codrington; Publicity,— Mrs. Morley Sine, Frankford; Resolutions — Mrs. Fred Denyes, Brighton; Home Economics—Mrs. Percy Ray, Holloway; Girls' Work—Mrs. R. Rollins, Madoc; Board of Directors—Mrs. A. Mitchell, Belleville.

W.I. Convention Would Prevent Those Physically Unfit to Marry

At the afternoon session on Friday of the Women's Institute Convention the following resolution was passed: Whereas we the members of Pine Grove Women's Institute are convinced that there has been insufficient publicity given the matter of venereal disease, and whereas we know that these venereal diseases have increased to such an extent in this province, and are providing a detriment to welfare of present family life and to our future generation and whereas we feel that compulsory pre-marital examination would be a step forward in helping to eradicate these dread diseases, therefore be it resolved that our Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario be asked to approach our government urging the immediate enactment of such legislation as would prevent marriage between persons mentally or physically unfit.

K.G. School Graduating Class Honored by School And Home Club at Banquet

Pupils Present Their Eighth Grade Teacher With Suitable Gift

Sponsoring a banquet, Friday evening in honor of the former eighth grade pupils, now students in the first forms of B.C.I. and V.S., the Home and School Association entertained the graduated class, their parents and friends in the assembly room of the King George School to the number of about 100.

Tables covered with snowy cloths were further enhanced with the use of the school colors, (blue and gold) with candles and bowls of Autumn fruits; the head table on the platform being particularly attractive with its artistic grouping of candles in crystal holders.

Mrs. J. R. McCullough, president of the Association, had charge of the program, which began with a sing-song under the able leadership of Mr. Ed. Shortt of the Board of Education. Mrs. McCullough proposed a toast to "The King" and welcomed all the guests, paying special tribute to the graduates numbering thirty-four.

Mr. Fairman announced the toxoid clinic for immunization against diphtheria, and urged the parents to co-operate with the school nurse in this important matter.

Many Toasts Given

Other toasts followed, to which suitable responses were made. A toast to "The Parents" by Joan Hiles, expressed appreciation of parental guidance and help, to which Mrs. Jack Cook responded.

In a toast to "The Teachers" Mildred Taylor said this was the only chance she ever had to tell the teachers what she thought of them. Mr. Hackett replied, saying that he had many pleasant memories of happy associations in the classroom, due to the cheerfulness and willingness of the former pupils of Grade VIII to co-operate with their teacher.

At this juncture Claude Carr presented Mr. Hackett with a gift as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the eighth grade pupils of 1945-46.

Principal Everett Fairman, in proposing a toast to the graduates said, when he returned to King George School as teacher he looked to this class for leadership among the students, and had met with a hearty response. He warned them that his interest in their progress will not lessen, because they now attend B.C.I., but that their teachers of last year will be watching their Collegiate reports.

Douglas Soule expressed gratitude and appreciation to the teaching staff for their efforts to assist the pupils with school problems; to the school board for a fine building and pleasant rooms; to the Home and School Association for the very fine banquet, and to all who made a student's life pleasant and happy.

Valedictory Address

The Valedictory address was given by Joan Gillespie. Tracing school day impressions from kindergarten to the senior grades, she said in part: "We have now passed the first milestone, by graduating into the Collegiate, and we look toward to the future; but we shall retain memories of Public School life, especially of this Graduation Day.

Presenting the certificates, Mr. Shortt said that while listening to the speeches of the young people he realized that their appreciation of the teachers, "speaks well for their training in the homes". He said, speaking to the class, "You will not only soon choose a vocation, but also friends. There are two kinds of friends I would advise you to choose; the first is a good minister of whatever denomination you prefer; second, a teacher from some school. I say these two kinds of people because they do more for you than any others outside of your home. They serve."

"In this class of thirty-four graduates more than twenty percent won first class honors, which sets a high educational standard for both teachers and pupils," he stated.

Miss Jane Smythe said she was happy to have the privilege of introducing Rev. J. W. Houston as guest speaker because he had the faculty of getting on a level with boys and girls, and he knew all about the thrills of graduation. Of his five years as designate minister in Tabernacle United Church, three have been spent overseas in the thick of the fight.

Congratulates Class

Replying, Mr. Houston said he was very glad indeed to be a guest on this auspicious occasion because he had been invited four years ago to a graduation in King George School and had been unable to attend. He congratulated the class upon its fine record, and gave as his text this quotation, "You start Life's school when you graduate". He said, "Life is a school, and history a text book. Conditions differ at every stage (of experience) but there are three points worth remembering, namely: — first, A good groundwork is of vital importance. Have a good foundation in your Road of Life. Second, education is never ended. You are always learning. The best preparation for the enjoyment of the freedoms of speech and of worship is to use them wisely; and third, prepare yourself for a place in a highly specialized world. Training and morale make good citizens. There is a place of service for each of you. Master today's lessons and tomorrow's will take care of themselves; but "in all your getting, get character and remember, "you start Life's school when you graduate."

Thanks Expressed

Mrs. Morley Ward expressed gratitude to Mr. Houston for an address inspiring to the parents as well as to the graduates; and appreciation to Mrs. Ashbury and her assistants, "to whom we are indebted for the planning and serving of this banquet."

During the program two piano solos by "Bob" Reid added much to the evening's entertainment.

The singing of "O Canada" closed a very successful "graduation".

The regular monthly meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary was held in the Nurses' Residence on Thursday afternoon with the acting president, Mrs. Stobie, in the chair.

Plans were discussed for the coming year and it was decided to hold a tea and home cooking sale on November 13th, at Mrs. Stobie's home.

The auxiliary also decided to award a $500 scholarship to the student nurses in the graduating class for this coming year. The type of scholarship to be left to the discretion of the Board of Administrator and the accommodations then available.

Starting in November the auxiliary will meet the third Tuesday of the month instead of Thursday as it was felt that this would be a more convenient day for the greater majority of the members.

After the usual monthy reports the annual reports were given, the total receipts for the year being $1,325.70. This was raised mainly by 4 money making projects — a tea and sale at Mrs. Robertson's in November, the annual mixed bridge at Kiwanis Centre in February, a fashion show at the Capitol Theatre in March and a tag day in September.

During the past year $40 was spent on the social welfare work of purchasing small comforts for patients who couldn't afford them. These consisted of shaving and dental necessities, tobacco, papers, magazine and slippers. The Red Cross donated 20 pairs of slippers to be made up for this purpose.

The auxiliary gave $512.50 to the hospital to pay for two Armstrong incubators for the Infant's Ward. They also gave $750 to apply on a new Orthopedic table and paid $216.30 for new drapes and chairs for the rooms in the 2nd. West Wing.

At Christmas time $25 was given to a committee who purchased suitable gifts for indigent patients.

Again at Easter $25 was spent on Easter baskets for patients in the public wards. $10 of this was donated by St. Andrew's Women's Guild.

In September when the floor nurses resigned the auxiliary members worked at the hospital doing ward aide duty. They are always on call for any emergency they can help in at the hospital.

The executive of the auxiliary last year was as follows: Hon. Presidents, Mrs. W. C. Mikel, Mrs. G. H. Stobie; President, Mrs. H. R. Wray; 1st Vice President, Mrs. L. Langlois; 2nd. Vice President, Mrs. J. Forrester; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Marsh; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. G. Barclay; Treasurer, Mrs. F. Camken.

Beauty Tricks for Hand Care

By HELEN FOLLETT

IF YOUR hands have been toasted by the sun, if you have been digging in the garden all summer, use a rosy nail polish instead of the darker shades that continue to be popular. It will make your hands look interesting.

Old-timers among us remember when liquid polish wasn't "quite nice." One was supposed to use a pink powder and a buffer. That was all right, too. But veneer is exciting and some women have few excitements in their lives. Cute little beauty tricks stir up the circulatory system, make a woman forget that birthdays come all too fast.

Also, with the last tan of summer, it is an excellent idea to use rouge and lipstick that carry an orange cast. Deep crimson and American beauty tones, so flattering to clear, white or creamy skins, are not at home on a more richly colored background.

Getting back to hands, the subject of this sermonette ,we would suggest to the members of this beauty class that they ply the hand lotion daily. Since household help seems to have disappeared from the face of the land, most of us are obliged to do all kinds of heavy work. Dust and grime will eventually make the hands look old unless they have the most fastidious care.

It does not require much time or money to beautify the hands nor it is necessary that the hands be anatomically perfect to be attractive.

Housework Distressing

Housework invites many distressing disfigurements, both of the skin surface and the fingernails. The boss of the menage should wear rubber gloves for wet work, cotton gloves for polishing furniture.

Don't say you can't work with gloves on. That is a matter of cultivation, like a lot of other things in life .The hands must be protected from dirt, from strong soaps, ammoniated powders and other cleansing agents that are essential to the woman who tramps the domestic treadmill.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Don't Pet Your Peeves

Considering that what goes on inside the head is depicted to a certain extent upon the face, it is wise not to let one's emotions get out of hand. Small irritations upset some of us more than they should. At an international congress of psychology, held at Yale University some years ago, there was a list made of life's small annoyances. Hold your breath while we tell you! There were 507 of them! They are what is known as pet peeves. Why pet them? Why not give them the air and live in a state or tranquility?

The best insurance against irritations is a sound philosophy, plus a steady nervous system. The naive woman may fancy that a nervous system is beyond her control. It acts up or it does not act up; she has nothing to do with its behavior. She's wrong. When she feels like rolling on the floor and kicking and screaming, she should retire to her ow nroom, close the door, lie down and pray for peace of mind. It can be done.

Let us visualize a bridge game —two husbands, two wives. Both men start banging the cards on the table. Silly business. Bad manners. One wife looks daggers, protests, gets herself into an emotional stew. The other woman says to herself, "They are a couple of fools, but they're not going to spoil my evening. If I let myself get bothered, I'll have a headache and look like a grand old ruin tomorrow."

One can't expect other people to live up to one's code of conduct. You have to take them as they are. You can't do anything about it. Father is bound to tell his old jokes over and over again. Mother might just as well get used to that failing. It is better for her general health if she smiles than if she sneers, pulls her eyebrows together, purses her lips, shrugs her shoulders and looks bored. It won't do to let one's nerves curl up at the edges and sizzle. Yes, my friend, it is not always easy to keep from expressing disapproval.

Surveys show that women are most likely to develop peeves between the ages of 25 to 40. From 40 to 60 they are likely to have twice as many, which does not speak very well for the members of the sisterhood. Evidently life hasn't taught them anything, these women who lack restraint. Lucky are those who develop poise.

There will be irritating individuals with us always! Idiots who say over the phone, "You can't guess who this is." Women who dish up the details of their last illness. Children who whine or show of. Men who put cigarette ashes in coffee cups or on dessert plates. People who push you on the street.

Close your mind to annoyances

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Don't Let Her Make a Sucker out of You

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Since my return from overseas, I met a very attractive young girl. I am four years older than she. I have known her now for two months and have fallen very much in love with her. I have told her that, and she keeps saying she loves me, but she never believes anything I ever say to her. When we're out on the street, she doesn't want to take my arm and she looks all around her and throws smiles at other boys. In fact, she makes goo-good eyes at everything in trousers.

I keep blowing my top about this and she says it won't happen again. Then I turn my back and she laughs at me. I've proved in every possible way that I love her, but she keeps insisting it's just another of my lines. She keeps telling me she wants only me and I believe her, but when she gets with her girl friends she forgets all about me and is entirely set on what her friends are talking about, and it's generally other boys. I can't figure it out.

"A Guy in Love"

You seem to have fallen in love with a very frivolous and silly girl. You don't say how old you are, but, if she is four years younger than you, perhaps it's just that she is not old enough yet to get serious about anyone. She might even be at the giggling teen age when, as you put it, "everything in trousers" interests her.

My advice to you—though you probably will not take it—is to forget about this girl and look around for someone a little more serious-minded.

They're Having "Mother Trouble"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We are two fifteen-year-old girls, said to be attractive to all.

We each have a boy we like and the boys have asked us to go on dates, but we had to refuse, as we are not allowed to go out yet. Well, that just broke everything up, because after that the boys neither saw us nor called us up as they used to do.

Do you know any way in which we can get back the attention of these two boys—some way which isn't too noticeable?

Anne and Joan

I know it's hard for teen-age girls not be allowed to have dates with boys, and it is understandable, too, that boys should not be particularly interested in confining their attentions to girls solely to telephone calls. They naturally want to take girls to the movies, to ball games, to dances and other places where girls and boys have good times together.

. If your mothers don't like you to go out ,wouldn't they be willing to have you give a party now and then to which you could invite the boys you would like to know better? Perhaps the two of you could arrange a joint party at one house or the other, at which you could be twin hostesses. Then you can ask these special boys along with other friends.

Of course, if you do this, the boys are naturally going to want to return your hospitality in some way, and the usual way would be to ask you out, which brings you right around to your own problem again.

So I suggest that you make your mothers a proposition. Ask them if they would permit you to have at least one date a week—say Friday or Saturday night when you don't have to go to school the next day—when you could go to the movies or to some other place with some boy who asks you. Somehow I think that if you are reasonable in your requests for permission to go out, and are very careful to keep any promises about coming home at the hour your mothers specify, and also go only to places and with boys your mothers approve, you will find them willing to co-operate.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Informing Friends of Anticipated Adoption of Baby

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are about to adopt a baby. I think that I remember reading in your column that it is proper to send announcements of an adoption. But since the final adoption decree is not granted until one year after the baby is taken, when do you advise the announcements be sent out—at the time the baby is first taken, or when the final adoption decree is received? And will you please suggest a possible form in either case?

C .S.

When there is a wait of several months or perhaps a year until the final adoption decree can be received, it is usually considered wiser for the prospective adoptive parents to hold up formal adoption announcements untoil the legal proceedings have been completed. Sometimes when the baby is taken, notes are written to relatives and friends telling the happy news that the baby has arrived in the family:

Dear Margaret,

Bob and I wanted you and Jim to know the happy news that we have taken a baby into our home. Her name is Joan, she is three months old, a fine, healthy baby with an endearing personality. We hope to be able to adopt her in a year, which is the waiting period before the final adoption decree may be received.

We're looking forward to having you two dear friends come to see our "treasure".

Affectionately,

Then, if you wish, when the final adoption decree is received you may send this form:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stetson have the happiness to announce the adoption of Joan,
aged one year, three months

Or, for both announcements to be made formally now:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stetson
have the happiness to announce the arrival in their home and the prospective adoption of Joan
aged three months

The Fiance's Mother May Telephone to Son's Fiancee

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our son, recently out of the navy, has become engaged to a charming girl who lives in California. (We live on the East Coast.) He has written us about her, their engagement and plans to marry soon. My husband and I will of course go out for the wedding, but I wondered if you would approve of our telephoning "the girl" some evening soon. I have written her (I read in your column that this a "must" for the fiance's mother when distance prevents a personal call), and she wrote me a delightful answer. But now I feel I'd like to have a chat with her (and perhaps her mother too) on the telephone, unless you think this would look "forced".

His Mother

Indeed it would be proper for you to telephone your son's fiancee. Such a warm-hearted impulse would delight everyone concerned. You, and then your husband, could speak with her and then her mother, who would, I know, appreciate your kindly thought. And I know too that your son will be happy and proud of your and your husband's charming, welcoming plan.

What are you scheming for?...

A COLLEGE EDUCATION?

Would be kind of nice eh? My son . . . Doctor James Brown. Always felt he'd make a good Doctor . . . but it costs money! Perhaps one day . . .

You'll never start sooner . . . Canada Savings Bonds will help you to build up your savings . . . ready for the time when your boy or girl grows up.

HOME IMPROVEMENTS?

Joe and Ellen's place is cute as a button. The way he's fixed up that recreation room! . . . Says it only took a few hundred dollars too. Wish I could raise enough to do the same.

Why not? Probably the only reason Joe has his recreation room is because he saved for it first. Canada Savings Bonds put you well on your way toward home improvements.

TRAVEL?

That travelogue last night . . . now there's a REAL way to live. Travelling all over . . . seeing things, meeting strange people. Yes! That's for me some day . . .

When? Very soon, if you start to save sensibly by investing in Canada Savings Bonds today.

A NEW CAR?

Boy I'll be glad when I can turn in the old jalopy and buy a CAR! I know new cars are hard to get . . . but I couldn't afford one anyway right now.

If you purchase Canada Savings Bonds today they'll help you increase your savings for tomorrow . . . help to make that new car a reality.

SECURITY?

Wonder how I'll be fixed a few years from now? Must be nice to feel SECURE . . . to have a fair-sized emergency fund.

Canada Savings Bonds make an ideal foundation upon which to build a reserve. Added to your Victory Bonds, they give you that certain feeling of security that means a happy future.

YOUR OWN BUSINESS?

That deal we were discussing last night . . . I think Bill's got something there. I'll bet I could make a go of that business . . . if only I had a little capital to put into it.

Why let that little word "if" spoil everything? Put your money into Canada Savings Bonds today and start building up capital for tomorrow.

COAL DEALERS

In our business as leading Coal merchants of Belleville we feel that all it is necessary to do is to quote our slogan
"ALWAYS SCHUSTER FOR QUALITY" to which we might add "ALWAYS THERE WITH THE GOODS."
Walter N. Belair, Pres. & Mgr.

You can be a contestant in this quiz contest — All you do is send in seven questions about the advertisers who are sponsors of the contest. For example, you could submit seven slogans that could apply to these firms. One being, "Let our telephone line be your clothes line" could apply to a laundry, or seven songs like "Me, I Like Your Apple Pie," which could apply to a bakery. Or you can make up questions from conversations heard in a store that would identify the store.

What we want is seven questions that would make an interesting category. The person submitting the best questions will be eligible to participate or receive $5.00 if the questions are used on the platform.

The number of contestants will be determined by the number we can question in thirty minutes. The first question answered correctly pays $1.00 and each question will double in value until the seventh, which pays $64.00.

This contest will be conducted from the stage of the Capitol Theatre, Wednesday, October 23, so start sending in your questions and answers for your category not later than Tuesday, October 22nd., to Capitol Theatre, Belleville.

THIS PROGRAM WILL BE BROADCAST FROM

New Norisle Greeted—Hundreds of Owen Sound citizens brave cold, dull weather to greet the new steamer Norisle (above) as she arrives in her home port from Collingwood. Two hundred passengers from Grey and Bruce Counties made the maiden voyage, and several thousand more visited the modern, streamlined vessel when she was opened to public inspection.

Ivor Wagnor (left), general manager of the Dominion and Owen Sound Transportation Co., was presented with an engraved silver ice cup by the Owen Sound Board of Trade. Capt. O. S. Long of Norisle received a ship's clock.

Marmora

Marmora. (Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, of Toronto, spent the weekend with relatives here.

Mr. Roy Moss of the Dominion Bank staff, spent the weekend at his home in Woodstock.

The chicken supper served by the ladies of St. Andrew's United Church in the Church Hall on Wednesday evening was largely attended and a sumptuous meal was served.

Good Prices at Sale

Mr. F. S. Jonnston conducted a successful sale of stock farm implements, etc., at the farm of John Goodrich in Marmora township on Wednesday. Cows sold as high as $130 and horses at $75. All farm machinery brought good prices. St. Paul's Ladies' Guild served refreshments.

SEEK GOVT. AID

Brantford, Oct. 19 (CP)—Federal and Provincial aid must be sought to reduce the amount of sewage and industrial waste now being dumped into the Grand River, the Grand Valley group of engineers agreed at a meeting.

Organization meeting of the Grand Valley authority—to be composed of representatives of the engineers and of interested municipalities—will be held here Oct. 31, it was announced. The authority will seek to relieve a condition which speakers described as "the Grand River being literally a sewer."

RAWDON

ission Circle Rally Held At Holloway Church

Rawdon.—Several young ladies rom this section attended a ission Circle Rally in Holloway treet United Church, Belleville, n Tuesday evening, in connection ith the Crusaders' Cavalcade in progress in Bridge Street United Church. This was arranged by the Presbyterian Secretary, of Mission Circles. The Energetic Club of Holloway Street United Church, catered to the assembly, the tables being artistically decorated with Autumn flowers and leaves, place cards on the theme, "Our Country is India" being used

Under the direction of the Presbyterial Secretary special guests were seated at the head table, from where Mrs. McMullen conducted the program which followed the supper. Following the Doxology as the opening item, Rev. C. A. Perkins offered prayer, and Miss Dorothy Mitts, president of Holloway Circle, welcomed the guests. Mrs. MacMullen brought a brief message on Thanksgiving, which was followed by an appropriate solo rendered by Norma Arkles, with Miss Marion Nichols as accompanist.

Mrs. Albert Empey, Presbyterial president, introduced Miss Wilna Thomas, W.M.S. Youth Secretary, who inspired her hearers with incidents from her life in barracks during her service as assistant chaplain with the C.W.A.C., stressing early decisions for right against the things that are wrong. Miss Arlie Ostrander of Cherry Valley Circle, expressed appreciation to Miss Thomas, and to the Energetic Club ladies.

The Bay of Quinte Conference Branch of W.M.S. was represented by Mrs. W. C. Haggerty, president. She spoke on "The Value of Circle Work", quoting an appropriate poem. Greetings from Holloway W.M.S. Auxiliary were voiced by Mrs. Leonard Reid, president and by Mrs. C. A. Perkins.

Other guests at the head table were Mrs. Seldon Homan, corresponding secretary of Belleville Presbyterial, Miss Ruth Blatherwick, president of Bridge Street Mission Circle, Mrs. J. Beckwith, Cherry Valley and Mrs. T. F. Townsend, of Deseronto. Greetings were read from Miss May Brown, Conference Branch Secretary for Mission Circles, and from Mr. S. R. Montgomery of the Dominion Board, who were unable to attend.

Washington Spotlight

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Oct. 18 —(CP)—In the throes of tremendous post-war expansion of air travel the operating companies are doing an able job in getting people quickly from one place to another but they are having a struggle to speed the ground service up to the tempo set by planes in flight.

Sir Harold Hartley, chairman of the British European Airways Corporation and a veteran operator, put the situation in a nutshell here the other day when he said:

"We are spending millions to save time in the air and we are wasting it all on the ground."

Much of the time wasting he referred to is caused by failure to get sufficient adequately trained staff to handle ground operations, and to the excess of formalities involved in the admission of world travellers at national ports of entry.

Distance of airports from large metropolitan centres and the overcrowding of airports also contribute to the delays, he said, and he proposed a partial remedy.

One essential he said, was larger planes — ships with capacity for 50 and perhaps 100 passengers, to lessen the number of departures and arrivals.

Sir Harold also forecast that long distance flights would originate from more centres that at present in the United Kingdom and in the United States where they are concentrated on a few airports in each country.

For nearly five years getting a room in a Washington hotel has been a major achievement. There were lots of vacant hotel rooms this week but it was next to impossible to get one because the 18 major hostelries were tied up by a strike of waiters, maids, bell-hops, elevator operators, bartenders. Dignified and important permanent residents of some of the larger hotels were making their own beds and otherwise doing for themselves, going out for meals and walking the stairs; transients were checking out and new customers were turned away while the employees picketted or idled, waiting for a boost in wages the owners said would cost $1,000,000 a year.

Canada once more is getting a lot of attention in the newspapers and on the radio networks as an example of good management of meat distribution at a time when meat — or the lack of it — is a major issue in the United States. Republicans are hoping for a windfall of protest votes in the November election and have coined a nasty campaign slogan —"Had Enough? Vote Republican."

Bancroft

Bancroft—The slow progress in the realization of the proposed High School for the town has made necessary the inconvenience of the comparatively large enrolment having to scatter for classes in rooms in the Hotel, the basement of the United Church, the Community Hall, and the public school building.

The village was shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death on Saturday Oct. 12, of a very popular citizen, Gerald Moxam.

Mr. Milton McGee, student of Radio College in Toronto, spent Thanksgiving weekend with his family in town.

The staff of Bancroft Public School attended the North Hastings Teachers' Convention at Marmora.

Dr. Bernard Baruch, assistant to Dr. S. S. Lamb, spent the weekend with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Frank Askey is progressing considerably well after his unfortunate experience on duty as guard at the local jail recently.

Dr. and Mrs. R. Haryett are spending a week in Toronto.

Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. O'Neil have returned to Toronto after spending a month at Hotel Bancroft.

Messr. "Buster" Haryett, Keith Summers, and Gordon Goodkey of Toronto spent the weekend with their families in town.

Rev. and Mrs. Andrew McLaughlin were guests at the home of their son, Rev. Robert McLaughlin, over Thanksgiving weekend.

The Hastings Road Committee visited North Hastings this week.

Little Keith Gaebel suffered a serious accident on Friday morning when he fell off a truck. The rear wheels passing over his pelvis. He is doing as well as can be expected.

Patronage Total 63 P.C. Greater Than Last Year

(By The Canadian Press)

With attendance marks over the million mark for ten of the 16 clubs, major-league baseball rolled up a patronage total during the past season which was 63 per cent greater than the previous record in 1945. The American League drew 9,666,421 compared with 6,002,355 last year while fans at National League fixtures totalled 8,946,283, against 5,372,819 in 1945. New York Yankees played before 2,309,029 for a new club record, the previous mark of 1,485,166 being established by Chicago Cubs in 1929.

Brooklyn Dodgers and Detroit Tigers both had attendance in excess of 1,700,000 while the Boston Red Sox, American League champions drew 1,416,944. Last-place New York Giants had 1,234,733 customers.

With a 218 for 54 holes, Herman Keiser, of Akron, O., continued to lead the pack yesterday in the Knoxville, Tenn., invitation golf tournament, two strokes better than Chick Harbert of Michigan. Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., was second among the amateurs with a 231 aggregate, considerably to the rear.

First-baseman Stan Musial and outfielder Enos Slaughter of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals were reported yesterday to be after high-figure contracts. Musial indicated he wanted better than $100,000 for three years while Slaughter was said to be seeking $75,000 for the same period.

Frank Parker of San Francisco, defeated Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood in a five-set battle yesterday to enter the final round of the singles in the Pan American Tennis Tournament at Mexico City. Margaret Osborne qualified for the women's final by trimming Doris Hart in two sets.

Bernborough is so good that Australian bookmakers won't take any more bets on him for today's Caulfield Cup race at Melbourne in which he is carrying 150 pounds. He has won 15 straight races.

One-time manager of Cleveland Indians in the American League, Jack McAllister ,67 ,died yesterday at his Columbus, O., home. He had been associated with baseball for 50 years and, more recently, had been scouting for Boston Braves.

American Loop Has Nine Games Over Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

The American Hockey League begins its first heavy weekend schedule of the season today with five games carded for tonight and four more Sunday evening.

Hershey Bears, eastern leaders, entertain Providence Reds who along with New Haven Ramblers trail the Bears, by two points.

Ramblers invade the home ground of Pittsburgh Hornets.

Cleveland's front - running western division Barons clash with the runner-up Buffalo Bisons in Cleveland. Barons lead Bisons by one point. In the remaining two games St. Louis Flyers play host to the twice-beaten Philadelphia Rockets while Springfield Indians and Indianapolis Capitals collide at Springfield.

On Sunday, the Bears move to Buffalo while Philadelphia is at Indianapolis. St . Louis and Springfield are idle.

Winning Streak Of Bernborough Broken at 15

Melbourne, Oct. 19 (CP)—The 15-race winning streak of Bernborough, Australia's latest "wonder horse," came to end today when Royal Gen, a 33-1 outsider, won the classic Caulfield Cup.

Carrying top weight of 150 pounds—20 more than any other starter—the big seven-year-old bay finished fifth. He made a great finish in the stretch of the 1 1-2-mile route, coming from last place, but failed to overhaul the leaders.

H. G. Aarburton, racing writer of the Sydney Sun, said the result "proved again that no matter how great a horse might be, weight would beat him."

Before the race bookmakers reported that they were so "loaded" with Bernborough money that they refused to accept any more bets.

Football Clashes Reach Crucial Stage in East

Argos and Toronto Indians Need Wins to Stay in Front

(By The Canadian Press)

In addition to the spectacle of suspense that every closely-contested football match affords, each of Canada's four senior leagues has a little extra to offer its adherents in this nine-game weekend that finds clashes getting down to the crucial stage.

1. In the Western Canada senior league, first place is at stake between Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers when they meet at Winnipeg in the windup match of the schedule.

2. Toronto Indians, the only unbeaten team in the three leagues that challenge for the Grey Cup, lay their undefeated record on the line in the Ontario Rugby Football Union, where the battle for the four post-season playoff spots is at white heat.

3. In the Intercollegiate Union, University of Western Ontario can complete their first round of the circuit completely victorious by beating McGill's Redmen.

4. In the Interprovincial Union, the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts face a "make or break" weekend in which they can emerge well established in first place or forced to share the berth with either Ottawa Rough Riders or Montreal Alouettes.

Morris Plenty Worried

Although the loss last Saturday in Montreal was Argos' first of the season, coach Ted Morris expressed himself as "plenty worried" it may have signified the start of a "slump." With two ties blotting their record and their remaining games all with either Rough Riders or Alouettes, the champions need to increase their present 12 points to be assured of a play-off spot.

In the O.R.F.U., the Indians also will be worrying about holding sole possession of first place as well as their unbeaten record when they meet the third-place Sarnia Imperials at Toronto Saturday. Two points behind, Hamilton Wildcats meanwhile have what they consider a soft touch in their home stand against the fifth-place Windsor Rockets.

The third O.R.F.U. match pits Toronto Balmy Beach, tied for third with Sarnia, against the pointless Trojans at Ottawa.

Western are at home in London, when they seek their third straight intercollegiate victory against McGill Saturday. The Redmen are tied for second place, one victory and a loss apiece, with University of Toronto, who meanwhile meet the winless Queen's team at Kingston.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Oct. 19 — (AP) — College football in the U. S. probably is having its biggest season on record, but three still are some coaches who aren't satisfied with the game that brings in all the money . . . The other day Marquette's Frank Murray suggested a requirement of six defensive players on the line to match the seven-man line required for the offence . . . To this Columbia's Lou Little replies that there's no sense in demanding that a team whose personnel is more suited to the five or seven-man defensive line should use a six. The whole thing was thrashed out in a coaches' rules committee meeting some years ago, he adds . . .

Woodstock, Oct. 19 (CP)—Kenncrest Nolan Pietje, bred and owned by F. W. Kennedy and Son of Oxford Centre, has been acclaimed new Canadian champion milk producer in the 305 day division of the junior three-year-old class on twice daily milking. Starting on a test at the age of three years, 147 days, she produced 18,182 pounds of milk 3.7 per cent, 673 pounds fat.

The former Canadian champion in this class was Soo Gertie Echo Hartog, producing 18,159 pounds of milk with 653 pounds of butterfat in 1939. The U.S. champion is Highfield Pomona De Kol with 17,712 pounds of milk and 610.4 pounds butterfat.

STRAY BULLET KILLS HUNTER

Sturgeon Falls, Oct. 19 (CP)—Dr. J. E. Palement, Sturgeon Falls coroner, said Thursday night that Paul Everett Pauley, about 42, of Girard, Ohio, was killed accidentally by a stray bullet from a high-powered rifle, possible by another member of a group with which he was hunting near the Timagami resort area in Northern Ontario. A search party found the body. Pauley, who became separated from his friends yesterday when the members of the group spread out, failed to return to camp wednesday night.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

AND SO . . . ADIEU

The last act of the baseball season in this city is rapidly drawing to a close. This afternoon the curtain will fall on a diamond drama that for box-office appeal and fan interests surged far beyond the highest expectations of the baseball die-hards of two years ago. The game, they said then, was washed up, dead, buried and far beyond any hope of resurrection. And at that time it looked as though they were right.

Interest in baseball in this city which produced some of the best champion squads in Ontario at one time or another, was suffering from prolonged rigor mortis. It was relegated to the limbo of forgotten things, aided and abetted by the gradual upsurge of that baseball usurper of fandom's fancy, softball.

Hardball (the name is the brainchild of some mushball maniac) was pushed farther and farther into the background. The only semblance of the game evident was in the outlying districts where an occasional group got together and played "catch." Here too, softball went in, tackling high, ,and using elbows and knees to nudge baseball into practical obscurity.

The situation looked desperate for the die-hards of the once popular sport. They lived with their memories—and disgust at the modern sports trend that was slowly but surely obliterating their favorite summer pastime from the local calendar of athletics. Nothing short of a miracle, it seemed, would bring back the game to its once popular status in the minds of fandom in the city.

Then it happened. From some seed that still retained a spark of baseball life, a tiny sprout of interest grew. As it stretched new shoots into a dormant air, it gathered new interests. Men like Jack McVeigh, Speedy St. Louis and others saw possibilities. Word got around. Otherwise dormant fans became interested. A new field, it was stated, was being built by the Stewart Warner Alemite Company.

The word spread. Teams were formed in various parts of the city and in some outlying districts. And from that tiny sprout there blossomed the first meeting of baseball interests in the city since long before Hitler sent his hordes sweeping through Europe.

That was in 1945. More or less sensational success attended the first season. From the moss-covered earth of its grave, baseball received a new lease of life. President Jack McVeigh tackled heavy problems and seasonal barriers with gusto, and the season was a pronounced success. It had its drawbacks, but a new baby must crawl before it can walk and the 1945 baseball cherub in its crawling season, laid the foundation for the fine success that has marked its 1946 successor.

At a special meeting held this Spring, Don Thomas took over the presidential reins relinquished by Prexy McVeigh. He gathered about him such baseball notables as "Doc" Empson, Bill Cook, Walt Gerow, Bill Dennis, Lorne McDougall, Claude Tice, Jack White and Cy Young, with past prexy McVeight in an advisory capacity.

Walt Gerow, Sr., was appointed umpire-in-chief. He enlisted the services of a staff of more or less competent umpires who did a good job over the long summer schedule. There were complaints, 'tis true, but show me a team of umpires who are letter perfect and can satisfy every manager in a six-team loop, and I'll show you six miracle men.

Teams from outside points entered. There came the Trenton Flyers, Batawa Shoemen,, Latta and Napanee, ,formerly a hotbed of baseball. In the city, the Belleville Juniors under the wing of Speedy St. Louis floundered helplessly for a while until the Kiwanis Club took them under its wing, and the Stewart-Warner Alemite club backed by the baseball-conscious Arthur Young, ,flung their respective guantlets into the baseball arena.

A schedule was drawn up. Farsighted executives consulted with the newly formed Belleville Softball Association with regard to dates so that no clashes would occur. It was told the Fair Grounds diamond would be available as would be the new Alemite Field, and abbreviated name for the Stewart Warner Recreation Field (get that one in a 36 point head, pal)

To make a long story short, the 1946 baseball season here has been an unqualified success. It has six outstanding teams, five of which entered the Ontario Baseball Association playdowns. Unfortunately Trenton Flyers, and Batawa were drawn against each other in the Intermediate 'A' first round. Latta eliminated Napanee in the first round Intermediate "B" after the Gilbardville squad had put the Prince Edward County champs out of the running and went on to dunk Bancroft, North Hastings champions in the second round.

The Kiwanis Juniors, under the guidance of Coach St. Louis made box-office history here when they met the starry Ottawa Wrightville juniors in their second clash of the OBA junior series with over 2,000 howling fans in attendance. The Juniors efforts are now history, but they made a splendid contribution to the resurrection of dormant baseball interest in the city and district. And that is not deteriorating one iota from the efforts put forth by other squads.

The Belleville City Baseball League can well be proud of its 1946 achievements. There aren't many baseball loops in Ontario which can boast two of their squads battling in provincial semi-finals with another waiting for an opponent for an Ontario championship, in their second year of operation from a standing start, so to speak.

President Don Thomas, who also officiated in an umpire's role, did an outstanding job from his prexy's chair. He saw to it that all games were properly advertised through the press and radio. The many problems that came up were satisfactorily solved with the assistance of his executive. The league, under his guidance got off on the right foot —and that in any man's loop, is half the battle.

The league was faced with a grounds problem later in the season. But thanks to the efforts and generosity of Arthur Young, of Stewart Warner Alemite, satisfactory arrangements were made. Apathetic city officials were lackadaisical in their efforts regarding the Fair Grounds during the latter part of the season when other attractions created havoc with the baseball diamond, and if the Alemite Field had not been available, baseball here would have received a rude jolt insofar as playing grounds are concerned.

And the quality of baseball served up in the second year fare was high. Indicative of this is the fact that the Batawa squad which finished in second place in the league standing are now in the OBA Intermediate "A" finals, having eliminated their loop-rivals from Trenton and defeating the starry Niagara Falls Terminals in a hard-fought three-game series.

Further evidence is seen in the performances of the Kiwanis Juniors who dunked the best junior talent Oshawa and Peterborough had to offer and bowed only to the Ottawa Wrightvilles in a sensational semi-final three-game series, losing the third game by a 2-1 score in Kingston.

So well might the league executive hold high its head for accomplishments achieved this season. It has done a splendid job; the teams have had no complaints, serious ones, that is, and the fans have enjoyed one of the best baseball seasons experienced here in a long while.

But there is a suggestion that the exec. might consider —one born of many that have come to this desk. And that is, that next year, it arrange its playing schedule so that league champions may be declared before any squad enters OBA playdowns. The provincial organization playdowns, naturally have a priority on dates, and if teams, like this year, go on to the semi-finals or finals, it carries the local playoff system into mid-October when neither fans nor players are too keen about jousting on a baseball diamond with nasty weather around the corner.

A REMINDER

Batawa Shoemen play Trenton Flyers this afternoon at Batawa. First game called at 1.30, the second, if necessary, to follow immediately.

BOSTON BRUINS OPEN SEASON WITH CANADIENS

All Teams in National Hockey League Will be in Action This Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

All six National Hockey League teams draw up to the firing line tonight and tomorrow in a weekend of battling that gets the lengthened, 60-game schedule well underway, and should give the form players a chance to dope out how the race will go this year.

Heading the four-game card is the Saturday night tilt at Montreal, where the Stanley cup-holding Canadiens and Boston Bruins resume their rivalry where they left off last season.

Canucks took the cup last spring in a tough final series with Bruins, winning four out of five after three games went into overtime.

It should be a battle royal tonight since Canadiens have their championship line-up virtually intact and Bruins with their pre-war stars getting back in the groove, stand as tough opposition.

The 1946-47 season was officially inaugurated at Detroit Wednesday night when Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs battled to a 3-13 tie. On Thursday Canadiens handed a 3-0 blanking to New York Rangers, who finished sixth last year.

Besides the Bruins-Canadiens feature event, the Saturday card also includes a return engagement at Toronto between the Leafs and Wings.

Boston fans get the first sight of their favorites Sunday as Bruins come home to take on Chicago Black Hawks in the second leg of their initial weekend doubleheader.

Hunting Season Well Under Way In Some Parts

(By The Canadian Press)

Rifles crack these days in many parts of Canada as deer hunters roam colorful autumn uplands. In some areas the season is well under way but elsewhere it has not yet opened.

A Canadian Press survey revealed that hunting has started in New Brunswick, in sections of Quebec and Manitoba and in North-Western Ontario. Most Maritime hunters are getting their quota of two deer and few accidents have been reported so far.

Reports of two accidents, one serious, came this week from the Kenora area of Northwestern Ontario. Dr. E. E. Symmons, 58, of Memphis, Mo., was accidently shot in the lower part of the body by another member of his party and an unidentified hunter from Indiana shot himself in the right arm as he lifted a rifle form a boat.

In the Quebec district, including the lower shores of the St. Lawrence River, deer hunting started Sept. 18 and ends Nov. 15. The Montreal area season runs from Sept. 25 to Nov. 22. Game is reported scarce in both sections and rumors are current that the Quebec legislature may take steps at the next session to curtail hunting.

The season in the Kenora area opened Sept. 15 and in the Thunder Bay and Rainy River Districts Oct. 15.

SPORTS FALLACIES

By MARGERY MILLER

Many fighters look fine in workouts, but fold up under heavy fire. Stanley Poreda appeared very impressive before his 1934 battle with Joe Louis. He beat a convincing tattoo on the punching bag. But he was knocked out in the first round.

The best fighters often look poor in training because they are practising tactics and strategy calculated to defeat the opposition, and are careless of ordinary form. On the other hand, many a punk with a glass chin or some other important weakness, looks great battering about a crew of decrepit sparring partners.

AMERICAN LEAGUE AHEAD

San Jose, Calif., Oct. 19—(AP) — George Caster's American League All-Stars defeated Johnny Vandermeer's National Leaguers 6-1 in an exhibition game last night to send the Americans into the lead, eight games to 7, in their touring series.

GOERING'S JAILOR

Colonel B. C. Andrus, commandant of the jail where Hermann Goering and his fellow Nazis were held during trial and while awaiting execution, is pictured here. Colonel Andrus had boasted that "suicide was impossible" in the Nuernberg jail. Hermann Goering disproved that statement when he swallowed the lethal dose of cyanide of potassium slipped him to enable him to cheat the gallows.

ALOUETTES BEAT HAMILTON TIGERS BY 19-0 SCORE

Montreal Entry in Big Four All Alone in Second Place in the Loop

Hamilton, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Pointed toward what may well be a garrison finish, Montreal's Alouettes rode alone today in second place in the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union with an excellent chance, on their late season form, of overtaking the leader in the stretch.

A smashing 19-0 victory over Hamilton Tigers on a muddy gridiron last night shot Lew Hayman's team two points ahead of Ottawa Rough Riders.

The shock troops as Alouettes pounded the Tigers were Virgil Wagner, John Moody and Wally Spencer, with Wagner the gold-dust man. The speedy half scored two touchdowns, racing 63 yards after four plays in the opening quarter for one of them, and passed to Maitland for the third major.

Ches McCance, the former Winnipeg Blue Bomber, showed perfect placement form in converting all three, and Moody kicked the other point on a rouge.

SIGNS 12 BOYS

Winnipeg, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Alex (Sandy) Archer, former Winnipeg hockey and soccer star, is here again after an absence of six years. Archer now is manager of the New Nottingham team of the British Ice Hockey League and is in Winnipeg to line up and sign players for the club.

So far he has signed 12 Manitoba boys.

The opening lead from west was the club queen. Such a lead says he holds the jack and ten or jack and nine South has the ten. So, he must assume that west has the jack and nine.

From this, south realizes that a club finesse will fail. And it looks as if he must also lose two heart tricks. With three tricks to lose, the slam make looks almost hopeless.

If there is any chance to take 12 tricks, there must be a lucky break, or a possible squeeze, or a successful strip-and-endplay. In fact, it needs a combination of all three.

South wins the first trick with club king and draws four spades. On the fourth dummy spade, south sluffs a small heart. He then draws four diamonds. On the fourth south diamond, dummy sluffs a club.

While this is going on, west sluffs only hearts. He hangs onto the J 9 of clubs. A heart is won with the ace in dummy and look at the break he gets. East drops his lone heart king on it.

The outstanding hearts can be counted from the number that have been played. It looks as if west has the only unseen heart; the queen. If so, west can be end-played.

A heart forced west to win with the queen for the only trick by opponents. West must now lead a club from J 9 toward the south A 10. These two tricks were needed to make the slam.

You can sit there and holler horseshoes. You can say it was lucky for south that he found east with the lone heart king. But it was more than luck that made south take advantage of his opportunities.

Hollywood, Oct. 19 —(AP)— The Cornel Wilde-20th-Fox feud, which shaped up as a hot one, ended abruptly when he sent a note to Darryl Zanuck and got another in return. Cornel refused "Forever Amber," wanting something like $150,000 a picture instead of his $3,500 a week. Now he will do the role and it's a safe bet he will get $5,000 weekly. He should fare well, since his films usually require 20 weeks' work.

Mrs. Wilde (Pat Knight) also entered into the controversy. The studio wanted her to be in her husband's films, "Amber" and "The Black Rose," but they preferred to act apart until she is established. The studio acquiesced and is now looking for scripts for her. Incidentally, Cornel must keep his eyes closed for three days until his torn eyelid heals. Eight stitches were taken and the tear duct was ruptured because of his fall against a clothes hanger. He is lucky to have saved his sight.

Margaret Sullavan can't be lured to films, so now MGM hopes Deborah Kerr will arrive from England in time to play Elizabeth Taylor's mother in "Rich, Full Life."

After five years in the United States navy, part of it as an underwater demolition expert, George O'Brien is back in films and looking terrific. He's working in "My Wild Irish Rose" George says his wife, Marguerite Churchill, is planning a return to pictures.

Weary Bob Mitchum finishes "Pursued," does retakes for "Sacred and Profane," then starts "Hang My Gallows High," all within a week.

Jack Carson is sad today. Invited to a "White Elephant" party he was planning a big laugh by bringing a white elephant. He found out the elephant could be rented for $100, but insurance had to be obtained from Lloyds of London for $800. So he is taking stuffed turkey.

In Manhattan

By FRANK HINDS

New York, Oct. 19 —(CP)— Eugene O'Neill, the gloomy dean of American playwrights, has returned to Broadway after a 12-year absence with "The Iceman Cometh," a great new drama which expounds with glacier slowness a philosophy of despair.

Set in a New York flophouse-saloon in 1912, this most provocative play in many a season is prodigiously long and repetitive, but O'Neill's audience comes away with plenty to think about —and little of it pleasant.

Like his "Strange Interlude" and "Mourning Becomes Electra," the drama moves with the pace of doom through one pre-dinner and three after-dinner acts — four hours and 15 minutes actual stage time.

The personnel of this parable of pessimism embraces the lowest common denominator of society, a raffish crew of prostitutes, procurers and derelicts, the flotsam and jetsam of the waterfront.

The instrument of the drama is Hickey, a hardware salesman who always stakes the flophouse to a party during an annual spree of his own. This time, however, the glib salesman is the harbinger of death and purveyor of a dreadful philosophy which would strip the stewbums of their pipedreams of tomorrow and make them face themselves as they are.

The play's title is a grim pun on Hickey's favorite bawdy reference and his new role as a messiah of death.

O'Neill's message would seem to be that the spiritual peace which men call by names such as "security" and "happiness" can be attained only by rejection of the illusory barricades which we erect between ourselves and the facts of life and death.

The playwright would appear to conclude that his own pipedream — a society of contemplative realists — is not workable for the majority of us.

It's just as well. Otherwise, Mr. O'Neill's audience these nights might be marching trancelike from the theatre, heading for the East River like lemmings.

Outstandings in the magnificent cast are James Barton—the Jeeter Lester of thousands of "Tobacco Road" performances in Canada and the United States — who plays Hickey; Dudley Digges who plays the sinner-loving saloon keeper; Tom Pedi, the bartender-pimp, and Carl Benton Reid, the ex-anarchist. They perform on a set as sombre and shadowed as a Rembrandt.

Canadian Caper: Walter Huston, home in Toronto with "the apple of his eye," wowed his audience no more with his convincing portrayal of a widowed farmer kayoed by the hired girl than with a curtain talk. After the final curtain, Huston crooned "September Song" — the hit melody from "Knickerbocker Holiday" in which he starred several seasons back. His comment: "Since I sang it Crosby and Sinatra have taken it up. I never thought I'd be classed with the crooners."

AT THE McCARTHY — Drama is the keynote of Universal's "Black Angel," now at the McCarthy Theatre, which has Dan Duryea and June Vincent in the roles of a piano-singing duo in a Hollywood Sunset Strip night club on the trail of a murderer. Second new hit features Fred Brady in "Slightly Scandalous."

AT THE CAPITOL — Joe Eykner (Douglas Fowley) questions Belle (Anne Gwynne) as to what she did while he was on his honeymoon. This exciting scene is from the "The Glass Alibi", Republic's new psychological drama opening Monday at the Capitol. On the same program "Kitty," starring Paulette Goddard and Ray Milland.

She could make no plans. Someday, in the vague future, she meant to have a sunshiny house some where, perhaps in Piedmont. She had no associations in Piedmont; that would be a good place. She would have one efficient servant, someone who liked children, and as they grew older, and were away at school every day, the care of them would be so lightened as to be of no burden at al.

She went down to stay with her father, and gave him so glittering a report of Pussy's and Catherine's life on the Sausalito hills that he was satisfied that for the moment that was the place for them.

"But you, Belle. What are you going to do?"

"Oh, hang around, I suppose, until Avery's estate is settled. His mother would like me to live with her."

"Should think she might."

"I believe the girls are to be with Dennis over Thanksgiving, but how about are coming down here for Christmas? Think you could stand it Aunt Mansie?"

"Why, that'd make a Christmas for your father that would have him dancing again," said Aunt Mansie.

"You've grown to be a lovely woman, Isabel," her father said to her on the last night of her visit.

"I've learned something maybe."

"Sorrow's a great teacher, they say."

"It hasn't been only sorrow. It's been partly pain and partly shame." But she didn't say this aloud. He was happy, and she wouldn't let the slightest shadow cloud her visit.

"Nice to have the girls," he said. "But somehow I've seen more of you this time than I did last summer. They took up all your time."

"I'm going to come often now," she said with her good-bye kiss, before she drove back to Mrs. Bamberger, and "Laurel Lawn."

The weeks went by and were months. She tried to shake herself out of the dimness, the fog that had engulfed her; she must plan. First, to find the house and furnish the house. Then a letter to Dennis asking for the girls. Then a merry settling in and merry explanations: "Well, you're going to be Mummy's girls for a while!"

Heaviness. Heaviness. Somehow she couldn't rise to it. Sunshiny small houses weren't available; private schools were crowded; good natured all-service maids were as extinct as dinosaurs. Isabel slept badly at night and found herself staying late in bed mornings; Edna or old Mamie eleven o'clock. She took bridge lessons, in a group of women.

Finally bracing herself she she wrote Dennis that she would like to have the girls for thanksgiving week; she intended to spend it in Sutro's Mill with her father. The girl knew their grandfather and would be happy there. But it was too late.

Oliver Jordan died in mid-November, Isabel reaching him only a few hours before the end. His death gave her a sharp heartache; she remembered his undemanding kindnesses his gentleness and understanding. He was very happy to have her come; the changed face smiled at her lovingly as she knelt beside him. Isabel laid her face against his thin old hand, an agony of longing shaking her. Oh, to have the casual years back again and be just a little different as his daughter! To put into those years more visits, more letters, more love. She had never been unkind or cold, only selfish, thoughtless. Well, there was no use thinking of that now!

Again, on an humbler scale, began the solemn business of opening boxes, destroying letters, looking at this old lithograph and that old sugar bowl with appraising eyes. Everything in the house was Isabel's, but the house itself Aunt Mansie's.. Mansie's daughter and grandchildren immediately moved in; delighted with larger quarters, "in town," to, after their isolation on a poor little mountain farm. Lucy was a widow with four uproarious boys; her life would be comfortable and assured from now on. Isabel could not but envy Lucy's happines and completeness. She reflected that it seemed to take much less to make some women happy than to satisfy others!

The little Hardisty girls came down to Sutro's Mill for Christmas week; it went too fast. They slept in cot beds borrowed from a neighbor, in their mother's room; the days were excited and eventful, for with so many boys about there were natural tears and accidents. The big boy cousins couldn't help being rough; dolls were broken, candy snatched, and when on the day after Christmas snow fell the little girls were somewhat alarmed and resentful at the enevitable tumbling and stumbling, and getting their small red faces plastered with it.

The house was hot, joyous, crowded for a short space of time, then Isabel surrendered her daughters again to their father and went back exhausted to the Latimer home.

In January there were twenty-two days of overcast skies and slow rains; February came in on a genuine storm. Broken branches and drifts of leaves strewed the gardens of "Laurel Lawn." The big house was warm and snug; meals were delicious, formally beautiful in service, prompt. Rooms were orderly; radiators whispered; coals fell in the old steel-rodded fireplaces. There were no human sounds except Isabel's voice and her mother-in-law's. A sense that the old order was changing pervaded everything; segregations and classifying went on; but there was no outward evidence of breaking up.

The two women spent their mornings at home, dressed before noon, and separated for social engagements. In the late afternoon they were usually in the special library that was the most used room in the house. Isabel and Dennis had had their last talk here on a summer night. She still saw him there, with his pipe, his eyes on the fire.

The backgammon table was always waiting; sometimes friends came in for bridge. After bridge games, which never broke up until after midnight, Isabel might lie awake, nervously remembering losses due to bad luck and poor playing. She hated herself for thinking of the nine of diamonds or the revoke, when there was so much else in the world worth thinking about, but she couldn't help it. Indeed she hated the life she was living, but she couldn't seem to help that, either.

It was physically easy, indeed, it was luxurious. Sometimes when she went to Totty's or Cornelia's to dinner she wore her soft all-enveloping mink coat, its silky richness impregnable to cold, and yet so feather soft and light. For the rest Isabel wore only conventional black, "But all fur is correct for mourning madam," the woman at Magnin's had once told her.

"When are you going to have it styled?" Totty asked.

What? My coat? Good heavens, what for?"

"Only the collar, really. But of course it would be too superb cut hip length, with the extra piece used for big mandarin cuffs."

"I thought in my innocence, that a fur coat was a fur coat," Isabel said simply.

Here was life cheating one again. Wifehood wasn't wifehood for her any more; motherhood wasn't motherhood. Now, it seemed, a mink coat was but a transitory glory. It had to be a mink coat cut to this year's pattern.

Wifehood. Motherhood. Those made the real world. She'd run away from them and somehow couldn't find them again. Isabel wished that she knew how to pray. But prayer, like cooking and French and everything else, apparently had to be learned by slow processes.

In the third week of February suddenly the world burst into a glory of spring. Every inch of free earth along the roadsides was crammed with green grass; acacia trees were puffballs of gold; the low blue flag lilies that edged the garden at "Laurel Lawn" were thick among their spearlike leaves. Here and there in the grounds Isabel found sheets of crocus bells as red as blood, narcissus, primulas. Lilacs waved in a warm breeze and the air near the orange trees was rich and heavy with scent. There was a languor in the lengthening sweet afternoons that made her heart ache; "Lonely, lonely, lonely," she might hear herself saying aloud, and glance about to be sure that no lingering gardener was near enough to hear her.

"It's a funny thing," said Avery's mother, busily shuffling cards with her hard ringed little hands. "Widowhood, I mean. Being widowed. It's so different from what you think it is .... Your start. Now with Phil," she went on, thoughtfully picking up a seven of hearts, thoughtfully discarding an ace, "there were times when I wanted to Kill Phil Bamberger, and yet when he died—he was twenty-eight years older than I was, but I felt awful—I really did. And yet I'd often thought what I'd do when Phil died."

"I've never thought anything out at all," Isabel confessed.

"Well, I don't suppose you would, with Avery not yet forty. But Phil was almost seventy. You'd never know it. He was playing polo a week before he died. Everyone liked him—Phil Bamberger hadn't an enemy in the world. ..Is two any good?"

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating supper, being fish instead of meat, and ma said to pop, I met a famous authoress face to face today, William, I mean Laurette Argus in person.

She's not famous to me, pop said, and ma said, Now William dont sound so backwards, Laurette Argus is the writer of All Isn't Love, the biggest autograffing copies of the book in Hookbinders book department and being very nice about it, although I must say as far as appearances go she's just an ordnerry looking woman the same as anybody else. It just goes to show what can happen to any woman with the time to devote herself to writing instead of having to occupy every passing moment with the never ending details of housewerk. Oh dear, I always thought I'd like to write, ma said.

There's a much simpler way than that of becoming famous, pop said. If you study the newspapers carefully you'll notice that every 3 munths or so somebody or other develops a stubborn case heecupps that defies all the local doctors. Every newspaper in the country publishes the news on the front page, and every news broadcaster will mention it on the air. Write a book and your name may be crowded out of the news by some little war or other, but get yourself a lingering case of heecupps and you'll hick your way into millions of homes, he said, and ma said, Now William that's silly, and even if there was any sense to it, heecups are purely accidental.

I bet you could start them yourself if you wanted to, ma, I said. I know fellows can heecup whenever they feel like it, I mean even when they dont feel like it, and I can even do it myself. Do you want to hear me, ma, do you want to hear me, pop? I said.

Both quick saying they didn't, and pop claimed the subject was exhawsted and advized me to eat my supper.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRED KERNER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Oct. 19 (CP)— With plenty of gridiron interest focused on the collegiate teams this season after the long wartime layoff and last year's short schedule, it is the result of one game today which should clearly give the picture of the final standing in that loop.

At London the highly-touted McGill Redmen tangle with Johnny Metras' Western Mustangs for the first time this season. The Metras-men are undefeated up to now and their chances of copping the Eastern Canada campus crown for the third successive time may well depend upon their crushing the lads from old McGill.

A Mustang loss will throw the race into a scramble and the final outcome then would make your guess as good as the next man's.

It is interesting to note that with all the American influence in Canadian football, McGill — the first team to swing to the U.S. style of play when Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy coached the squad— now is the only club in these parts playing a strictly Canadian system.

And talking of American football, Queen's University's new head coach, Doug Monsson, says he's amazed at the lack of fundamental football knowledge the average Canadian high school player has in comparison with schoolboys is the U.S.

The tall(talkative Swede from Illinois who played football with the great Red Grange as a youngster, told Jack (London Free Press) Park that in the States secondary schools actually develop the football players and universities merely polish them. Monsson has had difficulty introducing Americanized tactics at Queen's since he has had to start all over again with green players and teach fudamentals.

Metras also found the same difficulty when he came to University of Western Ontario and now starts work early each year to give his men a working intimate knowledge of the necessities of the game—a knowledge which carries the secret of Mustangs' ability to block smartly.

Kilroy Was There!

If you read no further at the sight of the name Kilroy, we don't blame you!

At North Bay, at least, they've found the elusive character who always "was here." In this case the person in question is Hec Kilroy, famous in Northern Ontario baseball circles a decade or so ago. A colorful player both in the outfield and with the bludgeon, Mr. K. visited his old home town this week on business. He now lives at Midland, Ont.

Arabian Sheik Fails to Take Empire Wrestling Crown From Champ Whipper Watson

Challenger States He Was "Robbed" by Timekeeper After Fast and Furious Time-Limit Match; Meet Again Next Week

"That was not fair. The time was called too soon and if I had had another five minutes I would have pinned Watson. He was in a bad way as it was, and nothing but your timekeeper saved him" yelled Shiek Emir Badui in the dresing room Friday night after the "Whipper" Billy Watson had thrown him for one fall and was awarded the second by Referee Ernie Powers at the expiration of the time limit.

The Shiek flashed all his Arabian fury at the officials in the dressing room. He tramped up and down, Iraquian fire flashing from his dark eyes and calling all and sundry to substantiate his statement that the time keeper "robbed" him.

So manager Walt Gerow, quick to sense an opportunity grabbed the Sheik by the arm and asked him if he wanted a rematch for the Empire title. The Sheik eagerly assented as did Whipper Billy Watson and that's what goes on next Friday night. But to avoid any repetition of Friday nights alleged "short time" the bout has been designated as a no time limit match. So that's that.

The bout itself was one of the best seen here in many a moon. Both the Sheik and the champion desisted from any unorthodox tactics and the result was one of fastest cleanest bouts seen in some time. Both men showed plenty of agility with speedy footwork being the keynote of the fray. The Sheik was keenly disappointed as the Whipper refused to go for his single leg grab hold, and the faithful howled its approval as the dapper gent from East York got out of this fall-clinching clutches of the Arabian Knight.

The two put on a grand show for thirty-seven minutes before the Whipper was victorious in the first fall. Speed was definitely the keynote of the joust as the two young agile wrestlers flung everything they had at one another.

And the pewholders quick to sense what was going on; that there was nothing of the wrestling "villain" about either of them gave generously of its applause as the men "broke" cleanly after being so instructed by Referee Ernie Powers. As a matter of fact, the official had one of the easiest nights of his Belleville wrestling career.

In the second fall the Sheik was plainly peeved at the ease with which the champion eluded his many holds. He resorted to elbow slugging with the "Whip" falling into the mood of things and retaliating in like manner.

But in all fairness to the olive-skinhed representative of Araby he was handing out some stiff punishment to the champion when the bell ended matters at the end of the time limit. It is doubtful to predict what might have happened but the Sheik insisted that with five more minutes he would have won the fall. And thereby hangs the tale of complaint. In any event the two will meet again next Friday with no end to the time limit, and the pewholders will be given a chance to see what the Sheik can do with all the time in the world at his disposal.

Ivan (The Terrible) Rasputin and Natie Powers ex-pugilist didn't exactly fall in love with each other and after a gruelling twenty minutes of rough aggressive wrestling both were disqualified after they decided to settle their differences outside the ring while Referee Powers insisted they do it in the regulation manner. And the two endeavoring to settle their squabble before the front pew of customers were counted out.

Olaf Olsen was too rough for Pat Flanagan in the prelim and was disqualified after he insisted on climbing the ropes and using an overhead thumping attack on the popular Irishman from East York.

SHOT HER HUSBAND

Islip, N. Y., Oct. 19—(CP)— An attractive 28-year-old wife and mother shot and killed her husband Thursday night, police said after he listened to a radio murder drama and remarked:

"That would be a good way to do away with someone you don't want."

The wife, Mrs. June McNeice, was arraigned yesterday and held in $50,000 bail for the Suffolk County grand jury, charged with homicide in the slaying of her husband, Francis, 36.

Best Amateur Fighters in Great Britain Want to Box for Money

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 19 — (CP) — The glamor attached to amateur boxing is wearing thin, especially for the champions, and the British Amateur Boxing Association, noting the jump to professional ranks of four A.B.A. champions, is "dismayed" by it all. It hopes this idea of fighting for money is a "passion phenomenon."

The viewpoint of both boxer and the Association is understandable. The fighters just can't afford to give and take bashings for the fun and excitement, the glow of being fit and the pure joy of combat — and the Association is thinking of Britain's part in international contests and the 1948 Olympic games.

Professional "scouts" attended the A.B.A.' championships at Wembley Stadium last May 1 and the following day Eddie Thomas of Merthyr, lightweight champion, signed professional forms. Flyweight champion Dick (Skeets) Gallagher of Glasgow was next.

Then Randolph Turpin, 19-year-old colored middleweight who has the punch of a heavyweight, joined the earn-as-you-fight brigade. He was followed by Charlie Squires, bantamweight king, just out of the RAF.

None of these fighters could afford to fight for fun. Squires, for instance, has a wife and child, and he wants a house. The only way he feels he can get it is with his fists.

Boxing, like other sports in the country, is in the midst of a tremendous boom and the scrappers probably hope to catch on to promoter Jack Solomons whose latest idea in professional boxing is international team matches.

Solomons, already promoting in London, Dublin, Paris and Stockholm, is adding Brussels to his list with tentative plans to take four or five of the country's top boxers to Belgium in November and later to have the best of the Belgians in London. Any one of these might hit the jack-pot if given the chance.

Meanwhile, the A.B.A. hopes to pluck worthy representatives from the estimated 1,000,000 boys attached to 3,000 clubs across the country.

Post-War Effort to Revive Canada-Bermuda Agreement Has Been Made by Bermuda

By FORD BAXTER
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. 19 — (CP)— Bermuda has initiated a post-war effort to revive the 1925 Canada - Bermuda - British West Indies trade agreement under which she paid annual subsidies of about $14,000 for operation of Canadian National Steamships' "Lady" vessels between Canada and here.

Well - informed Bermudian sources say negotiations between Canada and Bermuda on the subject have begun. They argue resumption of the service would be advantageous to Canada since during and since the war the Dominion has supplied to Bermuda most of the human and animal foods consumed here and enlargement of shipping facilities would mean even larger exports.

Bermuda also is counting on the C.N.S. service to resuscitate her Canadian tourist business. Canadians now must travel to New York to board steamships or airplanes for Bermuda, or to Baltimore whence the British Overseas Airways Corporation serves the island. Americans now take up nearly all available accommodations leaving little chance for visitors from Canada to reach Bermuda.

Bermuda also is counting on the C.N.S. service — recently resumed — to resuscitate her Canadian tourist business. Before the "Lady" ships went back on the Bermuda runs Canadians had to travel to New York or Baltimore, to get air or water transport to Bermuda and with Americans taking up nearly all available accommodations there was little chance for Canadians to visit the island.

Bermuda recently granted a four-year monopoly to the T.C.A. for a route to the West Indies which includes a stopover at this colony. It is expected this air service will bring Montreal and Hamilton within five hours' travelling time of each other.

Since last January, Bermuda has made big strides in reconverting from an Allied strongpost in the Atlantic to a leisurely pleasure-resort. Wartime bases do not harm the tourist facilities; the main problem is to cope with the numbers who want to spend holidays here.

Bermuda — rather than having a lot of dissatisfied tourists who cannot find living space leaving the island — is spending heavily in advertisements to warn prospective visitors to be sure of reservations in advance. President Truman's recent holiday here has made the island particularly popular with Americans.

In all, there now is accommodation here for about 1,700 visitors, several additional hotels are expected to re-open shortly. The colony's annual pre-war tourist turnover was 90,000, compared with its year-round population of 35,000.

CASKET SHORTAGE

San Francisco, Oct. 19 (CP)— City Health Director J. C. Geiger says a coffin makers' strike on the West coast has resulted in a casket shortage which has created a serious health emergency here. The health officer said the morticians informed him th now was only a three wee supply of coffins in the city s that there already is a need caskets for infants. The co workers struk for a 55-cent- hour in crease. They now ceive $1.20 an hour.

Wife Divorces Lord Burghley

London, Oct. 19 —(CP)—Lady Mary Theresa Burghley obtained an uncontested divorce Friday from Lord Burghley, former governor of Bermuda, on grounds of adultry.

The complaint alleged an incident with a Mrs. Diana Forbes in Stockholm last October. Lady Burghley was given custody of her three children.

Lord Burghley won the 400-metre hurdles championship at now is head of the British Olymp- the 1928 Olympic Games and ic organization which will be host to the 1948 games in London.

Liquor Ration May Be Upped During November

Toronto, Oct. 19—(CP)— The Evening Telegram said in a newspage story that the one-bottle-a-month Ontario liquor ration will be increased next month, possibly to four bottles, and that by Christmas the ration will be back to 108 ounces, the ration before Oct. 1.

The Telegram said its information came from an "authoritative source" and that the increase is contemplated in view of the increased supply of bottles available following ending of a strike at the Brunner-Mond Soda Ash plant at Amhersburg, Ont.

The newspaper quoted chairman William Griesinger of the Liquor Control Board as saying he expects to make a "pleasant statement" within the next seven days. "We are marshalling the facts regarding the bottle shortage and I think we will have something nice to say within the next week.

Will Discuss Liquor Strength

Toronto, Oct. 19 —(CP)— Liquor Commissioners of Canadian provinces probably will meet in January and may discuss whether to retain the wartime proof strength of liquor—30 under proof—Hon. William Griesinger, chief liquor commissioner of Ontario, said today.

Mr. Griesinger recalled that the 30 under proof strength was established by the Dominion government as a wartime measure. The Dominion removed its controls in August, 1945, turning the matter back to the provinces. But that same month the provincial commissioners met in Toronto and decided to retain the wartime strength for the time being.

Cost-of-living data is from Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Electricity costs are average for Hydro in Ontario.

● Prices! Have they got you worried? Well, here is one price to feel good about. You can buy more Hydro energy for one cent today than at any time in history!

Compared with the dips and peaks of general living costs, the cost of Hydro service to Ontario consumers has come down constantly since 1914 : : : even dropping during war years. Today one cent buys about twice as much as in 1923 : : : almost five times as much as in 1914.

Think of the work that one cent's worth of electricity can do today, in an average Ontario home. It will give electric refrigeration for 24 hours : : : cook a full meal for two people on an electric range : : : operate a washing machine for two hours, an electric ironer for half an hour, a hand iron for an hour : : : light a 100-watt lamp for 10 hours, or run an average radio all day:

Few people in the world have electricity available to them at such low cost as prevails in Ontario and as a result, electricity is extensively used. Present demands tax supply facilities to capacity since Hydro construction and expansion were restricted by wartime necessity. Present shortage of materials and equipment makes it impossible to rapidly carry out expansion already planned. Until these conditions are relieved, use this economical servant wisely.

Rubber Strikes Across Province Nearing an End

600 Bowmanville Employees Accept Goodyear Terms

Toronto, Oct. 21 — (CP)—The rubber strike which closed ten Ontario plants for most of the summer neared its end today.

From Bowmanville in Eastern Ontario word came this morning that an emergency meeting of union members voted last night to accept proposals for settlement of the Goodyear strike there.

Some of the 600 Bowmanville employees returned to their jobs today as negotiations continued here in an effort to settle the strike involving 2,300 employees at the Goodyear plant in suburwban New Toronto. John Van Wagner, a union official, said it was likely agreement would be reached.

The Bowmanville settlement followed negotiations which lasted for three days. The agreement called for a 13-cent hourly increase from the time the men return to work with three and five cent differentials for off-shift work and pay for seven legal holidays. It provides for a 48-hour week. All employees on the payroll last June 24 when the strike began will receive $40 in retroactive pay. The union originally sought a 20-cent increase and a 40 hour week.

Negotiations Continue

Prospects for an early end of the rubber strike throughout Ontario brightened with acceptance last week of an across-the-board wage increase of 13 cents an hour at the Kitchener, Ont., plant of Dominion Tire and Rubber, which employs 1,300.

It appeared that settlement established a wage pattern for striking workers at other plants when, at the weekend, 1,300 strikers at Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in Hamilton and 300 at Toronto's Seiberling rubber plant accepted similar terms.

In all 2,600 rubber union members in Ontario are at work, 6,400 still on strike.

Over-all Increase

The new wage pattern provides for an over-all increase of 16.1 cents. Of this the 13-cent across-the- board raise will be added to hourly wages and the remaining 3.1 cents distributed over holidays with pay and off-shift premiums.

The union, when it launched its wave of strikes last June 23, demanded a wage increase of 20 cents an hour and a 40-hour work week. As reduction in working hours is not mentioned in settlement terms, the wage boost represents an actual increase in take-home pay.

First of the strikes settled was that of 175 workers at the Barringham Rubber Company, Ltd., at Oakville. That walkout ended Aug. 22. Employees there and at Viceroy Manufacturing Company, Toronto, are to receive an increase on the basis of settlement elsewhere.

The rubber-manufacturing city of Kitchener, hard hit by the strike, still has 1,000 workers on strike at the Dominion Rubber Company's Textile and Merchants Rubber plants, and 1,000 more at the Goodrich Rubber Company factory.

TANKS DESTROY "BURIAL SHIP"

Southwold, Suffolk, England — (CP)—George Bird, of the British Ornithologists' Union, told Southwold Archaeological Society that American tanks had destroyed the Sutton Hoo "burial ship," discovered in 1939.

During excavations in 1939 a vessel 82 feet long by 16 feet in beam was disclosed. It was thought to have been the resting place of an East Anglian King or warrior prince who lived about 600 A.D.

Today, Mr. Bird said, only a hollow in the ground marked the spot where the burial ship was found. The area was a military training ground during the war.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Oct. 21—(CP)—Synopsis: The extensive area of good weather over Southern Canada and the United States continues with clear skies being reported by weather stations from Newfoundland to Texas. The high pressure area which is causing the good weather, extends from the Maritimes down to the Gulf of Mexico, and is moving only slowly southeastward. Consequently the weather should continue clear over Southern Ontario throughout Monday and Tuesday, while temperatures gradually rise.

4,000 Bushmen In Cochrane Area Now on Strike

Timmins, Oct. 21 (CP)—Bruce Magnuson, secretary of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (A.F.L.), said today some 4,000 bush workers in the Cochrane district have answered the Union's strike call of Saturday, October 12, over wages and working conditions.

Meanwhile massed pickets appeared this morning at the McChesney and Mountjoy sawmills in this district, despite a provincial police request that the number of pickets be limited to 15 or 20 men.

"We are running a strike, not a pink tea party," said Magnuson of the police request, made Saturday by Inspector F. B. Creasy at a conference with Magnuson, Mayor Emile Brunette and Timmins Police Chief Albert Lepic.

Walking shoulder to shoulder the pickets blocked the road and at times traffic had to wait for five minutes. At 7.30 a.m., most of the pickets left to picket the Timmins office of the National Employment Service and offices of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company and of the Feldman Lumber Company.

The Union asks a $5 daily minimum wage and improved working and living conditions.

Timmins, —Local 241 International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter workers at a special meeting yesterday voted to donate $1 out of each semi-monthly pay envelop to the Lumber and Bushworkers Union Local 2995 for the duration of the present strike, called Saturday October 12 for union security and a guaranteed basic pay of $5 a day and board. The local has 7,000 members.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

Welland, Oct. 21 — (CP) — Louis Bulyki, 54, of nearby Crowland committed suicide some time last night by hanging himself from a tree on a Welland street, police said today. His body was discovered by workmen on their way to work.

Bulyki, recently returned from the tobacco fields, has no family.

TROOPS RUSHED TO EAST BENGAL TO STOP RIOTING

Bloody Hindu-Moslem Warfare Threatens Crisis in India's Young Interim Government

New Delhi, Oct. 21 — (AP) — Troops were strengthened in East Bengal today as bloody Hindu-Moslem warfare there threatened a crisis in India's young interim government.

The government said 1,600 men — two battalions and a brigade headquarters — would join 2,500 soldiers and 450 armed police in the troubled Noakhali and Tippera districts east of Calcutta today.

Newspapers charged the Viceroy, Viscount Wavell, and Sir Frederick Burrows, the Bengal provincial governor, with delay in protecting East Bengal's Hindu minority.

Yesterday Viscount Wavell wound up a three-day visit to Bombay as four persons were killed and 13 wounded in communial violence there. Four persons were killed and 14 injured Saturday.

Attacked by Tribesmen

The convoy of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister in the new government and ex-présídent of the Hindu-led All India Congress party, was attacked by several hundred tribesmen in the Khyber Pass on a tour of India's northwest frontier with Afghanistan.

The attackers and defending Khyber riflemen exchanged 300 to 400 shots, but only minor injuries resulted. The clash was the third incidental to Nehru's travels.

Moslems outnumber Hindus 5 to one in the trouble zone of East Bengal. Both Moslems and Hindus seem to agree that Moslems started the disturbance.

Refugees from the districts said Moslems had forced the mass conversion of Hindus to the Mohammedan religion on a scale without precedent in nearly 200 years.

Court on Opening Adjourns to 2 P.M. In Joint Murder Case at Hamilton

By ALAN RANDAL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Hamilton, Oct. 21 (CP)—Word from Barton Street jail today was that Mrs. Evelyn Dick remains unshakeable in her determination not to testify in Hamilton's second torso murder trial—the joint proceedings against William Bohozuk and her father, Donald MacLean.

When court opened at 11 a.m., Crown Prosecutor Harvey McCulloch asked for, and obtained an adjournment to 2 p.m., because he said, Special Crown Prosecutor T. J. Rigney, K.C., was absent in Toronto.

It was learned that Mr. Rigney had gone to Toronto to confer with the Attorney-General's Department and to "receive special instructions in connection with this case" since Mrs. Dick's testimony continues to be unavailable to the prosecution.

As this fourth day of the second trial dawned she was said to be steadfast in her decision not to talk.

"There is no change as far as I know and I doubt if there will be," said one source close to the prosecution this morning.

Mrs. Dick, who has said she will appeal her case ,had the benefit of a talk with her defence counsel when she decided to remain mute in the witness box Saturday at which time she said her decision not to testifiy was her "last word".

Her testimony appeared vital to continuance of the case against Bohozuk, her one-time friend, and her father and the fact that the prosecution decided Saturday not to have her held in contempt of court for her refusal to talk but rather to give her additional time to change her mind was seen as an indication of the urgency with which her testimony is desired.

The bare hope that Evelyn Dick might be brought to the courthouse for the third time in this trial brought the curious to Wentworth County courthouse in much increased numbers.

It was more like a morning during her own nine-day trial for husband murder. The first of the crowd was on hand at 6 a.m. By 10 a.m. an hour before court was to open the spectators were queued up before the main door to the number of 300 or so.

General feeling among them, after reading weekend stories of her refusal to testify was that today was the last chance for a look at this trial.

Re-assembly of the petit jury of a few more than 100 men meant no spectators were allowed in court for the opening of the fourth day of the trial.

Bohozuk and MacLean were brought to court in their usual style—handcuffed together and on a leash held by a policeman guard.

Proceedings in the torso trial were delayed while the 13 men of the grand jury took their places while in chambers Mr. Justice George A. Urquhart conferred with Crown Attorney Harvey McCullough; K.C.

The accused wore their handcuffs up to 11.10 a.m. when they took their place in the prisoner's bench.

Immediately the grand jury was dismissed to 10 a.m. tomorrow and the MacLean-Bohozuk jury took its place.

The prisoners were led away and the petit jury panel was asked to report again at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Mr. McCullough said he did not feel like continuing in the absence of Mr. Rigney.

Turkey Will Not Grant Russia a Share In Dardanelles Defence

Istanbul, Oct. 21 — (AP) — Turkey has served notice again that she will not grant Russia a share in defence of the Dardanelles and in effect has refused even to talk with the Soviet Union on the subject.

The Ankara government last night published its second note within two months rejecting Soviet demands that Black Sea nations alone control the strategic Strait and that Russia and Turkey join in the Dardanelles' defence.

The note voiced Turkey's willingness to take part in a many-nation conference for revision of the 1936 Montreux convention governing the Strait — a move the United States, Britain and Russia agreed upon at Potsdam. But it added:

"The work of preliminary preparations desired at Potsdam is at the present hour virtually completed, thanks to communications made by the United States and Britain to Ankara first and then by an exchange of notes concerning the same subject with Soviet Russia."

This seemed to answer Russia's proposal that bilateral Russian-Turkish conversations precede any conference with other countries on revision of the nine-power convention on the waterway linking the Black Sea and the Mediterranean.

This proposal was made Sept. 28 in the Soviet Union's second note to Turkey. The first note, dated Aug. 7, was rejected Aug. 24.

The latest Turkish reply termed joint defence of the Strait "incompatible with the unchangeable rights of the Sovereignty of Turkey and with its security, which cannot permit any restriction."

VENEZUELA HOLDS FIRST NATIONAL ELECTION OCT. 27

Vote Called First Flowering of Democracy in That Country

By E. L. ALMEN

Caracas, Venezuela, Oct. 21 — (AP) — Almost a million Venezuelians are expected to vote for a National Constituent Assembly Oct. 27 in an election hailed as the first flowering of democracy in this country.

It will be the first national election by direct vote, and women will vote for the first time.

The constituent assembly will be charged with drafting a new constitution, selecting a provisional president and setting a date for election of a constitutional president.

A free and direct national election to pick a constituent assembly was one of the first promises and made by the revolutionary junta after the brief but bloody uprising that deposed president Isaias Medina Angarita Oct. 18, 1945.

President Romulo Betancourt and other members of the junta pledged that none of them would be candidates for the constituent assembly or the presidency, and the De Facto government is putting great store upon its measures to provide an honest election accurately reflecting the will of the people.

Since the revolution, the government has been in the hands of men identified for many years with the Accion Democratica party, the group selected by army leaders of the revolution to rule pending the working out of political procedure.

Trades Union Congress Meet Opens in England

By ROBERT LLOYD

Brighton, Sussex, England, Oct. 21 — (Reuters) — India, Germany and Greece and the proposed World Federation of Trade Unions will be among the important international and colonial questions discussed at this week's Trades Union Congress conference which opens today.

The whole of Thursday, it is understood, will be devoted to these issues — the same day that Prime Minister Clement Attlee will address the conference.

Among the resolutions on international policy will be that of the Fire Brigade Union, which is strongly left wing, asking that recognition of India's rights to independence should be accompanied by freeing of India's sterling balances as a means to accelerate improvements of Indians' standard of living, and that of the Electrical Trades Union calling for condemnation of the foreign policy of Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Other resolutions will call for active support of the Colonial Trade Union Movement and for a mission of enquiry into the colonies and for larger government grants for colonial development.

WOMAN'S SCREAM ATTRACTS POLICE

Toronto, Oct. 21 —(CP)— Police last night arrested Nestor Borosowich and Ernest Cattell of Toronto on a charge of trying to snatch a purse from Lydia Gall. As a man seized her purse, Miss Gall screamed and attracted the attention of police.

SOVIET-BACKED SOCIALIST UNITY PARTY DEFEATED

Social Democratic Party Scores Smashing Victory Capturing Half Total Vote

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, Oct. 21 —(AP)— The Soviet-backed Socialist Unity Party (S.E.D.) appeared today to have been routed in Berlin's first free municipal election in 14 years, which an American Military Government official termed of continent-wide significance in the issue between eastern and western political philosophies.

Virtually complete returns from Sunday's election of municipal and borough councilmen showed the S.E.D. running a poor third in a field of four parties.

The Social Democratic Party (S.P.D.) scored a smashing victory, capturing almost half the total vote. The Christian Democratic Union (C.D.U.) was second, well ahead of the Socialist Unity Party.

With only 109 out of 2,284 precincts yet to be heard from, the vote was: Social Democrats, 948,-743; Christian Democratic Union, 4431,916; Socialist Unity Party, 383,182; Liberal Democratic Party (L.D.P.), 182,097.

This would give the Social Democrats 48.7 per cent of the total and the Socialist Union Party only 19.6 per cent.

Balloting, by straight ticket only, was heavy and orderly. There were 2,349,722 eligible voters. By 10:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m., E.S.T.), 1,945,938 valid votes had been tabulated. Void ballots then numbered 37,272.

Before the election, Lt.-Col. Louis Glaser, political affairs chief of the United States Military Government's Berlin branch, said the issue clearly lay between eastern and western political philosophies.

"Germany must ultimately make a decision in this respect," he said. "The Berlin vote, establishing such a decision, will have great influence upon the ultimate destiny of Germany and therefore upon the political destiny of Europe."

Early Voting Reported Light

Toronto, Oct 21 (CP)—Early balloting in the Toronto Parkdale Federal by-election was reported as "light" by returning officer John E. Madden as voters went to the polls today in crisp, bright Autumn weather.

The polls opened at 8 a.m. E.S.T. and Mr. Madden said the voting for the first three hours was "much more quiet" than what he expected. He added that he thought balloting would be heaviest between 4 and 6 p.m.

It was expected results from the 116 polling subdivisions in which 45,000 persons altogether are eligible to cast ballots would be known by 9 p.m.

Rifle Discharges As Hunter Leaves Boat

Peterboro, Oct. 21 — (CP) — Reg Parcels, 23, Warsaw, was shot through the shoulder Sunday when he stepped out of the boat he was beaching on Coon Lake and his .44 calibre rifle discharged. First aid was given by William and Wallace Parcels, and the injured man later was taken to the hospital. His condition is not serious.

PORT OF NEW YORK WELCOMES LINER QUEEN ELIZABETH

Planes Fly Overheard, Fireboats, Ferries And Other Craft Give Spectacular Greeting

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 21 (CP)—The H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth sailed majestically into New York today to complete her first trans-Atlantic crossing as a civilian liner. The world's largest vessel received a spectacular welcome that almost matched the tumultuous send-off given her at Southampton five days ago.

Aboard were more than 2,300 passengers. Among them were diplomats of world prominence, leaders of finance and industry, British nobility and stars of the entertainment world, all sharing the spotlight of attention on this maiden voyage of the ship with which Britain hopes to maintain her leadership on the North Atlantic travel route.

The crossing from Southampton was made in just under five days, the time from Bishop's Rock to Ambrose Light, the measured course of 3,143 miles over which North Atlantic record times are clocked, being four days, 16 hours, 18 minutes. No attempt was made to lower the record of three days, 20 hours, 42 minutes set by the Queen Elizabeth's sister-ship, the Queen Mary, in 1938.

Despite the early arrival hour, New York gave an enthusiastic "hello" to the 83,673-ton Queen Elizabeth, making her initial voyage as a luxury ship after six years' war service. Planes flew overhead, city fireboats played their streams of water high into the air and ferryboats and other harbor craft blew their whistles in a typical Manhattan welcome home as the liner made her stately way to Pier 90.

The arrival at 7.30 a.m. was made in clear weather under a coldly brilliant sun. The Queen Elizabeth made port after the threat of a general maritime strike came close to forcing a diversion to Halifax.

Molotov Most Prominent Passenger

Most prominent of the passengers and centre of speculation throughout the voyage was Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia, en route to the General Assembly of the United Nations opening in New York Wednesday and to attend next month meetings of the Big Four Foreign Ministers. With him was Andrei Vyshinsky, Deputy Foreign Minister, Dmitri Manuilsky, Foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine, and other Russian officials and officers.

Joseph Malvesi Held for Wounding Bride of 2 Months

Toronto, Oct. 21 (CP)—Joseph Malvesi, 24, is to appear in Magistrate's Court Tuesday on a charge of wounding his bride of two months—a 25-year-old Edith Malvesi from Cochrane in Northern Ontario.

Mrs. Malvesi is in hospital in critical condition.

When police were called to the Malvesi home in nearby Etobicoke early Saturday they found Mrs. Malvesi unconscious with the hammer embedded in her skull.

"It happened so quickly I didn't have time to stop them," said Malvesi's father, with whom the couple lived. Members of Malvesi's family said he had been in a nervous condition ever since his discharge from the army.

TWA Airline Pilots Ground All Planes By General Strike

90 Flights Cancelled And 3,000 Passengers Stranded

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP) — Approximately 1,400 American Federation of Labor Pilots employed by Trans World Airlines struck for higher pay today, grounding all planes on the company's United States and Trans-Atlantic routes.

More than 90 flights were cancelled, leaving an estimated 3,000 passengers temporarily stranded. In addition, the movement of 25 tons of mail was diverted to other carriers. Twa, fourth largest U.S. Air Line, operates over 28,-270 miles of routes.

The walkout—first in commercial aviation's history—started at 4:59 a.m. E.S.T. shortly thereafter, the company began cancelling domestic and Trans Atlantic flights of its giant Constellations and Skymasters.

In New York it was announced that all domestic flights of the airline have been cancelled for a 24-hour period.

The announcement said the cancellation was effective as of 5 a.m. today. It was made by a company spokesman at 8:40 a.m.

Some Lines Not Affected

Several airlines were not affected immediately. Strikers posted picket lines at Kansas City Maintenance Shops, however raising the possibility that pilots of the other airlines might not cross them.

Approximately 1,100 members of the Airlines Pilots Association (A.F.L.) were involved. The union demanded salaries ranging up to $1,187.43 monthly for first pilots.

The company made no announcement concerning Trans-Atlantic service. The only overseas flight scheduled to leave this morning was one for Paris at 10.30 E.S.T. It was postponed until 2 p.m. at which time,, the company said, it would announce whether the flight would be made or cancelled.

The announcement said the airline was accepting reservations for flights tomorrow "but only on a tentative basis." If the strike continues the cancellation procedure will be followed for every 24-hour period, it added.

Efforts were being made to shift stranded passengers to other airlines or to trains.

In an advance statement issued for release one minute after the strike deadline, David L. Behncke, union president, termed the action a "last recourse" effort to settle a wage dispute more than a year old.

Oswald Ryan, acting chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, said the possibility of government seizure of the airline would be discussed at a Board meeting today should the walkout materialize.

It was the first strike of its kind against a major airline in aviation history.

As the strike deadline arrived, national airport attaches reported no signs of any activity to indicate that the strike was on. However, there were no scheduled T. W. A. flights out of Washington between 10:45 o'clock last night and 9:45 a.m. today.

On the issue of picketing, the Union strike announcement said:

"It was speculative whether or not picketing by the pilots would go beyond the stage of token picket lines. However, if necessary, the pilots said they would establish full picket lines at all necessary strategic way points."

Tried to Avert Strike

Immediately at issue was a union demand for revision of pilots' pay schedules recommended by a presidential fact-finding board last July 7.

President Truman had set up the board two months earlier to avert a strike called against T. W. A. at that time.

The fact finding board called for a $750 increase in the $3,000 annual base pay ceiling for pilots as well as adjustments in the hourly and mileage rates for pilots of the highspeed four-engine planes used in transoceanic service.

Mr. Behncke announced in Chicago a month ago that the pilots had rejected the recommendations, which T.W.A. said it had put into effect Aug. 8.

Today Mr. Behncke reiterated a previous assertion that the new pay formula would amount to a "pay slash of as high as 24.7 per cent for some pilots" and was "12.1 per cent less than the company had already offered," presumably before the presidential board was set up.

Schedules Given

The union chief added that under the pilots "final proposals" submitted to Jack Frye, airlines president, on Saturday, first pilot pay rates would range from $1,-070.76 to $1,187.43 a month for Constellations flying a "normal" month of 18,750 miles, and from $930.31 to $1,096.98 a month for Skymaster TWA 17,600-mile monthly normal.

Mr. Frye, in his statement, had declared that the union was demanding $15,300 a year for pilots flying 20 hours a week in the four engine craft. He added that the panel's recommendations actually "resulted in pay increases up to 36 per cent for co-pilots in international services" as well as the $750 boost in basic pay and other adjustments.

T.W.A., in addition to 90 daily domestic flights, also operates passenger service to Shannon, Ireland; Paris, Geneva, Lisban, Madrid, Rome, Athens, Algiers, Tunis, Tripoli, Cairo and Dhahran Saudi Arabia.

Nine Strikes Yet Unsettled In Ontario

Toronto, Oct. 21 — (CP) — Nine strikes in industries employing 23,600 men remain to be settled in Ontario, a Canadian Press survey shows today.

Eight are in Southern Ontario industrial plants, closed since June and July, in wages - hours disputes but in all eight negotiations now under way may bring a settlement. The other strike is in Northern Ontario bush camps but its effectiveness is in dispute.

The remaining strikes:—

Electrical—Westinghouse Electric at Hamilton, 4,000 men; Amalgamated Electric, 700 men, and Canada Wire and Cable, 1,200 men, in the Toronto area. All were called by the United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.).

Rubber—Gutta Percha at Toronto, 1,000 men; Goodyear at New Toronto, 2,300; Goodrich at Kitchener, 1,000; Dominion Textile and Merchants Plants at Kitchener, 1,000 men. All called by United Rubber Workers (C.I.O.).

Other—Truscon Steel at Windsor, 400 men, called by United Auto Workers (C.I.O.).

Bush—Pulp and sawmill camps in Northern Ontario employing 12,000 men. Called by Lumber and Sawmill workers (A.F.L.). Operators, some 50 or more involved, say only small percentage of men answered strike call.

Berlin, Oct. 21 —(AP)— The American military government protested sharply to Russian authorities today over the fatal shooting of Harry D. Flory, Jr., of Pawnee City, Neb., by a Soviet military policeman in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

United States officials said they were concerned "not so much with the shooting as with the fact that an American party was molested at all in this city where there is free traverse between the occupation sectors."

Two American women employed at AMG headquarters, companions of Flory on a picture-taking jeep ride, told investigators that Flory was shot after two Russian policemen came upon the party taking pictures of landmarks in the neighborhood of Unter Den Linden.

The agents said their information was that the Russians ordered Flory to follow their police car to headquarters; that Flory turned off at an intersection and attempted to get away. They said the jeep eluded the Russians, but the driver lost his way and apparently again came upon the Russian police.

Flory was struck in the back by a bullet as a policeman fired at the speeding jeep, agents said. The women were not injured.

BELIEVED BEES GOT POLLEN MIXED

Maybe this wacky world has got the busy bee in a bit of a daze.

Miss Agnes Stapley, 91 Chatham Street, planted some mock orange in her garden last spring, and the gourds grew to maturity with some fine specimens reported.

But one was off the beaten path. The seed sprouted and grew. Under the amazed eyes of its owner it continued growing until it resembled a pumpkin some eight inches thick and eighteen inches in diameter. The freak had at its base the natural growth of the mock orange, but its upper part is that of a fully developed pumpkin.

INTERIM FORCE RECRUITING ENDED

All future army recruiting will be for the Canadian Army (Active) the Department of National Defence (Army) Ottawa, revealed today with its announcement that recruiting for the interim force was suspended last week.

There will be no change in the acceptance procedure, however, the announcement stated. It will be the same for the Active Force as for the Interim Force.

Personnel now serving in the Interim Force who have not applied for enlistment in the Active force may apply for discharge at any time or may remain in the army until September 30, 1947, when the interim service expires.

"BUD" TRILL NAMED DISTRICT GOVERNOR OF Y'S MEN

CLARENCE STEVENSON IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mr. Clarence D. Stevenson, of Wellington, Ont., former senior district fruit inspector for the Federal Department of Agriculture here, is lying seriously ill in Prince Edward County hospital, it was learned here today.

Mr. Stevenson was retired from active duty with the department this summer, retired to his home in lakeside village and spent the summer working on his farm near the village. He was stricken more or less suddenly a few days ago and immediately removed to hospital where today his condition was reported as critical.

PUPPY WEARING HARNESS IN POUND

A female black spaniel pup, wearing a harness but no tag was found wandering in the city over the weekend and is at present in the care of city poundkeeper Thomas Thorne. A black and white puppy, just plain dog, was also discovered running at large and is also in Mr. Thorne's care, and awaiting an owner.

HOCKEY MEETING TONIGHT

1945 officials of the Belleville Redmen Hockey Club and others interested in intermediate hockey are reminded that there is a meeting being held in the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock tonight. Prospects point to a good team this year and all interested are requested to turn out.

PICTON WOMAN ESCAPES INJURY

Mrs. Francis Runnells, Picton, miraculously escaped injury Sunday evening when the car in which she was riding as passenger was in sideswipe collision with a parked truck on Highway No. 14 four miles south of Belleville. The car, driven by her husband, collided with the truck which had been parked at the edge of the highway when the vehicle ran out of gasoline. Owner of the truck was Albert Vader, Bloomfield. According to Provincial Police the right side of the Runnells' car was badly damaged in the collision.

In a second accident occurring at Cannifton Sunday evening a southbound car driven by Leo Hamilton, Station Street, was in collision with a truck driven by Gordon Latchford, with both vehicles being considerably damaged. The Latchford truck was stated to have been emerging from a sideroad when the accident occurred.

BELLEVILLE PAPER LIKE LETTER FROM HOME

Mrs. Chas. Wickens has returned to her home near Frankford after spending the summer in Alberta, with her sister, Mrs. Allen Hailstone and Mr. Hailstone of Airways. While there she enjoyed a trip to the coast, but thinks Ontario is the best after all and the Belleville paper was like a letter from home.

Father Mackey Going to India As Missionary

The Rev. Father W. J. Mackey, S. J., who spoke at all masses celebrated at the church of St. Michael the Archangel, last Sunday, is one of five Canadian Jesuit fathers who will leave shortly for India where they will take up missionary work.

Father Mackey will be stationed at first at Calcutta Mission which is bordered on the south by the Bay of Bengal and on the north by Tibet. Burma lies immediately to the east.

He hopes to eventually enter Nepal, a native independent state which has never permitted a foreigner to cross its borders.

Father Mackey is a graduate of Loyola College, Montreal, where he starred in athletics. He played hockey for his college and also starred for three years on the Shamrock lacrosse squad in the Quebec Amateur Lacrosse Association.

Holloway Street U.C. Observes Anniversary

Holloway Street United Church was well-filled for both morning and evening services on Sunday as anniversary services were held with Rev. C. D. McLellan, B.A., B.D., of Napanee as the anniversary preacher. Mr. McLellan is chairman of Belleville Presbytery

Speaking on present day world conditions the guest minister chose "The Church has the Answer" as the topic for his morning sermon, while in the evening he outlined to his congregation Christianity as being a glorious adventure.

Special music prepared by the church choir under the direction of Mrs. F. Houston as choir leader, was one of the highlights of the anniversary services. Anthem for the morning service was "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" (Stainer) with Mr. W. B. Vandervoort singing the solo part, while soloist was Miss Margaret Houston, who sang "O Divine Redeemer" (Gounod). Also at the morning service the junior choir sang "The Heavens Are Telling".

"O For a Closer Walk With God" (Foster) was the evening anthem with Miss Houston singing the solo part. Guest soloist for the evening was Mr. J. Bankier who sang an appropriate Thanksgiving number "Thanks", (O'Hara). Mr. Bankier also assisted in a duet number "Jesu Priceless Treasure" (Roberts) with Ronald Elmy and Douglas Warham. William Connor acted as organist.

The church was appropriately decorated for the anniversary with colorful Autumn leaves forming a contrasting background for baskets of glads and 'mums from the floral garden of Mr. J. Livesey who was responsible for the decorations.

TWO ARE INJURED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Struck down by a passing truck as they were walking on No. 14 Highway in the village of Rossmore two pedestrians were rushed to the Belleville hospital Saturday evening, one of them suffering from serious injuries. The injured were Mrs. Mulholland, Foster Ave., and D. Hall.

According to Provincial Constable Sam Ervine the man and woman were walking south on the highway with the traffic when they were struck by a southbound truck driven by John Goodman of Carrying Place.

Mrs. Mulholland suffered from facial and leg cuts and possible fractured ribs, while Mr. Hall sustained facial injuries.

Hyde, president of the Ladies' Association of Belleville, Dr. Russell Scott, first vice president of the Belleville Association, Mr. Fred Wilson, M. P. P. for West Hastings and Mr. Roscoe Robson, M.P.P. for East Hastings.

A brief address was given by Mrs. Goodman, an English war bride, who was introduced by Mrs. A. Mitchell.

Favored with Solo

Miss Freda Mitchell favored with a piano solo. Mr. Fred Wilson spoke briefly and introduced Major Eddie Goodman, who spoke on organization work of a Young Canada Club.

Mrs. Chas. Hyde and Dr. Scott each spoke and wished the Thurlow Club every success.

Mrs. Percy Sprackett gave a reading which was enjoyed. Mr. Roscoe Robson gave a short address and introduced Mr. John Hilton of Toronto who was guest speaker for the evening. It was his purpose to help organize a Young Canada Club. He urged the young folk of the township to start a club and asked them to come to the front of the hall after the meeting closed.

Vote of Thanks

Mr. E. Post, Reeve of Huntingdon and First Vice President of the East Hastings Association, gave a short talk. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Clinton Townsend and seconded by Mr. Herb Scollan to all who took part in the evening's program. Also a motion of appreciation was moved by Mr. Fred Mitchell seconded by Mr. Frank Hicks to Clinton Townsend for the efficient way he carried on the work of the Association for the past year. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which refreshments were served by the ladies.

The results for the organization of young people held at conclusion of the meeting were: — Miss Audrey Robson, president; Miss Irene Ketcheson, secretary and Mr. Carman Dafoe, treasurer, who were temporarily elected till after a meeting to be held in November.

East Ont. Apple Crop Estimated At 202,000 Barrels

Officials of the fruit division, Department of Agriculture, here today estimated the Eastern Ontario apple crop at 202,000 barrels. "This," they said, "was 17,000 barrels higher than the August estimate, but 30 per cent less than the five-year average."

The Durham county crop is estimated at 97,000 barrels while that of Northumberland, Prince Edward, Hastings and the St. Lawrence Valley is figured at 105,000 barrels.

The heaviest yields of the district are said by officials to be in the St. Lawrence Valley and in the vicinity of Newcastle, Ont.

Officials pointed out that the above figures are estimates only, and will in all probability be substantially increased.

VENZUELA HOLDS

A Liberal party which claims wide popular support, Accion Democratica is regarded as the favorite to capture a plurality, if not a majority, of the constituent assembly seats. It is grooming the well known poet, Romulo Gallegos, as constitutional president.

The Union Republicana Democratica generally is considered the government party's greatest threat. It emerged after the Revolution and perhaps is more nearly identified with Accion Democratica in political ideology than with any other party. Its leader is Jovito Villalba, a lawyer.

The Communist party is the 3rd principal political troup ranged on the left. Active and vocal, the Communists seem to have gained a large following in the urban areas but their overall strength is unknown.

The Conservatives are grouped mainly in the Comite de Organization Electoral Independinte which is attacked by all other parties as the reactionary group in Venezuela.

PORT OF NEW YORK

For travellers leaving the austerity of Britain, the voyage provided an interlude of unreality. Many Britons aboard had not enjoyed for more than seven years the rich table fare, the nightclub atmosphere and luxurious surroundings provided on the Queen Elizabeth and frankly aimed at attracting the dollars Britain needs in her post-war recovery.

Pre-war customs of dressing for dinner and programs of nightly dances, movies and other entertainment were restored on the North Atlantic run as the Queen Elizabeth, virtually a floating hotel, plowed her way to New York. Despite the 14 bars open almost 24 hours a day and the various other attractions aboard ship, the passenger could, and sometimes did, with an effort reach the open decks to see the sea.

Interested in Big Liner

For Mr. Molotov and Mr. Vyshinsky, the voyage was their first aboard a large liner. Both were extremely interested in the operation of the 1,031-foot vessel and twice were on the bridge as guests of the captain, Commodore Sir James Bisset. For the benefit of photographers Mr. Molotov took the wheel for a few moments Saturday.

The Russian party occupied main-deck suites running after from M68, the room occupied by Princess Elizabeth during the liner's trials in the Firth of Clyde Oct. 8. For M68, occupied by Mr. Vishinsky, and M70, allotted to Mr. Molotov, the fare was $1,013. Fare in other cabins occupied by other members of the party were additional.

A party of 65 British and American and one Canadian newspapermen reported the ship's progress across the Atlantic.

In summing up the trip, Sir James said:

"She performed beautifully. Just like a sewing machine."

TROOPS RUSHED

No estimates of killed or wounded were possible because the disturbed area was "closed both to the public and the government."

He said refugees told of killing, looting, burning, forcible conversion and "abduction of women for forcible marriage." He advised the people to organize to defend themselves.

He was informed, he said, that bands were making raids in tactical fashion under the leadership of ex-soldiers.

Sir Frederick and his Moslem chief minister, Sir Hassan Suhrawardy, were in Chittagong after a trip through the disturbed districts.

Further Embarrassed

The interim government was embarrassed further when Ghazanfar Ali Khan, a Moslem League minister in the government, said in Lahore that he and his colleagues were taking part "to get a foothold and fight for our cherished goal of Pakistan" — A separate Moslem state, opposed by the Congress party.

The trouble was reported to have started Oct. 10 in the Noakhale district of half-wild swamp and rice lang in the Ganges and Brahmaputra River delta above the Bay of Bengal.

Hindu leaders say privately that Moslem fanatics started the riots in retaliation for last summer's Calcutta violence, which was fatal to more than 4,000, with Moslem casualties reported in the majority.

Kinsmen Club Completes Plans For Variety Show

Final arrangements for the Kinsmen Club Variety Show scheduled for Wednesday night at the Capitol Theatre have now been made and a top ranking stage show and quizz program is promised. Tickets for the show may be had at the Capitol Theatre or from any member of the Kinsmen Club.

Featured on the program will be Miss Rose Zocanno, one of the leading sopranos with the Philadelphia Opera Company. She will sing two numbers which are certain to meet with the approval of her audience.

Adding variety to the show will be Lou Skuse with his cartoonograph, while Jack McLean will offer a fast moving comedy act including clever impersonations and vocal numbers.

The Rhythm Ranch Riders, heard nightly over Station CJBQ will also be heard on the program which will be rounded out by a song and dance team and a quizz show featuring local contestants.

All in all the show promises to be one of the season's treats in entertainment, the net proceeds being earmarked for welfare work of the Kinsmen Club. No seats for the show will be reserved so patrons are advised to be on hand early.

Fewer Women Than in 1944 Seeking Offices in Coming Elections

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Oct. 21 (CP) — Women may or may not be losing interest in politics but it is a significant fact that only 27 women are among the 1,072 candidates in the Congressional and Governorship elections to be held November 5 — nine less than in 1944.

Miss Marion E. Martin, director of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, said "the pressure for filling men's shoes isn't so great now that the veterans are returning."

And Mrs. India Edwards, women's publicity director for the Democratic party, said the decrease in candidates had no significance. "Women are more active than ever before," she said and Miss Martin agreed.

Twenty-six of the women candidates face contests. The Maine advance elections returned Republican Margaret Chase Smith to the House of Representatives in September.

There will be 22 women on the ballots for the House of Representatives and three for the Senate which has not had a woman member since Hattie Carraway retired in the 1944 elections.

These include ten Democrats, four Republicans and eight minor party candidates for the House and three minor party candidates for the Senate.

Five of the six women Democrats in the present House of Representatives are in the running. The sixth, Jane Pratt of North Carolina, did not offer for re-election.

Three of the five Republican incumbents are running. The two who did not seek nomination are Clare Luce, Connecticut, and Jessie Sumner of Illinois.

The five Democrat incumbents seeking re-election are Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas of California; Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse of Connecticut; Helen Douglas Mankin of Georgia; Emily Taft Douglas of Illinois and Mary T. Norton of New Jersey.

The Republican incumbent candidates are Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith (already elected in Maine); Mrs. Edith Mourse Rogers, Massachusetts, and Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio.

Democrat newcomers are Margaret A. Afflis, Indiana; Martha Sharp, Massachusetts; Mrs. Georgia Lusk, New Mexico; Josephine U. Mayes, New York and Olive Goldman, Illinois.

22 Fatalities In East Canada During Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

The number of persons killed in accidents in Eastern Canada during the weekend was reported as 22 it was shown in a survey by The Canadian Press.

Greatest number of accidental deaths occurred in the Montreal area, where 13 persons lost their lives, three of them in a single automobile crash. Altogether car accidents claimed 11 lives; two persons were drowned; three were killed in hunting accidents; three died in fires; one was killed in a fall from a ladder; one was electrocuted following a fall to the pavement and one died.

L. P. Legare, 43, his wife, Jeanne, 42, of Longeuil, Que., and Marcel Cordeau, 24, all died Saturday night when a car driven by Legar, crashed into a truck loaded with apples on the St. Hubert Chambly highway outside Montreal.

Other highway fatalities included: Harris Menard, 36, at Drummondville, Que.; Philip Kassoff, 39, near Montreal; Rudy Pensky, 10, at a railway crossing near Ste. Anne De Bellevue, when her father's car was struck by a freight train; Mrs. Marjorie E. Shannon, at London, Ont.; Miss Daisy Dunk, 59, at Hamilton; Clarence Meechan, 43, at Long Branch, outside Toronto; John Murphy, 12, at Ludlow, N. B., and Louis Andrews, 48, in an automobile truck collision near Sydney, N.S.

Two Burned to Death

Two of those burned to death were Gillies and Yvon Nadeau, 3½ and 2½, when fire destroyed their home at Sorel, Que., Sunday. Five other children scrambled to safety in the blaze. The other fatality was eight-months-old Rita Beauchamin, at St. Adele, Que.

At Oshawa, the body of Neil Campbell, 71, missing since Oct. 3, was recovered from the harbor, and at St. Peter's, N. S., Richard F. Fraser, Boston, Mass., merchant seaman, was drowned when a sailboat capsized.

The three persons killed as a result of hunting accidents were: Montcalm Leblanc, 24, at St. Julienne, Que.; Rene Prevost, 23, near Mont Rolland, Que.; and Lynus Sullivan, 12, at Calumet Island, Que. Sullivan was killed by a stray bullet which first passed through and killed a deer.

When he touched an overhead wire in the Montreal port district, Edward F. Murphy, 41, was electrocuted Saturday. Another Montreal death was that of Sam Brandis, 55, as a result of a 20-foot fall from a ladder.

After falling on the pavement near his home outside Toronto, John P. Raymer, six, suffered a brain hemorrhage and died as he was being put to bed at night.

CBC'S HANDBOOK GIVES POINTERS TO ANNOUNCERS

Stresses Announcer's Responsibility in Ensuring Success of Programs by Intelligent Handling

By EDGAR SIMON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Any radio program, station or network can be no better than its announcer. The most nervous and inexperienced artist can be steadied and encouraged by alert and tactful handling. The best material can be ruined by an inept introduction. And especially in the commercial field the most skilfully written spot announcement is entirely dependent on the man who reads it.

Acutely conscious of the announcer's responsibilities, the CBC has published a handbook for the guidance of its staff which makes good reading for people interested in radio and is of special value to anyone connected with the industry.

For the purposes of the handbook, an announcer's natural gifts are secondary. General intelligence, mode of delivery and speech habits are most heavily stressed. An extensive glossary of pronunciation of English words, including place-names, is appended.

"The reputation of any broadcasting station depends greatly upon the announcer's voice, attitude and personality," the booklet says. "He must always show confidence and conviction in his manner of delivery and must therefore have some knowledge of what he is talking about.

To keep abreast of developments in such diverse fields as sport, music, literature and current affairs he must be a man of wide general culture, widely read and with the necessary personal contacts to keep himself informed.

Style and approach vary with the type of program. While every announcer has a natural preference for some types of entertainment, lack of interest should never be apparent in his handling of any program.

The CBC does not claim to set any rigid standard of speech. The handbook advocated a liberal philosophy of languages, recognizing any style of cultivated English and requiring only that an announcer's speech be free from "such marked peculiarities of local dialect as might make it unpleasant to the majority of listeners."

Promising Winnipeg musicians are getting a chance for recognition of their talents on a Sunday-evening program on Station CJOB entitled "Stars of the Future". The station holds auditions every Saturday during which one vocal and one instrumental artist are selected to appear on the following day's program.

The series will run for 26 weeks, after which cash prizes will be awarded to the best two competitors in each division. Three adjudicators have been chosen to make the awards.

Saturday night is hockey night again across Canada as Foster Hewitt returned to the CBC's Trans-Canada network Oct. 19 to broadcast Toronto Maple Leafs' opening home game against Detroit Red Wings. Wes McKnight, Elmer Ferguson, Hal Cotton and Bobby Hewitson will hold their usual "Hot Stove League" sessions between periods.

Plan to Restore Franklin House

London, (CP)—The British Society for International Understanding has launched an appeal for funds to restore its headquarters, the Craven Street house where Benjamin Franklin lived from 1757 to 1775.

Named "Benjamin Franklin House", the building is the last surviving home of Franklin while he was London agent of Pennsylvania, Georgia, New Jersey and Massachusetts. The society terms it "a unique symbol of British-American solidarity."

Windows were broken during the blitz; ceilings were brought down but the foundations, walls and beautiful panelling are not damaged.

Trafalgar Anniversary

The anniversary of Trafalgar, October 21st., 1805, has come around and Canadians can look back on the years of the Second World War in which this country was able to do a great world service with her navy and her merchant marine. What Canada was able to accomplish is the proof of the determined character and will to defend freedom which the Canadian people showed in those years of the greatest danger to world democracy. This has given this nation a proud place before the world for she was linked with Britain and the United States in the greatest sea efforts ever put into force and carried to successful conclusion in the frustration of the Nazis' desperate drive to destroy the great sea lanes which had so great a part in saving the world from Nazism. Only last week the Admiralty and the Air Ministry of Britain gave the official count of war against the bitter fight of the German U-boats. 781 German submarines were sunk, this total showing the desperate character of the war that the Germans set loose to try and crush the Allied strength upon the seas and oceans. That report also showed that 69 per cent of Allied tonnage was lost through the U-boats, and that they sank 2,775 merchantmen of about fourteen and a half million gross tons. 54 per cent of these losses were British, the account states.

In that hard-fought fight on the seas, to British and Commonwealth navies and merchant ships and their crews and to American ships and their men the world owes in great part the freedom it now has with the enemy crushed and with the opportunity to construct an era of peace in which freedom will not be subject to attack.

Lord Nelson at Trafalgar saw the supreme importance of maintaining the freedom of the seas. The inspiration of his great service to Britain and through her to the freedom-loving nations is still felt and his famous battle message at Trafalgar was answered again in the great naval and merchant marine services which the British, Americans, Canadians and other peoples were able to render the United Nations to bring it victory over the Axis.

Good News

It is good news to the Canadian people that across Canada the new Savings Bonds are selling well, so well that officials at National Headquarters are said to be surprised. It is a proof of the fact that the value of government bonds has come home to every Canadian, one of the lessons the late war taught, and it appears to be a lesson that will not be forgotten. It had often been said that it would be an ideal condition if the nation's bonds were held by many people. That is what is coming to pass. Canadians in ever growing numbers will want government securities because acquiring them will be a means of saving and of increasing their interest in national affairs.

It was a fortunate step that was taken to make possible the Canada Savings Bonds to take the place of Victory Bonds and Certificates. Before the period is over during which the present sale goes on, not only officials but Canadians themselves will be surprised to know how many have taken the opportunity to add to their holding of Victory Bonds, a good and substantial amount of Savings Bonds. The success so far proves the wisdom of the Canadian people.

Sight-Saving School

"Blackboards" of ground glass in dark green and primrose yellow are being used in Sydney's (Australia) first "sight-saving" school, opened a few weeks ago. The school has been established by the Education Department, says Australian News Weekly Newsletter.

Sixteen children, ager from nine to 13, are enrolled, selected after an Education Department survey in the metropolitan area. All have defective eyesight—either myopia, hypermetropia, astigmatism, nystagmus (oscillating eyeballs), or cataracts.

Special fluorescent lighting is installed, and the pupils work at adjustable desks, which enables them to get close to their work, or away from it, as necessary. The work is set approximately at right angles with their line of vision—the best position for both vision and posture. Blue chalk is used on the primrose "blackboards" and yellow chalk on the green, to avoid shine and aid clarity of vision.

History, geography, and English lessons are mostly verbal, and as much oral work as possible is given to avoid over-use of eyes.

The sight school is an ideal which, it is believed, has not been adopted in other parts of the world. It is not only a matter of preserving existing eyesight of these children, but of completely restoring it, as far as it is possible to do so.

Apples and Their Uses

Apples this autumn have been much more prominent than they were a year ago, which was known as the year of a small crop. Offerings have been large for weeks past.

The apple is the most widely grown fruit of the temperate zone. In Canada the 1943 crop was worth $16,569,000 out of the total production from fruit trees of $22,891,000 and out of $30,841,000 of the combined fruit tree and small fruits production of that year.

A writer in the New York Times says "there are three times when apples themselves are superlatively good. One is when a young man climbs a forbidden tree at risk of discovery and fills his pockets with astrachans that are just beginning to red up; a second is when a fruit such as August Sweet or McIntosh is dead ripe on the bough; the third is in late winter when the countrymen bring up a bowlful of crisp, cold, wrinkled-skinned Northern Spies, Russets or Rhode Island Greenings. But when it comes to applesauce there's only a brief interlude when it can be a perfect concoction. That's the period when the fruit is fully mature, but before the seeds have begun to turn black. . . . It is a deplorable state of affairs that people do not know applesauce at its best. With approximately 2,000 named varieties of the family Malaceae, there's no excuse for the lackadaisical interest in this food than there is for people to eat squash pie unless it has maple flavoring. A man concedes there is room for difference of opinion regarding apple varieties. Some prefer the tartness of Fameuse, Baldwin, Snow Apple, Chenango or Jonathan; others favor the bland mildness of Northern Spy, Oswego, Winter Pippin, Maiden Blush, Victuals and Drink, Seneca Favorite or Bottle Greening. A few know the deliciousness of Porters, Fullerton-Sweets, Summer Bellflower and Sweet Bought."

The New York Times writer goes on in praise of applesauce: "Good cooks know the four secrets of making applesauce: not too much water, not too much cooking, not too much sweetening, a smidgen of cinnamon and a whiffle of salt as the sauce begins to bubble. Applesauce is superlative when hot and the fragrant spicy steam titivates a man's nostrols; it's a bit more than superlative when cold and matched with a big square of hot gingerbread. Applesauce is a food. It's also the distilled essence of summer's sunshine and rain, and autumn's clear days and frosty starlit nights."

A word of praise for apple cider is in place at this season when there is almost a touch of frost in the air at this time and when the cider mills grind out that brown October liquid, cider. Much of this is offered and sold, so popular is it.

It is more like an autumn season when there are apples aplenty. Last year they were greatly missed. This year they are familiar sights on markets and in shops. Canadians have always been used to the apple and the apples too have earned a high name abroad among the people of Britain.

Fire and sword are but slow engines of destruction in comparison with the babbler.—Steele.

TULIP PLANTER

I passed a row of dwellings small
The war had left behind.
"Cheap, dismal places, one and all!"
Went flashing through my mind.

But one was kept with tender care,
The patch of lawn was trim,
And some man's wife was planting there
A bit of charm for him.

Love brightens places bleak and bare
With many a pretty thing;
And so there will be tulips there,
Red tulips, in the spring.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

What makes a waltzing mouse waltz?

The waltzing mouse is not an ordinary mouse that dances. It is a member of a rare domesticated breed, supposedly of Japanese origin, that has the habit of suddenly interrupting what it is doing and spinning around rapidly on end like a top.

Some waltzers appear to be unable to progress in a straight course but whirl about in small circles continually.

It is generally supposed that unknown defect of anatomy, perhaps a fault in the labyrinth of the ears that interfers with the mouse's sense of equilibrium. Whatever the cause the dancing characteristic is transmitted in the breed according to the Mendelian laws of heredity and waltzing mice are produced by selective breeding.

What is the Nordic theory?

"Nordic" is derived from Scandinavian "nord," meaning "north," and was applied by Joseph Deniker (1852-1918), French anthropologist and ethnographer, to a race of tall, blond, blue-eyed people who once inhabited northwestern Europe. The ancient Goths, for instance, were Nordics.

Some authorities believe that races of the original Nordic language survives in such words as English "wife" and "house," which are not found in Indo-European language outside the Teutonic group.

Popularly "Nordic" has been extended to embrace all the Germanic or Teutonic peoples. The "Nordic theory" is that people of Nordic descent are the most highly developed branch of the white race and superior biologically, intellectually and morally to all other races. This notion was foreshadowed in "The Goths in New England" (1843) by George P. Marsh, Congressman, diplomat and scholar, who attributed the intellectual and moral virtues of the Anglo-Saxons to the Gothic strain in their blood.

What percent of North American rivers flow south?

About 95 percent of all rivers in North America flow south, in a southerly direction or into streams that flow southward. The St. Johns in Florida is the only important river wholly within the United States whose course is in a northerly direction throughout. The Red River of the North rises in Lake Traverse on the Minnesota-South Dakota border and flows into Lake Winnipeg in Canada. A number of rivers, such as the Mongongahela, the Tennessee, the Big Horn, the Montana and the Powder rivers, flow northward for part of their courses.

Hon. P.J.A. Cardin, Former Cabinet Minister, Dies

Sorel, Que., Oct. 21 — (CP) — Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, 67, a leading figure in Quebec politics since the times of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, died last night of complications that followed a heart attack Sept. 29.

His death opens up the House of Commons seat of Richelieu-Vercheres, which he held for 35 years, and closes a political career that bridged the two wars.

Mr. Cardin was three times a minister in the Liberal governments of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and, after the death of Ernest Lapointe, the prime minister considered him his oldest cabinet colleague.

However, opposition to compulsory military service overseas led to Mr. Cardin's resignation from the cabinet in May, 1942. Although he campaigned for an affirmative vote in the plebiscite on compulsory service, he opposed extension of this service to overseas army, feeling compulsory duty overseas was not warranted by the military situation.

Mr. Cardin was a young lawyer of 32 when he first was elected to the House of Commons in the 1911 election which saw the defeat of the Laurier government on the reciprocity issue. In 1924 he was appointed minister of marine and fisheries, a portfolio he resumed in the second King administration beginning in 1926. After the Liberals returned to power in 1935 he became minister of public works and five years later added the transport ministry to his responsibilities.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at the Church of St. Pierre De Sorel. Mr. Cardin was predeceased by his wife, and leaves a brother and two sisters.

WAR WORKERS HELP NURSES

London, (CP) —Women war workers in Gambia, West Africa, have decided to donate £100 ($400) to the Medical Department to be used as a permanent memorial to their war work. The money is to be used to provide a silver medal to be presented annually to the best nurse qualifying in each year.

The medal is to be inscribed and known as "The Gambia Women War Workers Memorial Medal." A new medal will be presented each year and it will become the property of the nurse to whom it is awarded.

This is the first annual prize of its kind to be awarded to nurses training in the Gambia, and it is a fitting memorial to the work of the Women War Workers.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR CATS

IKE'S EXPOSURE

I was a buck private in the other war, infantry, 89th. Division. During October and November up to the armistice we lived exclusively in holes in the ground. Sometimes we would have a day without rain and our leggings would get dry down to halfway between knees and ankles. Temperature was near freezing most of the time. Yet not a man in the company had a cold. Then when the war ended we moved into houses and truckloads of doughnuts, chocolate, candy and such stuff, all and more than we could eat. Within two weeks nearly everybody had a cold. I didn't stop coughing for several months. Ike's "exposure", (My Three Years with Eisenhower) would seem to have been about the same as any civilian banker experiences almost any day in the fall, winter or spring. (H.M.)

I suppose the diehards would dismiss your experience, H. M., with a shrug—and the explanation that your "resistance" had not been "lowered" by the wet and cold in the trenches until you got back to nice warm comfortable quarters and close contact with all the other people there. There is no satisfactory answer for that one, because nobody knows what "resistance" is, if anything, other than specific immunity, and of course the old fogies do not mean that.

The mother of two young school children is active in the Parent-Teacher Association, and she thinks it would be a long step in the prevention of contagious disease among the children if they could be impressed with the importance of covering mouth and nose with handkerchief or hand when coughing or sneezing. This mother is aware that most absence is due to the respiratory infections—she doesn't so describe them, but she mentions several, such as measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, flu.

Twenty years ago there was a good deal of effort on the part of health authorities and school teachers to impress that very thing upon children—to cover coughs and sneezes always, for any one who coughs or sneezes without holding handkerchief or hand over mouth and nose is not only impolite but a menace to people who happen to be within range of the cough or sneeze spray, droplets of which, even though too fine to see or feel, may nevertheless contain the germs or virus of one or another respiratory infections. Besides the diseases mentioned by the P.T.A. member, the common respiratory infections, all spread in the same way, are tuberculosis, pneumonia, smallpox, chickenpox, eidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis, infantile paralysis. This is not to imply that these diseases do not spread by other routes, but in most cases all of them probably spread most frequently via mouth and nose, cough, sneeze, conversation spray—don't take my word for it, consult any modern textbook of preventive medicine.

The best way to teach school children—if not their parents — how three-fourths of all the illness in the community happens (U.S. Public Health Service survey showed that three fourths of the illness attended by physicians was due to the Common Respiratory Infections (cri or C-R-I, pronounced Kree, for short) — is by introducing the plan that was successfully followed in a public school in New Jersey (I regret I can't find the name of the school, though I mentioned it a few times in this column.) Whenever a pupil—or the teacher—had any sign or symptom of the cri, no matter how slight, he or she immediately donned a mask and wore it constantly while in the school.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Saccharin

Please inform me whether it is harmful for an adult, who is not diabetic, to use an average of one grain of saccharin a day for sweetening tea or coffee? (J. H. M.)

Answer — Up to five grains of saccharin a day is harmless for anybody.

Cooked Egg

Please inform me whether cooked egg or raw egg is more digestible. (H. S.)

Enswer—Cooked. Part of raw egg albumen or white is not readily assimilated, cooking makes it more assimilable. However, this is of minor significance. Eggs raw or cooked as you prefer are most digestible for you.

G.; Lindsay Mumby, I.G.; Clinton Lough, O.G.

25-Year Jewel Presented.

At this meeting a 25-year jewel was presented to Past Grand M. R. Neal from the lodge, the presentation being made by District Deputy Clayton Burkitt, D.D. G.M. Burkitt presented to the Springbrook Lodge a members' register which was gratefully acknowledged.

Fifty-year members of the order, Thomas Spry of Stirling, and James Barlow, of Havelock, gave short addresses and spoke of the excellent manner in which the visitors did their work in the installation ceremony.

A splendid lunch was served at the close of the session and an old fashioned "sing song" was enjoyed by all.

A large number of visitors were present from neighboring lodges, Stirling, Havelock, Campbellford, etc. Rev. Bro. Maxwell of Campbellford, Past Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, gave a short, but forceful address.

The National Anthem closed a very pleasant evening.

WEDDINGS

GEEN—SNARR

At three o'clock on the afternoon of October 12, a very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Stephen's United Church, Hoard's, when Rev. P. J. Lambert, B.A., B.D., united in marriage Annie Marie Snarr second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey Snarr, and Harold Reginald Geen, son of Mrs. Murney Geen and the late Mr. Murney Geen, of Thomasburg.

Entering the church to the strains of bridal music played by Miss Mildred Heagle, the bride, given in marriage by her father, looked very lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk jersey, with a finger-tip veil falling gracefully from a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore lace gloves and carried an arm bouquet of red roses. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls.

Miss Phyllis Snarr was her sister's only attendant, in a floor-length gown of heavenly blue sheer, with finger-tip veil falling from a flower headdress. She carried an arm bouquet of blue, pink and white baby mums.

Mr. Donald Geen assisted his brother as groomsman, and the ushers were Messrs. Ray Geen and Gordon Snarr.

During the ceremony a small white Bible was presented to the bride, since she is the first to be married in this church in 75 years While the register was being signed, Miss Mina Dracup sang "O, Perfect Love".

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Snarr received the guests in a gown of green brocaded crepe, with beige accessories, and wearing a corsage of cream and yellow roses. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a black suit, with matching hat and accessories. Her corsage was of mauve and cream gladioli. The tea room was decorated in a color scheme of pink and white, the bride's table being centred with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by tall pink tapers in crystal holders. Six friends of the bride served the guests under the supervision of Miss Mildred Heagle.

After their return Mr. and Mrs. Geen will reside in Thomasburg.

VANDERBECK—NORMAN

Picton,—In the rectory of St. Gregory's R.C. church Saturday morning, the marriage took place of Geraldine J., deughter of R. Gerald Norman, Picton, and Arthur Henry Vanderbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vanderbeck, Barrie. Rev. L. B. Garvin officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece frock of powder blue wool, fashioned with fitted bodice and draped pockets, black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. She was attended by Mrs. William Norman, Toronto.

Mr. Norman, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

A wedding breakfast was served at 'Maple Inn'.

For a trip to Limberlost in the Muskoka district, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of grey wool with pastel pink blouse and black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbeck will reside in Potsdam, N.Y.

WHITEHEAD—JOBSON

Pointe Anne United Church was made unusually attractive Saturday afternoon with baskets of Autumn flowers and ferns, colorful Autumn leaves and an evergreen arch, for the marriage of Margaret Jobson, daughter of Mrs. Shields and the late Mr. John Jobson, of Gosforth, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and Jack Douglas Whitehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whitehead, Point Anne, with Rev. O. Wagar performing the nuptial ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Fred Whitehead, made a charming picture in a gown of ivory crepe ,designed with sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves, and carrying a bouquet of red roses and baby breath.

The bridesmaid, Miss Betty Doxtator, wore a gown of pale blue, with shoulder length veil falling from a flowered headdress and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Misses Diana and Janet Whitehead, nieces of groom, as flower girls, wore blue and rose colored dresses respectively, with matching Dutch hats of lace, and carried nosegays of assorted flowers.

Mr. Arthur Whitehead, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsman, and the ushers were Messrs. Chas. Wedden and Albert Whitehead.

Mrs. Doxtator presided at the organ, playing "Whispering Hope" and "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where Mrs. Whitehead received in a two-piece dress of navy crepe, with matching accessories, and wearing a corsage of pink roses.

For travelling to Toronto, the bride donned a two-piece suit of turquoise blue with navy accessories.

Out-of-town guests were from Toronto, Glen Ross and Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead will later take up residence in Point Anne.

CLARKE—KOURI

Marmora.—On Saturday afternoon, October 12, the marriage of Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kouri, of Marmora, and Albert John Clarke, of Toronto, took place at St. Andrew's United Church, with Rev. E. M. Cadigan officiating. Mrs. Lott was at the organ and during the signing of the register, Mrs. L. R. Rundle sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of blue wool with small black hat. Her bridesmaid was her sister, Georgina, who wore a suit of lime green wool and black accessories. Both wore corsages of roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held and wedding dinner was served in the church hall. The bride's mother received in a gown of grey crepe with black hat and accessories and wore a corsage of roses.

After a short honeymoon the couple will take up residence in Toronto.

Youth Sunday At Christ Church

Children and their parents filled Christ Church auditorium Sunday morning for the observance of Children's Day and Youth Sunday. The Wolf Cubs, Boy Scouts, Brownies and Girl Guides of the parish attended the service in a body, when the lessons were read by two Sunday School superintendents, Messrs. George Meades and Oliver Owen. A pair of handsome Union Jacks were presented for dedication by the Cubs and Scouts, the color parties consisting of Akala, Mrs. M. Kemp; Senior Sixer Gerald Cousins, Sixer Robert Owen, Cub Bob Moore; Scout Master J. Spencer, Patrol Leader K. Moore, Assistant Patrol Leader Bill Miller and Scout Don Kellaway. The Guide company was in charge of Guide Captain Arlie Gilbert, while the Brownies were led by Brown Owl, Thelma Hodges.

In his sermon the rector, Rev. J. Grant Sparling, likened the Church to our Heavenly Father's living-room, where His family gathers before the fireplace. The altar was the fireplace, with the fire of God's love burning; the Cross the time piece which tells of the eternity of God's love; the stained glass windows, the pictures of important people in the family, with the most important portrait of all being right over the fireplace,—i.e., the picture of Jesus Christ, our Founder, wearing the garb of "The Good Shepherd."

Holy Communion Celebrated.

Earlier in the morning Holy Communion was celebrated, attended by the teachers and officers of both schools. At the breakfast meeting which followed, Mr. "Ted" Follwell was presented with a handsome gift in recognition of his work as Sunday School Superintendent. The Rev. Everett P. Smith in making the presentation, spoke enthusiastically of Mr. Follwell's efficient service.

At Evensong, emphasis was placed upon the place of "Youth" in the church. The first lesson was read by Vera Flindall and the second by Gordon Legate. In a ceremony of initiation a number of new members were admitted to the Senior Branch of the A.Y.P.A., with Lloyd Gladwell explaining clearly the aims and objects of the Young People's Association.

In his sermon Mr. Sparling spoke on "The Organized Life," saying in part: "This is the life of power. The world needs people of spiritual power today, and youth is urged to accept and use this as the rule of life." The music for the day was in charge of Mr. Kaye Martin, assisted by Arthur Simpson. The flowers on the altar were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkins and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Youker.

At the conclusion of the evening service a Youth Fireside Hour was conducted in the Parish Hall, with Ed. Waterhouse in charge, assistance being given by Miss Eliza Bell, elocutionist, and Messrs. "Bill" Navin and Kaye Martin as pianists.

504 BUSHELS OF SPUDS GROWN TO THE ACRE

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 21—(CP) — They grow mighty big spuds in these parts, and they grow a lot of them to the acre, too. Jack Keating, of Laird township won the local Bushel Club contest with a yield of 504 bushels of potatoes to the acre, the first time in the history of the contest that anyone has produced more than 500 bushels an acre.

Women's Activities

CENTENARY W.M.S.

Centenary. — Mrs. Dave Thrasher opened her home for the October meeting of the W.M.S. on Thursday. There were 17 members and two visitors present. Mrs. B. Roblin, the president, presided over the devotional period and short business session.

A motion was passed appointing Mrs. D. Holton to act as Secretary for the next two months in the absence of Mrs. Shortt, who is ill. The hope was expressed that Mrs. Shortt would soon be restored to her usual good health. The thank-offering was received amounting to $11.85. The Temperance Secretary, Mrs. Minnie Kelley, gave a splendid talk on a subject of vital interest to all. In closing she said that in spite of conditions existing at present, we were not discouraged, as long as our young people were directed to the Christian way of life.

The subject from the Study Book on India "The Man With the Wooden Plow and his Church", was well presented by Mrs. Roy Thrasher. Mrs. J. McDonald spoke on "Rural Education" and Mrs. B. Roblin on the "Agricultural College on India".

Mrs. Roblin touched briefly on Miss Shirley Hall's report of the School for Leaders held at Whitby, but time would not permit this report being read at this meeting.

CENTENARY W.A. MEETING

The Woman's Association meeting was in charge of the President, Mrs. L. Hall, who opened the exercises with the singing of a hymn, and prayer by Rev. Mr. McCallum.

Plans were made to have a sale at the Hallowe'en party at the school, if agreeable to the teacher, Miss Marion Pound. A committee was appointed to look after articles for sale, and also for the sale of Christmas cards.

Rev. Mr. McCallum spoke briefly of the anniversary services to be held at the different appointments.

The meeting closed with The Lord's Prayer. The hostess, Mrs. Thrasher, served dainty refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

SCOTT'S W.M.S.-W.A.

The ladies of Scott's congregation held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Copeland on October ninth, with a good crowd in attendance.

After dinner, Mrs. R. Dafoe, president of W.M.S. opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Martyn read the Scripture lesson and responsive readings were used as given in the Missionary Monthly.

Delegates appoitned to attend the W.M.S. rally at Cannifton on October 29 were Mrs. C. Copeland and Mrs. J. A. Lott.

Plans were made to begin the new Study Book on India at the next meeting.

Reading by Mrs. Morley Sine, "A Pioneer in Rural Education". The roll call showed nine members and two visitors present.

DECLINES INCREASE

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 21 — (AP) — City Comptroller Thomas V. Kennedy declined an $800 increaes to his $7,200 annual salary because, he said, "the city is not in a position to pay it."

"I ought to know," said Kennedy, who passes on the city's expenditures. "If you're going to have stabilization of government, it has to start with someone."

TWEED

Miss C. Colgan Entertained At Bridal Shower

Tweed—at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hall, Miss Marion Hall and Miss Helen Orr entertained at a shower for Miss Colleen Colgan, bride-to-be on Wednesday evening.

The girls enjoyed a sing song and a few games. The room was decorated in pink and white for the occasion. Miss Colgan was then asked to take a chair over which hung a "sprinkler" decorated with pink and white streamers and filled with flowers. Miss Colgan received many lovely gifts for which she thanked her twenty girl friends. The girls sang "For she's a jolly good fellow." A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses which brought the evening to a close.

Mr. George Stokes, M.P., and Mrs. Stokes spent a few days with Mrs. Stokes' mother, Mrs. Ida Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Jeffrey, Mr. T. S. McCrea and Bill spent Friday in Kingston.

While the weather on Thursday wasn't all that could be desired, the sale of Mr. Ithol Payne, Lodgeroom Road, was well attended, and farm stock and implements brought high prices.

C.W.L. Holds Successful Tea

A very successful Autumn tea was held at the home of Mrs. Ben E. Burley, 188 Charles St., Thursday afternoon under the convenership of Mrs. Godfrey Donoghue of C.W.L.

In the tea room a Hallowe'en color scheme was carried out. The table attractive with lace cloth was centred with a silver bowl of yellow and bronze 'mums, flanked by black and orange tapers in silver holders and small black cats. The same color scheme was used in the home-cooking booth, where Jack O' Lanterns, yellow candles, witches and Autumn flowers were effective against a blue background. This feature was conducted by Mrs. T. O. Morrell and Mrs. Murray Black. The living rooms were colorful with flowers in pastel shades.

Mrs. E. Logan invited the guests to the tea room, which was under the supervision of Mrs. E. B. Lally. Assisting were Mrs. Carl Casey, Mrs. E. J. Haines and Mrs. F. P. Cunningham. Those pouring were Mrs. Dan Donoghue, Mrs. P. E. Doyle, Mrs. R. M. Flynn and Mrs. A. B. Collins and those replenishing the plates included Mrs. Russell Dunlop, Mrs. M. J. Boyd and Mrs. W. Frawley.

Acting as treasurer for the afternoon was Mrs. George O'Brien.

In charge of tickets on nylon stockings was Mrs. M. J. O'Callaghan. The holder of the lucky number was Mrs. Frank Fitzpatrick.

Mrs. George J. Forhan sold draws on a delicious looking angel food cake which was won by Mrs. E. Logan.

Grass Disease Baffles Vets

Newmarket, England. — (Reuters)—British veterinarians are about to try again to solve the mysteries of "grass disease" which has baffled research workers for almost 50 years.

The disease, which appeared in Scotland, just after the South African War, is quickly fatal in most cases. Incidence is highest among young animals and those which recover are of little working value.

For 40 years the malady has been taking its toll in Scotland and in recent years it spread to Northern England and even the Midlands.

Professor William C. Miller, first director of the new Equine Research Station established by the Veterinary Educational Trust at Newmarket, is making a study of "grass disease" one of his first projects and has asked for expert help.

Watch Your Step Freyberg Warns

Wellington, N.Z., Oct. 21 (CP) —New Zealand's Governor General, Lt.-Gen. Sir Bernard Freyberg, V.C., lamented in an address here, the way people are losing the ability to walk. "If we are not careful we shall not be the hardy race we were," he said in warning that the next generation would have to "watch its step."

In this sentiment he is carrying into civilian life the cardinal principle he stressed in training when he commanded the New Zealand Expeditionary Force during the war. He insisted that the first and most essential step in training was lengthy route marching with heavy packs. Although his troops grumbled that this was not necessary with a modern mechanized army, the policy paid rich dividends in hard campaigns in the Western Desert and in Italy.

Seeks to Combat Marital Discord

Montreal, (CP)— An adequate marriage counselling service is urgently needed to deal scientifically with personal problems which result in many tragic marriage failures, Dr. Baruch Silverman, director of the Mental Hygiene Institute, said in an address to the suburban St. Lambert's Women's Association.

Dr. Silverman, assistant professor of psychiatry at McGill University, said emotional insecurity rather than financial and economic insecurity produces the majority of marriage problems.

A marriage counselling service would advise young people contemplating marriage and would deal with marital problems. The service would enable couples to adapt themselves more satisfactorily to one another to maintain the integrity of the family group.

In many cases husbands and wives were unable to adapt themselves satisfactorily to one another because of the emotional stress to which they had been subjected since the war ended.

Many of these people had always been mentally unstable individuals but prior to the war they had been able to make a relatively successful adaptation to marriage and home life.

At the present time they appeared unable to face their responsibilities and readily tended to become involved in serious marital difficulties.

They required special psychiatric treatment to tied them over their emergency period.

"In order to help people to develop more satisfactory social relationships, said Dr. Silverman, "we must strive to create in them a capacity to adapt themselves realistically to the problems with which they are confronted.

"This requires three essential adjustments. Social adaptability, vocational adjustment and fitness for family life.

"By helping people to make such necessary adjustments, we can build up in them wholesome mental attitudes, adequate social relationships, an ability to make a real success of marriage, and a greater capacity for citizenship in a democratic state of society."

Countless Wild Flowers Cover Long Point Peninsula in Autumn

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto, Oct. 21 (CP) — Long Point Peninsula is a massive sandbar jutting from its base near Port Rowan, Ont., into the centre of Lake Erie, or about 25 miles. It is composed of sand dunes, intervening swales and bordering marshes. From the naturalist's viewpoint this long neck of territory is a paradise, for wild life of all kinds abounds there.

A frequent visitor is Munroe Landon, of Simcoe, farmer, stock-breeder and forester known across Canada. He has also acquired fame as a naturalist and photographer of birds, beasts and flowers. Speaking of a September trip to Long Point, he says that its purpose was the observation of shore birds. Not many were seen—but the flowers were a thrill.

Mr. Landon found many acres colored in masses of purple, rose, blue and yellow, and the whole area dotted with literally millions of white, nodding lady's tresses which scented the air. No alpine garden, he said, was ever more beautiful.

Lobelias made up the preponderant blue in the pattern of wild flowers. Gerardias contributed the rose-purple hues. Where the Ohio goldenrods flourished were great patches of gold. Blue gentians closed and fringed, wild flowers, it was feared, that were getting all too scarce, appeared in quantity. New England asters, loveliest of their kind, were present in purple opulence. And the grass of Parnassus—which is not a grass but a plant with dainty white flowers— added to the colorful pageantry of the Canadian autumn landscape.

For it is not only the maple, birch and oak trees of the countryside that create the almost incredible beauty which is the autumn fantasy of color; but the countless hosts of wild flowers which paint the hillsides and lanes, the swamps, fields and woodlands with gorgeous hues, made a rich contribution which gladdens the eyes and thrills the hearts of nature lovers.

Jewel weed, better known as "touch-me-not" earned its familiar name from the fact that when its seed pods are mature in the autumn, the pods suddenly burst open at a touch, and the seeds shoot out as far as four feet. Witch-hazel, said to be under the influence of witches by folk of other days because the shrub carries last year's fruit with this year's flowers, also shoots forth seeds — frequently ten feet away. Its branches are used as diving rods in the discovery of water.

Boneset, with white clustered flowers, once had a reputation for speeding the healing of broken bones. Bouncing Bet, or soapwort, a pink-flowered weed, has a spicy odor, and its leaves, rubbed in water, make a lather. Fleabane, of daisy-like appearance, when ground to powder will warn off fleas—or even dogs.

Showy lady's slipper, lovely orchid of Canadian woods and mountain passes, has a name which explains itself. So have the pitcher plant, pussy-toes, everlasting flowers, Indian pipe, Dutchman's breeches, cat-tail, bottle gentians, cranesbill, moccasing flower—and scores of others.

Australians Fight Illegal Factories

Sydney, Australia, Oct. 21 (CP) —The New South Wales State government has started a drive against illegal "backyard factories" which sprang up in scores of Sydney during the war to feed the black market for scarce goods.

The unlicensed pocket factories, hidden in apartment buildings, houses, garages and shacks, manufacture such items as leather goods, confectionery and cakes which have been scarce. They employ five or six workers each and keep them happy with wages up to $3 a week higher than average.

The factories' operation violates the Factories and Shops Act, requiring licensing and maintenance of prescribed standards, and the Pure Foods Act, stipulating hygienic conditions of manufacture.

Precautions of backyard factory operators have disclosed storage of foodstuffs in bathrooms and unsanitary and unhealthy workers' conditions.

Most flourishing among the backyard industries have been those producing leather goods such as handbags, pocketbooks and purses. Leather has been under federal government control and the market for leather goods has been tremendous.

Operators of the leather goods factories have obtained their supplies by black market buying. While they have had to pay heavily they have still shown profits by charging high prices for their finished products.

Bata Wins Championship Of Belleville Baseball Loop Beating Trenton Flyers 12-0

Team Becomes First Possessor of Kelleher-Robinson Memorial Trophy

Batawa Shoemen won the championship of the Belleville Senior Baseball League on their home diamond on Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Trenton Flyers, league leaders throughout the season by a 12-0 score in the second game of the two-of-three final series. The Shoemen dunked the Flyers 8-2 in the first game at Alemite Field on Wednesday afternoon.

The Shoemen will be the first team to win the handsome Kelleher - Robinson Memorial Challenge Trophy presented by Belleville Branch 201 Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada. The presentation of the cup, emblematic of the city baseball championship will be presented by Army and Navy officials in the near future.

The Batawa bludgeons thundered in a dazzling parade of hits, eleven all told behind the superb hurling of "Smoky" Smith, starry lefthander. The southpaw struck out sixteen batters over the route retiring the side in order via the whiff route in the first and seventh innings. Remigio, Curtis and Cox fanned three times each.

Played Loosely in Field

The Flyers who had only nine men in uniform could not get settled down. They played another loose game in the field behind starting pitcher Al. Wade bobbling the ball no less than seven times. The tall righthander, however, proved no puzzle to the Shoemen sluggers for they nicked him for nine hits for twelve runs in six and two-thirds innings. He was relieved by Curtis in that frame and the slim blonde restructed the home town hitters to two hits over the balance of the pastime.

Trenton presented Bata with two gift runs in the first innings, a repetition of the first game when Cox, Wade and McKenna kicked the ball around in succession. Watson cleaned the sacks with a long triple to send the third Bata runner scampering across the plate before the side was retired.

Scored Four in Fifth

Two errors and a single and double by Normandin and Rankin respectively paved the way for four more Bata runs in the fifth and an error, two walks and Smith's double and Spencer's single accounted for another quartet in the seventh, and the end of Mr. Wade.

Flyers bats waved futilely at the Smithian slants through the oastime the only Flyers connecting safely being "Moose" Matthews who scorched a sharp single to centre in the fourth and Wade who did likewise in the same innings. Smith bore down to retire the next two batters with no material damage being done.

Spencer, Normandin and Watson had two hits each for the winners with Cook donating a triple to the cause. Smith, Rankin and Peacock contributed single clouts.

Boston Bruins Show Strength in Gaining Two Ties; Rangers Beat Detroit

By SYD THOMAS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The National Hockey League squads were off from the barrier after the first weekend of the marathon 60-game season and everything seemed mostly according to form, except for a surprising revival by the humble New York Rangers and the dismal showing of Detroit Red Wings.

Rangers, doormats of the league last year when they won only 13 games, bounced up from a 3-0 licking by Montreal Canadiens last Thursday to down Detroit Red Wings 3-1 Sunday night, right in motortown.

It was Detroit's second setback in a row, as they lost 6-3 to Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night.

Elsewhere, it looked just like a continuation of last season.

Boston Bruins made their debut in Montreal Saturday night, battling to a 1-1 tie in a tight, clean game featured by the effortless netminding of those two masters of the art, Bill Durnan of Canadiens and Frankie Brimsek of Bruins.

That left Canadiens tied for the lead with Leafs, with three points.

Boston on Sunday night played hosts to Chicago Black Hawks, making their first 1946-47 start, and tied them 2-2. Chicago's Max Bentley, leading scorer of the league last year, got off on the right foot when he notched one goal and scored an assist on the second one by brother Doug. Bep Guidolin and that old-time smoothie, Bill Cowley, scored for Boston.

Another crafty veteran was the big noise at Montreal. Cagy Toe Blake, Canucks' ice captain, scored the tieing goal with less than three minutes of the lame left to rob Brimsek of what looked like a sure shutout. Bill Shill had sunk a shot at 6:21 of the third and the Bruins' tight defence looked good enough to keep it safe.

Rangers, who this year iced a fast young team, lacking polish however, clicked well at Detroit and spread the scoring around. They rolled up a 3-0 count in the first two periods and goals by Grant Warwick, veteran Phil Watson and rookie Jean Paul Lamirande, rangy defenceman from last year's Montreal Royals in the Quebec Senior League. Centre Sid Abel broke the goose egg for Wings halfway through the 3rd period.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

Bill Easton's Batawa Shoemen won the championship of the Belleville Senior Baseball League on Saturday, defeating a skeleton Trenton Flyer squad 12-0 in a more or less loosely played game on their home diamond. The game was the second straight win for the Shoemen in the two-of-three titular series and they are worthy champs, despite the fact that neither game produced anything that looked like championship baseball.

There have been a lot better games played during the season. Both squads kicked the ball around in the first tussle and Flyers turned in another brilliant booting exhibition on Saturday committing no less than seven miscues when the bobbles meant runs. However, in fairness to "Moose" Matthews and his gallant crew, it must be said that they did not have the strength either offensively or defensively in the finals series that they had in the regular schedule.

Discharges and transfer wreaked havoc with the "Moose's" regulars and he was forced to send in last minute reinforcements for the big series. He had only nine men in uniform on Saturday and had any serious accident occured, anything could have happened.

However, that does not deteriorate from the fine all-season consistency displayed by the Men of Easton. They gave the fans some outstanding exhibitions throughout the lengthy schedule and proved themselves, especially in the latter part of the season and during their OBA playdowns that they are a fine well-balanced squad.

They have a good hurling staff composed of "Smoky" Smith, Muffitt, Stojan, and Harry, and even elongated Ken Peacock can go in there and throw 'em at opposing batters in more or less masterful manner, if called upon. Their offensive strength is well-balanced with Spencer, Aquino, Smith and others providing a consistent hitting threat. They are worthy champions of the league, and fine representatives of the district in their quest for the Ontario Intermediate "A" title. More power to 'em.

Up in Western Ontario on Saturday the Empsom-Carson crew from the sunny slopes of Latta bowed gallantly out of the Intermediate "B" baseball picture, dropping two straight games to the Strathroy Royals by 5-0 and 6-1 scores respectively in a twin bill that saw the Carsonians fail to fathom to any degree the fine pitching dished up to them by Enright and Art Fidler, Royals hurlers.

Joe Marsh, chunky Latta hurler went along nicely in the first game for six heats but he developed a streak of wildness and the Royals got to him for four hits and a brace of walks to score all their runs. Lefty Weeks was touched early and often in the second game getting four for four in the first two innings.

However, the Latta crew are defeated but by no means disgraced. They proved themselves a fighting ball club all season, and like others had their ups and downs. They were good representatives for the city and district and like Batawa proved themselves excellent sportsmen whether in victory or defeat. Someone must be a loser and Latta can well be proud of its 1946 edition of baseball diamondeers.

The victorious Batawa Shoemen, newly crowned city baseball champions will be presented with the handsome Army, Navy and Air Force trophy, emblematic of the city title, in the near future by ranking officials of Belleville Branch 201 of the veterans organization.

The trophy has been dedicated to the memories of two gallant city athletes, the late Joe Kelleher, former baseball pitching star and "Pop" Robinson, sterling softball catcher of earlier days. Both men gave their lives in the greatest game of all and died fighting for their country and civilization. The trophy is named after them and is known as the Kelleher-Robinson Memorial Cup. It was donated to the league by the Army, Navy, Air Force branch here earlier in the season, a very thoughtful and timely gesture on the part of the young-old soldiers.

Johnny Metras unbeaten Western University football team rolled over the Red and White of McGill to further gridiron glory on Saturday up in "Lunnon" crushing the Redmen 18-2 in a second half display of power that had their own most rabid supporters goggle-eyed. The game again demonstrated the power and clicking efficiency of the Metras system. The Mustangs were a superb blocking squad and ran riot against the big Red team with a series of flea-flicker and reverse plays.

The Golden Gaels of Queen's University proved nothing more than zephyrs against the vaunted power of the Blue and White of the University of Toronto in their intercollegiate grid tussle at Kingston on Saturday. Paced by the diminutive Fred Doty, the Varsity squad unleashed terrific power in the last half and trampled the Gaels underfoot in a rearing surge of offensive tactics. It was Queen's third consecutive defeat and the second game in which they have failed to register a point.

"So they gave us the cold shoulder after being one of the best drawing cards they had last winter to put a lot of shekels in their loop pockets," snorted a Belleville Redman hockey official today. He was referring to the Kingston City Hockey League organized with 9 teams the other night, which includes clubs from Deseronto and Gananoque.

Rookie catcher Joe Garagiola of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals offered a brand new catcher's mitt today to the person who stole his old one.

Garagiola said that the sentimental value of the glove with which he handled Cardinal pitchers in the World Series, was far greater than the cost of a new one.

He said he believed a souvenir-hunting youngster had taken the mitt, his baseball shoes, and other gear from his car.

"And if the kid will ship the stuff to me collect, I'll buy him a new glove, no questions asked," he said.

Strathroy Royals Eliminate Latta From Int. B. Playdowns In Twin Bill 5-0 and 6-1

Marsh Goes Wild in Sixth of First Game While Weeks Hit Hard Early in Second

(Special to the Ontario Intelligencer)

Strathroy, Ont., Oct. 19— Strathroy Royals eliminated Latta from the Intermediate B OBA playdowns Saturday in a doubleheader 5-0 and 6-1.

The Royals pitching was the stumbling block that knocked the Latta nine out of the race. "Bub" Enwright on the hill for the winners in the first game had the situation under control all the way limiting the losers to seven hits over the route and allowing only one runner to reach third.

Joe Marsh hurled shutout ball until the sixth frame when he ran into a streak of wildness issuing two walks followed by a single and three doubles netting the winners all their runs and the game.

In the second game Strathroy went to work on Lefty Weeks early, collecting four hits and four runs in the first two innings. Art Fidler on the mound for the Royals had his nothing ball working to perfection and chalked up his seventh win without a loss for the season.

Latta came through with nine hits off Fidler's offerings, two of them triples, one by Carson with Goyer clouting the other. Jumbo Goyer's triple in the ninth frame came with no one on and none out. He scored the losers' only marker when the Royal second baseman muffed Weeks' grounder. The winners also collected two extra base hits, Goldrick's double in the first that drove in two runs and Holt's two bagger in the third with the sacks empty.

You keep hearing me say: "A strip-and-endplay is employed to avoid taking a possible losing finesse." No credit is due me for it. It has been going on for centuries.

A finesse is a play that you should not trust until you have nothing better to trust. The idea is that when you have a doubtful finesse, look around for the safer strip-end.

There are three steps to a strip-endplay. First strip as many suits as possible. Second, throw a desired opponent into the lead. Third, take advantage of the lead you have forced him to return.

Will a strip-end always triumph? Of course not. Why? Because success depends on a planned favorable return lead. If the wrong foe is thrown into the lead, his come-out may not help you.

Even when the wrong foe is thrown into the lead, there is still a chance that he will guess the wrong suit. So, a strip-end has this in its favor: It will succeed more often than will a finesse.

There is still another angle to this business of planning first for the strip-end. When it fails, the finesse can still be tried. So, the strip has everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Usually, your advance plan tells you exactly which opponent can be forced into the lead. But times are when this is not sure. In that case, try the strip-end anyway and see what happens.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood, Oct. 21 (AP) — You can have your Lana Turners, Betty Grables, and Dorothy Lamours. Tony Gaudio would rather have annother Billie Dove.

Tony is a young man of 63 who has been filming stars for 42 years. Now he is getting ready to retire "to give the young blood a chance."

He recalled such names as Valentino, Talmadge, Davies, Gish, Shearer, Barrymore, Fairbanks, and a host of newcomers, all of whom were reflected in his camera lens. When the short, chubby, Italian-born photographer began to speak about Billie Dove, he had trouble containing himself.

"She was the most beautiful woman I have ever photographed," he said. "Such perfect features," he gesticulated. "Not a bone stuck out anyplace. Her neck was a graceful as ——". Here again he described with his hands.

I asked Tony which of our actresses today rivalled Miss Dove. This was a problem for him. He hesitated before saying, "the nearest to her today is Hedy Lamarr." But it was evident that even Hedy was running a poor second.

Tony chose Bette Davis as the best actress on the screen today. "However," he added, "in the silents, it was Norma Talmadge.

His favorite actor today is Gregory Peck. And Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., gets his nomination for looks.

So, after 42 years, Tony is saying goodbye to Hollywood's glamor, to the temperamental stars, demanding producers and eccentric directors. He is leaving his beloved movie cameras to head north to San Francisco where he's starting a new life — the owner of a camera shop!

Ottawa Watching Two By-Elections

Ottawa, Oct. 21 (CP)—Political observers in the capital today were watching closely the two federal by-elections in Toronto Parkdale and Portage La Prairie for their possible effect on government's slender majority in the Commons.

Present party standings—according to latest official figures — give the Liberals 125 seats compared with 117 held by the combined opposition. While two vacancies will be filled by today's elections at Parkdale and Portage La Prairie, a third vacancy was caused last night with the death of Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Independent member for Richelieu-Vercheres.

This means that the Liberals hold a seven-vote majority in the Commons, since Speaker Gaspard Fauteux, a Liberal, does not vote.

Here are the present standings, according to latest official calculations:

Liberals, 125; Progressive Conservatives, 65; C.C.F., 28; Social Credit, 13; Independent, four; Bloc Populaire, two; Independent Liberal, one; Independent Progressive Conservative, one; Independent C.C.F., one; Union Des Electeurs De Quebec, one; Labor-Progressive, one; vacant, three. Total: 245.

While the listings showed Union Des Electeurs separately, the member, Raoul Caquette who won the recent by-election in Pontiac, has announced he will generally support the Social Credit Party. The listing also showed the lone Labor-Progressive member, Fred Rose of Montreal Cartier. Mr. Rose will retain his seat pending the hearing of his appeal of a six-year sentence in connection with espionage charges.

Fran Parker of California yesterday, defended his Pan-American tennis title at Mexico City by defeating Francisco Sagura of Equador in a six-set final. Pauline Betz of California took the women's singles and the women's doubles went to Margaret Osborne and Louise Brough, U. S. champions.

AT THE BELLE — Early stardom is predicted for Beverly Tyler and Tom Drake, who play the young lovers in the stirring film version of A. J. Cronin's novel, "The Green Years." Charles Coburn and Hume Cronyn are seen in leading roles. The film is now attracting large audiences, and ends on Wednesday.

SHEIK-WATSON REMATCHED HERE FRIDAY EVENING

Emir Badui the wrestling Sheik has a grievance. The Arabian wrestler put on a real scream over the time-limit which cut short his bout here with Whipper Billy Watson last week after Watson had won the only fall of the match. The Sheik claimed that the time-limit had been cut short and that the bell was rung just when it seemed as if the Arab was about to beat Watson with that merciless leg-and-arm lock of his.

On investigation it was found that the time-keeper kept exactly to the hour limit of the bout but as far as Badui was concerned the hour passed so quickly that he remains convinced that the clocking was tampered. When Whipper Watson heard about the complaints of the wrestler from the far-off Mediterranean country, the Canadian athlete quickly offered another chance. "If he really believes that the time was cut short I'll gladly meet him again and this time I'm willing that there be no time-limit at all."

When Manager Walt Gerow checked with the Sheik that worthy quickly agreed so Belleville fans will again see the two topnotchers in action again next Friday night. Watson's crown will be at stake once more and if the Sheik can get either that arm lock or his killing crab-hold working a little earlier, the Whip may find he has made a fatal mistake.

Billy Watson signed for the match with the statement that "he really surprised me with a very different style and he has a couple of holds that its very hard to get out of once he has got your arm weakened. But I know what to expect now and I'm willing to risk it."

There is a chance that another famous, in fact world-wide known wrestler, the Russian Cossack Kola Kwarianni will be on Friday's card.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

The Long Branch Jockey Club announced last night that it will pay $1,000 — double the value of the Gold Cup and Saucer emblematic of victory in Saturday's Cup and Saucer Handicap — if winner W. F. Morrissey wants to return it.

Morrissey, said to be dissatisfied at the weights allotted his entry, refused to accept the cup won by Casa Camara, two-year-old filly, in the feature event. After a delay the presentation was made to the trainer, Dr. R. K. Hodgson, who accepted it on behalf of Morrissey.

Casa Camara carried 128 lbs., reputedly the highest weight ever assigned a candidate in the event.

The Royal North Yacht Club of Glasgow, holder of the International Seawanhaka Cup, Saturday accepted the challenge of the Corinthian Club of New York to race for the trophy on the Clyde next summer.

ONLY 12 ELEVENS IN UNITED STATES STILL UNBEATEN

Notre Dame and Army at Halfway Mark in Schedule But Big Games to Come

By MURRAY ROSE

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—With the world series just out of the way it's hard to realize that the United States collegiate grid campaign already is at the halfway mark and that the list of major unbeaten teams is slimmer than Ted Williams' series batting average.

Only 12 elevens have managed to go unconquered so far although three of the dozen have ties to mar their records.

Another 13 were clipped for the first time during the weekend in the biggest series of upsets of the season.

Army's grid Goliaths knocked Columbia's light Lions out of the select class with a resounding 48-14 triumph as Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis paced the Cadets to their fifth triumph of the campaign and their 23rd over 2 1-2 seasons.

Virginia Blasted

Pennsylvania blasted Virginia 40-0 for the Cavaliers' first licking of 1946. Harvard slaughtered Coast Guard 69-0; Texas opened its Southwest Conference schedule with a 20-0 win over Arkansas for the Razorbacks' initial loss; Tennessee sent its Rose Bowl hopes soaring with a 12-0 conquest of the hitherto unbeaten Alabama Red Elephants in a Southeastern Conference tilt; Georgia polished off Oklahome A. & M., 33-13; North Carolina State gave Wake Forest its first taste of defeat with a 14-6 Southern Conference victory; U.C.L.A. held onto their Rose Bowl edge with a 13-6 squeeze over California.

Mighty Michigan Tied

Northwestern's unheralded Wildcats clawed out a 14-14 deadlock with mighty Michigan. Detroit destroyed Tulsa's dreams of an all-conquering campaign Friday night with a 20-14 upset.

Other surprises of Saturday included Brown's 20-13 Ivy League win over Dartmouth; Little Louisiana Tech's 7-6 victory over Mississippi Iowa's 13-0 big nine blanking of Indiana; Syracuse's 21-12 triumph over Holy Cross; Cornell's 6-6 deadlock with Yale in another Ivy engagement and Purdue's 14-24 tie with Ohio State.

11-YEAR-OLD EDITS PAPER

Pretoria, South Africa (CP) — South Africa's youngest editor is an 11-year-old Pretoria boy who last April started a monthly paper called "The Children's Club Magazine." The paper has a circulation of 400 and Leon Menge, the editor, gives all the profits to the Pretoria Cripple Home.

Leon charges twopence (four cents) a copy and turns out the journal on a duplicating machine. He expects his circulation to rise to 1,000 before the end of the year.

MINK COAT

By Kathleen Norris

CHAPTER 32.

She was lying on the pink couch in her own room, on a warm languid March afternoon, when Edna came abruptly into the room. Isabel started up with a protest; she was never to be disturbed at this time. But Edna's face checked the words unspoken.

"What is it!" The familiar phrase of terror came in frightened whisper; Isabel was on her feet.

"It's Catherine, she's been hurt! A car went over her.." The last words were lost to Isabel; she was at the telephone. In another moment she heard Madge's voice.

What Madge said to soften it—to explain it—was confused and unimportant.

All that mattered was that Catherine was seriously hurt. They hadn't been able to reach Dennis at the defence plant; the doctor had been summoned. Suffering? No, we think not. Unconscious? We think so. Edna packed a bag. She held the big fur coat and Isabel dazzedly slipped into it; dazedly left last messages.

That was all, before she started on the agonizing trip. Eighteen miles to the big bridge; about ten after that, counting the hill. One long hour at least. She sat in the back of the car, cutting her palms with her nails, swallowing with a dry throat. Now and then she started up as if an electric current had suddenly coursed through her body; now and then Martin heard her say "Oh no, no!"

The last miles were so many separate racks for soul and mind and heart. She dared not think. She dared not anticipate what might be the news. The doctor might be there to say "All over." The ambulance might be there. When she arrived they might be carrying the little limp body out of the house. Oh no, no!

Catherine, her little loving tar baby. Her wise owl of a baby girl, with a little drake's curl on the top of her soft straight hair. Catherine, who said "Sanks ev' so much," and "Dis my propputty." Catherine, of whose enchanting babyhood her mother had missed so many hours — so many months.

They were on the last curves, driving up and up between the grassy fields that were thick with buttercups and poppies. Creamy iris showed lavender-streaked blossoms under the shade of the low-sprawled oaks; the salt sweet air was singing with sunshine and wandering breezes; shadows stretched themselves from the setting sun. Isabel saw meadow larks rise straight into the languid, lingering light, leaving their heart-rending song behind them. Day was almost done.

Here was the house at last, with the doctor's car parked in the muddy ruts beside the road. Dennis' car was there, too. Dennis was home!

Yes, he was here. He came out to the porch as she ran up the garden path, and she saw his face. Relief that she had arrived; she was in time then? It was not pity, it was not sorrow. Catherine was alive.

"Catherine—Dennis?"

"Oh yes," he said. "I'm glad you're here. She's been fretting for you. She's been badly hurt." He spoke unemotionally; he did not smile.

"Did she fall, Dennis?"

"She slipped in the mud, under the school bus."

"Oh no!"

"We don't know yet how bad it is. There are two doctors here. I've only just arrived."

They went into the house, and Isabel flung aside her hat and her coat and went into the kitchen to stand beside Dennis' mother, who was wringing out steaming towels at the sink.

"Isabel, thank God you're here! We were so afraid you wouldn't be in time"

"You mean it is so bad?" Isabel spoke quietly; the words did not seem her own.

"I'm afraid it's bad. But you're here now — she's been asking for you."

"Who was there — who saw it?"

"Madge was there, thank God. She caught her up and came running in here with her, and we put her on the bed in the kitchen chamber."

"You telephoned for the doctor?"

"And for Dennis, and he brought another doctor, from the plant. They just went in there."

Isabel glanced at the closed bedroom door.

"Madge did everything she could for first aid," Mrs. Hardisty said.

"She was unconscious?"

"No, she moaned from time to time."

Dennis had gone into the sickroom; now he returned and said in a matter-of-fact voice: "I think if you'll come in, Isabel? The doctors are trying to manage some sort of examination and she seemed a little frightened."

For a minute the kitchen reeled, then Isabel gulped and said, "Yes, I'll go in, of course."

She was trembling very much, but she must face it, she must see it. Obeying a nod from Dennis, she entered the noiselessly opened door. Light still lingered in the world outside, but the room was dark, except for the single lamp at the head of the bed. The two doctors were bending over it; Madge, anxious, capable, absorbed, bent with them. Isabel could not see Catherine's face, she saw the small flat form, from which one doctor cut, as she looked, a muddy pink frock, flinging it behind him without a backward glance.

"Yes, yes," Madge murmured.

"Does that hurt you, dear?" The specialist's voice was gentle. They laid the child carefully down again. Catherine moaned, and a sharp stab went thru' Isabel's very vitals.

"Let the doctor—that's the good girl," Madge murmured. The doctor straightened up as Dennis came in with pillows, and Dennis' mother with her steaming wrung-out cloths. For a fearful second Isabel thought it was all over; no, they were murmuring, they were looking down at Catherine.

"Hospital," one of the doctors said, shaking his head.

"Yes, but we can't move her. Yes, she should be .. in case of .. there's a possibility here, of course .. " Their low phrases intermingled; were full of terror. Isabel felt a touch on her hand, looked down; Pussy was standing beside her.

And as the little anxious, loving, gypsy face looked timidly up at her, Isabel knew, with a rush of pain, how dearly she loved this first-born child, how deep was the tie between them. She dropped to her knees to come down to Pussy's level and put her arms about her.

"Don't worry, my precious, she'll be all right.

"Oh, Mummy!" Pussy whispered, burying her wet face in Isabel's neck. The group at the bed glanced toward them.

"Yes," Isabel indicated rather than said, as she got to her feet, still holding tight to Pussy's warm small hand. "We'll go out to the kitchen."

"Mummy," Pussy said, when they were in the kitchen, with two closed doors between them and the sickroom, "I'm so glad you came! Catherine wanted you."

"Did she, darling?" Isabel's throat was dry.

"When Aunt Madge carried her in she was saying, 'I want my Mummy! I want my Mummy'!"

"How did it happen?" Isabel was hugging the small curled form in her arms? Dennis' mother, coming out, answered for her.

"Madge was just driving away in the station wagon, to take the children home, and Esme and Catherine were standing on the bank there, waving them goodby. Pussy was in the car, going along for the ride, as they sometimes love to do. The banks are wet from the rains, we've had all kinds of landslides, and I suppose the girls' weight was too much. Anyway, the bank gave way and Catherine slid right under the car." Mrs. Hardisty stopped, as if she could go no further, and Isabel shut her eyes and leaned her spent forehead against Pussy's dark hair.

Madge and Dennis came out with one of the doctors; Catherine, they said, was banked in pillows; nothing by a miracle, was broken, both doctors were sure of that. But there were possibilities of internal injury, and of that only time could tell. If she rested well for two or three days—there was every hope. But on the other hand a sudden move might bring on a recurrence —

"Then she musn't move?" This was the child's mother, her eyes fixed in a very agony of concentration on the doctor's face.

"No, she musn't move?" This anchored her pretty well; I'm going down to the plant now to get some tent frames and a nurse, if I can."

"She's very sick?" Isabel couldn't help the words; they came of themselves.

"It is certainly serious," the doctor answered, serious himself. "We've stitched up the head, the shoulder abrasions may give her some discomfort, but they will take care of themselves. But it is the probability of shock — she has lost a great deal of blood."

"Yes, I know, I know!" Isabel shut him off in a suffocated voice. "Catherine," she said under her breath.

Madge was sitting at the table, her haggard face resting on her spread hands. She looked old and white. Dennis stood leaning against the kitchen table.

"She'll be pretty uncomfortable?" he asked.

"Yes, I'm afraid so. We don't dare give her anything to ease her a little until we know what the internal situation is."

The second doctor now came from the sickroom, nodded to the group as he picked up his bag and hat.

"Is her mother here?" he asked, glancing from one to the other of the younger women.

"I am her mother."

"I think it would be advisable if you would sit with her for a while. She is continually asking for you. She must not be excited in any way."

"She has a chance?" Isabel faltered. At his answering look her heart sank—sank.

"She is a very sick little girl," the doctor said briefly.

Isabel went in to sit beside Catherine bed. She sat in a low chair and laid her hand over Catherine's hand. The little baby hand looked small and helpless on the coverlet; Catherine herself looked singularly small and helpless, braced all about with pilows. Her eyes were shut and sunk into circles of shadow, above her dark little face the spotless bandage formed an impressive turban.

BELIEVES HITLER LIVES

Lieut.-Col. W. F. Heimlich, of Columbus, Ohio, an intelligence officer who directed the search through Adolf Hitler's chancellory after the reported deaths of the Fuehrer and his mistress, Eva Braun, in a Berlin bunker during the siege by the Russians, has voiced his belief that the pair is still alive. Heimlich, shown ABOVE, stated, "There is not one iota of proof of Hitler's death." He also thinks that Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, is living.

FOUND MURDERED

Found at the bottom of Ashburn Lake, near Saint John, N.B., was the battered body of Miss Leversey Powers, 24, of Grand Falls, N.B. Charged with the murder is Thomas Henry Heffernan.

RAILWAY MUST PAY DAMAGES TO PAPER.

Sydney, Australia, Oct. 21 (CP)—The Sydney Morning Herald was awarded $12,000 damages to be paid by the New South Wales state railway commission for failure by the railways two years ago to carry an emergency issue of the Herald during a Sydney newspaper strike.

The strike issue of the Herald, incorporated Sydney's three other daily papers. The railway commission's defence was that it was not bound by contract with the Herald to carry the emergency paper.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 21 (CP)—Industrial stocks were lower today, the mining groups were steady and the western oils slightly stronger in the early Toronto session. Trading continued in light volume and the turnover was only 452,000 shares for the first three hours.

The soft note affected prices in the utility, steel and miscellaneous groups and the foods displayed moderate strength. Senior oils held steady. In the golds some of the stronger issues were Rush Lake, Lexindin Croinor, Macassa and Detta.

ORANGEVILLE GIVEN CORVETTE BELL

Orangeville, Oct. 21 —(CP)— The bell that once marked the passing of the hours on board the Royal Canadian Navy corvette Orangeville in wartime, was presented to the town Saturday and will be placed in the town's memorial park. Furnishings for the ship and comforts for the crew were provided throughout the war by various organizations of the Dufferin County town, after which she was named.

TENDERS

Will be received by the undersigned until October 28th., 1946, for the position as cheesemaker for the Bronk Cheese and Butter Co. for 1947 season. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

TORONTO ARGOS FACING ROCKIER ROAD TO TITLE

Alouettes Tied for First by Winning Two Over the Weekend

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

From a rating as "shoo-ins" little more than a week ago, the Dominion Champion Toronto Argonauts today faced a rockier road to their second interprovincial Rugby Football Union playoffs than either Montreal Alouettes or Ottawa Rough Riders, the other clubs still in the hunt for the two gravy berths.

This, if only because of its unexpectedness, headlined a thrill-packed weekend in which these were the feature developments in Canada's other three major leagues:

The Western Canada Union played out its schedule and cleared the decks for a two-game series between Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers to declare a Grey Cup finalist.

Two Clubs, Toronto Indians and Hamilton Wildcats, clinched the top two places in the Ontario Rugby Football Union and another pair, Toronto Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials, were virtually assured of grabbing the other two playoff posts in the six-team circuit.

The bucking University of Western Ontario Mustangs showed head and shoulders above the other three clubs in the East's Inter-Collegiate Union and made it seem a pity their own league rules prohibit a Grey Cup challenge.

Still at Top

While still at the top of the Big Four circuit, Argonauts had to share the berth with the onrushing Montreal Alouettes after their 12-3 drubbing by Ottawa Rough Riders at Toronto Saturday. The Allouettes advanced by parlaying a 25-15 victory over Ottawa Sunday with a 19-0 trouncing of the winless Hamilton Tigers Friday night.

In a slump that Coach Ted Morris attributes to a "lack of desire", Argos looked little like the team that went six games unbeaten before a crowd of 16,000 at Varsity Stadium Saturday. Ottawa set them back on their their heels with an early rouge and followed up with touchdowns by Tony Golab and Ken Charlton against Joe Krol's placement.

The Rough Riders, two points off the pace, faded before Montreal's smashing ground attack in their second game in two days. A Montreal crowd of 16,000 saw their Alouettes get majors from Pete King, Joe Richman and Virgil Wagner along with two placements by Ches McCance.

Stretch Streak to Eight

In the O.R.F.U., Indians stretched their unbeaten streak to eight games, one a tie, by whipping Sarnia, 18-0, at Toronto while the Wildcats kept two points behind with a 29-0 conquest of the fifth-place Windsor Rockets at Hamilton. Balmy Beach blanfled the winless Trojans, 11-0, at Ottawa.

With the losers shut out in every one of the three games, Rockets lost all but a mathematical hope of catching the Beach or Sarnia tied for fourth place, while Ottawa were long since counted out of the playoffs.

Slim Ross McKelvey, with two majors, and half Jim Cumming with one were the big point scorers for Indians. For the Beach, Bob Cunningham bagged both their touchdowns while the Wildcats got two touches from speedy Dom Thomas and single majors from Rip Martin, Jimmy Stewart and Chuck Harrison.

Whip Blue Bombers

Saskatchewan Roughriders, hopelessly mired in last place, finished their Western Union schedule in a blaze of glory by whipping the Blue Bombers, 18-17, at Winnipeg to leave them in a first-place tie with Calgary Stampeders.

With big Bob McFarlane bagging 11 points on a major and two placements, Western defeated McGill Redmen, 18-2, at London, for the third straight victory in defence of their intercollegiate crown. Half Don Bark equalled the 11-point performance on a touch-down, a placement and three singles as University of Toronto shut out Queen's, 21-0, at Kingston to remain two points behind Western.

BARONS, BEARS UNDEFEATED IN AMERICAN LOOP

Hershey Stretches Winning Streak to Four Over the Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons and Hershey Bears enter the American Hockey League's second week of play the circuit's only unbeaten teams. Hershey, leading the eastern division, stretched its winning streak to four games during the weekend by nosing out Providence 2-1 Saturday and Buffalo 3-2 last night. The Barons, western division leaders, after defeating Buffalo 5-3 Saturday, were held to a surprising 2-2 deadlock by New Haven's Ramblers yesterday.

The Bears, who lead the Ramblers by three points, spotted Buffalo a first period goal by Paul Mundrick and then came back to tie the score before the initial session was half over on Hymie Buller's conversion of a pass from Gordie Bruce. Armand Gaudreault sent the Hershey Club ahead at 16:05 of the second period on a three-man rush as a Bison power play backfired. Jack McGill made it 3-1 early in the final stanza. Murray Armstrong notched Buffalo's other goal in the final minute of play.

All Scoring in Last

All of the scoring the Baron-Rambler game came in the third period. Ernie Trigg broke the scoreless deadlock before the final session was a minute old, but Lloyd Ailsby and Lin Bend then rifled in goals for the Ramblers, to put New Haven ahead. With six minutes left to play, Fred Thurier rapped home the tieing marker for Cleveland.

Indianapolis Capitals remained within two points of the Barons by beating Springfield 6-2 Saturday and then overwhelming Philadelphia 10-0 Sunday.

Star for the Caps was young Jerry Couture who tallied five goals and two assists for seven points in one night's work. He went to town in the final period when he scored four goals and assisted in another—three of the goals coming within a span of one minute. Les Douglas also had a big night, garnering five assists and a goal.

A Goal Short

Couture fell one goal short of tieing the individual league record of six established by Red Herron of Pittsburgh against New Haven, Feb. 4, 1942.

In the other game, Providence, and Pittsburgh fought to a 5-5 tie.

The Hornets came from behind five times with Peanuts O'Flaherty sending in Pittsburgh's tying marker with only 22 seconds left to play.

Tom Burlington sparked the Red offensive, collecting two goals and three assists in a contest that was highlighted by 14 penalties, nine of which were called in the second period. The penalties included a misconduct on Pittsburgh's Mel Hill and majors on the Hornets' Rod Sloane and Reds' Bus Brayshaw.

The remaining Providence goals were tallied by Brayshaw, R. Wilson and Johnny Chad. Pittsburgh's first four goals were notched by Methe, W. Wilson, Bus Benson and Hamilton.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Oct. 21 (CP) — The ring fraternity is still trying to figure out that affair a couple of weeks back when Danny Webb lifted the Canadian lightweight boxing crown from aging Dave Castilloux.

"Danny Boy," a windmill-like boxer, is the Montreal Negro boy who left here as a preliminary fighter and suddenly blossomed out with the army in England when he downed several British fighters, including flyweight champion Jackie Paterson.

Then he hit a slump and took a few pastings, when his handlers reported he was sick and kept him out of the ring for a while.

When he outpointed Castilloux in a 12-round title go here, ringside observers were left asking themselves the question whether he really had it or not. There's no denying he showed plenty of boxing skill.

But he landed scarcely one solid punch to the head the whole route. About all Castilloux did was duck and dodge—an art he is particularly adept at—as he favored his left hand, injured early in the match. Dave's main artillery is his left jab and without it the fight was especially one-sided.

Now everybody is wondering whether Castilloux could have won if he had been standing up and boxing, or if the younger, agile Webb could have taken him on points.

About the only way the whole thing can be settled is to rematch them, or else try Webb out against some of the other good little men around the resin circuit.

Ringers Yet!

The elder partner of Montreal's Slitkin and Slotkin duo, about whom more than enough apocryphal tales have been told, is the butt of this latest one related by Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson.

Frank Selke, general manager of Canadiens, author of a piece in the Forum program for Thursday night's N.H.L. game, and titled it "Celeritas, Aeternaque, Auctoritas."

Mr. Slitkin, who had been wagering on Rangers, spied this and was in consternation.

"Canadians have rung in a new Greek line, and all bets are off" he groaned as he dashed to the nearest exit.

Who's lucky?

Next time you see a neighbor, or one of the fellows who works with you on your job, tell yourself: "He's a mighty lucky man—and so am I."

We all are, here in Canada. Yet "lucky" isn't quite the word for a people who have the common sense and courage to look at the high prices of many unessential things and say: "This price is too high. I won't pay it."

No, it isn't luck. It's character. It's what The House of Seagram has been proud to extol as a Canadian virtue—the ability of the Canadian people to be moderate in all things—in their thinking, in their actions and in their habits.

Nobody's just "lucky" here in Canada; we've just all helped to make ourselves that way. And because today's moderation is the key to tomorrow's abundance, the people of Canada can look forward with certainty to an abundant tomorrow.

Conservatives Win In Parkdale And Portage La Prairie

Outcome Leaves Govt. With Only Bare Majority

Toronto, Oct. 22 (CP)—A city alderman making his first bid in the federal political ring, Harold Timmins will represent Toronto Parkdale riding and join the Progressive Conservative opposition in the House of Commons at the next session of parliament.

Trailing in early returns, the 49-year-old Toronto lawyer rallied to gain a 550-vote margin over his nearest rival, Lt. Col. John W. G. Hunter, 37-year-old Liberal, narrowest plurality of the last four contests in the riding, held by Conservatives since created in 1914.

Although the C.C.F. candidate, Ford Brand, finished third, his party made the greatest gain in comparison to the 1945 election won by Dr. Herbert A. Bruce who retired last April. The printing press operator received 6,547 votes, 2,359 more than when he contested the last election, while totals for both Progressive Conservative and Liberal candidates were down comparatively.

Election of Mr. Timmins conceded by Col. Hunter, also a lawyer, two hours after the polls closed. Final figures showed Mr. Timmins with 8,193 against 7,643 for the Liberal candidate.

Only other contestants, Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, Labor-Progressive, and Len Palmer, Social-Labor, trailed with 969 and 96 votes respectively.

Assumed Lead Early

Mr. Timmins assumed the lead after reports from the 25th poll of the 168-poll riding had been received, but the Progressive Conservative plurality over the Liberal candidate was lower than in 1935, 1940 and 1945 when margins of 1,858, 1,124 and 1,607 were recorded.

Tragedy and joy marked the light-voting by-election which saw only slightly more than half the 45,000 eligible voters use their ballot. Just before he conceded the election, Col. Hunter learned his wife had borne him a daughter at Kingston, while a few minutes after casting his vote 73-year-old Harry Hand dropped dead.

So close was the voting that Col. Hunter's appearance in the Progressive Conservative committee rooms to shake Mr. Timmins' hand and announce his concession to the press, came as a surprise.

A city alderman for three years, in his campaign Mr. Timmins criticized Dominion government handling of the housing situation. He also advocated raising income tax exemptions for both single and married men.

Ottawa, Oct. 22 (CP)—Political observers today watched for government reaction to the defeat of its candidates by the Progressive Conservatives in Federal by-elections yesterday for the ridings of Toronto Parkdale and Portage La Prairie, Man.

Within the last month the government has faced its first three tests of strength at the polls since the general election in June, 1945. It has lost all three tests, two of them in what were generally considered safe Liberal ridings.

Harold Timmins, 49-year-old lawyer, retained the Toronto seat for the Progressive Conservatives while his party colleague in Portage, C. C. Miller, won that riding from the Liberals. A month ago, Real Caouette, a supporter of the Social Credit party, won a by-election for the former Liberal riding of Pontiac in Quebec.

First reaction of the Toronto and Manitoba results came from John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, who telegraphed a statement from Burlington, Vt., where he was en route to New York for the meetings of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Mr. Bracken said the chief issue in the Portage election had been the government's "inept agricultural policy" and that the other issues, common to both constituencies, were government failure to achieve industrial peace or a solution to the housing problem, government waste and burdensome taxes.

He thanked the voters of both constitutencies and said "both new members will bring added strength to the forces of regional progress in the House of Commons."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King was kept informed of the returns at his summer home at Kingsmere, Que., but followed his usual practice of not commenting on the outcome of by-elections.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, already was in New York for the U.N. assembly meetings when the results became known, and Solon Low, leader of the Social Credit party, fourth largest in the Commons, did not have candidates in the by-elections.

The outcome of the two by-elections left the Liberals with the slimmest majority any government has had since the 1925-26 parliament when the Progressive party with only 24 members held the balance of power that eventually brought defeat to the Commons to the Conservative government which had only 116 members.

As a result of the by-elections and of the death Sunday of Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, independent member for the Quebec constituency of Ricelieu-Vercheres, the standing in the Commons now is:

Liberals, 125; Progressive Conservatives, 67; C.C.F. 28; Social Credit, 13; Independent, four; Bloc Populaire, two; Independent Liberal, one; Independent Progressive Conservative, one; Independent C.C.F. one; L'Union Des Electeurs De Pontiac, one; Labor Progressive, one; vacant, one; total 245

LEWIS TOSSES THREAT OF NEW STRIKE AT GOVT.

Breach of Contract Charged And Hints New Wage Demands Will be Made

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Oct. 22 (AP) — John L. Lewis tossed the threat of a new soft coal strike at the Truman administration today, hinting broadly at new wage demands and charging the government with breach of contract.

Mr. Lewis' new challenge, ending nearly six months of comparative silence, could mean a walkout of the United States' 400,000 soft-coal miners by Nov. 20 on the ice edge of winter.

Unleashing his attack with sudden fury, the United Mine Workers' union boss accused the government of contract breaches resulting in "the loss of millions of dollars due to the mine workers."

In a letter to Interior Secretary J. A. Krug yesterday, Mr. Lewis demanded that negotiations for a completely new contract begin by Nov. 1, and coupled with it a threat to tear up the existing contract in 30 days.

Mr. Krug, reached at Amarillo, Tex., during an inspection trip, expressed shock at Mr. Lewis' assertions.

"The government has not breached its contract with the United Mine Workers," he declared.

"I have already suggested to Mr. Lewis arbitration on these (disputed) points . . .

"The government's contract with the United Mine Workers covers wages, hours and working conditions during the period of government operation. It does not provide for re-opening of the contract to revise wages or hours."

Mr. Krug disclosed that he and Mr. Lewis had a heated discussion in his office last Saturday. He also asserted that in his opinion some of the wildcat coal strikes constituted a breach of contract on the part of the miners.

Mr. Krug voiced confidence that the government pact "will stand for the period of government operation" of the soft-coal mines. He was not certain whether he would return to Washington by Nov. 1, as requested by Mr. Lewis. His trip is scheduled to continue through Nov. 4.

Coincidental with Mr. Lewis' new blast, Naval Capt. Norman H. Collisson, Federal Coal Mines Administrator, disclosed that he had written a letter to Mr. Lewis accepting the decision of an Illinois arbitrator—a decision favorable to the union—on the issue of vacations, one of the points raised by Lewis in his charge of contract violations.

Capt. Collisson's letter further suggested the appointment of an umpire to decide the second specific point: Whether coal should be weighed at the "tipple," as it comes out of the mines in tiny cars, or after it has been washed and impurities removed and the clean marketable coal loaded on railroad freight cars.

It was on this score that Mr. Lewis contended the miners had lost "millions" of dollars which otherwise would have gone to their health and welfare fund. The fund receives a royalty of five cents a ton. Mr. Lewis insisted on tipple weighing.

British Trades Union Congress Favors 100-Per-Cent Unionism

Brighton, Sussex, England, Oct. 22 (CP)—The Trades Union Congress, representing more than 6,000,000 British workers, today adopted a declaration of its general council setting forth the principle that no worker has the right to stay out of a union.

Only two dissenting votes were cast as the Congress, powerful friend of the British Labor party, approved the statement favoring 100-per-cent unionism.

"The liberty of the individual is not an absolute and unqualified right," the council statement declared. "It is subject to restrictions for social ends which admit of no compromise, and one of them is that the presence of non-unionists may result, and often has resulted in the past, in the stoppage of an entire trade

"No consideration, either of ethics or expediency, can justify a man or woman taking, without return, the benefit of sacrifices made by their fellow workers in building up a union."

The policy statement followed heated discussion recently of the closed shop issue, which came to a head when a powerful transport and general workers union won recognition as the sole union for employees of the company which runs London's transport systems.

Opposition to the closed-shop principle has been expressed by newspapers editorially and by Conservative members in parliament.

Hugh Gibson, a director of the nationalized Bank of England, called on labor for production increases to prove what he called the advantages of socialism over free enterprise. He cited "immense internal difficulties" resulting from free enterprise in the United States and said:

"I hesitate to think what the consequences would have been in similar circumstances had a government of any other political complexion been handling the affairs of Great Britain.

"To those who suggest that the way out is by complete freedom of industry, I would only point out the example we see in the United States, who, blessed with raw materials in abundant supply and an industrial machine that has been stimulated and increased by the war, yet find themselves in immense internal difficulties because private enterprise finds its profit in the highest market, regardless of the well-being of the mass of the people."

77,000 Germans Stop Jobs, Protest Three Bombings

Stuttgart, Germany, Oct. 22 — (AP)—Nearly 77,000 German workers staged a 15-minute work stoppage today in protest against three bombings in the Stuttgart area, staged Saturday by anti-denazification extremists for whom United States troops and German police searched in four armed swoops during the night.

Fifty-eight Germans were arrested in two of last night's raids.

The labor representatives asserted that the strike had the support of the four major political parties in American-occupied Germany.

The strike took place after United States constabulary, German police and American counter-intelligence agents raided four areas in central Stuttgart in a house to house search for the men who planted the bombs in an apparent protest against the strict German denazification boards.

The combined law enforcement agencies detained several score of suspects for questioning. The raids, lasting through the night, were in at least one case supported by American tanks and hundreds of heavily armed United States soldiers.

The protest strike—said to express the "resentment" of German workers over the first use of force in the United States zone since the war's end—was the biggest organized demonstration since American forces took over their occupation duties.

Recollection Of Profitable Deal Delights Breeder

Woodstock, Oct. 22 —(CP)— A leading Holstein breeder for 50 years, 82-year-old James Rettie of nearby Burgessville plans to put his prize-winning herd of 43 pure bred cattle on the auction block next month.

First Oxford county breeder to exhibit prize-winning stock at Toronto livestock shows, Mr. Rettie started building his herd in 1896. Later he became an expert cattle judge.

He told today how cheaply cattle could be bought 50 years ago—and how easy it was to make money on them. "I bought one heifer calf from a Yankee for $27," he recalled with a chuckle. "I fed her up and showed her then sold her for $1,000 — and to another Yankee too."

NO BOXES FOR APPLES

Vancouver, Oct. 22 — (CP) — The Vancouver News-Herald, in a newspage story from Kelowna, B.C., last night said millions of apples will be left on the trees of the Okanagan Valley this season because of shortage of packing boxes. The story said that despite a crop surpassing all expectations, now estimated at 10,000,000 boxes, many growers are unable to pack their crops.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE GIVEN IN ROCKET CASE

Toronto, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Found guilty of criminal negligence in the death of Walter Zanuck, 19, last May 2, Samuel Fanuzzio, 16, received suspended sentence in court of general sessions yesterday. Zanuck was killed when a skyrocket, set off by Fanuzzio, entered his eye and pierced his brain.

Bevin Determined to Achieve Enduring Understanding Of U.K., U.S., Russia and China

International Character Of Dardanelles Stressed

London, Oct. 22 —(CP)— Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons today he is "not unhopeful" that the major powers will achieve lasting amity.

He reaffirmed his determination to achieve understanding among the great powers—Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China.

"It will not be the fault of His Majesty's Government if it does not come," he declared, opening a two-day debate on basic British foreign policy.

Mr. Bevin told the House of Commons that Britain is eager to conclude an enduring peace with Japan and ensure against future Japanese aggression.

He spoke of "encouraging signs" in Indonesia (the rich Netherlands East Indies), said British troops would leave the islands by Nov. 30 and commented:

"I have every hope that, by that date, a settlement will have been reached."

Position of Iran

He declared that any suggestion that Britain wants to exploit and suppress peoples of the eastern Mediterranean is "sheer nonsense."

Speaking of Iran, where Russian and British interests are in conflict, he said:

"I am very anxious that the smaller governments should fall victim of any difference of opinion by the three larger ones."

"We wish to see Persia (Iran) ..free from foreign interference ..If this is observed by all countries this area will be kept clear of any possible conflict."

Mr. Bevin said Britain has made it clear that if Russian demands for bases in the Dardanelles are granted, it would involve an "unwarranted interference with the sovereignty of Turkey."

Observing that he agreed the 1936 Montreux Convention granting Turkey control of the strategic Black Sea straits required modification, he added:

"The British government was anxious to keep the international aspect of this waterway always in view."

"Our view," he added, Is that direct exchanges of view provided by the Potsdam agreement have come to an end and that any further discussions should, therefore, take place in an intrenational conference called for this purpose."

"War of Nerves"

Mr. Bevin reiterated that international negotiations would be helped if "the war of nerves ceased."

"A new atmosphere would be created which would enable the matter to be dealt with on a much better footing."

About Egypt, the foreign secretary said:

"We are handicapped in bringing our negotiations with Egypt to a conclusion by internal political difficulties in Egypt itself."

A dozen foreign ambassadors and ministers sat in the gallery of the packed House listening to his address, which had been spoken of in the British press as "the most important speech of his career."

The foreign secretary, turning to one of Britain's major foreign affairs issues, declared:

Best Effort to Recreate Greece

"We hmvae done our best to recreate Greece."

He announced British determination to see things there put right, and declared:

"So far as the government is concerned we will not desert Greece after the great comradeship that existed between us, and we shall pursue our policy of trying to assist her economically as well...

"Outside interference with Greece must stop."

His announcement roused cries of "leave her alone" from various sections of the House.

"I am not interfering," the foreign secretary retorted, "and neither is the government. I give the lie direct to all these charges."

He said Britain plans to withdraw her troops from Greece as "early as possible."

He said two special envoys have been sent to investigate charges that the Royalist government obstructed the Greek trade union movement.

Mr. Bevin leaves Saturday aboard the Aquitania for the New York United Nations meeting.

Agreement on Germany Necessary.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared that we must either have the Potsdam Agreement observed as a whole and in the order of those decisions or we must have a new agreement."

He declared that an "agreement on Germany is at once the touchstone of the relations among the four powers and our opportunity to build a lasting peace and security for the world."

He expressed "almost complete agreement," with State Secretary Byrnes' pronouncements on the future of Germany in his Stuttgart speech and added that, "equally, we welcome Marshal Stalin's statement."

He said Britain had no military interest nor "any narrow national interest" in Trieste, where he said British interest "is purely one of international trade." He expressed hope that British troops could be withdrawn from both Trieste and Greece.

MCLEAN, BOHOZUK TO STAND TRIAL NEXT JANUARY

Case Rests on Whether Condemned Widow Testifies in Torso Crime

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hamilton, Oct. 22 (CP)—In the hands of pert Evelyn Dick, herself sentenced to die, rested today the crown's case against her father, Donald MacLean, and her one-time boy friend, William Bohozuk, both charged with the murder of John Dick, street car motorman.

That is the killing on which she herself was convicted but whether the crown can proceed at the January assizes with its charges against the two male accused seemed to depend largely on whether she changes her mind and decides to talk as a crown witness in Hamilton's second torso trial.

Dismisses Jury

Her silence brought an end to the trial of Bohozuk and MacLean yesterday when Mr. Justice George Urquhart, acting on a crown motion, dismissed the jury and set the case over for trial at the next jury assizes in January.

The crown said certain vital evidence—the testimony of Mrs. Dick—was not available and for that reason it did not wish to proceed with the case at this time. His Lordship decided the crown should have a chance to prove the case if it could and turned down a defence motion for dismissal of the charges against the two accused at this time.

At the same time His Lordship traversed to the next jury assizes the joint charges of murder against Bohozuk and Mrs. Dick. Charges laid in connection with the death of the infant Peter Donald White MacLean whose body was found encased in cement in a suitcase at Mrs. Dick's home when police investigated the torso killing of her husband.

For Mr. MacLean the crown said it would consider bail of four sureties of $4,000 and next month he will appear in court on a charge of theft from his employer, the Hamilton Street Railway from which, police charge, he took large sums over a long period of time.

The first trial was that of Evelyn herself which, so far as Hamilton was concerned, was a nine-day wonder. The second was that of her father and Bohozuk at which she twice was brought to the witness box and stood there mute, in dramatic, silent defiance of the prosecution.

It was that very silence which hung up the second case.

It was apparent from the start that without Mrs. Dick's testimony the crown's case was stymied. The evidence was the same in this trial as in that of the comely 26-year-old widow. It was about bones found in ashes at her house, about the finding of a torso on Hamilton Mountain last March 16, about the people who last saw Dick on March 6 and about people who told of quarrels not only between Dick and Bohozuk, who went about with Mrs. Dick, but also people who saw Dick and his father-in-law quarrelling.

No Direct Link

But there was nothing directly linking Bohozuk and MacLean with the killing.

HARD TO EMPTY BOILER

Toronto, Oct. 22 — (CP)—The rivalry between Toronto and Hamilton has apparently spread to steam-whistles. In the small hours of Monday morning the citizens of Hamilton living near the depot were awakened by the piercing blast of a train whistle which continued to sound off until treated by the train crew. Not to be outdone by Hamilton, the whistle on a yard engine in Toronto jammed Monday night and kept police phones ringing steadily with queries as to the origin of the banshee-like wail. In this case the crew had to let the boiler run out of steam before it stopped.

Berlin Vote Seen Protest Against Forced Red Merger

Berlin, Oct. 22 — (AP) — Gen. Joseph T. McNarney today described the outcome of municipal elections in Berlin Sunday as "an expression of dissatisfaction by the population of this city against the present Communist dominated government."

"The people voted in protest against the forced Communist merger of parties," the United States European commander added. He referred to the fact that in the Soviet zone the Communist party had been merged with the Social Democrats into a new party called the Socialist Unity party.

In Sunday's election the Social Democrats, voting as a party, decisively defeated social unity in Berlin, where the merger was not effective.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, October 22 — (CP)—Synopsis: Slightly cooler air is advancing across the Prairies and will likely reach Northern Ontario by tonight and push through Southern Ontario on Wednesday. Maximum temperatures in the cooler air are in the fifties as contrasted with maximums near sixty reported over Ontario on Monday. A storm north of Lake Winnipeg is preceded by a considerable rain area and is advancing northeastward toward Hudson Bay. It is not expected to affect regions other than James Bay.

Smart Work by Toronto Police Results In Arrest of "Paper Bag" Robber

Toronto, Oct. 22 (CP)—William A. Miller, 30, of Toronto, charged by police with being the "paper bag" robber who on Monday night held up Ignatz Kachan in his St. Catharines grocery store, was trapped by constables early today. Police said he drove into a dead-end lane here and was captured before he realized he was being followed.

Miller is charged with theft of two cars and an auto licence, armed robbery, shooting with intent to maim and breaking and entering two service stations. Police said all charges are related to his movements last night.

When word of the holdup reached here from St. Catharines, Toronto police broadcast a description of Miller and the car he was driving Detectives George Holmes and Adolphus Payne, cruising in Toronto's west end, noticed a car which fitted the description.

They trailed Miller into a cul-de-sac and got out of their car as Miller's front fender touched a wooden fence barring the way.

"He couldn't back out," Payne related. "so he tried to break through the fence. The front end of the car broke through but the engine stalled. We were able to walk up, reached in from both sides and pin his arms.

"He had no chance to go for the gun we later found in his trouser pocket."

Police said the gun was a .45-calibre weapon loaded with 15 bullets. They said they recovered another clip of bullets and $25 from other pockets.

Police alleged Miller stole a car from Alex Johnson of Toronto and drove to St. Catharines where he entered Kachan's store, brandishing a revolver.

He pulled a paper bag from his pocket, told the storekeeper to "put it all in there" and emphasized the demand by firing a shot over Kachan's head, police charged.

Kachan told police he pretended to be extremely nervous and, feigning difficulty stuffing bills into the bag, dropped several on the floor. Told to put his silver into the bag, Kachan dropped a $10 roll of dimes and several copper coins. He managed to poke his fist through the bag and the loot fell to the floor.

Estelle Bulanda, 17, entered the store during the holdup and police said Miller slapped her across the face and fled. A passerby jotted down the number of his car licence.

Foreigners Mistakingly Try to Judge Russia on Basis of Their Own Country

(Eddy Gilmore, Chief of The Associated Press Bureau in Moscow for the last five years, has returned there after a five-months visit to the United States, England and Sweden. During his visit he heard the criticism of Russia which is rampant in the western world. In the following article he presents the Russian viewpoint on some of the questions raised.)

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 22 (AP)— One of the biggest obstacles between a foreigner and an understanding of Russia is the effort to judge Russia on the basis of any other country in the world—particularly the United States and Britain.

The new arrival from the United States looks at Moscow or Leningrad and says: "It isn't like this at home. Why don't they do this the American way?"

He faces his first meal in a Russian hotel and usually his initial comment is, "why don't they cook my eggs like they do in the States?

He buys a Russian cigaret and gasps, "why do they have these yellow pasteboard ends? Why aren't they like the ones at home?"

The American then becomes involved in the rigid formality of an official procedure, and sighs: "why, oh why, can't they do business the American way?"

Unconsciously, it seems, many Americans feel that nothing in the world would please the Russians more than to have Russia like America.

While Russia is high in her praise of American technique, the truth is that she covets little else American.

The Russians are satisfied with the way their eggs are cooked. They like their cigarets and think the American type are wasteful because half to a quarter of the tobacco is thrown away, whereas their pasteboard tips allow them to use all of the tobacco.

Far from longing to do business in the American way, they think her swift, pushing, super-efficient methods are slightly clownish, put too much emphasis on speed, and are generally not as sound as theirs.

The Russian people have suffered a long, hard war, especially for a nation just 29 years old. The people do not have many things, especially the luxuries which are found abroad, but they believe they will have them some day — and in abundance.

They are quite convinced their state is built on far sounder foundations than are the governments of the capitalistic world. They neither expect nor fear any Russian depression, although they are not so certain about the United States.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IN WOODEND CASE

Verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury Monday evening at the inquest looking into the death of James A. Woodend who died in Belleville General Hospital following burns and shock sustained when he fell into hot ashes in the cinder car at the C.N.R. roundhouse late last week.

The inquest was conducted by Dr. J. J. Robertson with Assistant Crown Attorney S. Gordon Robertson acting for the Crown.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ANNUAL DINNER

Arrangements have been completed for the annual trek of the Rotary Club and its ladies to Plainfield, where the ladies of that community will serve a chicken dinner. The date has been set for November 15 and an auspicious program has been arranged.

HICKORY NUTS HALF OF NORMAL

Hickory nuts are roughly fifty per cent of a normal crop, a grower stated today. The yield however is of good average size and the quality good. Looks like a hard winter for the squirrels, he remarked.

BOAT OWNERS GETTING THEIR CRAFT STORED

The bay is gradually assuming its annual autumn appearance as boat and yacht owners are getting busy putting their craft in winter quarters. There were several additions to the boat family of the city during the past summer, one sailing enthusiast noted. He added that owners took more than the ordinary care of their craft in 1946 as practically all types of boats showed new paint jobs and a general overhauling.

Charles Airhart Given Suspended Sentence

Pleading guilty to a charge of breaking jail at Bancroft on Oct. 3rd when two cellmates Kenneth Jackson and Royce Seymour escaped after their guard was bludgeoned over the head with a hardwood billet, Charles Airhart of Bancroft was given two years suspended sentence when he appeared in Madoc police court Monday before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd.

Jackson and Seymour were arrested 20 hours after their jail break and appearing in police court at Belleville two weeks ago on charges of jail breaking and robbery with violence were sentenced to eight and five years respectively in Kingston penitentiary. At the time Jackson and Seymour escaped from jail Airhart remained in his cell.

Airhart originally was scheduled to be heard on the jail break charge at the same time as his two companions but when arraigned at Belleville stated that he wanted to be represented by counsel. The hearing was then enlarged to the Madoc court when Robert Pringle of this city appeared as counsel for the accused.

On a second charge against Airhart of robbery with violence the Crown offered no evidence and the charge was dismissed.

Kinsmen Entertain Optimist Club

The Kinsmen Club of Belleville played hosts to members of the Optimist Club at their regular bi-monthly dinner meeting held Monday evening at the Quinte Hotel. Approximately forty members of the recently inaugurated club, together with their president, Bob Kidd, attended the meeting, along with Kiwanis president Mark Vanner.

Guest speaker for the evening war Gordon Friesen, administrator of Belleville General Hospital, who spoke on his experiences while serving in occupied Germany as hospital administrator with the occupational forces.

Volunteers for the forthcoming Kinsmen tag day on Saturday were asked for by club president Newton Wilbur, while members of the club were also asked to turn out and assist at the Hallowe'en party to be staged at the Y.M.C.A. on the evening of Oct. 31st. Plans for the Kinsmen Variety Show at the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday night were also discussed by club members. Entertainment during the evening was provided by J. Bankier who was heard in several solo numbers. Phil Huddleston acted as piano accompanist.

Canadian Artillery School To Be Established at Picton

Preliminary organization of Canada's first post-war Royal Canadian School of Artillery was set in motion yesterday at Picton where two Canadian Army permanent force units officially took over quarters formerly occupied by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. on "Reservoir Hill."

Units to be quartered in the new military establishment are the 128th Heavy Anti Aircraft Battery and the 129 Light A. A. Battery.

The new army centre will become the only anti-aircraft training depot in Canada superseding that formerly held in Dartmouth, N.S. wartime spot for artillery training of this nature. Actual firing will take place at the Point Petre ranges.

It is expected that 1,000 personnel will be housed in the new camp permanently with this number increased when reserve army units train there for the annual summer camp.

The commanding officer is Lieut. Col. R. G. Fisher, M.B.E., E.O.D., who saw considerable service overseas with the guns.

Steam Dredge Starts Operations To Open Channel to New Coal Dock

The powerful steam dredge "Dragon Rouge" dipped its heavy bucket into the water a few yards east of the government coal dock yesterday afternoon to inaugurate the first post-war planning development scheme of the city; a channel 400 feet in length, 100 feet in width and 16 feet in depth which will permit ships to berth at the newly proposed coal-site area.

The new dockage area will extend 350 feet due east of the present dock and will be supported by a timber pilework foundation with a timber-cut wall and surmounted by a concrete superstructure.

The development is the aftermath of a request by Mayor Follwell and Chairman Fred Chamberlain of the Harbor Commission who, with others waited on the Federal Minister of Public Works some time ago to point out the necessity of the construction of the additional dockage area.

The "Dragon Rouge" anchored a few yards off the dock started dredging operations yesterday in little over six feet of water. Her powerful winch and heavy bucket bit deeply into a strata of clay, gravel and sand, with a number of large flat stones coming occasionally to the surface.

Take Two Weeks

The entire dredging operation is expected to be completed in approximately two weeks according to Captain Fred O'Shea, skipper of the dredge. The work will be delayed to some extent due to the fact that the bay bottom debris at this point must be taken by tug and scow two or three miles down bay to be dumped.

D. E. Manchester, engineer in charge of the project, of the Federal Department of Public Works, stated this morning that it was unfortunate that the water is so shallow in the area immediately north of the proposed channel and south of the city dump, as to prevent tugs and scows from dumping the fill in this spot.

The tug draws at least nine ft. of water and the scows less, but there is only roughly four feet of water in the area to be filled in.

The scows are of 240 yards capacity and are equipped with four bins which open automatically and dump their loads to the bay bottom.

Special construction will be utilized in the installation of the wooden piles to eliminate seepage of fill into the newly-dredged channel.

Frightened Mouse Frightens Women Workers in Plant

Hickory, dickory dock
The mouse didn't run up the clock,
Instead of the jaunt, it ran round the plant
And thirty girls fainted from shock.

That is approximately what happened the other day in the Greer Tomato Canning plant in Wellington, when a brave little mouse, driven from its temporary all-night lodging in the warmth of a cooled tomato scalder, dashed out to scamper along a tomato peeling table as forty-five women prepared for work.

The mouse made its hurried exit as workmen of the plant turned on scalding steam to start the day's work. A brownish ball shot out of the end of the scalder, and racing along the edge of the table as women screamed and jumped to the safety of their chairs.

Razor-edged tomato peeling knives clutched in the hands of the peelers were forgotten. The mousy ball of fright dashed through a gauntlet of scared women and searched anxiously for an exit.

Finding none it sought the safety of the floor beneath the table and once more the ladies sought the safety of their chairs.

Finally the mouse was despatched by a blow from a heavy broom in the hands of a husky workman and peace once more reigned in the canning plant.

Milk Producers Likely to Strike If Price Reduced

Kingston, Oct., Oct. 22 (CP)—The possibility of a milk producers strike if the present price of $3.35 a hundredweight for whole milk is reduced was suggested at a meeting of Kingston milk producers last night.

The meeting, attended by 200, decided to support the Ontario whole milk producers executive if it decided at a meeting in Toronto today to strike in the event the price is reduced. Officials said they would not dump or destroy milk but would deliver it instead to creameries, cheese factories and condensing plants.

It was reported at the meeting there was a possibility the price might be reduced by $1.00 a hundredweight.

The price rose to $3.35 a hundredweight Oct. 1 when an increase of $1.05 became effective as a result of agreement between producers and distributors. This increase came after cancellation of the Dominion government's producer subsidy of 55 cents. Retail prices also went up Oct. 1—three cents a quart to 15 to 17 cents.

Steel Production Will Quickly Resume Normal

Sydney N. S., Oct. 22 (CP)—The first steel to come out of the mills of the Sydney steel plant as a result of steppep-up production from the steady back-to-work movement is expected tomorrow as the workers flock back to work following settlement of a management-union dispute oyer deduction in the plants's working force.

The plant —Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation—has been operating on a strike maintenance basis since July 15 when workers in Canada's three basic steel plants went on strike.

More than half the regular staff were on the job at the foundry yesterday while activity also picked up in the mechanical department and a "good sprinkling" of men was reportde in all shops.

A union spokesman said that within 10 days or two weeks near the full production peak although the plant will not be in full operation by then. The coke ovens will be "stepped-up" every 24 hours and by the end of the week should reach the wartime production peak.

TO USE BLACK FLAGS

Toronto, Oct. 22 — (CP) — As a grim reminder to motorists, a black flag will fly from the Bang Building near the corner of Danforth and Pape Avenue, Toronto's second worst accident spot. On accident-free days, the flag will be replaced by the Union Jack.

Sales Course Sponsored By Board of Trade

A streamlined course in advanced salesmanship and bringing out the requisites of impressive speaking will be offered to young men and women in the Belleville district next month when the Lacy Sales Course will be held in the city.

There will be five lectures at the Bridge Street United Church auditorium by the Canadian instructor, C. W. "Bill" Wright, with lectures scheduled to commence on Nov. 1st and continue each Friday evening until November 29. The course is being sponsored in the city by the Junior Board of Trade as a contribution to the business life of Belleville.

Every angle of salesmanship is adequately covered by the Lacy Sales Course with students learning by actual "doing". Two subjects are discussed at each meeting when students not only enjoy fascinating lectures which analyze fundamentals of selling but learn through personal application of each technique and procedure.

The result is a thorough organization of knowledge of selling which brings an immediate increase in selling power and a great increase in ability to train other salesmen.

The correct procedure in how to relax nervous tension, how to hold the interest of listeners and how to sway listeners, is also demonstrated as well as the easy way to organize a speech and how to develop personality.

Junior Board of Trade members point out that the sales course will be of advantage to everyone whether or not they are directly associated with selling. Almost every walk of life calls for salesmanship of some sort and every angle is covered by the course.

C.N.R. Veterans Hold Meeting

Members of the Canadian National War Veterans Association resumed their autumn activities on Friday evening when they staged a ladies' night in connection with their regular smoke and entertainment. President H. McElrath occupied the chair.

The meeting opened with two minutes silence in honor of fallen comrades, following which the entertainment committee in charge of Larry Amo took charge of the meeting.

The Boyd sisters, Dora Marie and Joan Elizabeth, favored with a piano duet while Jamie Clarke and Marie Nash drew a big hand following their Scotch numbers. Alf Cooper and his quintette of boys, Doug Barlow, Robert Barlow, Jim Dowcett, Don Charlton, and Bill Shaw favored with instrumental selection, while H. Foote added a touch of humour to the proceedings with his comedy skits.

Community singing was enjoyed with Tommy Mason at the piano, while expression of appreciation to the various artists participating in the program was given by Albert H. Jones.

Week's Remand Given Miller

Charged with obtaining the sum of $75 by false pretences from a local resident, Nelson Miller, proprietor of the Miller Construction Company, was remanded for one week when he appeared in local police court before Magistrate T. Y. Wills today.

Request for the week's enlargement was made by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan who stated the Crown would be ready to proceed with the case in a week's time and after the accused had been given a mental examination. The accused was arrested two weeks ago following complaints received by police that Miller had failed to complete construction contracts which he had entered with various parties.

"Have you any objections to going to mental hospital for a while," asked Magistrate Wills of the accused.

"I certainly have," was the reply. "I have been honorably discharged from the United States Army and I don't think there is anything wrong with me."

When asked if he wanted to secure counsel the accused replied that he considered himself capable of handling his own case. Although the Crown appeared to disagree, the magistrate indicated that bail for the accused would be considered providing $2,000 cash security could be secured.

Elgin Ford Named President Of Belleville Lawn Bowling Club at Annual Meeting

Organization in Sound Financial Condition; Improvements Mooted for Next Season

The annual meeting of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club held at the Clubhouse on Monday evening closed one of the most successful seasons of that organization. The finances were shown to be in excellent condition, the membership held up to former years and the Corbin Gold Cup committee transferred to the general fund $800 for further improvements on the property and greens. The members participated in the discussions of questions brought before the meeting and next year there will be no inovations for the bowlers who participate in this excellent summer pastime a concerted effort will be made to add to the membership and anyone desirous of having a summer of fun would be well advised to learn the game of bowling.

Elgin Ford President

Elgin Ford, a popular and hard working member of the club for some years was the unanimous choice of the members for the office of president for the ensuing year. He has served on many committees and always willing to assist in any work that would benefit the club as a whole. George Pauley, the outgoing president in turning over the reins of office thanked the members for their co-operation in the past year. Mr. Pauley was thanked for his work as president for considerable progress was made in the club program under the direction of the president and the executive. Mr. Ford in accepting office told the members that the president could not do the job alone but the help of every member was needed. He asked the members if they would contact him or members of the executive when any criticism was to be offered instead of talking about it on the streets. "I am sure the member will get consideration if he follows that plan," said Mr. Ford.

Named Honorary President

At the election of officers Ernie Vanner, who suffered a serious illness in the middle of the season was named Honorary President with George Pauley as Vice President. Harold Cross was again named treasurer and the members presented the efficient treasurer with a pen and pencil set in recognition of long and faithful service to the club. Cyril McBride accepted the post of secretary and in this bowler the club has secured a valuable assistant and one that will take a keen interest in the affairs of the club. Ray Zufelt, who did such an excellent job as games chairman last year was again elected to that position. In his report to the meeting he showed that a profit of $204.75 had been made on the jitneys and tournaments run by the club during the season and he thanked his committee of Doug Rowe, George Watkin, Cyril McBride and Tommy Caton for the invaluable assistance given him in his work. The greens chairman is Harry Thompson and the executive committee Doug Rowe, Howard Hanton, A. E. Wonnacott, Cliff Argue, Tommy Caton, Claude D. Tice and Wally Embury.

All Parties Thanked.

Cliff Argue, chairman of the tournament committee, thanked the city council, the industrial firms, the merchants for the assistance in donating to this cause to make this tournament one of the best in Eastern Ontario. "The Corbin Cup tournament has brought a lot of favorable publicity to the city and now it is not a question of whether the entry list will be complete but how to accommodate all those who wish to enter" said the speaker. Howard Hanton read the financial report showing $800 transferred to the general fund of the club and Doug Row moved a vote of thanks to the ladies for their fine co-operation during the tournament.

Mr. Argue also discussed the recent Provincial championships held on the local greens and read several letters from prominent officials of the P.L.B.A. in which they appreciated the fine co-operation of the club and citizens and the City Council for their entertainment during the contests. The several cups won in competition during the year were awarded, D. Grant, R. Grant, H. Hanton and Doug Row were presented with the Rainbird Trophy as emblematic of the club championship. This cup is a new one presented by Joseph Rainbird now of Collingwood, but formerly a resident of this city and an enthusiastic member of the bowling club for many years. The Hurley trophy for the doubles title was won by Alf Symons and Austin Watkin and presented by George Watkin, a past president. The trebles cup was won by Gerald Hyde, Herb Middleton and Doug Row and the presentation was made by John Shaw, also a past president.

Two Gamblers Plead Little Money Involved

That it does not pay to shoot "craps", especially in public and in full view of the law, was learned by two local residents who appeared in police court Tuesday morning.

Called to the stand for arraignment on the gambling charge the two were not so sure they had been gambling when they had been accosted in their car on Front Street by the police officer. They admitted they had been playing dice but said there was no money, or at least "very little money" involved, consequently they could not be charged with gambling.

"Don't go telling me the law," returned Magistrate Wills. "If there was only three cents involved then you can be charged with gambling under the act."

A hurried consultation between the two young men resulted in a change of their plea to one of "guilty" and each were assessed $5 fine and costs.

ASSEMBLY

To the lively strains of "Wings Over the Navy", the entire school filed into the Auditorium for the most enjoyable assembly of this term. Devotional exercises were led by Mr. Burgess, and after singing "Stand Up, Stand Up, For Jesus" under Mr. Fletcher's direction, and "God Save the King" to the accompaniment of the band, Dick Stackhouse introduced the new president of the Student's Council — Lois Flindall. Mr. Currie then called on Ron Button and Clifford Summers who made sports announcements and asked that the students show more school spirit. These worthy gents, with the aid of Lois Flindall, Nora Ellis, Dorothy Bishop, and John O'Flynn, showed their enthusiasm by leading us in a series of rugby yells. The response was not good — perhaps we were faint from hunger. They requested that more of us enter the "Rugby Yell Contest". All brainwaves must be submitted to them by next week, and the prize is five dollars.

A sing song was presented on the screen as the noon hour drew near. Many and varied were the French accents as we struggled through "Frere Jacques".

The curtain fell as the dismissal bell rang — a well-timed assembly!

GIRLS' SPORTS

By RUTH MEADES, (XIIB)

Our girls got off to a good start in Volleyball this term, the first game being played on Oct. 1.

12B vs. 12A, refereed by Shirley Mott. The resulting score was 32-22.

This schedule has been followed out for the past two and a half weeks.

Oct 3—12F vs. 12D—A score of 34-39 for 12D, referee, Mary Hamilton.

Oct. 2—12C vs. 13C—A score of 41-29. Referee Meribeth Miller.

Oct. 3—12D vs. 12B—A score of 35-42 for 12B—Referee, Marie Marinoff.

Oct. 4—12B vs. 12C—A score of 49-50. Referee Sheila McEven.

Oct. 7—11A vs. 11B—Score 36-10. Referee Shirley Mott.

Oct. 8—11C vs. 11D—Score 46-33. Referee, Our own Corinne Spring.

Oct. 9—12C vs. 13A.

Oct. 10—11A vs. 11C—Scored 35-57. Referee Mary Hamilton.

Oct. 16—11C vs. 11F — Had a bit of trouble, so played for two games out of three. Resulting score 42-43. Refereed by Mary Hamilton.

Thursday, Oct. 10—We played our first two games versus the O. S. D. girls. The girls were picked from Grade 9. The score being 15-12 and 15-14 for them. We were hopelessly defeated in basketball. They've got a very good team. Come on girls, get mobile.

The elections were held and the votes were cast for the Girls' Athletic Society. The following have the positions:

President: Lowella Homan.

Vice-president: Joyce McClellan.

Secretary: Jean Flintuff.

Treasurer: Jaye Campbell.

"BOYS' SPORTS"

On Wednesday a good crowd of supporters under our cheer leaders went up to the Albert Campus to witness our seniors play the Picton seniors. It was good football weather and our players certainly must have taken advantage of it because when the final whistle blew the score was 28 to 0.

A week ago last Thursday our juniors played the Albert juniors in an exhibition game which the Albert squad won in a close game of 7 to 6.

Interform Games:

On Wednesday XA opposed XB in a game that almost ended up a tie game but XB managed to put the extra point over they needed, to win with a score of 11 to 10.

9B took a severe beating from 9G when these seemingly athletes won with a creditable score of 27 to 0.

A cold rain did not stop 9H and 10B in the semi-finals on Thursday when they battled out a tie game with the score of 5 to 5.

In an off the record game 11B played the O.S.D. boys in a fast game of basketball on the O.S.D. floor. The institute's players won with a score of 19 to 15.

CUFF NOTES

Thanksgiving Day has come and gone. The long, haggard faces and blue-rimmed eyes, of the thirteenth grade students (I use the word students loosely of course) rendered mute testimony of their long hours of meditation on their blessings. However, it seems that a few of the boys sabotaged a prayerful weekend and journeyed to foreign lands returning with hair-raising tales scarcely credible.

It seems that six travel-starved brethren left the Moira shore for the shimmering imirage of a day in Syracuse, New York. All went well on the way down until they decided to sleep in the car. Imagine, six huge, husky lads, trying to curl up in a Hudson, on last Sunday evening. Two Eskimos tried sleeping out in the open but at two a.m. they relinquished their Spartan efforts and crawled in with the others. No sleep was forthcoming, however, until about four a.m. as two of our stalwarts insisted on eating apples with bored, crunching sound effects punctuated with hysterical laughter at the discomfiture of the others. Sheer exhaustion at last took its due and all was quiet on the southern front.

At six a.m. one of our fresh air friends decided it was time to take his constitutional and forthwith climbed over the prostrate bodies and departed. Unfortunately he returned, to be greeted by a fellow monster welcoming him back to the fold with a solo on the horn.

Magnificently refreshed everyone awoke beaming, and the party was off. All day the Syracusous were treated to the sight of an orgy of spending. Burdened with articles of fantastic price the little band headed north about three o'clock. On the highway between Syracuse and Watertown a Buick passed our heroes. This wasn't any old Buick, oh no, this was Jesse James escaping from the F B I. They took out after the fleeing car and for forty-five minutes chased the culprit up hill and down dale at speeds between sixty-five and seventy-five miles per hour. The fugitive became aware of their presence and began tempting them to pass him but refusing to permit such a thing. He never lost them, however, and in Watertown he condescended to give them a stare as icy as the previous night.

Here the ungrateful wretches ran afoul of the law. Believing their back to be at the tide and customs officials no better than Grade C morons they tried to smugg-er-take their loot across the border unnoticed. The folly of their attempt can now be seen in anyone of three pocket books. However, the loot got across — after the duty was paid—and the results of the trip can be seen on the backs and feet of our travel-glutted young friends. Since it was Thanksgiving suitable tribute was rendered to the goddess of fortune for her timely intersession on behalf of the stockholders who weren't caught with their imaginations down.

UN SECRETARY

When the meeting of the United Nations' general assembly opens at Lake Success, N.Y., on Oct. 23, there won't be a busier person than Canadian-born Angela Drew, assistant to the chef de cabinet to Trygve Lie, United Nations' secretary-general, who is seen in her modern UN office. A native of Sherbrooke, Que., and Vancouver, Mrs. Drew was given her present appointment. Mrs. Drew's job is to assist in the co-ordination of eight major administrative departments, each headed by an assistant secretary-general.

TODAY

The rain is cool upon your face
The wind it swirls in fond embrace
The trees they sway, caught in the breeze
And flowers bend upon their knees.

Summer's over and winter's nigh
There's no more birds left in the sky
The leaves are falling fast and free
Fluttering down in all their glee.

The trees look now so very bare
The wind is swirling through your hair
And as you're walking down the street
The leaves are wet beneath your feet.

With everything standing in its place
The world is such a lovely place.

BRIDGE RAISED TO LET SEAPLANE PASS BELOW

Hamilton, Oct. 21 (CP)—"The old order changeth," and it certainly did change Sunday when the Bascule bridge over the canal at Burlington Beach was raised—for the first time on record—to permit passage of a seaplane which came down on the lake and was unable to take off because of rough water. When it passed into the smoother water on the other side of the bridge, it took off again.

27-Day Utility Power Strike To be Arbitrated

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21. (AP)—Power Union workers were returning to their jobs today, ending a costly 27-day utility strike after voting to submit their demands for a 20 per cent wage increase and other issues to arbitration.

The end of the strike was expected to be followed by a speedy return to normal life in the 817-square mile industrial area in which the Duquesne Light Company provides service to an estimated 1,500,000 persons.

The vote, taken at a secret membership meeting, was 1,197 to 797 in favor of arbitrating the dispute which led to the strike, throwing thousands of men out of work in other businesses and dislocating the daily lives of many inhabitants. The Union has a total membership of 3,200.

One of the immediate effects of the settlement was announcement by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which operates the city's principal transportation system, of a return today of normal street car service. Operations had been 25 per cent of normal.

Department stores, operating on a curtained basis, also announced a return to regular hours today.

Offered 5 P.C. Hike .. ..

The Union went on strike Sept. 24 demanding a wage boost it said would increase the average basic pay from $1.18 to $1.41 an hour. The company had offered a five per cent hike.

Business generally was hard hit by the work stoppage except for the basic steel and coal industries which continued normally: Many industries were skeletonized, and forced to abnormal expenditures to keep business going. The Bell Telephone Company alone reported it spent $125,000 for overtime, transportation of workers and generation of power.

The man with the little business staggered wearily along on rotated power. Many companies, such as the National Supply Company with 10,000 employees, had shutdown completely.

The United States Employment Service office said $3,179,360 had been spent in unemployment compensation to 79,484 persons from Sept. 30 through Oct. 17. An accurate estimate of the economic loss was unobtainable but Mayor David L. Lawrence said it was "staggering".

BOY'S FOOT CAUGHT AMONG BLOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 22 —(CP)— It was fun for 3½-year-old Lawrence Galensky to hop along the rows of cement blocks piled up near a building site on his street—until his left leg slipped into the hole of a block and went down to the depth of two blocks, wedging his leg firmly in place. While firemen worked for half an hour with hammer and chisel to free him, Lawrence watched with a child's curiosity. When they had finally made a hole large enough for him to step out, he looked up at the firemen and said "where's the fire."

Say Newspapers Should Increase Their Mail Rates

St. Catharines, Oct. 21 —(CP)—A survey of increased subscription rates in relation to circulation, based on reports from 32 Ontario daily newspapers today formed the chief basis of discussion at the semi-annual meeting of the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association.

The survey, presented by W. J. Stewart, St. Thomas, C.C.M.A. secretary, showed that as of Oct. 1, there had been only a slight decrease in circulation as a result of increased subscription rates. "The decrease in circulation has in almost all cases been outside the city of publication, in suburban and rural areas," he said.

Canadian newspapers should increase their mail rates at least to the point where they equal carrier delivered rates said Harold Garner, publisher of the Peterborough Examiner. "At the present mail rate, we are selling something at a loss," Mr. Garner stated.

The one-day session opened this morning with a welcoming address from Mayor W. J. MacDonald of St. Catharines.

President E. B. Brackenbury, of Ottawa, said that with ever increasing costs, rates were still a problem. With the return of peace, however, the home delivery problem had lessened.

There should be no need to resort to prewar practices of getting circulation at any costs declared O. L. Bourque, Montreal, who stated that circulation revenue was "still the mainstay" in the backbone of the publishing business."

Surveys designed to improve retail merchandising through coordination with national newspaper advertising would be made shortly in 65 Canadian cities, Duncan MacInnes, of Toronto, secretary of the C.D.N.A., told the convention. Test surveys made recently had shown a two city average increase in retail drug business of 66 percent. He felt that co-ordination of advertising and merchandising would increase retail sales, which in turn would boost advertising revenue.

Yesterday the delegates were guests of the Niagara Parks Commission on a sight seeing tour of Niagara Falls, following which a banquet was held in the Hotel General Brock.

ESTIMATE DAMAGE AT $1,000

Orillia, Oct. 22 (CP)—Wesley Ward, of Orillia was arested in nearby Atherley on a reckless driving charge Saturday when the automobile he was driving it is said, skidded 129 feet, tore the cement steps from a hotel, skidded backwards another 25 feet and knocked down a steel pole and a large Neon sign. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

News on Toys

Toys are going to put in a bigger appearance at the Christmas season. Production on the toys which fell under restriction because of shortage of materials has about reached the full circle of return to normal. Well-stocked but not overcrowded shelves for toys will be ready for the Christmas shoppers.

Metal no longer needed for the weapons of war is finding its way back into toys of substantial character such as trucks, fire engines, cars, steam rollers, steam shovels, scooters, airplanes, wagons, tricycles and kiddy cars and so on. There will also be imported toys from England and the United States. Modern invention has been added to some of these for some train engines will puff smoke, whistle, pick up mail bags and take on water. There will be some electric trains with coupling controlled by a switch. Balloons, rubber balls, cap guns and caps, dolls and carriages, musical instruments like pianos, cradles, electric irons, dishes, laundry sets and so on.

The opportunity of the little boy and girl of having more than ordinary supply of presents looks good, in the hobby line there being something to suit nearly every youngster.

These facts give the assurance of a spirited buying season for the approaching Christmas festival as a result of which the boys and girls will be well taken care of by Santa Claus and their relatives.

Mutual Aid and Sea Power

Two important aspects of the allied victory in the recent war are brought out in two official United Kingdom publications issued on October 16th—the United Kingdom Government's White Paper containing the final report on the system of mutual aid and the official account issued by the Admiralty and the Air Ministry of the Battle of the Atlantic.

The White Paper declares: '"there is no doubt that the adoption of mutual aid by the United Nations contributed in no small measure towards victory." Mutual aid "began with the United States providing goods, services and capital facilities to the nations whose fighting contributed to her own defence and ended with practically all the United Nations helping each other." At the war's height, the United Nations were aiding each other freely to the scale of some $18,000,000,000 yearly—not far from the total value of world exports in any good prewar year.

In giving detailed statistics of the United Kingdom's contribution, the White Paper states: "If value has been attached to the aid rendéred by the United Kingdom, it is only to provide the measure of an impressive aspect of her war effort." In all, the United Kingdom provided mutual aid to the value of $8,314,000,000, beginning with reciprocal aid to the U.S.A. and aid to Russia, and ending with aid to fourteen countries including all the European Allies and China. Some sixty per cent of the aggregate mutual aid went to the U.S.A., mainly due to the presence of large American forces in the United Kingdom, which was the base both for the attacks on North Africa and Normandy and for air attacks. Russia received fifteen per cent.

The final total of the United Kingdom's aid to the U.S.A. is estimated at $4,966,000,000, of which fifty-six per cent was for food, materials and equipment, twenty-six per cent for servicing the American forces and eighteen per cent for the cost of building capital installations. Over half the services provided to the American forces were shipping services, which were worldwide. The capital installations account includes $469,364,000 for airfields and $110,000,000 for the Mulberry Harbor built for the American forces. In 1943 reciprocal aid was extended to include raw materials and foodstuffs. From June 1943 to the end of the war, $125,404,000 worth of raw materials were shipped from the British Colonies to the U.S.A. on the United Kingdom account. Rubber accounted for two thirds of the value and came mostly from Ceylon. 615,000 tons of bulk foodstuffs to a total value of $90,224,000 were exported from the Colonies to the U.S.A. under reciprocal aid arrangements. Military stores exported from Britain to the U.S.A. totalled $182,104,000 in value, while reciprocal aid provided for the American forces in overseas theatres accounted for another $671,996,000.

Russia continued to receive mutual aid from the United Kingdom till the 8th of November, 1945, over five years after the date mutual aid to Russia began. The total value was $1,272,000,000 made up of $515,572,000 for aircraft, $475,424,000 for motor transport, $97,412,000 for guns and ammunition and $183,592,000 for miscellaneous supplies and freight. Owing to later additions, this total is $40,000,000 more than that given by the United Kingdom Prime Minister in the House of Commons on the 16th April last, when he stated that about $480,000,000 worth of raw materials, foodstuffs, machinery, industrial plant, medical supplies and hospital equipment had been supplied, in addition to military supplies, while no account had been taken of the aid provided by the Royal Navy in the form of convoy escorts or of the cost of the one battleship, nine destroyers and four submarines provided under a special arrangement with Russia.

Mutual aid given by the United Kingdom to other Allies amounting to $2,076,000,000, generally consisting of similar items of military equipment, services and capital facilities.

The whole system of mutual aid would of course have broken down had the Allies lost command of the sea. The story of the grim struggle, lasting sixty-eight months, to maintain that mastery and eventual complete victory over the U-boats is outlined by Captain H. T. Dorling better known under his pseudonym, "Taffrail," in "The Battle of the Atlantic."

A Safe Celebration

Those concerned are to be highly commended for their plans this year to stage a Hallowe'en jamboree, which will be an organized evening for the young people of the city. Plans have not been completed in full detail, but tentatively it is hoped to have a mammoth parade in which all the bands in the city will take part. More than 2,000 school children are expected to join in.

It will be a costume parade, the like of which has never been seen before in St. Catharines. False faces, wigs and crazy costumes will be the order of the evening, and it promises to be a grand night for young and old alike. The great advantage of the plan is that it will greatly ensure a safe and sensible Hallowe'en. There will still be the casual pranks, but a well-organized jamboree of this type will do much to eliminate the more foolish and dangerous Hallowe'en tricks.

The Physical Education and Recreational Committee is to be congratulated for its undertaking of this program, and the same holds true for the many service clubs and organizations which have signified willingness to join in this endeavor.

—St. Catharines Standard.

Beet Sugar

Beginning of the sugar beet harvest recently, expected to reach between 360,000 and 400,000 tons of beets from which will be processed more than 100,000,000 pounds of sugar, serves to impress upon us the importance of this industry to South Alberta and to Canada as a whole, says the Lethbridge Herald.

Newspaper Facts

The power of daily newspaper advertising is well illustrated by the success of Gordon Selfridge who drew customers to his department store although it was located well outside the central shopping district of London, England.

BUMP ON THE BROW

I stooped for a comb on the bathroom floor
And bumped my head on a cupboard door.
The stars and the sun and the moon came in,
And my ears were filled with a ringing din.

'Twas a minute or so ere my brain had cleared.
With a scarlet stream was my forehead smeared.
Now, I've learned from many a stranger's wink
The evil thoughts which people think.

The nicest of ladies stared and said:
"Whose fist did that to your foolish head?"
Men asked if I couldn't have ducked that swing,
And fancied the fellow had worn a ring.

When told I had bumped 'gainst an open door,
I was answered: "We've heard that one before."
And I've learned from that scar on my brow—still pink,
How eager are folks the worst to think.

Old Country Letter

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"Men wanted" signs not only hang outside of British factories today—they also are displayed by the army, navy and air force in a big way.

The government tried to make service life as enticing as possible but it is scarcely more successful than in its campaign to meet all manpower requirements of industry. Volunteers are far below the desired figure.

With his customary drive, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, has set the pace for improving conditions of army life and they now are far from those of Kipling's Tommy, who got pushed around in peace time and pushed ahead in war.

Khaki is a honorable livery anywhere nowadays but even if it weren't it will soon be hard to identify the off-duty soldier. The lad in the next gray suit and fedora hat taking his girl to the movies or betting at the greyhound races may, when the evening is over, return to barracks. There—if all plans come true—he will don pyjamas, climb into a comfortable bed and, if he wants to, read for an hour or two.

Not all army officers approve but Lt.-Gen. Sir Brian Horrocks sounded the tune in his western command when he said they must be carried out "even if it means a change of mentality."

Gen. Horrocks said unnecessary parades and "lights out" would be abolished and that men would have more freedom.

"Among the parades to be scrapped are pay and sick parades," he said at a press conference. "In place of the latter a medical officer will have consulting hours like a doctor in civilian life."

Some old-school officers fear that lifting of restrictions will damage discipline but Field Marshal Montgomery, who is behind the program, has often said he feels that the hardworking soldier is entitled to some of the comforts and pleasures he would enjoy as a civilian.

Perhaps it is too early for the attractions of the new life to work as an effective lure. Whatever it is, the boys aren't flocking to barracks even if they have chintz curtains and easy chairs.

The army needs 4,000 volunteers monthly but in September the total was only 1,868. At that, enlistments were 600 better than in May. The R.A.F. is in a similar plight.

The navy appears to be doing better but the recruiting problem is being handled on an over all rather than an individual basis.

ONE WEEK REQUIRED

Windsor, Oct. 22 (CP)—Officials of the Chrysler Corporation said one week will be required to restore the plant to operating order as the first of 100 maintenance workers returned to work. The plant was strikebound for 122 days—the longest work stoppage in the history of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.)

The strike, affecting workers in plants here and Chatham, Ont., ended officially Friday.

HOUSING ACT LOANS

Ottawa, Oct. 22 (CP)—Loans approved under the National Housing Act during September amounted to $3,920,780, for the financing of 921 units, Central Mortgage and Housing comporation announced.

This was an increase over the revised figures for August of 801 units and $3,660,920, and compared with 361 units and $1,486,500 approved in September, 1945.

SETS NEW RECORD

This white monster, a German V-2 rocket projectile, was photographed as it soared into the sky from the White Sands, N.M., proving ground by U.S. army engineers. The rocket reached a height of 102 miles, just short of the 105-mile record set by another V-2 last August, but it reached a record speed of 3,600 miles an hour at a point 25 miles above the earth's surface.

Polio Declines Sharply Due To Cooler Weather

By The Canadian Press

With advent of cooler weather, incidence of infantile paralysis across Canada has sharply declined though new cases are still being admitted to hospitals and deaths from the disease have been reported within recent days in widely scattered parts of the Dominion.

Focal point of the disease this year was the Montreal area, where more than 90 per cent of the total Quebec cases were treated. Total number of cases treated in Montreal hospitals was 1,291, of which 55 resulted in death reports compiled by The Canadian Press showed.

Out of town cases brought there for treatment numbered 626, including 35 deaths. Discharged as cured or notably improved were 681 cases, slightly more than half the total treated.

Similarly, greater number of Ontario cases were treated in Toronto hospitals, though complete figures for Ontario were not available early today.

No Deaths in B. C.

Only province to report no deaths from the disease, which reached its peak across Canada in mid-summer, was British Columbia. There were 14 cases there altogether. Manitoba had only one death. Prince Edward Island, smallest Canadian Province had probably the greatest fatality rate per capita. There were 13 deaths there.

Medical experts across Canada were in agreement that few more cases may be expected this year and in some Provinces health authorities flatly stated "it looks like the epidemic is over."

Figures for seven Canadian Provinces, excluding Quebec and Ontario for which complete returns are not available, with deaths bracketed as follows:

British Columbia, 14 (0); Alberta, 70 (7); Saskatchewan, 31 (4); Manitoba 45 (1); New Brunswick, 87 (5); Nova Scotia, 39 (3); Prince Edward Island, 74 (13).

Shy 11-Year Girl Heiress of Estate Of Soldier-Brother

Queenston, Ont., Oct. 22—(CP)—Shy, blonde Shirley Jean Berry, sought as the heiress of the estate of her late soldier-brother, has been located in this village seven miles north of Niagara Falls where she lives as a ward of the Children's Aid Society at the home of Reeve Walter Sheppard of Niagara township.

The little girl, who celebrated her 11th birthday a week ago Monday wears her good fortune lightly. She doesn't yet know the size of the estate left by her brother, Trooper William Richard Berry who was killed in action in Holland.

After a news item from Shelburne, last Friday said she was sought by the executors of her brother's will, Reeve Sheppard communicated with the Lincoln County Children's Aid Society in St. Catharines and said the girl in his home was the heiress.

She has lived with the Sheppards since 1944 and they are completing arrangements to adopt her as a sister to their two sons. Her mother died five years ago and she was placed in a boarding house. Later her father disappeared and she became a ward of the Children's Aid Society and still later went to the home of Mr. Sheppard.

Jean says she probably will save the money from the estate, amount of which is not known, to pay for her education. She has three brothers, James and Arthur of St. Catharines and Lorne at Newmarket.

HOW IN THE HELL CAN THE OLD FOLKS TELL WHEN THEY'RE GROWING OLD TOO FAST?

It may not be entirely fair, but I must quote here from an article by Wm. Brady, M.D.: "For it is peevishness, grumpiness, irritability and sometimes downright churlishness, not gray hair nor faltering step, that advertises the individual's old age."

This truth was borne in on me long ago. By a curious coincidence my playroom was what had been the billiard room on the third floor — overlooking a park and, excuse it, please, the bowling greens. One lovely summer day I was going through the motions up there and gazing off toward the bowling greens when my reverie was interrupted by yells below. One of the neighborhood kids was proposing the gang follow the leader jumping through the new hedge and marking up the new lawn I was trying to grow, the motive being that "maybe we can get old Doc Brady to chase us." I aged terribly in the course of the next hour — in fact I became too decrepit to chase 'em.

But after the first shock had passed I began to study the whole subject of old age more seriously than ever before. I had to confess to myself that I wasn't Ol' Doc Brady to the kids of the neighbor hood without reason — and perhaps one good reason was the very fact that I just chased them when they trespassed, yes, and growled at or threatened them, forgetting entirely how much more provocative and mischievous my own pranks had been on the lawns and gardens of the residents along Main Street when I was a boy. Clearly I saw that I had taken the wrong attitude — unless boys have changed unbelievably I might have entered into some of the games with the kids and made myself agreeable to them—that would have protected my precious lawn and hedges from damage in excess of reasonable wear and tear.

However, the Agassiz Circle gang unwittingly gave me an extension of life, I believe. Anyway it was after that job to my complacence that I discovered the value of certain remedies or measures against premature aging. These are briefly mentioned in the pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks" and described in detail in the booklet "The Seven Keys to Vite". For the pamphlet send stamped self addressed envelope, and if you want the booklet inclose twenty-five cents also. Ask for what you want in writing—a clipping will not suffice.

Just to indicate the sort of prophylactics I prescribe for this purpose I'll mention two of them —so if you think my advice is silly you can save yourself the bother of studying it further:— Morning Somersaults and Iodin Ration.

Thanks again to the Agassiz Circle gang of the thirties I'm feeling just fine and dandy now — indeed I say seriously and without extravagance that so far as feelings go I'm not quite so old as I was in '36. Whether Ol' Doc Brady's treatment deserves credit for this of course I can't say. All I can say is that it can't do any harm in any case.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Here, Chick, Chick

Kindly let me know how to feed iodine to chickens. (Mrs. E. L.)

Answer—I wouldn't know — I imagine by adding a suitable iodide to their feed, or by putting a drop of iodine in their water once or twice a week.

Clinic Pulls a Quaint One

Recently had a check up at a distant clinic. The report said I have a scroflous condition. Just what do they mean by that? (M. L.)

Answer—I should say it means they think they have you hooked. "Scrofulous" was a term applied to various diseases long, long ago when they didn't know just what ailed the patient. Why not consult a physician who practices under his own name.

Cola Beverages

Are there any habit-forming ingredients in any of the cola beverages? (A. G. Y.)

Answer—No.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Why was Ethelred II called "the Unready?"

Most people naturally assume that Ethelred II, King of England from 978 to 1016 and father of Edward the Confessor, was known as "the unready" because he was unprepared for war."

The curious alliterative epithet originally had no such meaning, and it seems that Ethelred the Unready has been the victim of a cruel injustice at the hands of history because of the corruption of a word.

King Ethelred II had his faults, but they were of a different kind. "Unready" in this connection is merely a variant of "unredy" or "unrede," formed from "un," not, and "rede," counsel, and literally meaning "redeless" or without counsel or advice In olden times the epithet was applied to a person who disregarded counsel and who in consequence was lacking in judgment and given to folly.

Ethelred the Unready was so called because he ignored the "rede" or advice of the great Anglo-Saxon national council known as the Witenagemot and accordingly was rash and ill-advised in action and too ready to fight on his own account In other words, the King preferred his own judgment to that of his lawful parliament.

The Oxford dictionary says "unready" in this ancient sense survives only in the Anglo-Saxon King's historic epithet.

Because of internal bickering and lack of national unity, the reign of King Ethelred II was a continual series of disasters. Time after time the King was compelled to pay tribute to the Norsemen to get them to cease plundering and pillaging England. He collected the largest fleet ever assembled by England up to that time, but his vast preparation against the Norsemen was ineffective because of a futile court quarrel. After living in exile in Normandy for a time, Ethelred the Unready was given another chance as King, but only after promising parliament he would pay more attention to its "rede" in the future.

Conspiracy Trial Will go to Jury Some Time Today

Ottawa, Oct. 22 (CP)— On its eighth day, the conspiracy trial of Eric George Adams will go to an Ontario Supreme Court jury today.

The last act before the 12 men file into their private little room will be the charge of Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. Then they will have to decide whether the 39-year-old engineer, born in Hull, Que. and raised in Granby, Que., is guilty of communicating confidential information to Russia.

Adams himself, a slim, balding man in a brown suit, testified for 3 1-4 hours yesterday as the last of 17 witnesses. He is the first of 18 persons detained in connection with alleged espionage activities to do that before a jury.

No infrequently punctuating his evidence with a smile, he flatly denied any connection with Russian conspiracy, said he had never heard of himself being described as the agent "Ernst," said he had never belonged to the Communist Party, had never contributed to it either physically or in money, described his political outlook as radical but independent. He said he had a lot of communist literature in his library but estimated that 95 per cent of his 2,000 books dealt with other subjects.

Adams characterized as "office-gossipy sort of stuff" the information he allegedly drew from Kathleen Mary Willsher, former Deputy Registrar for the British High Commissioner, after social meetings of three to five friends with similar tastes in economic and social questions.

Defence counsel Joseph Sedgwick of Toronto called for acquittal on the grounds that Russian Embassy documents describing Ernst were not available to Adams, and that only the vague evidence of Igor Gouzenko, former Embassy cipher clerk, linked Adams with the conspiracy. He deprecated the information Miss Willsher had given and cited numerous tributes by former colleagues as to Adams' integrity, ability and honesty.

Crown counsel John R. Cartwright of Toronto lauded Gouzenko as a man of particularly sound memory, said the giving, not the importance, of the Willsher documents was vital here, and pointed to certain coincidences which might well indicate the truth of the supposition that Ernst was Adams.

Regulations On Long Visits to U.S. Not Yet in Effect

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 22 —(CP)—Relaxation of the United States immigration regulations to allow Canadians to visit the U.S. for a period up to six months without passports, visas, or other documents are not yet in effect at this port, American officials declared today.

N. H. Powers, immigration inspector in Sault, Michigan, indicated that the new relaxed entry regulations will be in effect in a day or two. He said that the new order from U. S. Attorney-General Tom C. Clark had just been received and had not been thoroughly studied.

The new regulation will eliminate the wartime restrictions under which Canadians wishing to remain in the U. S. longer than 29 days had to be registered and finger-printed and have proper travel documents. The new plan will allow Canadians to enter the United States under much the same procedure Americans now come to Canada.

NAMED PLAYING COACH

Owen Sound, Oct. 22 — (CP)— "Chuck" Shannon of Toronto has been engaged as playing coach this winter for the Owen Sound Mohawks in the O. H. A. senior "A" race it was announced today.

Shannon replaces Norm Locking who previously accepted the coaching job and changed his mind to play with Port Elgin Lakesides in the intermediate league. A former American Hockey League star, Shannon played last winter with Toronto Staffords.

Mrs. A. McDonald, 163 Walton Street, Port Hope, says: "It certainly was a big day for me when I took to using all those husky EXTRA SUDS from Super Suds. Thank you, Mrs. McDonald, for your swell letter. You see, Ladies, Super Suds is Concentrated. Super Suds actually gives you far more washing-power . . . livelier, richer suds, without hard rubbing. And Super Suds costs no more than ordinary washday soap.

B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company Settles Strike

Kitchener, Oct. 22—(CP)—The 118-day strike affecting more than 1,100 workers at the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company plant here was settled last night following union-management talks, President Julius Koch of Local 73 of the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.) announced today.

He said a meeting of the local would be held tonight to ratify the agreement, terms of which he was confident would be accepted. He said these included total benefits similar to those involved in the settlement of a strike at the Dominion Rubber Company plant here last week — a 16-cent-an-hour increase, including a 13-cent flat wage increase.

The local settlement, if ratified, will leave fewer than 2,000 workers on strike of more than 10,000 who struck 10 Ontario rubber plants last June 24 seeking a 40-hour week and a 20-cent hourly pay boost.

President George Bewin of the Goodrich Company of Canada said terms of the settlement would be officially announced after they were accepted by the union which he hoped would be done tonight.

In anticipation of an agreement being reached, preparatory maintenance work has been going forward at the plant for some days and a union spokesman said full production might be within "three or four days" of a back-to-work order.

Two plants remain strikebound here — the merchants and textile factories of the Dominion Rubber Company. The Gutta Percha plant at Toronto also is still struck.

Favors Payment Hospital Care On Full-Cost Basis

Toronto, Oct. 22 — (CP)—The suggestion that public bodies, including municipalities, consider paying hospital bills of their patients on a cost basis came yesterday from Dr. Fred W. Routley, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Hospital Association.

Speaking at the 22nd annual convention of the Association, Dr. Routley mentioned that the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario now follows this practice.

"The Board now recognizes that there is only one social way of paying for the care of its patients in its hospitals in Ontario and that is on a full-cost basis," he said. "The importance of this procedure is not only that hospitals are able to operate in a better financial position but it also leads the way for action on the part of other public bodies in the province."

He reported that a sub-committee of the Association's directors "has pretty well evolved" a contributory pension scheme. Some hospitals had already adopted a pension plan and it was hoped others would do so shortly.

SOME RELIEF FOR HOUSEWIVES IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 22 — (AP) — Housewives, whose meals have grown skimpier during the general trucking strike, got some relief from their shopping cares today as 500 A & P stores in the metropolitan area open their doors for the first time since Sept. 14. The re-openings result from an agreement reached last Friday between A & P contract carriers and striking A. F. L. drivers, granting the drivers 71.40 for a 40-hour week, instead of $64 for a 44-hour.

The building served as the New York City building and an administrative headquarters during the World's Fair, and was then turned into a skating rink.

Moslem Supporter Hit When Nehru's Car is Stoned

By WALTER J. MASON

Peshawar, India, Oct. 22—(AP) — Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan, Moslem supporter of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, was in hospital today with injuries suffered when hostile Moslems stoned Nehru's automobile near Malakand yesterday.

The "Frontier Gandhi," who exercises leadership over non-violent Redshirt followers from a thatched hut in Sardaryab, was taken to hospital for skull x-rays. He was hit on the head by a stone during the attack on Nehru's convoy, touring the northwest frontier.

Nehru, ex-president of the All India Congress Party and leading minister in India's interim government, and Abdul Ghaffar Khan's brother, Dr. Khan Sahib, a Congress party minister in the northwest province, also suffered minor cuts.

British correspondent Norman Cliff, bruised on the head, said a Moslem League bus barred the way on a narrow mountain road and a crowd collected and stoned Nehru's car. The car was stoned again, he said, at Dargai.

Commenting on the stonings, Nehru referred to the hostile Pathan tribesmen as "simple folk who have been duped by propagandists."

Jail Term Given For Assaulting Officer

Pleading guilty to a charge of unlawfully assaulting a police officer causing actual bodily harm, Aldric Ethier, age 19 years, of Ottawa, was sentenced to one month in jail when he appeared in police court before Magistrate T. Y. Wills Tuesday morning. R. D. Arnott acted as counsel for the accused.

"It is only after full consideration of your excellent record in the past that this court has seen fit to deal with you leniently in this matter," stated Magistrate Wills as he awarded sentence to the accused. "You must realize however, that police officers must be protected in the course of their duty and I am accordingly sentencing you to one month in jail to date from the time of your arrest."

The accused was arrested on October 12 following an attack on P. C. Charles Moore when the officer was struck over the head with a bottle of wine as he was taking a man to the police station who had been apprehended on a drunk charge.

The Crown charged that Ethier had struck the officer, apparently in an attempt to assist the person whom the officer had arrested. Ethier was arrested a short time later when he came to the police station to ask for his friend.

In asking clemency for the accused R. D. Arnott brought out Ethier's former good record, stating he had been with one employer for 18 months following 3 years in the merchant navy. Ethier's employer, as well as his parents, were in court at the time of the hearing.

SAYS INTEREST DECLINES

Chatham, Oct. 22—(CP)—William Foreman, local re-habilitation officer said Monday that interest in securing benefits under the Veterans Land Act has declined steadily since the recent ruling that veterans may not purchase less than two acres as an added means of income. "Young veterans contend that two acre farms are too much to look after when they have a steady job in the city," he said.

Marine Engineers Sign Contract To Settle Strike

New York, Oct. 22 —(AP)— C.I.O. marine engineers and east and gulf coast ship operators today signed a contract to settle their 22-day-old maritime walkout but the strike of deck officers and licensed ship personnel continued to bottle up virtually all United States shipping.

Signing of the contract between the ship operators and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association was announced by United States Conciliator Frederick Livingston after 13½ hours of negotiations.

But before the shipping tie-up on the east and gulf coasts comes to an end the pact must be ratified by both the union membership and the 44 shipping companies and representatives of agents and operators.

Also the ship operators and the other union involved in the strike, A.F.L. Masters, Mates and Pilots — who adjourned a long negotiatiating session to 3:30 p.m. E.S.T. today — also must come to terms. The masters seek a 30 per cent increase and closed shop.

This would leave the west coast still strikebound. The unions are to negotiate with west coast shipping interests after concluding talks with the east and gulf coast operators.

E. P. Trainer, chairman of the marine engineers negotiation committee, who signed the contract for the union, said he would recommend to the general membership that they ratify the agreement.

He said he did not know when the ratification meetings would be held, but that locals would be notified as soon as possible and an attempt made to hold simultaneously in all affected ports.

Terms of the contract were withheld by Trainer and Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute, representing the operators, pending notification of the union membership and ship operating companies.

Some Official Pictures on Executions To be Made Public

Berlin, Oct. 22—(AP)—Some of the official pictures on the Nuernberg executions will be made public, the Allied Control Council decided Monday.

The council assigned to its secretariat the task of selection, and the secretariat scheduled a meeting to review the pictures.

So far as known at Nuernberg, the official photographer made pictures only of the corpses, both clothed and unclothed.

WEDDINGS

McGARRITY—McGURN

Against a background of tea roses and baby 'mums Miss Evelyn Marie McGurn spoke her marriage vows with Mr. Arthur Joseph McGarrity at the Church of Christ The King, Sudbury, Ont., on Monday, Oct. 14. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary McGurn and the late Thomas McGurn of Marifield, Ont., and the groom, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. McGarrity of Wetaskiwin, Alta. Rev. Father Therriault performed the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Joseph Irvine, formerly of Read, Ont., was lovely in a black pin-strip suit with fuchsia velvet hat with sequin trim. She carried a white prayer-book. Her bridesmaid, Miss Mary McGarrity of Pine Falls, Man., sister of the groom was attractive in a beige suit with brown accessories. Both wore corsages of roses and baby 'mums. Mr. Eugene Dorion, brother-in-law of the bride, assisted the groom.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple were driven to the reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gordon, 286 Eyre Street, in a suitably decorated bus. Here they were presented with a blue satin sac containing a large sum of money in coppers, from fellow members of the bus service. Mrs. Gordon received in a gown of printed beige crepe with black accessories. She was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Irvine, wearing black with sequin trim and black accessories.

After a trip to Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, the bridal couple will reside in Sudbury, where the groom is employed by the Carter Bus Service.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Hilliard Kellan and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cote of North Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dorion, of Brockville, Ont.

REUSCH—SHANNON

A pretty Autumn wedding of local interest was solemnized Sept. 28, in Holy Rosary Church, Rochester, N.Y., when Rev. Monsignor Shea united in marriage Mary Reta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Shannon, Plainfield, Ont., with Edwin J., son of Mrs. Louis Reusch and late Mr. Reusch. The altar was tastefully decorated with various colored gladioli and potted palms.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Leo Shannon, the bride was attractively attired in a turquoise dressmaker suit, with blouse of white net and white accessories. Her corsage was of white baby 'mums and pink orchids, tied with silver ribbon. Her only attendant was her sister Miss Eileen Shannon, of Belleville, Ont., wearing a Sunnyblu dressmaker suit with white blouse and black accessories. Her corsage was of white baby 'mums and pink roses, tied with silver ribbon.

Mr. Joseph Reusch assisted his brother.

The wedding music was played by the church organist.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served in the Powers Hotel, after which a reception was held at 2457 Ridge-road West, where the bride's mother received gowned in black and white jersey with black accessories, and wearing a corsage of gardenias. The groom's mother assisted in a flowered crepe dress, wearing a corsage of gardenias and black accessories.

For a motor trip to Canada the bride chose a black and white suit, with white blouse and black topcoat.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sparks, of Belleville, Mrs. Jos. Nash, Read; Miss Betty McWilliams, Shannonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reusch, of Holly, N.Y.

Before her marriage the bride was feted at several personal showers arranged by her friends.

COLLEGE DATE DRESS

By PRUNELLA WOOD

A very pretty date dress which looks very special, but which is easy to wear and take care of, is this black crepe model, trimmed with a pale pink satin bertha collar.

Without a hat, or pretty with practically any color best hat a girl owns, the model requires no special accessories in general, and is adaptable to any season or climate.

The bertha is delicately embroidered with sequin flower sprays, and has an effective scalloped edge. Self-fabric belt.

Christian Youth Fellowship Holds Rally at Baptist Church

The Alliance Tabernacle was crowded to capacity on Monday night for the fourth meeting of the Belleville Christian Youth Fellowship, comprising the various Protestant denominations of the city. This great gathering, representing as it did folk of different denominations and shades of viewpoint, was one in its allegiance to Christ as Lord and Saviour.

Spontaneous, joyful singing vibrated throughout the auditorium. It was clear that the young folk knew they had something to sing about. There were stirring personal testimonies to the goodness and keeping power of God and there was real heart-searching as Rev. L. J. Pyne of Toronto gave a message that sent a wave of spiritual emotion throbbing through the gathering.

The young people's choir, under the leadership of Stan Lessels, gave several splendid offerings of Gospel hymns. The Lighthouse Quartette sang 2 numbers, "I'd Rather Have Jesus" and "Kneel At the Cross", and Bob Stebbins, young musician of note, rendered a delightful euphonium solo, accompanied by Mrs. G. Ellerby. Mr. Eric C. Naylor was song leader and Miss Dorothy Mitchell pianist of the evening. Mr. Harry Denton capably performed the duties of chairman.

Urged to Live for Christ

In his address Mr. Pyne urged his hearers to live hundred per cent for Christ. "People may make fun of you but nevertheless they will respect you," he stated. "The world knows how a Christian should live but it is so often the case that those who know cream like skimmed milk. There are those who sing the songs of Zion on Sunday but on Monday you would have to put a label on them to know they were Christians. The worst sinner knows the kind of life you are expected to live, even though he does not try to live it himself.

"Many young Christians are caused to stumble under the influence of inconsistent lives, the professing Christians who do not live their religion.

"During the war there were black-hearted traitors who tried to sell their country to the enemy. They had to be separated from their fellowmen and put in prison camps. If you profess to know Jesus as your Saviour and do not live the life that is consistent with His teaching, you are a traitor to Jesus. The world has no respect for a young man or woman who will live the life of compromise."

Giving his personal testimony, Mr. Pyne stated that in his youth he had been a regular attendant at Sunday School but one day a backslidden Christian severed that connection with Christ when he sneered and made a cynical remark that Sunday School was only for children. For years after that he had stayed away from church altogether, until the influence of his mother's prayers brought him back.

Thanks God for Mother

"I thank God for a mother who knew the value of prayer and who never ceased to wrestle with God for the soul of her son. When I might have strayed far in sin God placed a restraining hand on my soul because of mother's prayers.

"It is the responsibility of parents to pray for their children, that God will lead them to Himself. Parents, you hold the eternal destiny of your children in your hands. God has promised to answer your faith and hear your prayers on behalf of the wayward. You may be a success as far as the world is concerned but a failure as far as God is concerned unless you keep wour children under the influence of the Gospel."

RICH EFFECTS mark many of the new afternoon hats. Ruby-red smooth woolen is used for a handsome suit made with long, fitted tunic jacket. The jacket has a small flat collar of black Persian lamb. Narrow bands of the fur down the front are edged with ornamental scrolls of black braid embellished with tiny jet beads. Similar trim at the cuffs. Slim, straight skirt.

C.C.F. Club Wants Investigation Into Milk Distribution

Condemning the action of the Ontario Milk Board in raising the consumer price of milk and for their refusal to give consumer representatives full information concerning the cost of production and distribution of milk, the Belleville C.C.F. Club Saturday evening passed a resolution calling upon the government to immediately start an investigation into the costs and profits of firms engaged in processing and distributing milk.

The resolution claimed that the milk board is required by law to disclose on demand to consumer representatives full information regards cost and by their refusal to do so have forced consumers to believe the board is trying to cover up evidence that the dairies could well have absorbed the increase in price paid to producers.

The local club, however, supports the demands of farmers for a fair price for their milk and since the farmer under the new schedule will receive only 8 1-2 cents per quart for milk, it cannot see justification for the increase in consumer price to 15 and 16 cents per quart.

"The club has frequently condemned the chaotic inefficiency, waste and duplication in present milk distribution permitting dairy companies to make huge profits at the expense of the producer and consumer.

"We further urge that legislation be passed permitting municipalities to engage in milk distribution as a public utility and also permitting the operation of co-operative dairies."

Fashion Flashes

NEW HORIZONS in beauty are indicated by the lovely lingerie now coming into the shops. White crepe makes a delightful nightgown trimmed with a garland of appliqued blue satin leaves at the neckline and the midriff. The high-waisted bodice is half net piped with blue satin.

New angles make interest in some of the newest hats. Worn way back on the head, but projected forward, is a hat of champagne felt, a breton type, trimmed with lacquered bronze wings that jut out in front.

If it isn't one place it's another that is bright with sequins. To dress up an all-black dress or a black skirt and blouse, one designer has made inch-wide belts of solid sequins in a wide range of colors, the belts finished with solid, sequin-covered square buckles.

Nice and warm is a new mitten in black or brown woollen, with the thumb and first finger free. Cuff is of loops of wool and penny-sized spangles. Much easier to wear and use than the ordinary mitt.

A successful season for brown in all shades—from palest beige to deep woodsy tones—is indicated by professional buyers and the consumer. Light-toast woollen is used for a handsome suit, the jacket top solid with trapunto-embroidered circles, with a small bronze sequin in each circlet. Jacket has a flared peplum over a slim skirt.

A BIT O' ERMINE enlivens some of the hats designed for the smart teen-ager. Worn off the face and way back on the head is a little bowler of black felt, the rounded crown trimmed with row upon row of tiny gold nailheads.

NEW BEAUTY in the new fur-trimmed cloth coats — such as a model of tavern-green woollen, with narrow front edge from neck to hem, and pocket flaps of snowy ermine. Attached matching hood is ermine-lined; hood drapes in cowl collar fashion.

Mrs. A. Mitchell Heads 2nd Line Neighbors' Aid

The Neighbors' Aid held their monthly meeting at Mrs. John Craig's home on Oct. 16th with about thirty in attendance. At noon all sat down to a fine pot-luck dinner which Mrs. Craig and the ladies had provided.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. D. Leeming, who acted as secretary. Several thanked for cards sent them.

The president announced a euchre party at Mrs. G. Conners on Oct. 23rd, all to bring refreshments.

Since last meeting $2 was given to the Institute for the Blind Fund, and $5 to the Red Shield.

Made Life Member

Another lovely warm quilt was handed in by Mrs. Robt. Mitchell to Mrs. Craig for the Red Shield. Mrs. Robt. Mitchell donated the top lining and batting. In recognition of her valuable service in war work, Mrs. Mitchell was made a life member of the Neighbors' Aid. This was moved by Mrs. Sprackett and second by Mrs. Barlow.

Last year's minutes were read and the financial report for the year was read by Mrs. A. Greatrix and the auditors report was given.

Mrs. A. Mitchell thanked all for their assistance and co-operation during the year, and asked Mrs. Doxtator to take charge of the election of officers.

It was agreed that all the officers be re-instated for another year.

Bazaar Planned

As the meeting continued plans were made for the bazaar to be held at Mrs. D. Atkins on Nov. 27th. Mrs. Conners said she would donate tea, sugar and cake to bazaar.

Mrs. F. Mitchell sold the two travelling aprons for $1 to be given to bazaar fund. Bazaar committees:

Fancy work, sewing and aprons, Mrs. Keirl, Mrs. Sprackett, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Doxtator.

Vegetables, roots, plants, Mrs. C. Mitchell, Mrs. A. Greatrix, Mrs. J. Howe.

Touch and take, Mrs. D. Leeming, Mrs. E. Leeming.

Pantry staff, Mrs. E. Vivian, Mrs. G. Craig, Mrs. F. Mitchell, Mrs. O. Stratton.

The young ladies of the community are asked to help serve.

Letter From Norway

Mrs. A. Greatrix read a letter which she had received from Norway some time ago. This letter was from a lady expressing her very grateful thanks for baby clothing sent to her by the Aid.

Thanks were extended to Mrs. Craig by the president for opening her home.

Mrs. W. Gray spoke of a family whose home had been destroyed by fire, and $5 was given Mrs. Gray with which to buy some useful articles.

Mrs. Donaldson spoke about meat coupons and asked that coupons be left at Pauley's Drug Store for Mrs. Clare, Avondale. These coupons are used in order to send meat overseas to the needy.

A pie contest, formerly planned by Mrs. J. Craig brought a lovely dinner meeting to a close. The ladies were arranged in groups of four and several old time songs were sung. The winning group was treated to a pumpkin pie as prize.

Dinner fees for the day were $7.55. The balance on hand for year $123.82 and $125 in war savings certificates, 38 paid fees in answer to the roll call.

Officers For 1946-1947.

President, Mrs. A. Mitchell; 1st. Vice President, Mrs. J. Craig; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. E. Vivian; Secretary and Press Reporter, Mrs. D. Atkins; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Greatrix; Pianists, Miss L. Haight, Mrs. H. Grills; Red Shield conveners, Mrs. J. Craig, Mrs. T. Doxtator; Red Cross convener, Mrs. H. Grills; Down Road Flower Committee, Mrs. E. Leeming, Mrs. Lazaruk; Up Road Flower Committee, Mrs. F. Mitchell and Mrs. D. Whalen.

Mrs. Shymyshyn is to have an all day meeting on Dec. 11th. Anyone having parcels to be sent overseas is asked to bring them.

Mrs. F.S. Anderson Heads St. Michael's Benevolent Society

The annual meeting and election of officers for St. Michael's Benevolent Society, was held at the home of Mrs. F. S. Anderson, 209 John Street.

The reports read by the various officers showed the good work this society is doing for the needy of St. Michael's parish. The following officers were elected: Honorary President, Mrs. L. P. Hughes; Honorary Secretary, Mrs. J. Foltz; President, Mrs. F. S. Anderson; 1st Vice President, Mrs. J. Fitzgerald; 2nd. Vice President, Mrs. M. Hudon; 3rd. Vice President, Mrs. J. Legault; Rec. Secretary, Mrs. H. Barrett; Cor. Secretary, Miss K. Dolan; Treasurer, Mrs. F. Fitzpatrick; Auditors, Miss H. Lynch, Mrs. N. Davidson.

Conveners: Foster Ward, Mrs. Dunlop, Mrs. M. J. O'Callaghan.

Samson Ward, Mrs. C. Frechette, Mrs. W. Frawley.

Ketcheson Ward, Mrs. R. Flynn, Mrs. J. Legault, Mrs. I. Morrell.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

IVANHOE W. I. ACTIVITIES

Ivanhoe — The October meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the town hall, with the president, Mrs. W. French in charge.

The secretary, Mrs. F. Palmer, made plans for the sewing course in modern dressmaking to be taught the last of this month. Mrs. E. McMaster, convener of girls' work, made arrangements for a cooking course in the hall. Mrs. C. Mitz, convener of agriculture, then took charge, introducing Mr. Ketcheson of Foxboro who showed motion pictures that were particularly impressive and educational on the preservation and protection of Canada's resources, wild life, and fish, also conservation and re-forestation of waste land, improved conditions for education, and conservation of food for the needy of other countries.

Mrs. C. Sills expressed the appreciation and thanks of the Institute to Mr. Ketcheson who gave all such an enjoyable evening.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Former Pastor Speaks at 80th Anniversary

Bayside — The 80th anniversary of the founding of Wesley Church (Bayside) was held Sunday, October 20, with two splendid congregations. The special speaker for the day was the Rev. James A. Plant of Brighton, and a former pastor of the Bayside Pastoral Charge. The pastor of the church, the Rev. A. C. McCallum, assisted in both services.

The choir sang two numbers at each service and Mr. A. A. Branscombe and his son Davey contributed cornet duets. The musical parts of the services were very much enjoyed and great credit is due to all who contributed to the success of the services. The Rev. W. Plant gave two helpful messages and his visit to his former congregation was greatly enjoyed by all. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and flowers which lent an added significance to the occasion. The Rev. Mr. McCallum, in paying tribute to the devotion of the early pioneers, urged his hearers to do everything in their power to preserve and maintain the great heritage of the church which is the bulwark of civilization. The church still has a place in the life of our community and should be supported by all.

ARTHUR KING WINS DECISION OVER FRECHETTE

Had Loser on Canvas for Count of Nine Twice

Toronto, Oct. 22 — (CP)—Li'l Arthur King, 128½-pound Toronto Negro, last night punched out a clean-cut decision over Paul (Blond Tiger) Frechette, 121¾ pounds, of Lowell, Mass., in the eight-round main boxing bout at Maple Leaf Gardens. King had the more experienced Frechette on the canvas for the count of 9 in the third and the 4th rounds. In the eight-round semi-final, Frankie Brancette, 117¾. of Toronto, took a decision from Al Ellis, 115 pounds, of Detroit. Ellis entered the ring with a record of only one loss in 25 professional fights. George Renault of Lowell, Mass., got the nod over Teddie Swain of Toronto. Jimmy Mason of Toronto and Harry Marshall of Detroit battled to a six-round draw and Joey McPhee of Oshawa beat Terry Kitt of Toronto in the preliminaries.

Bill Stewart, A.H.L. Referee-In-Chief Versatile Chap

Few men have refereed and umpired as many games in various sports as Bill Stewart, newly appointed referee-in-chief of the American Hockey League.

Bill had been tooting a whistle around Boston before the old Can-Am League was organized back in 1926 and he was the first referee signed by the new circuit. During one season he refereed ninety games, and only the past summer was umpire in 178 ball games in which national baseball league clubs participated.

Although Stewart is chiefly known as a baseball and hockey official, he has also officiated in professional and amateur football and basketball. Some men are born sports officials while others never learn. Even the gamest hockey players "Freeze Up" when they get out there on the ice and are in charge of the game. It is not physical fear, because many of them would welcome a chance to throw a punch at an abusive player or heckler.

In addition to having officiated in almost every branch of popular sport, Bill has also played most games, and played them well enough to pick up a check for his efforts. Had he shown up just a bit better in spring training he would have been a member of the infamous Chicago Black Sox. As it was he was with the Club at the start of the season. Bill was a left-handed pitcher and a good one in those days. He later managed many minor league ball clubs before turning to umpiring.

Maurice Podoloff, President of the American Hockey League, hired Stewart to act as a stabilizer and coordinator of the referees. Bill does not intend to handle a whistle himself, but he will be constantly on the road watching the referees in action, making a suggestion here and criticizing there. Bill knows that there is two ways of thumbing a man off the ice. You can blow your whistle in a half-hearted manner and motion a man off. But if you do it in the Bill Stewart manner there is never any doubt about the whistle having been blown nor what the official means, and when a player knows that you are running the game he will usually obey, thus speeding up and improving the quality of play.

Huston Likely to Star In New Canadian Movie

MESSRS. L'ANGLAIS AND HUSTON

Two men talked in a hotel room in Toronto. They were Toronto-born Actor Walter Huston and Paul L'Anglais, key man of the French-Canadian motion picture industry. Mr. L'Anglais, of Quebec Productions Ltd., wants to film the movie version of Huston's current stage success, "Apple of His Eye." They reached an agreement. No contracts were signed, but it is likely that shooting will commence at Quebec during the early fall of 1947. If so, Oct. 20 will be recorded as a red letter day in Canadian motion picture business.

Mr. L'Anglais wants to film the picture in technicolor. He will make French and English-speaking versions. The return of Mr. Huston will mark the first time a Canadian star has come back to his country to play the lead in a Canadian-made film. Walter Huston's belief in the talents of Canadians is summed up thusly: "The entire stage cast of 'Apple of His Eye' may be used in the film version. That is not final. I'd be happy to work with a Canadian cast."

When Mr. L'Anglais started filming of "The Stronghold" last January, he surrounded himself with top Hollywood technicians, actors and story, but had Canadians train under them. The result is what he terms "a major production on Hollywood standards." Shooting of "The Stronghold" will be completed on Nov. 28.

During the next year, Mr. L'Anglais hopes to make four features. In his endeavor to direct Canadians in the movie industry field, he is training them in every phase of the business under experts.

"Only 17 per cent of those working in "The Stronghold" are Americans; the other 83 per cent are Canadians," Mr. L'Anglais said. He added that a motion picture industry which provides an opportunity for Canadians to develop their talents is essential in this country, not for the purpose of keeping our talent from crossing the border, but to make sure that they will come back home.

MCLEAN, BOHOZUK

That was the way it was in the case of Mrs. Dick—until police came up with her April 12 statement given during a ride with police when she re-enacted the killing, in which she said she drove a borrowed "murder car" with her husband John beside her and Bohozuk in the back seat to a lonely spot 15 miles south of Hamilton.

There, her statement went on, John died under the impact of two shots fired from the back seat by Bohozuk and later Bohozuk dumped Dick's legless, headless, armless body on Hamilton mountain.

But without that statement, inadmissible because it now is hearsay in this trial, there seemed no case for the crown in this second trial.

Developments came yesterday with a suddenness that shook the courtroom. It had been reported by The Canadian Press as early as last Friday that the crown's case rested largely on Mrs. Dick's testimony. But only yesterday did it become apparent for certain.

T. J. Rigney, K.C., of Kingston, special crown prosecutor, was not in the courtroom in the morning. He was conferring with the Attorney-General's Department in Toronto—getting what was said to be "special instructions."

Requests Withdrawal

He appeared at the afternoon sitting and immediately asked the case be withdrawn from the jury. To this, G. A. Martin, K.C., defence counsel, protested, citing law back to 1746 that if "essential evidence" was not forthcoming for the crown the charges— not the jury—should be dismissed. The evidence was that of Mrs. Dick in this case.

But His Lordship—Mr. Justice George A. Urquhart —ruled that the crown should have a chance to prove its case; figured that at least one or more "strong men" had been involved with Mrs. Dick in this case; and that since she was a woman with 30 days in which to appeal her conviction, at least that time should elapse.

"She may change her mind," said His Lordship.

So it went. The accused, two nervous men—one only 27, the other 68, one a father and one a former close friend of Mrs. Dick —stood and were shackled together after hearing all the argument and across-the-court suggestions—and led away to await a new trial in this second torso murder trial in January, the month in which Mrs. Dick is to die on the seventh instant unless some intervening authority should change or postpone that date.

Taxi Driver Malette Still in Hospital

Ottawa, Oct. 22 — (CP)—Harold Malette, 38-year-old Ottawa taxi driver shot accidentally last Aug. 16 by a bank manager in an attempted armed hold-up at Embrun, about 20 miles southeast of here, still is in hospital, his legs paralyzed.

Hospital attendants said today it is not yet known whether the man's limbs will respond to treatment.

Malette's taxi was hired by Thomas Ritchie, who herded the driver into the bank at gun-point. Joseph A. Cloutier, the manager, opened fire. Three shots missed but the fourth struck Malette in the back.

Foiled in the robbery attempt, Ritchie was captured later that day. He was sentenced to 25 years in penitentiary.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

Lindsay, Oct. 22 —(CP)— It was a double celebration Saturday for Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nugent, when they observed their 65th wedding anniversary and Mr. Nugent's 95th birthday on their farm near here. Helping them celebrate were all their five children, many grand-children and seven great-grand-children.

ARMY FARTHER OUT IN FRONT IN FOOTBALL POLL

Notre Dame Boosts Second Place Margin Over Texas and Tennessee

By SID FEDER

New York, Oct. 22 — (AP) — Boosted back to first place among the United States college football teams a week ago by the country's sport writers, Col. Red Blaik's Army team zipped farther out in front in the Associated Press weekly poll today.

At the same time Notre Dame boosted its second place margin over Texas, and Tennessee, Northwestern, Georgia and North Carolina came skipping up the trail off their successes of last Saturday.

All together, 156 sports writers, from every section of the United States ballotted in this third week of the Associated Press poll for the 1946 gridiron season. Texas drew 25 less votes for first place than it did a week ago, in spite of its 20-0 victory over Arkansas last Saturday, and Notre Dame dropped 10 off its top-place selections.

Army picked up all of these 35, and more besides, when it crushed Columbia 48-14 and handed Lou Little's Lions their first setback of the campaign. They already had defeated Villanova, Oklahoma, Cornell and Michigan.

Army piled up 112 first-place picks, and an additional one-quarter top-spot vote.

Based on a system of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for a second place pick, eight for 3rd, and so forth, Army rolled up the tremendous total of 1,499½ pts., one of the largest in the history of the poll. Notre Dame held 2nd with 1,331½ and Texas third with 1,262½.

With the top trio remaining in their same order Tennessee zoomed up from ninth place to fourth with 898 points as a result of its 12-0 decision over Alabama. The University of California at Los Angeles dropped to fifth with 800 and Penn, 40-0 winner over Virginia, was sixth with 699½.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS FOR MEALS

Toronto, Oct. 22 —(CP)— It isn't hard to get a meal in the Chinese Province of Honan, but it is hard to pay for it. Menu of the Y.M.C.A. hostel in Kweiteh features breakfast at $3,000, lunch at $4,000, and dinner at $5,000 — measured in terms of United States dollars. This information was contained in a letter from Bishop W. C. White, formerly of Toronto, now administering relief in that province for the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Soviet Paper Claims Race Discrimination Blooms in America

The assertion was contained in Soviet Sport, a widely-circulated athletic newspaper.

Referring to Jackie Robinson's appearance with the Montreal Royals baseball club and the fact that the signing of the negro to a professional contract was hailed as a sensation in the United States Soviet Sport declared "13,000,000 negroes are deprived of elementary rights in the field of sports. And this is in a country which considers itself a model of democracy."

The paper added:

"American reactionaries try to deny instances of discrimination towards negroes in sports. Meanwhile in the U.S. and abroad it is a secret to nobody that admittance for negroes to a majority of psorts associations and unions is closed tight. For instance, negroes cannot appear in national contests for tennis, swimming, basketball, and so forth."

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—Off yesterday's meeting, the New York Football Writers' Association should change its name to the Glen Davis Admiration Society.. Lou Little, Columbia coach touched off the discussion when he said: "Davis is the best running halfback I ever have seen in football. Steven Owen, coach of the New York Professional Football Giants, says there's one thing that will stop Davis—graduation.

Shorts and Shells

Jersey Jones, manager of Charley Burley, checks in with a beef because the New York Athletic Commission has accepted Jake LYamotta as No. 1 middleweight contender. Since Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano don't clash again until March 21 and the winner will have six months grace before defending the title, Jersey figures Burley, Marcel Cerdan and Georgia Abrams are being shoved aside for a year.

Clearing the Cuff

The thoroughbred record, voice of the horse-racing industry, headlines: "Now is the time fo rracing to get tough with undesirables." What has it been waiting for?

37 PLANES IN BREAKFAST FLIGHT

Brantford, Oct. 22—(CP)—The Brant-Norfolk Area Club had 37 planes drop in Sunday morning for the biggest "breakfast flight" in the club's history. Toronto sent 17, Hamilton six, Kitchener and Waterloo five, Oshawa six, and three from other centres. The 127 guests were fed tea, toast, coffee, bacon and sausages.

CONSERVATIVES

Portage La Prairie, Man., Oct. 22 (CP)—Calvert C. Miller, a lawyer and President of the Manitoba Progressive Conservative Association, today is the new Member of Parliament for the federal constituency of Portage La Prairie.

With one station yet to be heard from, Mr. Miller polled 4,590 votes to 4,036 for the Liberal candidate, Jaffray S. Wood, and 2,809 for Sidney Coulthard, C.C.F. The station which has not yet reported is Vestfold, where only 28 votes were cast in the Dominion general election of 1945.

Despite fine weather and the fact the constituency had been subjected to one of the heaviest political barrages in its 43-year history, the vote was not heavy. Of about 15,000 persons listed, only 11,435 had voted in all but Vestfold. In 1945, 12,230 exercised their farnchise.

A native son, Mr. Miller was born in 1900, was educated here and graduated from the Manitoba Law School in 1922. He entered politics at an early age, and laughingly told a reporter during the campaign that his first political task was to sweep the old Conservative committee rooms in Portage during the Manitoba elections of 1914.

He succeeds the late Harry Leader, who until his death last spring held the seat for the Liberal party since 1935.

2 U.S. Marines Are Captured By Armed Chinese

Peiping, Oct. 22 — (AP) —Two United States Marines, members of a nine-man hunting party, were captured Sunday by armed Chinese and still are missing, Marine headquarters announced today.

In another incident, three United States sailors travelling by jeep near Tangku harbor fought off 50 Chinese in a gun battle in which several Chinese were wounded. None of the sailors was hurt.

Both groups of Chinese were presumed to be Communists.

"Thanks to you, Grandpa Kruschen . . .

MY LUMBAGO IS A THING OF THE PAST"

If you have suffered from lumbago, you'll understand why this man wants to pass on the good news as to how he found relief. He says:

"I had a bad attack of lumbago. When I got into bed I had to stay in one position—I could not move for pain. I was given the tip to try Kruschen and I am very grateful for it. For after taking a few doses I felt some relief: and after taking one large bottle I am glad to say that my lumbago has become a thing of the past. And there is no trace of it coming back."—E.A.V.

There are many instances in which the Kruschen saline treatment has brought happy relief . . . just as it did for Mr. E.A.V. So why not try Kruschen yourself? But be sure to take it faithfully for as long as needed and thereby give Kruschen a chance to overcome conditions in your body which have probably taken months . . . or even years, to develop. There is always a cause for lumbago and with many persons the pain can be traced to toxins or poisons in the system. Kruschen's action is to help your organs of elimination and thereby bring you relief. Kruschen Salts are procurable at all drug stores: 25c. and 75c.

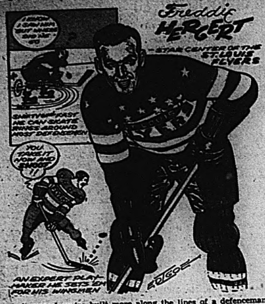
STARS ON ICE

By ED IGOE



Freddie Hergert
—STAR CENTER OF THE ST. LOUIS FLYERS
I KNOW I SAW HIM BUT WHERE DID HE GO
SHIFTY AND FAST HE CAN SKATE RINGS AROUND MOST DEFENSEMEN
YOU TAKE IT NOW AND SHOOT!!
AN EXPERT PLAY-MAKER HE SETS 'EM FOR HIS WINGMEN
ED IGOE

A rugged centre built more along the lines of a defenceman is St. Louis' star play-maker, Fred Hergert. Fred weighs 205, is 6 ft. 1 in. tall and is a particularly shifty stickhandler.

Hergert was discovered by Red Dutton when the latter was managing the New York Americans, and turned professional in the fall of 1934 with the Amazing Amerks. The following season he performed for the Detroit Olympics. Fred played for Pittsburgh and Cleveland in 1936-37 and was sold to Kansas City for the 1937-38 campaign. The St. Louis management liked his style and bought him for the Flyers and he starred in the Mound City for the next four seasons, leading the league in scoring during the 1939-40 campaign.

PRO BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION WILL ASSIST SYSTEM

Arena Managers' Association Declines to Join New Organization

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Chicago, Oct. 22 (AP)—Fifty-two professional basketball teams from coast to coast in the United States agreeing to work in unison, have become members of a National Association in the first move towards a gigantic farm system for the game's "major" leagues.

The formation of "The National Association of Professional Basketball Leagues" was completed yesterday. Conspicuous by its absence in the new organization was the powerful new basketball association of America, sponsored by the Arena Managers' Association, with members in New York, Boston, Providence, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Washington, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cleveland, Detroit, Toronto and Chicago.

The formation of the 52-team association, consummated by an executive board of six members from the National and American basketball leagues and affiliated loops was considered the first big step in establishing pro basketball on a big business basis rivalling pro football. It was accomplished mainly through the efforts of Ward (Piggy) Lambert, new $10,000 a year commissioner of the National Basketball League No. 1 rival of the Arena Managers' circuit.

To some observers, the wily Lambert's 52-team "bloc" appeared to be a strategic manaeuvre in a player war which may be brewing between the 11-year-old National League and the new arena Managers' Basketball Association of America.

"The Arena Managers' League declined an invitation to enter our new association," said Lambert. "But they may join later. I'll admit they've signed up some of our players, but they took men who were not definitely under contract. There is no so-called war in progress. We hope to work in harmony."

Lambert said the new tie-up included teams in such "minor" leagues as the New York State, New England, Eastern and Pacific Coast "and others that may enter busniess this year."

In the future it will amount to something similar to the farm system in baseball," Lambert added. "Players who do not make the grade in the National or American leagues could be picked up for the waiver price by any members of the association."

Montreal, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Young boxing prospects in a half dozen cities in Quebec and Eastern Ontario will have an opportunity to show their prowess in the ring during the coming winter months when they prepare for Montreal's 1947 Golden Gloves tournament.

Initial plans have been completed for a boxing show here next April which may draw as many as 600 entries from Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrooke, Que., Three Rivers, Que., Valleyfield, Que., Ottawa and Cornwall.

The Rotary Club of Montreal will organize and promote the tournament for the boxing division of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada and all proceeds will be used for the benefit of underprivileged children.

Dennis White, supervisor of the A. A. U. of C.'s boxing division described the Golden Gloves tournament as "an opportunity to give the boys an outlet for their energy."

"Delinquency is a social problem and we have tried to interest the service clubs in helping to solve it," he said. "We must see that youth has an opportunity to put its energy to a useful purpose that will be of more service to the community as a whole."

Rotary was taking over the Golden Gloves and Mr. White said he hoped other clubs would interest themselves in such sports as track and field and swimming.

Frank Lewis of Montreal, chairman of the Golden Gloves committee, said it is hoped to have tournaments promoted in cities outside Montreal, with finalists coming here for the big meet in April.

As an incentive to participate, every entry will receive a lapel button "so he will have some reward other than a black eye," Mr. Lewis said.

It is estimated that if 600 entries are received, some 500 fights will have to be staged. There will be novice and open classes with an aggregate total of 18 weight classes.

The winning club will receive the Jack Dempsey Trophy with other trophies for class winners and runners-up.

G.rrr.

That, in Arabic, or Iraqian, is "That blankety - blank timekeeper robbed me of at least a draw against Whipper Billy Watson last Friday night To use a famous American boxing scream 'I was robbed' unquote. That is the way Shiek Emir Badui greeted the dressing room faithful las Friday eve. after the Whipper defeated him over the sixty-minute time limit.

The air was blue with Arabian epithets and whatnots and nothing would suit the dapper snappy from the land of sun, sand and palm-trees than to demand in pure "Arabianese" a rematch with the Empire title-holder. That was readily granted and Friday evening sees the pair go at it again…but this time with no time limit.

According to word from Toronto this Kola (no wise cracks about the coke) Kwariannl, who hails from the Russian steppes, plus Cossackian equipment, fur hat, sword and all the Russky trimmings is one of the most colorful gents to appear here in some time. 'Tis said his sartorial grandeur equals that of the Shiek Emir Badui. Looks as if these wrestling impresarioes are going in for more and more period stuff, and the first thing we know they'll be spilling opera at us, fresh from the pachydermic tonsils of the newest arrivals to Canadian wrestledom.

Pretty far-fetched at that, but some of it might be timely. Imagine the Sheik Emir chirping from ring centre after he has defeated the Whipper and clutching that title to his bedizined Badui bosom. "Mine Alone" from the Desert Song, or Ivan (The Terrible) Rasputin, murmuring the Shaving Scene from the Barber of Seville, or Wady Talun, the paralyzing Pole glaring at Karl Davis and yodelling "Believe me, if both these ensmearing strong arms".

Or the Whipper reciting from the ring:

"The sexton tolls the knell of parting day,
The howling crowd goes slowly out in glee,
Phil Lawson, homeward, quietly? wends his way,
And leaves the belt and title there to me."

The Batawa Shoemen, primed and ready for the stiffest series in their 1946 baseball careers leave tomorrow for Chatham where they will meet the baseball representatives of that city in the first game of the OBA Intermediate "A" finals. The second game is slated for Batawa on Saturday afternoon next.

The Chathamites won their semi-finals series against Windsor Woodbine Lunches on Saturday by a 7-2 score for their second straight win. They meet Batawa in the shadow of the William Pitt hotel on Thursday in the 1st titular joust.

And Batawa will be well advised not to sell this Chatham squad short. The southwestern Ontario community has a reputation for producing first rate baseball squads that is second to none in the province, and many a championship scalp has hung at the Chatham belt. In any event, any squad that reaches an Ontario baseball final no matter what class, has something on the ball, no pun intended. As Waldo remarks,—'They gotta be good to get where they are.'

It should be a good series and unless one team or the other is topheavy as compared to the other, the jousts should be productive of some neat diamond pastiming. There is no dope available as yet regarding the Chatham squad, but you can bet your mother-in-law's slippers they are no set-up. However Batawa will give a good account of themselves and the best wishes of city and district baseball fans go with them.

Don't be surprised if you learn in the near future that Belleville's intermediate and junior hockey teams will be directed under the one governing body. This point was noted at a meeting of intermediate players, present, past and future and 1945 officials at the YMCA last night.

There was a good attendance out for this preliminary conclave upwards of 35 being at the airing. There were many suggestions made as to financing the Redmen squad with some criticism levelled at the Hume Arena Board of Directors appointed by the city this year, for its action in awarding an overall arena program franchise to a private individual.

Ways and means were discussed for pre-season financing but nothing of a definite nature resulted at the meeting. Later it was decided to hold another meeting on Monday night next at 8 o'clock to which the executive of the Belleville Junior Hockey Club will be invited with a view to amalgamation of the hockey forces for the coming year.

It is expected that complete organization will take place at the Monday night gathering, providing the junior body is willing to act as a parent whole with additions from the intermediate squad.

• • •

The meeting revealed that prospects for an intermediate squad that should ice a team with more strength than last year. A number of players of fine calibre have moved into town since last winter and should bolster the veterans of the 1946 Redmen, and the juniors of last year who are now of intermediate age.

Such vets as Walt Gerow Jr., Timmy Williams, Clare Williamson, Jumbo Goyer, Gordie Cook, and others were present. Among the new comers there were a chap name Daly from Ottawa, Normandin, of the Batawa baseball champion squad who it is reported was slated for a New York Ranger berth, and others. It was revealed that a number of other players are in town who will turn out when practices get under way.

The keynote of the evening, after the smoke of financial discussion had disappeared, was the necessity for complete organization. This is a move in the right direction, for no business or industrial venture which has to do with the playing public can establish a foundation of success unless it is properly and thoroughly organized.

• • •

The suggestion that the junior squad executive be asked to attend the Monday conclave was also a good move. There is no reason why, in a town of the size of Belleville, hockey should not be operated under one administrative head. It is better for the game and for the players. The public, business men and fans in general will have more faith in a properly organized outfit than it will in a ramshackle one with no definite controlling body at its head. John Fan will welcome the idea, and after all, he is the guy who is box-office.

SYD ABEL LEADS SCORING PARADE OF HOCKEY LOOP

Harry Watson, Former Red Wing Star, Now With Toronto, Second

Montreal, Oct. 22 — (CP) — National Hockey League statistics, released today, showed Syd Abel, speedy forward of Detroit Red Wings, leading the individual scoring parade with two goals and three assists accumulated in three games played by the Detroiters this season.

Harry Watson of Toronto Maple Leafs was in the second slot with two tallies and a pair of assists. A three-way tie for third place had Adam Brown of Detroit with two markers and an assist, Kenny Reardon of Canadiens with 1 goal and two assists and Toronto's Teeter Kennedy with three assists.

Bill Durnan, goalie of Montreal Canadiens and Vezina Trophy winner for the last three seasons, turned in the first shutout of the 1946-47 season. Durnan handed the New York Rangers a zero in the opening game of the season in Montreal when the Habs blanked the Blueshirts 3-0. Big Bill has allowed only 1 goal to slip by him in two games.

Bill Ezinicki, Maple Leafs' scrappy right-winger, leads the cooler customers with a total of 13 minutes spent in the penalty box.

Toronto and Canadiens are tied for first place in the league standings with three points apiece. Both the Leafs and Canucks have won one and tied one in two games played.

Wagner Threatens Krol's Leadership In Scoring Race

Toronto, Oct. 22—(CP)—Hard-hitting Virgil Wagner of Montreal Alouettes tonight threatened Joe Krol's leadership among football scorers in Eastern Canada.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that the plunging United States import has 50 points in nine games to 51 for the triple-threat half of Toronto Argos. Wagner scored three touchdowns for 15 points in two weekend games and Krol got only 3 points in his one start.

Right behind the two leaders, both from the Big Four Interprovincial Union, comes Don Toms, sensational young half of Hamilton Wildcats in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Toms scored two touchdowns Saturday to bring his season's total to nine touchdowns and 45 points in eight games.

Ken Charlton, Western Canada product with Ottawa Rough Riders, rivalled Wagner's weekend scoring burst. The Ottawa half also got three touchdowns for 15 points to bring his total to 28 in six games. Another star from the west, Ches McCance of Montreal Alouettes, turned in a 12-point weekend job to move into third place in the Big Four with 38 points.

Two players rivalled Toms' 10-point display Saturday. Young Bob Cunningham got two touchdowns for Balmy Beach and Ross McKelvey two for Toronto Indians.

Although idle because of injuries, George Curtis of University of Western Ontario Mustangs held his lead in the Intercollegiate Union with his 16 points in 2 games. Don Bark of Toronto Varsity moved into second place, his 11 points against Queen's Saturday giving him a three-game total of 13. Bob McFarlane of Western took over third place with his 11 points against McGill.

B.C.I. JUNIORS DEFEAT ALBERT IN C.O.S.S.A. TILT

Church Street Studes Show Plenty of Power; Score All Points in First Half

"Red" Townsend's Belleville Collegiate Institute junior football squad showing plenty of strength offensively defeated "Pete" Beach's Albert College youngsters in the first game of the COSSA junior loop on the college gridiron yesterday by a 16-1 score.

Paced by McBride, starry quarterback, the Church Street students rammed over two major scores in the first quarter, one of which was converted to give the BCI'ers an eleven point lead. In the second quarter McBride pulled a near quarterback sneak for another touchdown while Albert scored its lone point when McGaughey pulled down McCormack behind his own goal-line.

There was no score in the second half although Albert marched downfield for 70 yards in straight bucks only to be halted on the BCI five yard stripe.

McBride's passing and running and his generalship was one of the features of the game. The first major score of his team resulted from a fifteen yard forward flip into the waiting arms of McCormack, while the flashy quarterback heaved another to Soaft in the same quarter for the second touchdown.

McBride also figured in the 3rd score on his sneak. McCormack played a stellar game for the College kids with Taugher and McGaughey standing out for the collegians.

The teams:—

BCI—Creeggan, Green, Milligan, Locke, Bone, Drumm, Croll, Empey, Spiegal, McCormack, Whalen, Soaft, Galbraith, McBride, Cameron, Hurst, Davidson, Burley, Keays, O'Brien; Albert College—Adam, Alyea, Baker, Bullock, Cohen, Davidson, Derbyshire, Dumbrille, French, Grimmon, Hayman, Hoffman, Lechy, McCrae, McGaughey, Ray, Scudds, Taugher, Usher, Wolge, Yates.

TRUCK HANDY FOR BURGLARS

Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 21 —(AP)— Real estate dealer Walter B. Prebyl's truck was handy for burglars who entered his home Saturday. They used it to haul away his 600-pound safe. Police later found the truck abandoned near Tonawanda. The safe was in a nearby field, smashed open and $5,500 in jewelry, $3,000 worth of mortgage certificates and two guns removed.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Mind the three stages of development in a strip-and-end-play; (1) strip as many suits as possible (2) before exiting to a selected opponent (3) to force his return lead that is favorable to you.

When successful, such a play avoids taking a finesse. When it does not work out as desired, you have either (1) failed to strip enough suits or (2) thrown the wrong opponent into the lead.

To strip a suit, you may have to sluff cards in it, or trump them, or a combination of both. To throw an opponent into the lead, you must have a card that forces him to win.

The main idea is to time the operations for your benefit. The stripping process must be done before throwing opponent into the lead. And enough suits must be stripped to force his favorable return.

Sit south as declarer at six spades in this deal:

NORTH
♠J 10 9 8 7 6
♥A K Q

♠A
♥J 8 6 4
♦Q J 10 9
♣K J 9 7

EAST
♠None
♥10 9 2
♦8 6 5 4 2
♣8 5 4 3 2

SOUTH
♠K Q 5 4 3 2
♥7 5 3
♦A K
♣A Q

The opening lead from west is diamond queen. You will lose one trick to the trump ace. Another trick will lose to west if you take the club finesse. The deal is so framed.

To avoid the finesse, try the strip-end. Take two diamonds and three hearts to strip your own hand and dummy of red suits. Now lead a trump. West wins spade ace and must return a side suit.

If he returns a red suit, simply trump in dummy and sluff the south club queen. If he returns a club, it is right into the jaws of your ace-queen and a finesse is unnecessary.

What if the trump ace happens to be in east? There is still a chance that he may guess wrong and return a red card. If not, you are no worse off than when you started. You can still try the finesse.

A past bid or lead or play may tip you off as to who holds the winning out card. If not, at least give yourself a chance to guess.

'Tis better to try than lie down and die.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 22 (AP) While it might not be fair to call her the laziest star in Hollywood, Ann Sheridan certainly leads an existence which is the envy of other top actresses.

Ann is lolling about her Encino Rancho after returning from a four-month jaunt to Mexico, Cuba, New York and Connecticut. Before that, she worked 15 weeks in "Nora Prentiss." Before that, she took and 18-month vacation because she didn't like the roles Warners wanted her to do. She'll go to work soon in "The Unfaithful," but there's no hurry about that, so far as Ann is concerned.

"Yes, it's a pretty nice life," she admitted, relaxing from posing for pictures with her two cows, Clara Lou and a Holstein named Goldstein. "But I think I've earned it."

Ann came to Hollywood in 1933 as a beauty contest winner. Among her first pictures was a dilly called "Car 99", with a newcomer named Fred MacMurray.

"Brother, did I work!" she emphasized. "I was at the studio from nine in the morning until four the next morning, and got up at nine again. I'd finish one picture in 18 days, then start another. I played a nurse so many times I didn't have to change costumes from picture to picture."

So now you see why Annie is taking life easy these days.

Charles Trenet, who has been about the task of translating his French love songs into English, is giving up the job. His reason: The language is inadequate.

"French is the only language of love," he sighed.

The Gallic Sinatra has attempted to translate his tender songs for the film, "I Dream of You."

Mary Anderson writes from "The Stronghold" Company in Montreal that the director speaks only Russian, the producer and most of the cast only French and Helmut Dantine and Paul Lukas converse in German. That leaves her Alabaman accent out in the cold.

Shannonville

Shannonville — Miss Ruth Heaven, who recently entered Kingston General Hospital as a student nurse, has been honored at several parties.

The congregation of St. John's Mission, Herchimer Ave., presented her with a fountain pen and pencil.

The young people and friends of Shannonville gave her a travelling bag, and a purse of money. At Kingsford, with the Rev. F. C. Beazer of Roslin making a suitable address, friends presented Miss Heaven with a reversible blue and rose wool blanket, to which the recipient made a suitable reply, expressing gratitude and appreciation.

AT THE McCARTHY — In the role of Maxwell Frere, Michael Redgrave is the ventriloquist in an exciting sequence in Universal's "Dead of Night," opening today at the McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE BELLE — Young love ..love in its adolescent stages is tenderly portrayed by Tom Drake and M.G.M.'s new lyric soprano "find", Beverly Tyler, in "The Green Years," which brings A. J. Cronin's widely read novel of family life to the screen. Charles Coburn heads the picture's distinguished cast.

AT THE CAPITOL — Love in 18th. Century London, is re-created by Ray Milland and Paulette Goddard in Paramount's "Kitty," the racy story of a red-headed hussy and the men who helped her rise to the top of English society. The film, now at the Capitol Theatre, was adapted from the sensational novel of the same name. On the same program "The Glass Alibi," starring Paul Kelly, Douglas Fawley and Anne Gwynne.

Knickerbockers Will Oppose Toronto Huskies

(By The Canadian Press)

The Knickerbockers of New York are scheduled to oppose the Toronto Huskies in the opening game, Nov. 1, at Maple Leaf Gardens of the newly-formed Basketball Association of America. On the following night eight other teams go into action at Chicago, Detroit, Providence and St. Louis. Each of the 11 clubs in the pro circuit are drawn to play 60 games, half of which are to be on home courts.

Ned Irish of New York, league spokesman, said last night the leading teams will share a jackpot estimated at $75,000 or more at the close of the season. He said the clubs were paying major-league salaries.

In training with the New York Rovers' squad at Windsor, Ont., is Larry (King) Kwong, 23-year-old Chinese from British Columbia, who is rated the first hockeyist of his race to be signed in organized hockey in the United States.

This year's sport budget of the Soviet government provides for expenditure of $2,166,098, which is a 30 per cent increase over the 1945 appropriation for officially-sponsored athletics.

Heavyweight Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., arrived in the British Isles yesterday by air for his Nov. 5 fight with British champion Freddie Mills of London.

The New York State Labor Relations Board gave preliminary hearing yesterday at New York to complaints of the American Baseball Guild that the major-league Yankees, Giants and Dodgers were sponsoring "company unions." The Board asked the Guild for supporting evidence.

The Soviet All-union Sports Committee at Moscow yesterday approved schedules for two hockey leagues. One will play the Canadian six-man game and the other employs the Russian brand with 11 players to a team.

After four scheduled games, Les Douglas and Jerry Courturs of Indianapolis Capitals jumped to the top of the American Hockey League's scoring parade with 10 points apiece. Norm Burns of New Haven was third with eight points, on two goals and six assists.

Believed to be angling for shortstop Marty Marion of St. Louis Cardinals, the Chicago Cubs yesterday removed shortstop Billy Jurges, 38, from their active playing list. Jurges was signed as a 1947 coach.

Former Canadian Henley and American sculling champion and winner of the Diamond Sculls in 1938 and 1939, Joseph W. Burk was appointed freshman crew coach of Yale University yesterday. A navy war veteran, Burk has been living in California.

Greyhound Tracks Prove Gold Mine For Stockholders

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (CP) — If money is the root of all evil, here's a tip that will put you right in step with Satan. Mortgage the homestead, if necessary, and sink it all in greyhound racing stadium stock.

Even the Bay Street and St. James Street boys, who keep a razor-keen ear on the transatlantic financial gossip, will agree that your "sinning" will be on a mighty big scale. Hugh Dalton, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, quite probably will grudgingly nod his head in assent.

But there's one hitch in our tip. So many people want to "do evil" that the market is practically cleaned out. Even the common shares are gold-edged.

Britain's 52 dog tracks hold meetings twice weekly throughout the year and, much to the hand-rubbing glee of the promoters and shareholders, the sport has appealed to the average Briton, even willing in the post-war boom, to take a chance. Crowds of 50,000 and 60,000 on a race night are common.

By way of proving our tip is "on the level," take a look at a few financial statements issued recently:

Look 'Em Over

Sheffield Sports Stadium: boosted its 1945 dividend to 250 per cent, compared with 125 per cent in 1944; paid a first interim dividend of 75 per cent. The company's £9,000 ($36,000) of one-shilling (20 cents) shares are quoted at about 34 shillings, making the capital worth more than £600,000.

South London Greyhound Racecourses Limited: net profit of £454,179 for 1945 compared with £235,296 in 1944; final deferred dividend is to be 150 per cent, making 225 per cent for the year again 80 per cent in 1944.

West Ham Stadium (London): dividends this year total 85 per cent, an increase of 30 per cent over 1945 and 75-per-cent-jump over 1944. Shilling shares spiralled to 18 shillings and deferred capital from £25,000 to £450,000.

Scottish Greyhound Racing Company: Profits for the year ended June 30 were £98,000 against £40,000 the previous 12 months. Dividend on the five-shilling preferred shares were raised from 20 to 30 per cent and on the one-shilling deferred shares, from 50 to 100 per cent.

Need we go on?

Mr. Dalton, it is rumored, would like to get in on this easy money. Not for himself, we hasten to add, but as policeman of the country's finances, he would like to steer some of it into the public coffers via a betting tax.

SPORT SHORTS FROM BRITAIN

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 21 (CP) — With all this talk about shooting rockets to the moon English sportsmen decided to give them a try-out—on the ground, hitched to a motorcycle. The result delighted scientists but the man-on-the-street thought it "fizzed."

Wembley Stadium was packed with 85,000 persons, and another 30,000 tried to get in, as Bill Kitchen, captain of Wembley's Speedway motorcycle team, prepared to give the first public demonstration of a rocket-assisted motorcycle. It was a side-show to the regular speedway meeting at the park and had been ballyhooed for weeks.

The rocket bike, outcome of six months work by Prof. A. M. Low, president of the Interplanetary Society and Britain's leading rocket expert, was an imposing sight. Two rockets were fixed on each side of the back wheel, encased in aluminum shields.

The rockets were touched off by an electric button when the rider cruised to the starting line and, with flames and smoke pouring from them, the machine almost stalled when only halfway around the track. Kitchen, who described the ride as "a grand experience," said he opened the throttle "to keep going."

Prof. Low said the experiment proved rockets can propel machines, "and I hope next year to have four rocket-assisted machines in a speedway race but with double the rocket power."

The spectators, dampened by a sudden downpour of rain, didn't share his view.

"Let's just stick to petrol-motorbike racing — there's more fun in it," said one disappointed on looker.

Arsenal football club has signed Albert Gudmundsson, Iceland centre-forward, as an amateur. Dark-haired and slimly built, Gudmondsson is studying shipbuilding in Britain.

He played a few games for Glasgow Rangers of the Scottish League last season.

CHAPTER 34

"Mummy," said a hoarse crow echo of the familiar little voice.

"My darling."

"Are you going to stay here?"

"Always, baby."

"If I go to sleep will you go away?"

"No, sweetheart. I'll be right here."

"I hurt," Catherine said piteously on a little sob. Isabel could not speak, but she did not loosen her hold of Catherine's hand. She was conscious that Dennis was standing like a shadow over by the door. After a while the injured child slept, sweat standing out on her pearl-soft forehead, where the clipped hair met the swathing bandage.

An hour went by, two hours. Neither Catherine nor Isabel stirred by so much as the movement of an eyelid. At the open window the light curtains billowed now and then softly, against the darkening night outside; in the scattered oak woods of the hilltop an owl hooted—hooted again, and was still. Isabel did not know that she was thinking or feeling anything; she seemed arrested, body and soul, in this time when Catherine's life hung between two worlds, and was held in Isabel's hands. But it was an hour she never forgot.

After a while the older doctor and Dennis came in, and while the doctor held Catherine's limp little wrist Isabel's agonized eyes never left his face. He said nothing; among the three watchers by the bed there was complete stillness. The men went out, an silence came back and took possession of the plain country bedroom, the dotted white curtains and flower-papered walls, the walnut chest of drawers and the low rocker with its quilted seat and back.

Isabel remembered the chest of drawers; she and Dennis had been given it by his mother before Pussy's coming, and had oiled it on a happy leisurely Sunday long ago and lined it with folded white papers, and put in it the pink sacks and flanelette feather-stitched nightgowns, "for the baby."

She had slipped to her knees; she knelt on immovable, her eyes never leaving Catherine's face. Presently Dennis was there in the gloom.

"Had she been like this right through?"

"She hasn't stirred. She moaned a little, a while ago."

"They gave her a pill."

"I know."

"You're to go out, Isabel. I'll stay with her a while."

"I'll be right back." She loosened the small hand gently; Catherine did not waken, and Dennis took the low chair close to the bed that Isabel had abandoned after the doctor's visit.

"Get some coffee."

"I will. And wash my face." She managed a smile. Dennis wiped Catherine's small, half-open mouth; glanced up at Isabel.

"Her lip was cut, Dennis—that's all that means."

"Get some rest," he said, and Isabel went quietly from the room to the kitchen.

She was surprised, in a dull, bewildered fashion, to find that it was almost eleven o'clock.

"Still asleep?" said Dennis's mother, turning from the stove.

"She hasn't moved."

Isabel sat down at the table, stared before her; Mrs. Hardisty brought her a smoking cup of coffee, and she drank it gratefully, buttered toast, looked at it thoughtfully.

"The doctor says sleep is wonderful for her. She's to have some warm milk when she wakes."

"I suppose we won't know for a while."

"He said not. The young doctor from the plant is staying; he's getting some sleep. We're trying for a nurse."

"She looks so terribly white."

"The baby —yes. She lost a lot of blood."

"You're not having any coffee, Mom?"

"I had some. Madge was here a while ago; she looked in on you but she said you didn't hear her."

"I may have dozed," Isabel admitted simply, knowing well that she had not for one moment lost consciousness during the long vigil.

"Dennis says he'll stay there now. You'll want a bath, won't you; wouldn't a good hot bath rest you? And then do try to get some sleep."

"I feel groggy," Isabel smiled.

"You must. You were in there four hours."

"She wants you, Isabel," Dennis said, from the doorway.

"Oh yes, yes!" Isabel pushed her hair from her flushed, weary face, went quickly back to the sickroom. Dennis stood watching her for a moment, as she sank on her knees beside the bed; then closed the door quietly. Isabel was alone with Catherine again.

She touched the child's forehead lightly; it felt soft and hot. Catherine opened heavy eyes that looked darker than ever against the white bandage.

"Mummy, it hurts."

"I know it hurts, darling. But it won't hurt long."

"I want some breakfuss," said Catherine.

"You shall have it. Nice warm milk, with a glass tube." Isabel went to the door, called Dennis; in another five mnutes she was holding the glass close to Catherine's swollen and cut little mouth, and watching the warm milk swim up through the tube. "She took it all." Isabel whispered, when Dennis came in for the glass.

"Good," he said. "We couldn't get her to take it before."

Isabel resumed her position, but she was tired and cramped now, and had to change it imperceptibly every few minutes to ease the strained muscles. Catherine dozed off again; Isabel could ease herself into the low chair, without disturbing her firm hold on the hot little hand.

Time passed, and there was no time, no night and no day, no world at all outside this bedroom with the flowered walls and the open window, the walnut bureau where Pussy's first little garments had been stored in fragrant piles, waiting for her, the small still form on the bed.

"Mummy."

"My precious."

"When did you came?"

"Oh, a long time ago. I've been sitting here with my baby."

"I your baby," said Catherine. "Now you're not goin' away ever any more, ever."

"I'm going to stay right here."

A long time later Dennis came in, and Isabel went out again. It was three o'clock by the kitchen timepiece; Madge had come over and was sitting by the table with Mrs. Hardisty. Isabel took the bag Edna had hastily packed and went upstairs. Dazedly, slowly, she took a hot shower, combed her hair, put on the soft blue robe that felt warm and enveloping in the chilly night.

She lay down, pulled a comforter over her, but she could not sleep. This was Dennis's home; it had been her home once, and now she had no right here. It was Madge's now. Isabel lay wide awake for a space, and then went downstairs again.

Mrs Hardisty was taking her turn in Catherine's room; Madge had gone home; Dennis was sitting smoking his pipe beside a roaring fire in the sitting room. Isabel joined him on the davenport that faced the fire. He smiled across at her; resumed his brown study.

"Madge has gone?"

"Yes. She feels terribly. She feels to blame."

"I don't think anyone's to blame."

"Yet she'll always blame herself if anything—if—"

"Catherine will get well, Dennis. Children do. If she had been going—going to go away from us—she would have slipped out by this time. She's rallying now—she'll be better."

"You do think so, Isabel?"

"I'm sure of it."

"I'm going to believe you." His weary eyes smiled. "Here," he said, struck by a sudden thought. He came to her, put a pillow on one end of the couch, lifted Isabel's feet, and as she dropped gratefully into a sleeping position, stretched at full length, he reached for a familiar old plaid that had been many times drawn over her in hours of sleepiness or weakness, and tucked it about her.

In a haze Isabel saw him return to his chair and his pipe; then she was off for hours of deep and dreamless sleep. Yet even in her sleep she was conscious of a peace so deep that it was joy; she was back in the old sitting room beside the white-brick fireplace, and Dennis had spread the old plaid over her, and was sitting in his old chair.

Waking was all peace, too; she lay drowsily smiling; Dennis was gone, and daylight was struggling in through the blinds. Isabel went out to the porch and looked down at the bay. The eastern sky was pearl-color; little pink clouds drifting away from the roseate glow that heralded sunrise. The air was wet and fresh; Mrs. Hardisty's old orange cat, stepping warily, left a trail of broken dew-drops across the lawn.

Dennis came out and joined her.

"How has she been?" Isabel asked.

"Just the same. Sleeping—and now and then fretting a little. A nurse is here."

"Oh, when did she come?"

"She got here about an hour after you went to sleep. Miss Waterman."

"And I never woke. A fine nurse I must be!"

"You weren't on duty. Mother got some sleep, too."

"You've not had any, Dennis. Can't you lie down now?"

We're having some breakfast in the kitchen. You'd better come have some."

"I will." They went back into the house together, and Isabel took one look at Catherine, and the nurse on guard beside her. "Dr. Jaekel—the plant doctor—has he seen Catherine?" she asked.

"He looked in. Wouldn't disturb her."

Madge and the doctor were at breakfast. Mrs. Hardisty smiled at Isabel; somebody poured the sparkling hot coffee; they all fell into a low-toned conversation.

"How you slept!" said the older woman.

"I didn't hear anything. It was delicious there by the fire. Where's Pussy?"

"I took her over to sleep with Esme last night," Madge said. "I didn't want her to realize how frightened we were."

Of course. Quite naturally in authority. It was for Madge to say what Pussy would do; she need not consult Isabel. Why should she? Madge was mistress here now. Isabel's thoughts were sick with hurt and jealousy, even while her expression was unchanged as she sipped her coffee, and nodded thoughtfully as the doctor described Catherine's injuries.

"Only superficial," she echoed thankfully, when he spoke of the child's cut head.

"That's the head. Of course we can't tell much yet about anything else."

"No, no. I know that."

"Your quieting her last night was invaluable," he said.

"She wouldn't have anyone else," Madge contributed generously. "It was 'Mummy, Mummy! I want my Mummy!' until we were almost desperate."

Generous. But why shouldn't she be generous? She was secure here. Isabel, in a few days, must go away. Isabel wondered what nice young Dr. Jaekel thought. The blond Englishwoman is Hardisty's present wife. This other—the children's mother—must be the first wife. What on earth happened between them? Evidently she's a nice enough woman and certainly he's an easy fellow to get along with.

"Dennis, go upstairs and get some sleep," Madge said.

"Yes, I will. I wanted to wait for Dr. Jaekel's report. But I'll go right up."

"I'll wait until nine and then telephone Mr. Treat, at the plant," Madge went on.

"Oh, thanks. And tell him that if all goes well I'll be over this afternoon."

Miss Waterman came out, disturbed.

"She's very restless. She wants her mother."

"Right here." Isabel got to her feet, her face paling.

"Keep her as quiet as you can," said Miss Waterman. The doctor went in with Isabel; sat for a moment beside Catherine, laid his hand on her forehead and fingered her wrist.

"We are holding our own," he said. "Can you stay here with her awhile?" he asked Isabel.

"All day."

"I think her Mummy is as crazy about her as she is about her mother," said the doctor, not unimpressed by Isabel's fresh and serious beauty, and the tragedy in her star-sapphire eyes.

"Crazier," said Isabel, taking her old place. She felt in her heart an ecstasy of content she had never known before. Catherine opened fever-shadowed eyes and smiled at her with a little mouth that hurt her when she smiled.

The strange day, and another, and another day wore by. All the life in the hilltop farmhouse was centred in Catherine's room but Isabel found time for hours with Pussy, who clung to her mother, and found in the companionship both pain and delight. And there were other hours when the full measure of her exile was brought home to her with poignant pain.

Madge was of course at home here. Madge consulted with Mrs. Hardisty about meals; Madge went comfortably up and down stairs, in and out of Dennis's room. That room was closed to Isabel now. She no longer had the right to go in and hang up the remembered old dressing gown—she had given it to him on their first Christmas together —or to exclaim over the holes in his socks.

She did go in, but it was with Madge, to help make the beds. On the first of these occasions Madge showed her a new photograph of Dennis that was standing on her dressing table in a silver frame.

"Do you like it?"

"Yes. It's the best I ever saw of Dennis."

"I love it because it was taken on our wedding day," Madge said. "Just a casual little photographer in San Rafael. But isn't it good? I'm getting small copies, in leather frames, for the girls. Oom-oom-oom," she added, pressing the picture suddenly to her lips. "I love him so. I love him—God knows! too well."

And she looked smilingly at Isabel, flushed with a little shame over her exhibition of emotion, and with an odd look of pain in her eyes that puzzled the other woman.

"Isabel," she said, "you'll never know what he did for me. Dennis has never felt for me what I feel to him—I know that. This was going to be the happiest home in the world. We've three girls now—their might have been other children. There won't be now. I can't explain it—but it's all changed now. I wanted to give him a son—Dennis' son. But not now."

Isabel could not see her face as she spoke, nor could she see Isabel's. They were manipulating blankets, plumping pillows, coming and going between bedroom and bathroom.

"You mean because of Catherine's accident? Because I came here? Isabel asked.

"I mean— But it's not use!" Madge said. "I had it all planned. Now—well, it's all changed . . . Let's go on downstairs — we're through here."

Her manner had grown brusque and impatient. Isabel felt chilled.

"I wanted to give him a son!"

Long ago—it was not yet years, but how long ago!—Isabel had said something like that. She had felt that it was good that her children by Dennis had been girls; it would be fun to produce, for the Latimer line, her first-born son.

BEVIN DETERMINED

Voicing British desires about Germany, Mr. Bevin told the packed house:

"We wish to see established first political conditions which will secure the world against any German reversion to dictatorship or any revival of German aggressive policy."

Future of Germany

Commenting on the economic future of Germany, he warned that Britain is not prepared to carry out parts of the Potsdam agreement "unfavorable to us" while other parts were left unfulfilled.

"It is our considered view," he said, "that German industry has a most important part to play in the whole of European economy and it is not our intention that it should be further crippled except insofar as it might endanger security."

Bevin said the Paris Peace Conference presented a trend toward an east-west division of the world which "must, and I am sure, can be prevented."

Common Good

"If we are to achieve a lasting peace and economic recovery, all the forthcoming (United Nations and Foreign Ministers' Council) meetings in New York must have a readiness to recognize the legitimate interests of others and to subordinate national interest to the common good."

He said he was "not unhopeful" of lasting amity among the major powers.

In many respects, his speech stuck to British positions which have been at odds with those of Russia. But he said that, despite differences, "I am not unhopeful that, as we proceed, understanding will come."

Russian demands for bases on the Dardanelles would involve, if granted, an "unwarranted interference with the sovereignty of Turkey," the foreign secretary said. He asked that any further discussions "take place at an international conference for that purpose."

He spoke also for free navigation on the Danube, a provision written into the draft Balkan peace treaties over Russian objection.

He called also for a cessation of "the war of nerves" and criticized some countries at the Paris conference as a forum for propaganda speeches" and "to level frivolous charges against others."

Expressing British views on troubles which have been rubbed raw by the Moscow radio and salted by Russian conferees, Mr. Bevin said:

He said the "war of nerves" over the Dardanelles made matters "much more awkward" and "constant agitation...From outside" has upset Greece, which he said should have a "broadly-based government."

Prodded by opposition leader Winston Churchill, Mr. Bevin shouted "I give the lie" to accusations of British interference in Greece.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Oct. 22 — (CP)—The market was weak today in the early hours, especially the industrial stocks which were down a point in the index. Mining issues displayed moderate weakness. Trading was light at 535,000 shares for the first three hours.

The food, paper, liquor and miscellaneous industrials worked lower and point declines were scattered through the list at early afternoon. In the golds Louvicourt was a weak spot, showing a drop of 19 cents to 2.50. Upper Canada, Elder, Discovery, Duquesne, El Sol, Dicken and others weakened a few cents.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 22 —(AP)— Light selling of steels and motors tended to chill today's stock market.

An early selective recovery shift failed to follow through and dealings were exceptionally slow. Activity picked up for a brief interval before midday as prices slipped. A little support then arrived and extreme losses of fractions to three points or so were reduced in most cases near the fourth hour.

Hiram Walker (new) dropped a point among otherwise unchanged to easy Canadians at midday. Both Dome mines and Canadian Pacific eased 1-8. McIntyre and Distillers Seagram were unchanged.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, Oct. 22 —(CP)— Produce prices in the spot market here today as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture follow:

Eggs: A large and grade B still in short supply. A pullet up slightly and trade buying this grade cautiously, wholesale to retail, A large 50, A medium 48, A pullet 44-45, B 45, C 34; country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free, A large 49½-50, A medium 47½-50, A pullet 40, B 42-43, C 30-31.

Churning cream unchanged at No. 1 lb. 41 fob, 45 delivered, plus 10 cents subsidy.

Butter: Firm, offerings light, first grade solids 40, second grade solids 39; prints, first grade 42, second grade 41, third grade 40.

HOGS

Toronto, Oct. 22—(CP)—Grade A, dressed, bacon-hogs, delivered, were unchanged at Hull $20, unchanged at Brantford $20.-10, in markets reporting early today.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto O,ct. 22—(CP)—Cattle prices were steady on all grades, veal calves, hogs, lambs and sheep sold steady, in trade on the livestock market here up to mid-session today.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 950, calves 500, hogs 600, sheep and lambs 500. Unsold from yesterday were 1,700 head of cattle including 900 stockers.

Prices in the trade included:

Cattle: Weighty steers $11.75-$13.50, butcher steers $10.50-$12.50, heifers $10-$12.25, boners $8-$10, butcher cows $8-$10, canners downward to $5.50, bulls $8-$10.50, fed yearlings $12.50-$14.75, stockers $9.50-$11, good feeders upward to $12.

Calves: $15-$16 choice vealers with plain downward to $10, heavy Westerns $11-$13.50, grassers $9-$10.

Lambs: $14.50 good ewes and wethers, $13.50 bucks.

Sheep: $4-$8.25.

Just Administration of The German People Lies in Joint Policy of United Nations

Gordon A. Friesen, Former Military Governor in Defeated Germany, Describes Four Different Types of Government Now in Vogue, in Brilliant Address to Rotary Club

If the benefits of government by tyranny, fear, oppression and the abandonment of honest thought, are not to be extended to the rest of civilization, the nations of the world who believe in the four freedoms, and Christian philosophy should form a bloc for the purpose of preventing such aggression, Gordon A. Friesen, city hospital administrator, and former military governor in Germany told the Rotary Club on Monday.

"It is my firm belief that the only way to prevent a war is to prepare for one," he said, stating that he was pessimistic about the future unless nations of the world dispense with the selfishness and greed that is so prevalent today. "After all," he warned, "we should not overestimate the material things of life if we are not to make the same mistake the Germans made."

Military governor of various parts of Germany immediately following the cessation of hostilities, Mr. Friesen, former R.C.A.F. squadron leader related a colorful story of the chaotic condition of a defeated nation.

Met by Chaos

Sent to Hannoverish-Munden, a German community near Gottingen, "we were met by chaos," he said. There were no local authorities. Devastation was on a prodigious scale. There were no communications, no power, fields were deserted, crops and cattle had been left unattended with the population evacuated eastward. Those who remained were stunned and cowed; everything was at a standstill. From this grim scene there swarmed a milling mass of displaced persons, drunk with liberation and in some cases alcohol, and as a result, rapeing, looting and killing were prevalent in the area. Considering the history of the past five years, this was not surprising.

Hospital Established

The camp had a capacity of 5,000 including 1,400 Russians; 1,200 Poles; 800 French; 500 Belgians; 600 Dutch; 300 Italians and others. The staff was composed completely of displaced persons except Mr. Friesen, the commanding officer, and military guards.

Entertainment, news, small industries were introduced, also church services. A hospital was established. In spite of this control of the displaced persons was almost impossible.

"They would leave camp at night," the speaker related, "and it was not unusual to find that they had killed a few milch cows, a pure bred bull and cut off sufficient meat to satisfy their immediate needs, or they would place an electric current through a stream, kill all the trout, pick up a few of the hundreds that were washed ashore and leave the rest to rot in the sun."

After two and one-half months in this area, Mr. Friesen was transferred to Kreis Brilon, near Munster in Westphalia. The population was 90,000 and the sector was divided into seven different zones or gemeinden.

Appointed Overseers

One of his first assignments was to set up a democratic self government, but the transformation from totalitarianism to government of people, for the people and by the people could not be affected overnight. It was necessary therefore to appoint overseers selected primarily for their integrity and other assets to form a model of the government which would be later placed in office by free election.

It was interesting to note, he went on, how little appreciation and understanding the German people had for a democratic government. The mentality of a people, just as that of individuals, is fashioned largely by external influences. These influences during the past century in Germany have been characterized by more or less strongly developed dispotisms and repeated appeals to the duty of the citizen to the state. Tremendous progress was made towards this end by Nazi efforts.

Dictatorship Failed

The fallacy of dictatorship needs no elaboration, in the speaker's opinion. Like all previous dictatorships in history Nazism ultimately failed, but never before, behind a screen of artificial prosperity and efficiency, has there been concealed such an abandonment of even the common decencies of human conduct. The ideology of materialism which had captured the Germans had dimmed their vision of the eternal order of their existence. It was a fool's paradise. A goodly apple rotten at the core. National Socialism began with a challenge to religion. Even the great truths of Christianity were set at nought and mocked. The natural ties of family affection were replaced by a worship of state.

Justifiable pride in the great cultural achievements of a nation were perverted into a racial creed, laughable to all lovers of truth, which led to the diabolical persecution of the Jews and the unspeakable infamies of Dachau and Gelsen.

Eradicated Christianity

"I am firmly convinced," Mr. Friesen told the clubmen, "that such conditions were only possible due to eradication of Christian philosophy, the Christian faith in the Nazi party."

He related the responsibilities of his detachment in opening schools, appointing public health officers, midwives, hospitals and sanatoria. Typhoid had increased considerably and venereal disease had taken a sharp upsurge. A military court was established, banks were opened, communications established and every effort made to build up the German administration, after dispensing with all Nazi organizations and officials.

He was, however, a bit dubious about the final result of the occupation, he said. "This may be an idealistic viewpoint, but I feel that every member of the British Control Commission of Germany, or military government who is sent to Germany should go there with the same spirit a missionary goes to China. He is not only an ambassador for his country but for the way of life as well."

Must Act in Harmony

While all steps should be taken to insure that the British zone in Germany is governed firmly and justly, in accordance with democratic principles, this is not enough, alone. Its success is but part of the objective which should be sought. That objective is the administration of Germany as a whole by the four nations acting in harmony and concert. At present the British Zone is administered by the democratic principles of the Empire. The USA has its own method of government as has the French and the Russians which is a communistic type.

The instructions received by military governors, Mr. Friesen stated, specified that no active Nazi should hold office of any responsibility. Many thousands of people were affected by these instructions. The Russians, however, are realists, and if a Nazi can be useful to them they make him sign a paper that he is a Communist. According to reports, the speaker went on," some of the Nazis we dismissed left for the Russian zone and after they had signed a Communist declaration, were appointed to high technical positions."

Fought Against Evils

In his opinion, Mr. Friesen said, that there is no difference fundamentally between Communism and Nazism. Communism like Nazism, is a materialistic totalitaranism enshrining a human God. The last was was fought against certain definite Nazi represented by the Nazi regime which the United Nations felt to be incompatible with the civilization to which they aspired. These evils are no more compatible with our civilization when practised by Russians than they were when practised in the spirit of aggression by Germans.

During his address Mr. Friesen told many stories of personal experiences. In his early remarks he digressed sufficiently to launch a strong appeal to Rotarians for support of the hospital here. "It is a community institution," he said, "and is deserving at least of the moral support of every resident of this city and district.

He was introduced by Rotarian Dr. Jack Marshall, while club appreciation was expressed by Rotarian Lloyd Hicks. Mr. Friesen addressed the Kinsmen Club last night on the same topic and also the Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon today.

SEIZED BY F.B.I.

The F.B.I. announced the arrest of Teodoro Erdmann Erich Lau, ABOVE, 44, an Argentine citizen of German birth, whom it described as one of the most important spies for Germany during World War II. Lau was arraigned in federal court and bond was set at $50,000, an unusually high amount. The F.B.I. said that Lau was the "mysterious Bill" who acted as paymaster and director of the Kurt Frederick Ludwig spy ring that was smashed in New York in 1941, and all its captured members given long prison sentences.

POLICE INVESTIGATE WINDSOR JEWEL THEFT

Following the theft of part of the Duchess of Windsor's jewelry from Ednam Lodge, where she and the Duke are temporarily residing, in Sunningdale, Eng., police converged on the mansion and grounds. At the TOP are Superintendent Cherrill; RIGHT, a fingerprint expert, and detectives. A mobile police guard, BOTTOM, pulls up to the lodge entrance. The Duke of Windsor valued the loot at not more than $80,000. An extensive hunt for the thieves extended into Europe and reached across the Atlantic as authorities proceeded on a theory that the daring crime was the work of international operators.

KEGS O F NAILS STOLEN WITH LOCKS AND DOOR SETS

St. Catharines, Oct. 22 (CP)—Provincial Constable Norman Fach of St. Catharines has a new problem on his hands, the theft of 2 1-2 kegs of nails. The scarce building necessities were stolen from the property of Ben Fruitman, Niagara-on-the-Lake. Twenty locks and complete door sets also were stolen from the scene of the house now being built.

Rawdon

Rawdon — Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bateman were recently tendered a happy surprise party by their neighbors and friends at their home prior to their departure to Bonarlaw.

Mr. Roy Barton as master of ceremonies presided over an interesting program. Miss Ruth Morton read an address and they were presented with a crystal table lamp and a pyrex dish.

"Burton" and "Irene" graciously thanked their friends for the lovely gifts and invited all to visit them in their new home.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Miss Mabel Sharpe entertained Wellman's Women's Institute with Mrs. Victor Taylor in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Lindsay Pollock discussed the topic on "publicity" and Mrs. Frederick Beckett rendered, a suitable solo. Sandwiches were served and a social hour enjoyed. A quiz contest closed an interesting meeting.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen spent Tuesday in Belleville and attended the Crusaders' Cavalcade in Bridge Street United Church and a Mission Circle rally in Holloway Street Church at the supper hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Higgs and Tommy of Oshawa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin over Thanksgiving.

Miss Jean Preston, Peterborough, visited her parents last week.

Miss Mary McInroy daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murney McInroy is attending Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby.

Mrs. Percy White, Mrs. E. Carr, Brantford, Mrs Ernest White and Marguerite McMullen enjoyed the picture "Western Hands are Sure" in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Brady entertained Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Royle, Belleville, over the weekend.

Miss Faye Fleming visited Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Townsend, Deseronto, for Thanksgiving.

RURAL CARRIER RECORD

Owen Sound, Oct. 22 —(CP)— When next spring rolls around, Wesley Medley of Owen Sound will have completed 30 years as a rural mail carrier, probably a record for Ontario. Covering miles each day on his route, serving 90 mail boxes, it is estimated the veteran carrier has travelled well over 180,000 miles, a distance travelled mostly by horse and buggy.

a solid citizen!

For fifty years the Navy League of Canada has sponsored the Sea Cadet Movement, training thousands of young Canadians in the lore of the sea .. encouraging the ideals that help build solid citizens. Many of these clear-eyed, self-reliant young Sea Cadets will enter the Royal Canadian Navy and the Merchant Marine, the services that are making Canada one of the world's leading exporters and a mighty sea power. Even more of them will take their places "ashore" better leaders and better citizens because of their Sea Cadet training! ALL OF THEM will be prepared to assume their duty in any national emergency.

During NAVY WEEK, October 20th. to October 26th., the C.D.S. pays tribute to THE NAVY LEAGUE OF CANADA, the organization which, for half a century, has provided clubs and comforts for sailors at sea and ashore .. and sponsored the ROYAL CANADIAN SEA CADETS.

38 ARE KILLED ON TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS

Believed to Have Hit Mines While Sailing off Albania

Channel Had Been Cleared During Winter of 1944-45

London, Oct. 23 —(CP)— John Dugdale, financial secretary to the Admiralty, announced today that 38 men were killed and 45 injured in explosions which damaged two British destroyers off the Albanian coast yesterday.

Mr. Dugdale told the House of Commons that the first vessel, the Saumarez, "was believed to have hit a mine." The other, the Volage, was damaged nearly two hours later while towing the Saumarez. He said "there was an explosion" which blew off her bow.

Both ships have arrived at Corfu. An Admiralty board is inquiring into the cause of the explosions.

"I should explain that at the time of the accident, both ships were in the very centre of the (mine) swept channel, which is one mile wide, and their position at the time was 1½ miles from the Albanian coast," Mr. Dugdale said. "The channel was searched by British minesweeping formations periodically from October, 1944, to February, 1945, and no mines were found."

Parts of the bows of both ships were blown off.

Athens newspaper accounts said the explosions killed three British sailors, left another missing and injured 50.

The ships, the Admiralty announced here last night, were the 1,650-ton veteran Saumarez, in at the kill of the Nazi battleship Scharnhorst in the Arctic Dec. 26, 1943, and the 1,710-ton Volage, only three years old.

First the Saumarez and, later the Volage, which had taken her sister vessel in tow, struck mines yesterday in the mile-wide channel between the Greek Island of Corfu and the Albanian coast.

Sailors aboard the Saumarez battled an oil fire under a cloud of rolling black smoke as she was towed toward a Corfu roadstead.

The Admiralty said there were "some casualties" aboard both destroyers. Number given in correspondents' reports to British newspapers varied from 45 to 50 or more, but these reports were not confirmed.

Two destroyers had left Corfu on a cruise to an unannounced destination escorting the cruisers Mauritius and Leander.

10 Burn to Death When Oil Burner Ignites Small Home

Mother, Eight Children And Infant Granddaughter Perish

East Hampton, Conn., Oct. 23 (AP)—A mother, her eight children and her infant granddaughter perished today in a fire which swept through their Lake Pocotopaug home.

State police identified the dead as:

Mrs. Edward Nelson, 46; Mrs. Betty Yeltema, 23; Mrs. Mary Kelvin Hall, 19; Rita Clark, 17; Edith Nelson, 15; Christina Nelson, 14; Chapin Nelson, 12; Charles Nelson, nine; John Nelson, eight; and Jacqueline Yeltema, six weeks old.

The only occupant of the one-family, cinder block house to escape was Edward Clark, 19. He fled through a window and suffered burns and cuts.

Police said Mrs. Yeltema, mother of the dead infant; Mrs. Hall and Rita Clark were all children of Mrs. Nelson by a previous marriage.

Clustered Around Doorway

The fire apparently started in a room heated by an oil burner, state police said.

Six of the bodies, five adults and the infant, were found clustered around a doorway leading from a bedroom, police said, while the bodies of the younger children were found in two bedrooms.

Edward Nelson, husband of the dead woman, was asleep in a nearby house also owned by the couple, police said, and by the time he reached the scene, the interior of the building was a mass of flames. The frame roof of the building collapsed and partially buried the victims in flaming embers.

Police said there were two doors leading to the outside but the trapped victims converged on only one of them in their efforts to escape.

Woman Given Permission To Change Her Plea

Hamilton, Oct. 23 —(CP)— Mrs. Bertha McEachren, 25, of nearby Winona today pleaded not guilty of concealing childbirth and Magistrate H. A. Burbidge adjourned her case until Friday.

Mrs. McEarchren first pleaded guilty but after hearing preliminary evidence Magistrate Burbidge permitted her to change her plea.

The charge arose out of the discovery last Saturday of the body of an infant boy buried in the garden of the McEachren home. Police said the body had evidently been underground about three months and the woman told them the child had been born in August.

Police quoted her as saying she married John McEachren — who found the body while digging in his garden — in March, 1946, and did not tell him she was pregnant at that time. When the child was born she was alone in the house and had not time to call a doctor. After she delivered the child she found it had neither pulse nor other evidence of heartbeat. She hid the body for three days, later wrapping it in old clothes and burying it behind the house.

A statement from City Pathologist W. J. Deadman read in court said he was unable to state definitely whether the child had been alive at birth as in his opinion it might have been buried for from two to six months.

In granting leave for the accused to change her plea, Magistrate Burbidge emphasized that it was a criminal offence to conceal the birth of a child — alive or dead — but that there was no evidence that anything Mrs. McEachren did caused the death of the child, nor was there any proof that the child had been born alive.

Probe Illness Of 500 Montrealers Says Newspaper

Montreal, Oct. 23 —(CP)—The Herald said today in a newspage story that the city homicide squad has been ordered to investigate the mass poisoning of 500 residents of the east end Maisonneuve district and the discovery of arsenic in samples of bread submitted by some of the victims to food inspectors and medical experts.

Details of the poisonings, two weeks ago, have just been disclosed and the Herald said that in ordering the homicide squad investigation inspector Alphonse Cantin, head of the detective squad said "there are some indications that the poisonings may have been deliberate and not accidental."

The Herald added:

"Other authorities in official positions have also declared that the poisonings may have been accidental but that a police investigation was ordered because of the case's unusual nature and what appeared to be under-handed work."

The poisonings were restricted to the Maisonneuve area and some victims are still under treatment by family doctors or in Hospitals. None of the cases was fatal but Dr. Adelard Groulx, city health director, said some patients became violently ill.

The Herald said the bread was sold by a Montreal bakery.

John Lyons, bishop of the Anglican diocese of Ontario, announced today. Canon Kidd served as senior Protestant chaplain at Military District No. 3 headquarters here and Military District No. 2 headquarters in Toronto during the Second Great war.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Oct. 23 (CP)—Synopsis: A sluggish southwesterly flow of warm air originating from the Mississippi region is causing extremely mild weather over Southern Ontario. A weak westerly flow of slightly cooler and drier air is giving clear skies over Northern Ontario. The mild clear weather experienced for the last few days will continue today. On Thursday a weak low pressure area approaching from the west will cause rain over Northern Ontario and some cloudiness with widely scattered showers over the southwestern portions of the province.

Expect Mystery of Source of Poison Used by Goering Likely Soon Solved

By THOMAS A. REEDY

Nuernberg, Oct. 23 — (AP) — Col. B. C. Andrus, Nuernberg prison commandant, said today the mystery of Hermann Goering's suicide a week ago may be cleared up during the day in a public announcement by a United States Army Board appointed to investigate.

The board was said to be ready to disclose the contents of the three notes Goering left behind when he swallowed a capsule of cyanide only two hours before he was scheduled to swing into eternity at the end of a hangman's rope.

One of these notes, addressed to Col. Andrus, was said to contain clues as to where the boasting Reichsmarshal got the poison vial, how he hid it until the right time and how he managed to slip it into his mouth without being caught by a watchful sentry.

The other two notes, it was reported, were addressed to Frau Emmy Goering and to the German people. In the latter, Goering was said to have urged Germans to have courage and work toward the day when occupying forces leave.

At the same time, Col. Andrus announced that he had received official notice of British rejection of Franz Von Papen's request for entry into the British zone of occupation. The acquitted former diplomat previously was turned down by the French, leaving him only the United States zone as a domicile, since he never considered the Russian zone.

Military government officials conferred with Von Papen to determine where in Bavaria he wished to go and Col. Andrus said he would be taken there some time today.

Von Papen is almost certain to be arrested at once for trial by a denazification court, as was the acquitted former Reichsbank president Hjalmar Schacht, now in jail near Stuttgart. Hans Fritsche, the other man freed by the International Military Tribunal three weeks ago, is awaiting trial by a denazification court here.

126,436 WORKERS INVOLVED IN 178 STRIKES IN 1946

Total Time-Loss Of 4,069,434 Man-Work Days in First Nine Months of Year

Ottawa, Oct. 23 — (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell reported today preliminary figures show strikes caused a greater amount of time loss in the first 9 months of this year than in any comparable period since the record of strikes and lockouts was begun in 1901.

In the first nine months there were 178 strikes, involving 126,436 workers, with a time loss of 4,069,434 man-work days. For the corresponding period of last year there were 155 strikes, with 65,753 workers involved and a time loss of 353,886 days.

Mr. Mitchell said that in September, for the third consecutive month, there had been a "substantial" reduction in the number of man hours lost due to strikes. There were 33 strikes in effect for varying periods during September against 43 in August.

During September 657,601 days were lost by 33,030 workers involved in strike actions, compared with 867,252 days lost by 42,407 workers in August.

Almost 96 per cent of all time lost during September was accounted for by 11 major strikes, all of which were in effect prior to the beginning of August. These included:

The steel mill workers of Hamilton, Sault Ste. Marie, and Sydney, N. S.; 8,500 workers; time loss, 200 man-days.

Rubber workers, Bowmanville, Hamilton, Kitchener, New Toronto and Toronto; 8,000 workers; time loss, 180,000 days.

Electrical apparatus factory workers, Hamilton; 3,500 workers; time loss 80,000 man-days.

Motor vehicle factory workers, Chatham and Windsor; 2,500 workers; time loss, 50,000 man-days.

Chemical factory workers, Windsor, 375 workers; time loss, 8,500 man-days.

Chemical factory workers, — Amherstburg, Ont.; 360 workers; time loss, 8,500 man-days.

CONDUCTOR'S RETIREMENT BREAKS UP CREW

Toronto, Oct. 23 —(CP)— Retirement this week of Conductor John Warden will break up a veteran six-man crew on the Canadian National Railways Intercity Limited which runs between Montreal and London, Ont. The sextet has a total of 235 years' service. Its other members, all of whom are to retire within the next two years, are E. Burnett, W. F. Taviner, W. Flint, A. Grant and F. Gormican.

LIQUOR RATIONING TO END IN N. B.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 23 — (CP) — With the close of its fiscal year Oct. 31, the New Brunswick Liquor Control Board is tossing its four-year-old rationing system into the discard, board Chairman W. C. Lawson announced here today.

Beginning Nov. 1, Col. Lawson said it no longer will be necessary to produce either ration books or permits to obtain supplies from the board's retail stores.

Churchill Denounces Russian Policies in "Balkan Bloc"

By GLENN WILLIAMS

London, Oct. 23 — (AP) — Winston Churchill today denounced Russian policies in what he called the "Communized Balkan bloc" and accused the Soviet Union of departing from many of the Big Three agreements reached at Yalta and elsewhere.

Both he and Prime Minister Attlee agreed that major powers had misused their veto authority in the United Nations Security Council. Mr. Attlee called for a review of its use so the council could "fulfill its original intention."

Freely admitting deep differences with Russia, Mr. Attlee declared:

"Nevertheless, we believe it is not only possible but essential for us to work together in order to prevent the calamity of another war."

Mr. Churchill, following his successor in the highest office, said:

Government Not Representative

"The Polish government in no way represents the Polish nation. Conditions in Yugoslavia are sinister and melancholy. The whole country is being converted as far as possible into a Communist area . . . I hope all Greeks who wish for the survival of the country will help the new regime and government and that that government will be continually broadened to include all who prefer freedom to the ruin and destruction in a Communized Balkan bloc."

The wartime leader criticized both the United States and the British labor government for their treatment of Palestine. He declared there was no definite British policy for the Holy Land.

He called on the United States to share some of the Palestine burdens, declaring:

"It is not fair that the United States should not share in the task and should reproach us for our obvious incapacity to cope with it."

Mr. Attlee opened the second day of the debate by discussing the veto.

Mr. Churchill asked if it was true that more than 200 Russian divisions are maintained on a war footing in the occupied territories of Europe "from the Baltic to Vienna and form Vienna to the Black Sea?"

"I would be very much relieved if the figures were altogether excessive," he added.

Should Review Veto Use

He reiterated views expressed in his Fulton, Mo., speech saying Russia wanted not war, but the fruits of war.

"His Majesty's government is certainly of the opinion that there should be a review of the use of the veto with a view to restraining it to its original intent," Mr. Attlee told the House of Commons in the second day of a foreign affairs debate.

Winston Churchill, wartime Prime Minister, was to follow Mr. Attlee in speaking for the Conservative opposition.

Mr. Attlee told the house:

"If we are to achieve a peaceful world, states of diverse character must be prepared to tolerate each other and work together."

He said the veto was not designed for constant use "whenever a particular power was not in full agreement with others." He complained also of "the use of the Security Council as a propaganda instrument."

"It is the desire of the government that this body should return to and fulfill its original intention." he said.

The Prime Minister said: "We are deeply separated from Russia on the value we place on the liberty of the individual, freedom of speech and our conception of Democracy.

"Nevertheless, we believe it is not only possible but essential for us to work together in order to prevent the calamity of another war.

Bound to have Troubles

"We must recall that it (the United Nations) is very young— it is bound to have teething troubles."

Replying to criticism of the British policy in Greece, Mr. Attlee said:

"We have one object only, and that is to give the Greek people an opportunity to decide freely on their own destiny."

Referring to Spain and demands for British intervention in Spanish affairs, he commented:

"I suppose I have as much dislike of the Franco regime as anyone in the House. All the evidence at my disposal points to the conclusion that the threat of external interference has strengthened Gen. Franco — a very deplorable result."

Mr. Churchill, speaking for the opposition, agreed that the veto power had been misapplied in the U. N.

Originally, Mr. Churchill said, it was intended "as a last assur-

GUARDS FOIL SUICIDE ATTEMPT, DALUEGE HANGED

Nazi "Dictator" of Bohemia Sanctioned Destruction of Lidice, Court Found

Prague, Oct. 23 —(CP)—Kurt Daluege, convicted of sanctioning the destruction of Lidice, was hanged today after an 11th-hour suicide attempt was frustrated by guards who found poison in a cigaret tube smuggled into Daluege's cell.

The former Nazi protector of Bohemia and Moravia was convicted by a Czech People's court of ordering mass executions in revenge for the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, known as "Hitler's hangman."

The court accused Daleuge of sanctioning the razing of Lidice and Lezanky, two miners' villages in Czechoslavakia.

The rape of Lidice June 10, 1942, shocked the world. Subsequent investigation by a Czech court of inquiry showed that "not a single soul survived" the razing of the tiny village in Bohemia, whose 90 homes were burned to the ground by avenging Nazis.

Investigators said at least 176 persons were killed and more than 235 women sent to concentration camps. An uncounted number of children were sent to undisclosed destinations.

Only a meadow remained where Lidice had stood. Months later the village was reborn as a corporation by act of parliament. A community in Illinois changed its name to Lidice to commemarate what has been called one of the war's cruellest crimes.

HOUSING LACK BLAMED IN QUEBEC LABOR SHORTAGE

Need in Rouyn-Noranda District for 2,000, But No Place to Put Them

Rouyn, Que., Oct. 23 (CP) — Living accommodation and the employment problem go hand in hand in the northwest Quebec gold and base metal mining region.

Mining men and employment officials agree there is a shortage of miners and the first solution they offer is that more houses be built. If homes are provided, they contend miners will become available.

"There is need in the Rouyn-Noranda district for about 2,000 underground," G. L. Primeau, national employment placement officer here said.

Big Difficulty Housing

"But the big difficulty is housing. Noranda, which needs probably the largest number of both underground and surface men, is building a new bunkhouse which will take 60 men and has built a number of duplexes and brought in houses from Nobel, Ont., but housing still is the big lack."

Mr. Primeau said Noranda, largest mine in the district, could use 600 more men and other mines need corresponding numbers in relation to their size.

"In addition to the miners needed for the immediate expansion of the mines here, western Quebec needs automobile mechanics, plumbers and brick layers," he said. "We could also use from 1,000 to 1,200 men for lumbering operations."

Placement officers from Montreal and Quebec visited the district recently, Mr. Primeau added, and took particulars of the type of men needed with a view to sending up as many men as possible from the cities.

ELEVATED TRAINS IN COLLISION, 240 INJURED

Crash Occurs During Heavy Fog and The Morning Rush Hour, Both Trains Derailed

Chicago, Oct. 23 — (AP)—Between 240 and 270 persons bound for work were injured today, about 10 seriously, when an elevated express train rammed the rear of another during heavy fog.

The crash occurred during the morning rush hour at the 47th street station on the south side. Both trains were derailed but were in no danger of falling to the street.

From 1,030 to 1,500 passengers were on the two trains. Police reported many of them crowded the station platform, delaying removal of the injured.

So jammed with milling, confused passengers was the platform and its stairway that firemen used hook and ladder equipment to climb the structure.

Ray Darling, a conductor of the forward train, said the train had left its previous stop four blocks away 10 minutes late and that it had stopped to pick up passengers at the 47th Street station when the crash occurred.

Traffic Re-routed

Ambulances and fire equipment so congested the 47th Street area that all street car and automobile traffic had to be re-routed. Every available south side ambulance rushed victims to eight hospitals.

At least 100 other passengers received first aid treatment for minor cuts and bruises at the scene.

Capt. John Ryan of Warren Avenue police said the motorman of the second train, who was seriously injured, was "undoubtedly" blinded by the dense fog which lay over most of the Chicago area this morning.

Leg Crushed

The motorman was George Petraites, about 30, Chicago. His right leg was crushed and firemen worked 15 minutes to extricate him from the car.

Forrest Franks, conductor on the second train, and Louis J. Nesvig, motorman on the forward train, both reported that the rush-hour crowding of passengers prevented more being injured. Nesvig said the cars were so packed that few people fell.

A strike of Chicago Motor Coach Company bus drivers has diverted many bus riders to elevated travel.

Franks said he "felt the brakes go on at 47th Street. It seemed like a long time and then there was a crash."

Charges Nazis Schemed to Defeat Roosevelt Through Use of Lewis

Swarthmore, Pa., Oct. 23—(AP) —Mr. John Rogge, special assistant to the United States Attorney General, described what he termed a fantastic Nazi-backed "scheme" designed to thwart the re-election of President Roosevelt in 1940 by having John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) come out against him.

In an address delivered at Swarthmore College last night, Mr. Rogge said "this scheme involved Hermann Goering, a Nazi agent by the name of Joachim Hertslet, and William R. Davis, a promoter of the oil business."

In Washington, Mr. Lewis declined to comment on Mr. Rogge's remarks. Mr. Davis, described by Mr. Rogge as a peace emissary for Goering in September, 1939, died Aug. 1, 1941.

The Justice Department official added that other attempts were made by the Nazis to prevent President Roosevelt's re-election in 1936 and 1944. One included the establishment of an "America committee" in the German foreign office by Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Nazi foreign minister recently hanged for war crimes.

Mr. Rogge said "The Nazis always preferred the one who opposed President Roosevelt. They preferred in turn Landon, Willkie, and Dewey. They had a strong preference for Dewey. They did not particularly like Willkie, but they felt any president would be better for their purposes than President Roosevelt."

In Topeka, Kas., Mr. Landon said "This whole story sounds to me like the ravings of a lunatic." In addition, he added, "The German - American Bund denounced me in 1936 as being pro-Semitic. That doesn't sound to me as if the Nazis wanted me to be president."

Mr, Dewey, in Syracuse campaigning for re-election as governor of New York State, withheld comment.

Mr. Rogge based his statements on information gathered from captured Nazi documents and interviews with high German officials during more than a month abroad. He quoted Goering and Hertslet at length on the alleged Lewis-Davis tie-up in connection with the 1940 election. Hertslet recalled three conferences he said Mr. Davis had with Goering between Sept. 30 and Oct. 4, 1939.

The justice official said "Goering remembered his meeting with Davis" and "recalled that they had discussed Mexican oil and using the influence of John L. Lewis to defeat President Roosevelt for re-election in 1940."

The special assistant to the United States Attorney General said Goering told him "I would have spent $100,000,000 to $150,000,000" to influence the 1940 election.

Charge Laid Under Rarely Used Section Of Criminal Code

Toronto, Oct. 23 (CP) —Police yesterday arrested a 38-year-old woman from Crowland in the Niagara district on a charge that she took $2,500 in cash and a $500 bond from her husband. She is held for Crowland police.

The charge is laid under a seldom used section of the criminal code of Canada. It provides that a husband or wife cannot be convicted of stealing from one another while they are living together but it makes it an offence to take the other's property while "intending to desert, or deserting the other or while living apart from the other."

BUSHMEN CHARGE POLICE TRYING TO FRIGHTEN PICKETS

Union and Operators Issue Conflicting Claims as to Effectiveness of Strike

Timmins, Ont., Oct. 23 (CP) — Ontario Provincial Police continued today to keep a watchful eye on striking bushworkers— in this area following charges by union men that the policemen had tried to "intimidate" the strikers.

The strike for higher pay, improved working conditions and union security today entered its 11th day as the striking Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (AFL) and operators of mills and woods camps scattered across the Northern Ontario bushland from here to Port Arthur continued to issue conflicting claims as to its effectiveness.

A special council meeting last night heard police chief Albert Lepic say that the small detachment of Provincial Police sent here early in the strike had not interfered with union pickets at mills in the Timmins vicinity.

"They are merely parking in their automobiles beside the picket lines," the chief said.

This drew the retort from Mayor J. Emile Brunette of Timmins that "we can handle our own policing problems and we don't want Provincial Police even to be parking there."

Marc Leclerc, president of the Union Local, said Provincial Police officers had told pitckets they had no business to be on strike and that they ought to go back to work.

"On the picket lines this morning the Provincial Police officers told the strikers that if there were any trouble union leaders would be picked up," Mr. Leclerc said. "That is intimidation and for the sake of the records we were picketing well within the town limits."

VALUABLES STOLEN FROM PARKED CAR

Alex Merrian, commercial traveller from Cobourg, reported to local police yesterday that his auto had been broken into while he was a guest at a local hotel with a camera, gloves and other articles having been taken. The car had been parked in a nearby parking lot while the Cobourg man stayed overnight at the hotel.

A second incident of petty thievery was reported by Ray Lancaster of Foster Ave., who complained that his carpenter's level and cross cut saw had been stolen from his place of work at the Graham Dried Food building where reconstruction is in progress following last month's fire.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB TO INSTAL ELECTRIC WIRING AT BOYS' CAMP

Coal oil lamps will be a thing of the past at the Belleville Boys' Camp at Moira Lake which will go modern next summer following the completion of electric wiring to all the principal buildings and sleeping cabins. Cost of the project will be borne by the Belleville Y's Men's Club who at their last meeting passed a recommendation to this effect. The club will also donate $100 toward the purchase of a new camp stove.

Yugoslav Mass Murders Rival Nazis' Says Dancer

Mobile, Alt., Oct. 23—(AP) — Dark-haired Jacqueline Sainte Anne, back from 15 years of dancing for European audiences, said today "the American people wouldn't believe some of the atrocities that are going on in Yugoslavia today."

Miss Sainte Anne, who has been following her profession as a ballet dancer in Yugoslavia for the last year, said in an interview the "mass murders and terror" in Marshall Tito's country outrivalled that of the Nazi occupation.

"American citizens are never molested because they're afraid to," she said, "but Yugoslav nationals never know who they can trust and even the slightest utterance against the Government is enough to have you jailed or killed.

"Spies for the Government are everywhere and the only place you can go to speak your mind without fear of being overheard and reported is out to an open field."

Miss Sainte Anne said she gained the impression that the Yugoslav people secretly hated Tito.

Pheasants Elude Hunters' Guns

St. Catharines, Oct. 23 —(CP) —The pheasant was elusive and far ahead of the estimated 3,000 hunters — the largest turnout in years — who roamed through the farmlands and pastures of Lincoln and Welland counties today. A survey of hunters at noon disclosed that out of 50 interview only two had bagged one pheasant each.

With the cease fire order in the first open pheasant hunting day due at 5 p.m. today, deep grass and weeds are proving excellent camouflage for the birds and nimrods raised the cry: "We can't get them!"

Attracted by the ideal weather, hunters thronged the sideroads and main highways throughout the county with burr-covered, soaked but enthusiastic hunting dogs yelping underfoot.

INSIGNIA PINS FOR BOMBER GROUP

Toronto Oct. 23 —(CP) ,Members of Canada's mighty bomber group which blasted every major European target in the Second Great War will sport their own lapel insignia pins, it was learned here last night. Known as R.C.A.F. "6" Group, which operated Wellington, Halifax and Lancaster bombers from bases in Yorkshire, England, Canada's "bomber boys" have chosen a small circular pin with the word "Canada" at its base. On its blue background is embossed a silver rosette upon which is imposed a red maple leaf centred by the figure "6." Through the "6" there is a facsimile of a bomb, in grey.

Recent Rains Help To Bolster Pasture Lands in District

After an unusually dry summer when district pastures quickly dried up with resultant drop in the milk flow, recent rains have served to bolster pasture and to hold milk production, according to the weekly crop report published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

According to cheese grading officials at Belleville, cheese during the latter part of the summer and early fall was about 15 per cent below that of last year with the weekly cheese make during the first week in October paralleling the normal November make.

In Hastings County fall wheat is well along and fall wheat has a good top while new seeding have also improved.

In Northumberland county it is reported there are still a great many apples, potatoes and other fall crops to harvest, while in Prince Edward the picking of early apples is completed.

Seven cars of stock were shipped from Prince Edward last week, two of these being lambs. American buyers are very active for springers and farmers are disposed toward selling as they feel prices offered are more attractive than winter milk prices.

Proceeds of Show To be Used For Welfare Work

Tonight is the night for one of the outstanding entertainment treats of the season which will be seen at the Capitol Theatre as the local Kinsmen Club stages its variety and quiz show program. The variety show commences at 8:45 while a dual feature movie will be an added highlight with the first showing to start at seven sharp.

The show's Belleville audience will see and hear a top ranking soprano in the person of Miss Rose Zocanno, former leading soprano with the Philadelphia Opera Company. Adding variety to the show will be Lou Skuce and his cartoonograph and Jack McLean who as master of ceremonies will present a clean fast moving comedy act, including clever impersonations of well known radio and screen characters.

Dennis and Maxine, dancing team, will present the season's latest dance steps while the local Rhythm Ranch Riders will also be on hand. Topping the evening's fun will be the radio quiz show which will feature not the $64 question but the $64 answers. Sponsors promise that the quiz show will be different as well as profitable for the successful contestants.

Admission to the show will be limited to the seating capacity of the theatre so patrons are advised to be on hand early. Net poceeds of the show will go to Kinsmen welfare work.

Charges Russia Forced Protest To be Suppressed

Washington, Oct. 23. (AP)—The United States today accused Russia of forcing the 'suppression" of an American protest concerning elections in the Balkans.

The action—coinciding with the opening of the United Nations General Assembly in New York—was disclosed by Lincoln White, State department press attache. He made public information received from Maynard B. Barnes, American political representative in Sofia, Bulgaria.

Mr. Barnes reported that Soviet Col.-Gen. Biryusov Sergei, Russian representative on the tri-power Bulgarian Control Comtions" to suppress the American tions" to supress the American protess which were made public here two days ago.

He said that Sergei issued those instructions "without consultation" with the British and American representative on the Control Commission.

On orders from the Bulgarian Ministry on Foreign Affairs, he said, the Bulgarian Ministry of information then instructed the Bulgarian Press not to publish the correspondence on the point.

Catholic Women's League Sponsors Anniversary Tea

Trenton—On Friday afternoon last Mrs. J. J. Macnab, 144 Victoria Avenue, opened her home for the occasion of the 25th Anniversary Tea and Sale, sponsored by the Catholic Women's League.

Despite torrential showers there was a continual arrival of guests and the tea which was in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the C.W.L. in Trenton was a marked success.

Mrs. John Macnab received, assisted by Mrs. Alex LaMorre, the President.

The tea table was attractive with a beautiful cutwork cloth. This was centred with a unique arrangement in silver holding twenty-five tall white tapers and silver baskets of baby 'mums on either side.

Mrs. O. E. Fortune was tea hostess.

Pouring tea were: Mrs. Shannon, Mrs. McConville, Mrs. Gauthier, Mrs. John Anderson.

Mrs. Frank Berry and Miss Sheridan replenished the tea table.

Serving the guests were: Mrs. Vic. Wemyss, Mrs. Jack Heaney, Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. John Macnab, Jr., Mrs. Frank Ross, Mrs. Vic. Auger, Mrs. MacLean.

Mrs. McGaughey was in charge of the home cooking, assisted by Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. James McHenry and Mrs. Filion were in charge of the apron and knitted goods table.

Mrs. Isles sold at the grocery table assisted by Mrs. Woodacre.

Mrs. J. Kerr and Miss Betty Bluett Kerr were in charge of tickets sold on the silver tray, the lucky ticket being No. 83, and won by Mr. Eric Gordon of the Lipson Furniture Store, Trenton. Mrs. Frank Ross was the winner of the silver candlestick holders which was the door prize for the afternoon.

Giant Potatoes Grown in Sidney

One of the newer varieties of potatoes introduced to Ontario growers, Sebagos, do well in the Bay of Quinte district if samples grown by Mr. Ed. Heasman, 7th concession Sidney township in the vicinity of Oak Hills, are any indication of the general yield.

Henry Free, father-in-law of Mr. Heasman, this week assisted the Sidney man in harvesting his potato crop and brought a few samples back to the city with him. Six of the potatoes weighed 16½ pounds with one tuber tipping the scales at three pounds five ounces and another at three pounds three ounces. The crop as a hole was a good size, it was reported.

Assessing Officers Of District No. 5 To Meet in City

The annual meeting of District No. 5 Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario will be held in the City Hall here on Friday, district chairman Harold D. Bateman announced today.

Chief speakers at the meeting will include the Hon. George Dunbar, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, A. J. B. Gray, deputy minister and J. P. Coombs, departmental supervisor.

On the agenda are discussions of amendments to the Assessment Act; new legislation and other important matters pertaining to assessment work.

The session will get underway at 10 a.m. and delegates and officials will lunch at the Hotel Quinte. The meeting will conclude in the afternoon.

Approximately 80 assessment officials and others are expected to attend. Municipal officers and elected representatives of the district which embraces the counties of Hastings, Peterborough, Haliburton, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham are invited to be present.

Judge German Bailed for Trial

Cobourg, Oct. 23—(CP)—Judge J. C. M. German was released today on bail of $2,000 after his preliminary hearing on a charge of dangerous driving and Magistrate D. Menzies of London, Ont., said he would take the responsibility of bailing him for trial rather than committing him.

Bail was provided by Dr. R. S. Robertson, Cobourg dentist and former Sheriff John T. Field, each of whom put up $1,000.

Cobourg, Oct. 23 (CP) — Crown witnesses testified Tuesday at the trial of Judge J. C. M. German on a charge of dangerous driving in connection with an accident in which Mrs. Cyril Taylor of Cobourg, Ont. was seriously injured that the judge's automobile swerved from side to side before the accident and that he appeared to stagger after emerging from the car.

Judge German also is charged with drunk driving but Magistrate D. B. Menzies granted a request by defence counsel Arthur Greers that the dangerous driving charge be heard first as a preliminary hearing.

Doctor Takes Test

Details of his examination of Judge Gorman prior to his request for a blood test were given in court today by Dr. Warren Wilkins, Jr.

"He gave me his address and occupation," related Dr. Wilkins. "He said the day was Wednesday. He also told me his health was poor and he was taking insulin daily.

"I put a pencil on the floor and asked him to pick it up. He missed it the first time but did it the second time. I asked him to stoop three times and he did that well. I asked him to close his eyes and put the tips of his index fingers together. He did the test poorly. He was fairly good touching his index fingers in turn to his nose. He staggered and faltered trying to walk a crack on the floor.

"He admitted it was not 100 per cent. He tried to write a sentence at my dictation and did it poorly. His breath reeked of alcohol.

Asked To Read

"He was asked to read from a calendar on the wall but read something from a list of magistrate's courts. I told him that in my opinion he was under the influence of alcohol and asked did he want a blood test. He assented and I took noe."

Under cross-examination, Dr. Wilkins said that when called to the police station he did not know why he had been summoned. After he sent away the blood sample he later learned that a blood sugar test had not been made of the sample. It was too late after the blood test to take another one for blood sugar.

Dr. Wilkins said insulin-controlled diabetics on occaion suffered reactions from the drug.

Crown prosecutor F. E. Wallace, told the court he might have the drunk driving charge included later as an indictment with the other count.

Housing Enterprise Trying New Plan At Valleyfield

Montreal, Oct. 23 —(CP)— B. K. Bolton, head of Wartime Housing Limited, a Crown company, said in an interview yesterday that government authorities are experimenting at Valleyfield, Que., on a plan whereby veterans and war workers would be able to purchase houses rented from the organization.

Under the plan, the occupants could buy the house at about the same monthly payments now used for rent.

Mr. Bolton did not mention the total price of a house.

Of the 24,295 wartime houses occupied throughout the country, about 17,215 were originally built to house munition workers.

Church Auxiliary Holds Tea, Sale

Trenton — The Evening Auxiliary of Grace United Church held a delightful Autumn Tea and Sale on Saturday afternoon last in the church parlours which were effectively decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, sylvia and warm-toned baby 'mums.

Miss R. London, president of the auxiliary, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. J. Goodsell.

Tea was poured by Mrs. J. G. McKee and Mrs. William Jones at a very lovely tea table, spread with a hand crocheted cloth and centred by a silver bowl of bronze 'mums. Mrs. J. Pinch was tea hostess.

Serving the guests at the small tables were: Mrs. D. Sager, Mrs. B. Farrar, Miss E. Fowler, Mrs. G. Brown, Mrs. Dunfield, Mrs. Al. Phinney and Mrs. L. Myles.

The fancy goods table was presided at by Mrs. C. Shaw and Mrs. W. Bowen.

At the homecooking table were Miss M. Alyea, Mrs. H. Gibson and Mrs. J. Ackerman.

Mrs. McMurchy and Miss Anita Hyde replenished while Mrs. V. Carswell and Mrs. C. Johnson were in charge of the kitchen.

The tickets were in charge of Miss C. Allison.

Trenton Pigeon Club Purchases 86 Trained Pigeons

Keeping pace with increased interest and enthusiasm in its 1946 activities, the Trenton Racing Pigeon Club has purchased 86 trained pigeons from the R.C.A.F. lofts at Patricia, British Columbia, club officials announced today.

The birds are said to be of outstanding quality as none but the best were selected and trained for the rigorous work of the armed services. Twenty of the purchased birds were bred in 1943 all of which have had single tosses from aircraft from all stages up, and including 300 miles from the loft; twenty birds have had twenty tosses up to 250 miles from the loft; 28 up to 150 miles; 12 up to 60 miles as youngsters and only four without training.

The club is anxious to get new members and it feels that with the acquisition of the R.C.A.F. pigeons interest in pigeon ownership and racing will be further accelerated next year. New members may become the owners of the newly acquired racing birds.

The racing starts with yearling races in mid-May and other events continuing through till August.

St. Peter's Parish Bids Farewell To Father Carley

Trenton — On Sunday evening St. Peter's congregation gathered on the occasion of Father Carley's departure to accept a new appointment as assistant to Rt. Rev. Monsignor Nicholson, St. Michael's Parish, Belleville.

An appropriate address was read by Mr. Robert LaMorre, chairman of St. Peter's School Board. The address was signed on behalf of the parish and presented by Mr. Robert Haker, together with a presentation made by Mr. Henry Chouinard.

Ronnie Chouinard and Austin Scott, two of the Sanctuary Boys, then expressed the regrets of the children of St. Peter's School that Father Carley was leaving Trenton and wished him every succes in his new appointment.

In reply Father Carley expressed his sincere gratefulness to all who had made his years in Trenton the happy years they were.

ance to a government power that they should not be voted down on a matter on which they were prepared to fight."

Mr. Churchill turned to the problem of rebuilding Germany and declared:

"We do not want to have the burden of teaching the Germans to manage their own affairs and we certainly do not want to have the burden of earning their living for them."

Commenting on proposals to nationalize German industry, along lines now in use in Great Britain, the former Prime Minister said:

"When the Germans are able to manage their affairs, they will not be attracted to a policy by the fact that it has been imposed on them by foreigners."

Recalling a statement by Mr. Attlee that if negotiations produced no revision of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty, the treaty would remain in force, Mr. Churchill declared:

"I hope the government will act in this sense."

Foreign Secretary Bevin said yesterday that Egyptian internal political difficulties had held up the negotiations.

Milk Producers Determined To Maintain Price

Toronto, Oct. 23 —(CP)—Ontario milk producers as represented by the Ontario Whole Milk Producers League, are determined to maintain the present price of milk—$3.45 a hundredweight—and as a last resort will withhold their product if necessary in support of that determination.

This was the decision of a special meeting of the league convened here yesterday to discuss the current controversy over the milk price. The decision was unanimous but for N. A. Fletcher president of the Hamilton Whole Milk Producers Association, who said he would not support a strike.

Reports of possible breaks in the current price came from some delegates who said some distributors were out after cheap milk. L. D. McLennan of Thessalon, representing the Sault Ste. Marie district said producers in his area had pledged "100 per cent" to withhold milk from the market "in the event of any irregularities in price."

Fenton McIntyre, president of the league, then called upon the delegates for suport to any action the league might deem necessary to maintain the milk price.

"We have never yet threatened a strike. It is not in the interests of the milk industry. But they may force our hands. As a last resort, we want to know how many will back our stand," he said in calling for a show of strength.

Earlier, W.H. Wimot, an executive member of the league and a member of the three-man Ontario Milk Board, said:"If any court disallows present prices set on milk there just won't be any milk."

The meeting then voted full power to the executive to take whatever action necessary to maintain the present milk price. Additional authority was given the executive to prepare the league's brief to the Royal Commission set up to investigate the milk industry.

TRAIN NURING ASSISTANTS

Toronto, Oct. 23 (CP)—Services of nursing assistants at a smaller fee will soon be available in Ontario for persons who are unable to pay $7 a day for a trained nurse, Provincial Health Minister Kelley stated last night in an address before the Ontario Hospital Association convention.

He said 300 girls were being trained for this work and at conclusion of their training they would be certified as nursing assistants. Establishment of a uniform fee has not been considered as yet.

The health minister said he was enthusiastic about proposals fo small hospitals to be located in small towns throughout the province.

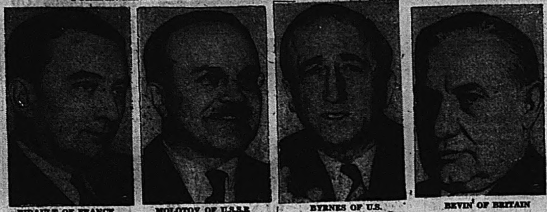
FOREIGN MINISTERS OF "BIG FOUR" MEET NOV. 4 TO BEGIN VITAL DISCUSSIONS



BIDAULT OF FRANCE
MOLOTOV OF U.S.S.R.
BYRNES OF U.S.
BEVIN OF BRITAIN

Fresh from their deliberations — often acrimonious — at the Paris Peace Conference, the foreign ministers of the Allied "Big Four" — Great Britain, United States, Soviet Russia and France — gather in New York on Nov. 4 and most of the decisions reached at Paris will come under their review. Upon the success or failure of their discussions rests the hope of the world for completion of peace treaties that will give the war-weary nations an opportunity to rebuild for a permanent peace. The four statesmen who enunciate the foreign policies of their respective nations are shown ABOVE.

POSTPONED MEETING OF UNITED NATIONS OPENS TODAY

From all corners of the globe delegates to the general assembly of the United Nations gather today for the first session of the general assembly meeting which was postponed from Sept. 3rd to permit conclusion of the Paris Peace Conference. They will gather in the New York City building (shown above) which housed administrative offices of the 1939-40 world's fair, a temporary site while a permanent home for UNO is chosen. Symbolic of the international scope of the assembly is the display of flags (top) outside Hunter College in The Bronx during a meeting of UNO's security council. Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, justice and external affairs minister, will lead the Canadian delegation.

HOUSING LACK

Situation Eased Slightly

The situation was eased slightly recently with the arrival of a number of underground workers from Inverness, N.S., and Glace Bay, N.S., but these miners were absorbed as quickly as they arrived. For every underground worker at Noranda 10 jobs become available above ground and the proportion is about three to one in smaller mines.

Scarcely a mine development project in this district is unaffected by the labor shortage. In addition to mines already in operation and employing about 10,000 persons, other promising discoveries are awaiting development.

Population Rises

Coincident with development of mining is the growth of subsidiary services such as stores, amusement places, garages and repair shops. This growth emphasized the housing problem, already acute in Abitibi and Temiscamingue counties where the population has risen six-fold to more than 10,000 since 1921.

Val D'Or and Bourlamaque, adjoining towns which were hamlets 10 years ago, increased in combined population to 5,000 in 1941 and to nearly 10,000 today. Population growth has been faster than housing development and shortages of building material as a result of the war has not helped.

Another problem facing mine managers is that many servicemen, who might be expected to fill some of the war-reduced labor ranks, now are married and are reluctant to leave their wives and families and move into bunkhouses pending construction of other residences.

BUSHMEN CHARGE

Bruce Magnuson, union secretary, said the union was trying to run an orderly and peaceful strike.

Attorney-General Criticized

"The Attorney-General has thrown law and order out of the window," asserted Leo (Buck) Behie, an international representative of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

"Why doesn't the council take action?" demanded Ralph Carlin, representing Local 241 of the Miners' Union.

"Why doesn't the Union?" asked Mayor Brunette.

"When people are picked up on the street the people should take action," Behie said. ". . . we know the way Attorney-General Blackwell feels about unions and that is the reason we have come to you."

Mr. Leclerc appeared in Magistrate's Court earlier in the day on a charge of wilful damage arising from the alleged overturning of a Feldman Lumber Company truck. He was remanded a week and released on $100 cash bail.

Police held five men as material witnesses following a brief flare-up of violence in the Timmins area and charged Leo Barrette of Timmins with unlawfully counselling strikers. The men in custody were identified as Jean Paul Lord, Simeon Allard, Albert Martineau and Leopold Blanchette.

The men were taken into custody in a camp near the A. E. Wicks sawmill near Timmins after A. Lalibert, 57-year-old night watchman at the mill, told police he had been knocked down while investigating a disturbance among piles of lumber.

Donald J. Munro, woods manager of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, said in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., that the strike was about 10 per cent effective in two company camps and that no demands had been made to Abitibi. He said other Abitibi plants were not affected.

U. S. Government Will Drop Case Against Tokyo Rose

Tokyo Rose, said United States Attorney James M. Carter was a composite person with at least a dozen voices, so Los Angeles-born Iva Ikuke Toguri, accused of dispensing subversive propaganda in the South Pacific during the war, may be released by army.

Miss Toguri was arresed in Tokyo when Gen. MacArthurs forces took over.

Mr. Carter said the young woman, who majored in science at the University of California at Los Angeles, was one of many employed in a Tokyo broadcasting studio who announced programs.

Queens University Given $100,000 By Anonymous Donor

Kingston, Oct. 23. (CP)—An Anonymous donor has made a gift of $100,000 to Quens University to form the "Chancellor Dunning Trust" to "promote understanding and appreciation of the supreme importance of the dignity, freedom and responsibility of the individual person in human society," it was announced Tuesday.

The gift was made "as a permanent tribute to your Chancellor, Hon. Charles A. Dunning, in the hope that a life of public service will help future students to do their best service to humanity".

The donor stipulated that "once in every three years the trustees of Queens University read this letter and decide, in the light of the then-existing conditions, how best the income from the trust may be expended'.

The Board of Trustees will consider the first use of the trust fund at their next meeting in May, 1947.

TAX RATE UP SIX MILLS

Owen Sound, Oct. 22 —(CP)—Partly because of the shortage of building materials, Owen Sound's tax rate will be six mills higher in 1947 than in 1946. City council last night set the 1947 rate at 58 mills. Services, particularly for education, have increased as the result of a growth in population, but there has been no comparable increase in assessment. Work on 365 new buildings is still unfinished and these dwellings therefore result in no addition to the assessment role.

More London Police Leave Force Than Join

By WILLIAM ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Oct. 23 (CP)— If crime doesn't pay, it certainly doesn't make the London bobby any richer.

Faced with the biggest crime wave in London's history, the Chief Commissioner of Police, Sir Harold Scott, is having difficulty finding enough men to cope with it, mainly because he can't pay his men enough.

London alone needs 5,000 police recruits spread over a two to three-year period. Yet this year, between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31, 1,000 more policemen left the metropolitan police force than joined.

In the belief that many would have remained had pay and conditions of service been improved the police federation has drawn up a slate of suggestions for Home Secretary Ede, but these have not been made public.

Mr. Ede has forecast improvements but his promise has not checked the exodus. Policemen, too, have protested against "out-of-date discipline" and interference with their freedom of action when off duty.

Meanwhile crime is undiminished despite a publicity campaign which has brought unprecedented co-operation from the public and sent the monthly average of arrests far above average.

Nonetheless, more policemen are needed, and the response is discouraging. "Flatfeet" begin at £4 10s ($18) weekly, 2s 6d. more than they were receiving before last March, and rise to a maximum of £6 5s. a week.

A sergeant begins at £6 8s. weekly, reaching a maximum of £8, which after income tax is deducted means £6 10s. to take home.

Salaries paid to the celebrated detective staffs of Scotland Yard also are modest.

Neville Heath, who was executed after the savage murder of two women, was tracked down by two chief inspectors whose earnings were about £9 weekly.

THREATEN TO STRIKE

Toronto, Oct. 22 —(CP)— Toronto embalmers last night threatened to strike to enforce demands for a 48-hour week. Oswald Pethick, secretary of the Toronto branch of the Ontario Embalmers and Funeral Association, charged that embalmers now work 102 hours a week or more.

Touring and Its Importance

Tourism or touring is today occupying a place of great importance in the world. Nations have felt and will feel its development. It occupies a place in the economic picture of the nations and the world at large. This form of travel is no longer a haphazzard or entirely personal matter or something accidental, depending on the whims of the persons who do the travelling.

It is really a major industry which no nation can neglect to consider. On this continent it has risen to a mighty place in the economic picture, said Georges Leveille, executive secretary to Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec, in a speech to a national gathering at Ottawa on tourist traffic. No one can afford to overlook the trade today, expecting to reap the harvest from it without remembering that there is the very keenest competition for the tourist dollar "until today it has reached untold heights," said Mr. Leveille.

He has suggested a study of means by each province of more thorough statistical information regarding each province, the information of the Provinces and the Dominion he proposes being pooled to establish tourism on a more logical basis. He also suggests that each province visited by tourists distribute to the guests of the country information about the other provinces of Canada. This means a liberal exchange of their brochures and literature.

This indicates something of the result of the spirit that leads people to tour. They enjoy the sights and advantages of the country they visit and their dollars and cents go into the development of their neighbor country and their own country for tourism is something in which there is an exchange of sights and attractions with growth of the happiest neighborly relations.

Tourism is much in the light just now at the closing time of a most successful year. The Ontario's Travel and Publicity Minister, Col. Welch, has spoken in Cobourg and Ottawa on the past season as the most successful of years in respect of tourist business in Canada. He states that it is the intention of the Ontario department to classify tourist resorts to show operators what tourists have a right to expect. Figures given by Col. Welch mention the amount expended in Ontario so far this year by tourists as $165,000,000.

With this best year, Col. Welch also told a conference at Ottawa that "we are on the threshold of one of the critical periods in our history as a major-tourist catering nation." The reason he gives is that much of the travel "urge" of 1946 will, he believes, have been dissipated by 1947. He warns that Canadians would have to utilize every publicity outlet and appeal here and abroad to maintain the flow of touring.

As a step in this plan he urged very close provincial liaison with the Ottawa agency and the Canadian railways and the addition of a central theme of "selling" Canada and then "selling the provinces" to the tourist class.

From these statements the average citizen can gather a very clear idea of the importance of this trade and of the share the people can have in helping to extend this trade by uniform courtesy and the best of accommodation and entertainment and the spirit of hospitality. Every citizen of the community can do his share to help his own area, his province, and the Dominion.

Popularity of Pies

Pies have been most popular confections which humans have invented. At the International Plowing Match near Goderich last week Victoria Street United Church women made total receipts of $1,700 in serving meals at the refreshment counter, having baked more than one thousand pies for the occasion.

Shortage as the consequence of the war naturally has of course hit the making of pies as it has of so many of the other preparations of the kitchen. But the pie nevertheless fares rather well and those who attended the great gathering attending the plowing exhibition and competition fared well too.

To many the pie seems to be about the finest product of the kitchen. This is no mere view of today for gatherings especially in the country have always been noted for the prominence of the pie, which is popular with all ages.

When shortages are a thing of the past the pie will be found flourishing in all its favor and flavor at every rural festival and in city homes and gatherings.

Opal for October

Who can look into an opal without seeing a rainbow? We don't have to look skywards to see a lovely array of colors because here is one gem stone that has no distinctive color because it combines in itself all of the colors. Opal has another distinguishing feature as it is one of the very few minerals which will never form in a crystal. It is a solidified jelly composed of silica with a small and somewhat variable amount of water. In the precious varieties of opal, this jelly-like mass in the process of hardening was traversed by a multitude of small cracks. It is the presence of these cracks which were later filled with a deposit of opal that gives this remarkable gem its play of color. This feature is particularly apparent in the precious opal, all varieties such as black opal, fire opal, wood opal, on display at the Royal Ontario Museum having equally interesting features.

A tradition of ill luck has been attributed to this beautiful gem stone. Perhaps that is because the very character of the structure of the opal gem has in it elements of disaster. As one would expect, any stone, so filled with small cracks is in danger of permanent fracture. And surely, the loss of a prized possession is enough misfortune to justify the legend.

—Royal Ontario Museum News.

Anniversary Time

This is the season of the year when many of the churches in this area celebrate their anniversaries. It is the occasion for the holding of special services when prominent clergymen are invited to address the congregations. These services are very largely attended and the church assumes more importance than at any other time of the year with the possible exception of the Christmas and Easter seasons.

It is fitting that the founding of a church should be marked as it provides the opportunity for taking stock of the progress over the years. They also, with the coming of the fall season, enable a rededication to the work of the church.

In many churches anniversary time is taken advantage of by the taking of a special offering which goes far toward the balancing of the church books, as well as providing the money needed for heating during the winter months.

Anniversary time serves a very useful purpose in the life of any church.

—Oshawa Times Gazette.

A Slight Reward

As some slight reward for splended service freely and voluntarily rendered, the City of Windsor is planning to entertain at tea on October 28 the corps of women who have carried on the distribution of ration books. It is a gesture that is richly justified.

Many of these women have been on the job since rationing was first instituted in Canada. This means that they have six times carried out the important and exacting work of distributing the books, a colossal task that demanded long hours and meticulous attention to detail. It has always gone off with marvelous smoothness and efficiency, without one cent of expense to the public exchequer.

The tea now planned will bring these women together for a social gathering as a climax to their service. The belief is that they will not again be called on, that rationing will end at the close of the present period. There can be no thought of paying them for what they have done, but the event will be in the nature of a slight recognition of their patriotism and self-sacrifice.

—Windsor Star.

There would come the time when I'd Want a bicycle to ride.

Later, when some years had flown,
With a youngster of our own,
Well we knew the time not far
When he'd want to drive a car.

So, with mothers all today,
Often this they're heard to say:
"It is certain, by and by,
He will want to learn to fly."

Wonder, in the years ahead,
Will the mothers live in dread
That their boys will very soon
Want to rocket to the moon?

Looking Ahead in Ottawa

(By the Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Oct. 21 (CP) — Spy speculation: The unanimous decision of the Ontario Court of Appeals in quashing the appeal of espionage-accused Edward Mazerall means that he will serve four years in Kingston Penitentiary but ia apparently does not mean an end to such appeals.

H. S. Gerson, former munitions department official and first man convicted and sentenced at the Fall Assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court, probably set speculation on that point at rest. He is free on $6,000 bail and his appeal to the same three-judge court is on its way.

From the nature of proceedings at the conspiracy trial of Eric George Adams in the same Ontario Supreme Court it would not be surprising if he, too — if convicted—appeals.

Failing victory in an appeal, the defence hopes for a verdict that is not unanimous. If they can obtain this then a further appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada is possible.

Coal Commission: Report of the Royal Commission on coal is expected to be completed in about a month or six weeks. Part of the report—a voluminous document backgrounded with lengthy studies and surveys — already is in final shape and other sections are being rushed to completion.

The report will be the result of a two-year study of the general coal situation in Canada from the point of view of consumers, producers and distributors.

Expectations are that the report will stand as the most complete study ever undertaken of the subject and will form the basis for consideration by the government of a national fuel policy.

Goodrich Contract Ratified By Union Membership

Kitchener, Ont., Oct. 23 — (CP) —Fewer than 2,000 out of the original 10,000 Ontario rubber workers who went on strike in mid-summer seeking a 20-cents-an-hour wage increase and a 40-hour week, remained out following settlement last night of the 118-day old strike of B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company plant employees here.

The Goodrich agreement, ratified last night by membership of Local 73, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO), followed much the same pattern as similar agreements reached at other Ontario plants within the past week. A 13-cent raise in the hourly flat wage rate was included along with other provisions that boosted to 16 cents an hour the over-all increase, retroactive to May 19.

Remaining on strike are employees of the Dominion Rubber Company Textile and Merchant's Products divisions here and the Gutta Percha and Rubber Company at Toronto.

Settlement of the strike at the Dominion Rubber Company Tire plant here set the pattern for subsequent agreements in rubber plants at Toronto, Hamilton, New Toronto and Bowmanville.

Lewis Steps Up Tempo of Attack For Higher Wages

Washington, Oct. 23 —(AP)— John L. Lewis today stepped up the tempo of his attack for fresh wage concessions from the federally operated soft coal industry, whipping out a sharp new ultimatum to interior secretary Krug.

Mr. Lewis told Mr. Krug to meet him in Washington on Nov. 1—and no later—or face a walkout by Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners 20 days earlier than the Nov. 20 deadline set previously.

The 66-year-old boss of the A. F. L. United Mine Workers Union thus underscored his demand that Mr. Krug re-open the whole question of wages, hours and other matters involved in the Lewis-Krug agreement which followed the government's seizure of the pits last May 22.

Meanwhile, labor experts looked for possible repercussions from this pre-winter controversy which could affect Pennsylvania's 75,000 hard coal miners. Almost the entire hard coal output goes into heating homes and buildings.

If Mr. Lewis is successful in his demand for renewing wage negotiations for soft coal miners, similar demands may be expected of the hard-coal producers—and Mr. Lewis can open his hard coal contract on 10 days' notice.

The hard-coal producers signed an agreement with Mr. Lewis last June almost paralleling the Krug-Lewis contract for the soft coal miners.

Toughens Terms

Far from being smoothed by two federal offers to talk things over—voiced by Mr. Krug and by naval Capt. N. H. Collisson, federal coal mines administrator —Mr. Lewis yesterday toughened the terms of his challenge to the government on the grounds of alleged "breach of contract."

Mr. Krug, off on an extended tour through the southwest, said Mr. Lewis could meet him at Tule Lake, Calif., if the U. M. W. chief insisted on a conference Nov. 1. Otherwise, Mr. Krug said his engagements, arranged weeks ago, would prevent him from returning to Washington until after Nov. 6.

To that proposal, Lewis had had a fast answer:

"The exciting Krug—Lewis agreement expressly provides that both parties to the agreement are bound to meet within a 10-day period upon formal request."

Such a formal request, he said in a telegram to Mr. Krug, was filed Monday. And then the ultimatum:

"Failure on your part to honor this (Nov. 1) meeting will constitute another breach of contract and will void the Krug—Lewis agreement."

Russia's Request For Large Loan Appears Doomed

By JOHN SCALI

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP) — Russia's request for a $1,000,000,000 American loan appears doomed today unless Soviet leaders cease their criticism of United States foreign economic policy.

Similarly, Czechoslovakia and Poland may find it difficult to win approval of their requests for loans totalling $850,000,000 from the Anglo-American dominated world bank.

State Secretary Byrnes himself made clear at his press conference yesterday that the United States will limit its future financial aid to friendly countries who do not brand dollar credits as instruments of economic enslavement.

Mr. Byrnes' prounouncement was designed on the surface as a reply to numerous questions why this government last week suddenly cut off a total of $90,000,000 in American aid to Czechoslovakia.

But officials said privately the secretary's remarks were directed mainly at the Russian leaders who unleashed a barrage of criticism against American economic policy during the Paris peace conference.

Level Accusations

Both Foreign Minister Molotov and Vice Foreign Minister Vishinsky levelled accusations of "dollar diplomacy" "economic enslavement" and "economic imperialism" against the United States plans for aiding eastern European countries.

Although Mr. Byrnes maintained the United States does not intend to follow a general policy of refusing aid to the Slavic States, officials acknowledged that the only criticism of American motives thus far has come from Russia and its neighbors.

These officials said too that since Russia has led the attack on American economic policy, it is only logical that this government's attitude will extend to the Kremlin's own bid for financial help.

The United States currently is awaiting Russia's reply to a third American note on the subject sent some three months ago. Soviet refusal to agree in advance to link any loan talks with an examination of economic conditions in eastern Europe has stalled actual Russo-American negotiations.

OBSESSIONS ABOUT MEAT

I suppose the notion that good beef, pork or mutton (if you can get 'em) contains "uric acid" or the makings of "uric acid", and is therefore to be taken with caution if at all, in some cases of ill health, will last as long as the notion of "gout" is kept in circulation by a few more or less eminent members of the medical profession. Believe it or not, only the other day a report of 100 cases of gout was published in an American medical journal by a group of three young doctors recently graduated. They are pretty vague about the diagnosis —you have to take it that they know gout when they see it, whereas, they observe with magisterial air that "41 cases of gout in this series of 100 had not been correctly diagnosed during previous attacks, the diagnosis being first made in our clinics...this would indicate that to nearly 50 per cent of the many doctors" (you know, the many plain old practitioners who practice under their own names instead of making a noise like a clinic and keeping the guillible public properly impressed) "who had examined and treated these patients gout was an unknown disease."

These brass-cheeked clinic racketeers are so contemptuous of the plodding rank and file that they even mention that examination of the blood during the attack of whatever trouble they called "gout" showed an average 5.8 milligrams of uric acid per 100 cubic centimeters, while examination of the blood of an equal number (25) of patients in the intervals between showed an average of 6.7 milligrams of uric acid per 100 cubic centimeters.

Physiologists consider 3 to 4 milligrams of uric acid in 100 cubic centimeters (3 1-2 fluidounces) of blood the normal average, that is the amount in the blood of a healthy person.

As nearly as I can tell—remember I'm no expert or authority—these boys get their assurance from the observation that a patient given colchicum (meadow saffron seeds) or colchicine (alkaloid of colchicum) may be "in helpless agony with a tumefied" (swollen) "red joint today and walking about, quite well, tomorrow"—as Thomas Watson wrote nearly a century ago. For no other drug can such a claim be made, say the clinic boys, in fact they declare that in 37 out of 44 cases of what they called gout colchicum or, usually, cochicine, gave rapid and often dramatic improvement—pain was often abolished in from 12 to 24 hours after the first dose of colchicine.

All right, all right Have it your own way—if you are subject to what you call "gout" or what any doctor has implied is "gout" you will have it your own way in spite of anything a bloke of my skeptical nature may think or say. Even so, I'm still unconvinced that there is such a malady as "gout" or a painful condition caused by excess of uric acid in the blood or by deposits of monsodium urate in the tissues. Of course we know that many individuals have such deposits (called taphi") although they haven't and never have had any sort of trouble that would tally with the old timers' description of "gout". When such deposits of uric acid salts in the body tissues occur they occur in consequence of some metabolic disturbance, not as the cause of any disease or illness. Then, too, of course we know that in numerous disturbances of health which bear no resemblance to what the nineteenth century doctors (and a few holdovers of our own day) would call gout, precise chemical tests of the blood show more than the normal amount of uric acid.

It is noticeable that these clinic boys carefully avoid any allusion to diet. They are wise to do so, for the whole imposing edifice of dietary hokum erected on the dark or red meat, nitrogenous, purine basis becomes absurd when you once get an inkling of the role of significance of uric acid in metabolism.

Ulcer or no ulcer, rheumatiz or no rheumatiz, low blood pressure medium or high, acidosis or no acidosis, everybody should have meat—beef, pork, mutton, fowl—of one sort of another every day, and young ones in the growing stage may well have meat twice a day. In fact every one who plays, works or exercises as actively as a healthy person should, may take meat twice a day with benefit. That's my belief and opinion.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

What is the largest ship in the world?

The Cunard White Star liner "Queen Elizabeth" in the largest ship in the world.

She has a gross tonnage of 83,675. Her four turbo-generators could meet the electric power demands of a city of nearly 150,000, and her engines can develop 200,000 horsepower.

The rudder of the Queen Elizabeth weighs 140 tons and each of her three anchors 16 tons.

The sirens of the vessel can be heard ten miles away, but they are tuned to an octave scarcely audible below decks.

She is lighted by 30,000 electric bulbs, which are supplied with current through 4,000 miles of wire. She has four 32-ton bronze propellers so delicately balanced that they can be turned with a touch of the hand.

A person can walk 22 miles on the ship without covering the same ground twice.

The 10,000,000 rivets alone in the ship would make a pile totalling 25,000 cubic feet.

Each of the ship's lifeboats holds 145 persons — more than the total capacity of the Britania, the first Cunard steamer.

Over 10,000 meals a day are served to the passengers on the Queen Elizabeth.

There are 21,000 different pieces of furniture on the Queen Elizabeth.

The forward funnel is 70 feet high and 44 feet in diameter.

The bridge has no roof but a specially designed slot deflects the wind so that persons on the bridge are untouched by snow or rain, which is blown over their heads.

During the war the Queen Elizabeth was used as a transport and carried 811,234 Allied servicemen.

WOULD BRIGHTEN BRITISH HOUSING

Hastings, England, Oct. 23. — (CP) — British house-builders have much to learn about quality of construction, and homes in this country are often too drab in finish and general layout, Lewis Silkin, Minister of Town and Country Planning, told a housing conference.

Builders had forgotten how to build for gaiety and pleasure. Towns too lacked opportunity for social intercourses and therefore lacked the gaiety of continental cities, he said.

SOME PRICE CEILINGS REMOVED

Washington, Oct. 22 (AP) — Office of Price Administration removed price ceilings today from a group of products used by industries. Syrups or glucoses produced from flours or starchy materials of potatoes, rye, tapioca, manioca, casava and rye were freed. These are used by bakers and candymakers as a substitute for corn syrup and sugar. Also released was corn steep liquor in both dry and liquid form. OPA said this is used by the penicillin industry for mold broth.

East-West Tension Major Concern As Delegates Gather

Truman to Open First Session on American Soil

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—With permanent peace as their goal and the split between the United States and Russia as their foremost worry, the delegates of 51 United Nations gathered today to hear President Truman open their first great assembly on North American soil.

By plane, train and ship they have been arriving in this New "World Capital" all week. Mr. Truman was due in during the afternoon. State Secretary Byrnes preceded him last night. But aides said Mr. Byrnes' only active part in today's round of opening ceremonies probably would be a brief, extemporaneous speech at a United Nations luncheon.

The luncheon is one of several affairs designed to make this a festive day in the history of the United Nations. But in the midst of the color and the confident welcoming speeches, most delegates privately expressed their concern over the tensions existing between the United States and Russia. Every major issue was being examined in that light—in the American delegation as well as in other official groups here.

To Emphasize Policy

Against that background Mr. Truman had to speak and it was generally expected he would take the opportunity to support and emphasize the "patient but firm" foreign policy toward Russia laid down by Mr. Byrnes in his report last Friday on the Paris Peace Conference.

Mr. Truman was due at La Guardia airfield from Washington about 3:40 p.m., E.S.T.—only 20 minutes before the scheduled opening of the general assembly session in its new—but perhaps temporary—home on New York's World's Fair site at Flushing Meadows.

The Canadian delegation held meetings yesterday at its hotel headquarters, preparing assignments of duties among the chief and alternate delegates and advisers.

To Open on Time

Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium, assembly president, was slated to bring the session to order at 4 p.m., and Mr. Spaak holds a reputation for promptness. After a welcoming speech by acting Mayor Vincent Impelliteri of New York, Mr. Spaak was scheduled to speak briefly and introduce Mr. Truman.

While plans for the opening day were long on speeches and parties and short on down-to-earth grappling with the problems of organizing world peace, the General Assembly will get to work on its real tasks tomorrow beginning five or six days of what the diplomats here call "general debate."

The speeches are expected to bring a renewal of small nation attacks on the power of the Big Five within the U.N. organization. And they will raise a whole range of issues—from international relief to dependent peoples —likely to spotlight the split between Russia and the United States.

In these controversies Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, who arrived Monday, will lead the Russian delegation and former Senator Warren Austin will head the American group.

IVANHOE

Former Missionary Speaks at St. Andrew's Anniversary Services

Ivanhoe — Rev. Christian A. Bunting, Alexander Street, Belleville, (retired since 1936) who, with Mrs. Bunting, spent thirty-six years doing missionary work in China, largely in the China Inland Mission, conducted anniversary services for the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday, where he preached two very interesting and inspiring sermons.

The church, which was nicely decorated with chrysanthemums, asters, zinnias and potted plants, was filled to capacity both morning and evening, friends being present from Stirling, Mount Pleasant, West Huntingdon, Belleville, White Lake, and Salem. A choir of about fifteen voices with Miss Bessie Fleming presiding at the piano, rendered two special numbers for each service. The morning anthems "Praise Ye The Lord" was especially uplifting and helpful while Mrs. Milton Shaw's solo, "A Morning Prayer" rekindled in many hearts a spirit of sincere devotion. During the evening service, "Master the Tempest is Raging" was sung with splendid effect, while a quartette number "Would You Believe" contributed by Mrs. Milton Shaw, Misses Kathryn Dougan, Shirley Fleming and Annie Fleming, served as a happy climax to the preacher's very earnest appeal.

In the morning Mr. Bunting spoke from 1 Cor. 6: 11 and used the story of the children of Israel as recorded in the eighth of Deuteronomy to show how good God always has been and still is to His people, and to impress upon His hearers the fundamental truth that God never forgets nor lacks interest in His children. Life, nevertheless, is a great school in which God disciplines and trains his people for daily tasks and larger service. Mr. Bunting compared the Red Sea, manna, and wilderness experiences to the redemptive work of Jesus, through whom man has been set free from sin.

The speaker's evening address was based on Romans 1: 16. In this he used St. Paul's conversion and Christian experiences to make a very definite and practical appeal to his hearers to accept Jesus Christ and His way of life and to be led to living faultless Christian lives.

WEDDINGS

STONHAM—MONKLEY

Trenton.—A wedding of local interest took place recently in First Baptist Church, Dunnville, Ont, when Miss B. Jean Monkley, of Trenton, became the bride of Mr. William E. Stonham, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Stonham, of Dunnville.

The church was tastefully decorated with Autumn flowers, the guest pews being marked with yellow 'mums, lace and silver ribbons.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William McInerney, of Toronto, the bride made a charming picture in her floor-length gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists, and a double tulle skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a halo of satin and she carried a cascade bouquet of Better Time roses and white baby 'mums. Her only ornament was a pendant, the gift of the groom.

Miss Joan Stonham, sister of the groom, was maid-of-honor, wearing a floor-length dress of powder blue chiffon with sweetheart neckline and bishop sleeves. The bridesmaid, Miss Nell Stonham, wore a floor-length gown of aqua blue chiffon with shirred yoke and high neckline. Both wore shoulder length veils held in place by floral halos, and carried bouquets of bronze 'mums.

The bride's brother, Mr. Gerald Monkley, of Toronto, assisted the groom, and Mr. Jack Nott, of Dunnville, performed the duties of usher.

Wedding music was played by Miss F. G. Kinnaird, A.T.C.M., and the groom's father sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "Because" and "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Savoy Hotel, where the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. McInerney of Toronto, received wearing a dress of flowered silk jersey, black accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a sequin trimmed gown of mauve crepe, with matching accessories and a corsage of 'mums.

For travelling the bride donned a suit of brown gabardine, with matching accessories, and wore a corsage of white baby 'mums and roses. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Stonham will reside in Hamilton.

Out-of-town guests were present from Windsor, Toronto, Trenton and Hamilton.

DICKSON—JAMES

Picton, —A wedding of much local interest was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, at Inversay, on Friday, when Ina Allinson James, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. James, Picton, became the bride of Frederick James, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson, Sillsville. Rev. G. A. Prettenham officiated.

The bride wore a suit of aqua blue wool with black hat and accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene James, the latter wearing a suit of blue wool with black hat and corsage of pink roses.

After a trip to Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will reside at Dorland.

GIVENS—MacDONALD

At four o'clock on the afternoon of Oct. 18, a marriage of considerable local interest was quietly solemnized in Bridge Street United Church, when Vera Ileen MacDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan MacDonald of Point Anne, was united with Everett Thomas Givens, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Givens and the late W. J. Givens, of Belleville. Rev. D. C. Amos officiated.

The bride wore an Alice blue street-length dress, black accessories and hat with blue feather trim. Her corsage was of pink roses. Her only attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vincent MacDonald in a navy street-length dress, with black hat and accessories, wearing a corsage of red roses. Mr. Vincent MacDonald performed the duties of groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception for only the immediate families of the bridal couple was held at the Queen's hotel, where Mrs. D. MacDonald received in a black tailored suit with a corsage of Talisman roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a dress of mauve crepe with matching accessories.

For travelling to Toronto, the bride donned a grey topcoat with platinum fur trim. Mr. and Mrs. Givens will reside at 229 Dundas Street East.

MUST PAY FINE

Hamilton, Oct. 23 —(CP)— Long faces at the "Soph-Frosh" dinner and dance at McMaster University Monday night were red the next morning, when members of the sophomore year found that the fir tree used as decoration during the evening had been cut from the university's grounds. Individual members of the year are now digging down to pay the $150 fine levied by school authorities.

93rd Anniversary Of United Church Is Celebrated

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, celebrated its 93rd Anniversary on Sunday, when members, adherents and friends crowded the church morning and evening. The anniversary preacher, Lt.-Col. the Rev. Dr. Norman Coll, M.A., O.B.E., of Parkdale United Church, Ottawa, who served for six years as an overseas padre with the Canadian Army, preached eloquently and movingly on the themes "The Church, Light or Shadow?" and "Makers of Men" from the texts —"Ye are the Light of the World" and "Come. . .and I will make you."

The large and well-trained choir led the service of praise and under the skilled direction of Mr. G. L. Clute, organist and choirmaster, sang Buck's "Fear Not Ye, O Israel" at the morning service and Rodney's "Calvary", at the evening service; two excellent solos Roma's "The Silent Voice" and O'Hara's "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" were sung during the morning service and at the evening service by Mrs. Harold West and Mr. William Reynolds respectively.

In the evening service a greatly beloved former minister, the Reverend E. W. Rowland, who is now retired and living in Peterborough, brought greetings and offered the pastoral prayer. The services were conducted by the minister the Reverend A. M. Laverty. An anniversary thank-offering of $1,500 was sought and was oversubscribed.

IVANHOE

Ivanhoe W.M.S. Observes 45th Anniversary

Ivanhoe.—A unique experience in the life of the ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian congregation was marked on Monday evening by an open meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society, held in the church, to which members of West Huntingdon, Mount Pleasant, Ivanhoe and other neighboring societies were invited to join in observing the forty-fifth anniversary of the local Woman's Missionary Society.

Mrs. Milton Shaw, the president, was in charge and filled her office with grace and dignity. On the church platform was a large birthday cake decorated with forty-five candles which, during the proceedings were lighted by Mrs. Hulsie Rollins and Mrs. Alexander McInroy, and later blown out by Mrs. Richard Haggerty. Mrs. Henry Wallace placed the knife in the cake which was later served to those present.

The program consisted of a hymn which was followed with prayer by Rev. C. A. Bunting. Mrs. Donald Haggerty read the Scripture lesson and a few words of welcome were extended by the president. Greetings from the Kingston Presbyterial were brought by Mrs. William Shaw the president of the Presbyterial. Greetings in absentia were brought from Mrs. (Rev.) Robert Simpson, Brooklin and Mrs. (Rev.) Eric Larson, Brantford. These messages were read by Mrs. Milton Shaw.

Two pleasing duets were rendered by Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth and Mrs. Gardiner Welsh, with Mrs. Roy Brooks at the piano. Mrs. Brooks also contributed a piano solo which was much appreciated. Mrs. John Wallace gave a very helpful paper on "Christian Service". A reading, "The Master is Coming" was given by Mrs. John McInroy. A solo, "Watch While I Sleep" was beautifully rendered by Mr. Dave Fleming, whose mother was a charter member of the local society, with Mrs. Fleming as accompanist. The offering was received by Mrs. Harry Thompson and Mrs. Victoria Benson. Mr. Kenneth Stewart, of West Huntingdon, gave the offertory prayer.

Speaks on China Mission

An outstanding feature of the program was an address by Rev. G. A. Bunting on "China Inland Mission" In opening his talk, he said, "I start my address where all missionaries begin, with the words of Jesus, "Go ye into all the World". Mr. Bunting stated that this mission had its beginning in 1865 as the result of a definite call and response on the part of Hudson Taylor, who was converted as a result of his mother's prayers. "China" said the speaker ,"is a healthy country and yet hard on the health of Westerners." Three rules were laid down to govern the mission and its work at the time of its inception and these still prevail, First, there shall be no appeal for funds from individuals or through public meetings. Secondly, the mission shall never incur debts. Thirdly, there shall be no stated salary for any missionary or worker. Mr. Bunting stated that the mission was interdenominational and that there are now 1,365 missionaries employed there —Anglicans, Methodists, Presbyterions, Baptists, Brethren, Salvation Army and others. Each being given its own field and place of responsibility."

"There is no distiction," said Mr. Bunting, "between communions. Baptists and Methodists go out together. The Mission," he speaker told of some miraculous incidents when the mission was close to dire need but always in answer to prayer God came to the rescue. He said, "God's work carried on in God's way will never lack God's supplies".

Organized by Rev. Mr. Burns

During the service Mrs. William Shaw gave a paper entitled "Down Through the Years" which gave some account of the work of the St. Andrew's Society since its inception. The Woman's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's church was organized by Rev. S. S. Burns in October, 1901. Three meetings were held that year, one at the home of Mrs. Robert Roy, the present home of Mrs. John Wright, and two at the church. The charter members were: Mrs. Harvey Wallace, Mrs. George Post, Mrs. John Fleming, Mrs. James Donnan, Mrs. Allan Wright, Mrs. Robert Roy, Mrs. Hulsie Rollins, and Mrs. Samuel Shaw. Two of these, Mrs. Harvey Rollins and Mrs. Hulsie Rollins still survive.

The first officers of the society were: President, Mrs. Harvey Wallace; Vice President, Mrs. George Post; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. John Fleming; Organist, Miss Annie Fargey. Soon after the organization of the Woman's Missionary Society a Ladies' Aid Society was organized of which Mrs. Henry Wallace was president. A few years later the two societies were amalgamated having one president, but retaining separate treasurers.

The following quotation is from the report of the Secretary, Mrs. John Fleming, in 1902. "The Woman's Missionary Society was organized last year and has proved a great benifit to the women who have taken an interest. The work cannot be measured by the offerings, although these were encouraging, but by knowledge gained concerning mission work both at home and abroad; by the awakening of new thoughts and hopes in our hearts and by the strong determination to go forward in the Master's Service".

A number of other ladies who willingly worked for the welfare of the society and most of whom later became active members were, Mrs. James Haggerty, Sr., Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. Arthur Wallace, Mrs. Peter Fargey, Mrs. Abram Wallace, Mrs. William Gay, Mrs. Harford Sills Mrs. Howard Ashley and Miss Eliza Donnan.

List of Presidents

Mrs. Albert Duggan was the faithful treasurere of the Wom- faithful treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Society for sixteen the years were: Mrs. Harvey Wallace, Mrs. George Post, Mrs. Henry Wallace, Mrs. John Fleming, Mrs. Peter McInroy, Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. Samuel Donnan, Mrs. James Haggerty, Mrs. Richard Haggerty, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. Harry Thompson, Mrs. Victoria Benson, Mrs. Donald Haggerty and Mrs. Milton Shaw, who occupies the position at present.

During the past forty-five years the society has presented twenty-seven ladies with Life Memberships. It observed the twenty-fifth and thirty-sixth anniver[illegible]and now the forty-fifth. The [illegible]sent membership is twenty-four.

In closing Mrs. Shaw said, "To the older women of the society we pay high tribute. Only God and they know what it meant to keep the society growing and flourishing through the years. To us they have thrown a torch. Let us keep the faith with them.

"The Master needs some vessels

The program closed by singing, 'Blessed are they that sow beside all waters" and the benediction offered by Rev. J. F. Everson, of Ivanhoe.

Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of St. Andrew's.

Bonarlaw

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Bonarlaw, Ont. — On Friday evening, a large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Willert (nee Hilda Brown) gathered in the Sunday School rooms of St. Mark's Church and gave them a miscellaneous shower of many useful and beautiful gifts with Rev. J. M. Brownlie as master of ceremonies. An address was read by Mrs. W. J. Barlow wishing the newly wedded couple health and happiness and a long and blissful wedded life and expressing the esteem in which they are held by all.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Willert replied thanking all for their good wishes and for the many gifts.

Prior to the presentation a short program was given as follows. Community singing led by Rev. J. M. Brownlie, who contributed two vocal solos, readings by Mrs. A. B. McComb and a piano duet by Jean and Joyce Brown. Refreshments were served at the close.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

AIKENS' W.A.

3rd Sidney — The October meeting of Aikens' Woman's Association was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Earl Scrimshaw and Mrs. Finlay Scrimshaw, with the president, Mrs. Ken Jones, presiding.

The theme song was sung, followed by a hymn. The Bible lesson was read by Mrs. Wm. Hamilton and a paper on the Scripture was given by Mrs. S. Spafford.

A short business period was conducted by the president. Mrs. Fred Moon and Mrs. W. Bailey volunteered to clean the church during November. Mrs. S. Westover, Red Cross convener, requested the members to continue the Red Cross offerings which have been taken at each meeting and to continue working as the need is still urgent as explained by Mrs. Mikel, secretary of the Belleville branch of the Red Cross Society. A letter of appreciation for flowers sent was read from Mrs. Douglas McPherson.

Readings were given by Mrs. Denike, "Nobody Else;" by Mrs. Hamilton, "Friends;" and by Mrs. Ken Bush, "Service." These were all enjoyed and the meeting closed with a hymn and the Mizpah Benediction.

After the W.M.S. meeting which followed, delicious refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Scrimshaw's daughter, Mrs. Howard Ellis.

THE SOFT WHISPER of rustling taffeta hovers over the ballroom floor. A charming, young dance frock is of black, white and red silk taffeta, made with a deep, halter neckline and a skirt that drapes into an enormous bustle bow. Tiny self-covered buttons fasten the snug bodice.

LOOK AROUND and note how the bonnet brim has been accepted as an Autumn hold-over. Creamy beige felt is used for a handsome off-the-face bonnet-type hat, the scooped brim slightly dipped at centre front. Trimmed with a rose-beige ostrich fancy, and veiled in cobwebby rose-beige.

COMING BACK with a flourish is that fine fur, Alaska seal. A smart coat of safari-brown Alaska seal is cut on fitted lines, a 36-inch model, with extra-wide notched collar, straight sleeves, and a gilt metal buckle on the brown alligator belt.

"At home" for the evening is a joy if one has a really beautiful house gown, such as a model in rose satin. A ruff-type collar of Alencon lace trims the deeply cut neckline which curves over to one side above the double-breasted closing. Buttons are lace-covered, and lace-covered cuffs adorn the ballooned, push-up sleeves.

A contrast for the long, sleek lines of today's fashions is found in the billowing sleeve that is also part of the fashion picture. This formula is used for a pretty afternoon frock of rose beige silk crepe. High surplice bodice above a slim torso, with soft draping caught into a self-bow placed low at one hip. Voluminous sleeves are bracelet length and are caught in a tight wristband.

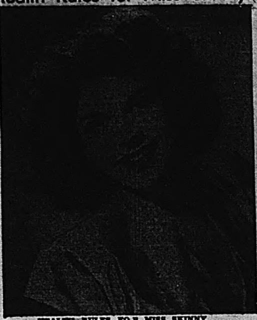
Health Rules for Miss Skinny



HEALTH RULES FOR MISS SKINNY

BY HELEN FOLLETT

Girls who are so thin and wispy, that they look as if they would blow away in a strong wind, should put some fat on their ribs. Extreme slenderness is no longer the hue and cry. A visit to the old family Doc would not be amiss; extreme emaciation may denote a condition of ill health.

If one feels well, poundage can be added. As a rule, Miss Skinny is a finicky eater. She may be suffering from a diet deficiency. Certain elements one must have if the human machine is to run smoothly.

Lack of Appetite.

When the lightweight has no appetite, and her teeth go on edge at the sight of a lamb chop, she may be suffering from poor assimilation. Let her chase around outdoors, get more exercise. She will be able to sit down to the table, do justice to the groceries that mama has prepared so carefully.

She needs plenty of butter on her bread, a hot cereal, well-garnished with sugar and cream, for breakfast, potatoes once a day, a quart of milk a day. Custards and sweet desserts will help along the project of building pleasing curves.

One must slow up on activities. Thin girls, as a rule, have a surplus of nervous energy, run themselves ragged. A friendly fat cell doesn't have a chance to light upon the fragile anatomy. When one is tired one must rest.

Nine hours of sleep will be ordered by the doctor, if he takes hold of the upbuilding case.

Hollow Cheeks.

The girl whose cheeks are hollow, whose elbows are too sharp, does not conform to the present standard of pulchritude. One should look splendidly healthy and strong, as befits the times when women are lending a hand to all manner of affairs, one earning their living.

Fragility belongs to a remote age when women blubbered on the slightest occasion, thought they had to be petted and pampered.

Let Miss Skinny stoke up on good food, get exercise out of doors, have plenty of sleep. She will put up a front with the rest of them.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

When the Widow Choose the Incorrect Form of Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

One of my pet hates is having a widow change her name, when her husband dies, from "Mrs. John Smith," to "Mrs. Mary Smith." I just can't understand how a woman with any social sense at all goes to so much trouble to do something that is so entirely incorrect, or why a woman who loved her husband drops his name when he dies. Feeling as strongly as I do about this, I am so bitterly disappointed that one of my dearest friends, who really should know better, has adopted the "Mrs. Mary Smith" form of name since her husband's death a few months ago. (She is not and never has been in the business or professional world, nor is she planning to be! So she has not this possible reason for changing the form of her name.) Since I know that she wishes to be addressed as "Mrs. Mary Smith," must I address letters to her like this, or may I address her letter to "Mrs. John Smith", as I know they should be addressed?

—H. G.

Since you are positive that she has chosen to be called "Mrs. Mary Smith," you must bow to her right of choice; and even though you know that the form of name she has chosen is incorrect, you must address letters to her with the name she has chosen. If you set yourself up as a critic by addressing a letter to her as "Mrs. John Smith", you will be discourteous, and you may hurt your friend's feelings.

When Ice Cream and Cake are Served on the Same Plate.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a slice of ice cream ("brick" ice cream) and a slice of cake are served on the same plate, should a fork or a spoon or both, be served with his? Usually, of course, ice cream is eaten with a spoon and cake is eaten with a fork, but when we have guests and serve the ice cream and cake as mentioned above, I serve with this only one piece of silver, a fork. I usually use a salad fork, but my husband says I should use a spoon.

—R.V.

Since, as you say, "usually ice cream is eaten with a spoon and cake is eaten with a fork," I suggest that, if it is convenient for you, you serve both a spoon and a fork, leaving to each guest the choice about using both or either. Or if you wish to limit your service to one silverpiece, your custom of placing a fork is, I think, the more convenient, particularly when the ice cream is "brick" ice cream. In other words, it's better judgment to plan to have your guests eat the ice cream with a fork rather than to have them eat the cake with a spoon!

A Wedding Photograph for Each Bridal Attendant?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it a "must" for the bride to give a photograph of the wedding party to each member of the bridal party?

—R|A.

There isn't any rule that the bride must make this gesture to each member of the bridal party, but it is customary. And if the bride didn't do this, I am sure her attendants would be deeply disappointed; Sometimes when the budget is limited, the bride gives this photograph as her gift-to-attendants.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

How to Win Friends, Particularly Boys

Even in the days of our grandmothers and great-grandmothers—or, for that matter, right back to Eve herself, I guess—most women have been perfectly aware that if they want a man they will have to do a lot of work. In a nice way, of course, and without being so undiplomatic as to talk about it.

But in these frank modern times, people are not so reticent, and the techniques involved in getting a husband are freely discussed rightout in the open, with all sorts of experts giving the girls practical advice on the matter.

Typical of the clear-sighted way the modern girl approaches the problem is the following letter:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am 19 years old, with intelligence, looks and abilities at least equal to the average girl. I have just moved to a new city and and am handicapped in the way of dates.

"In spite of what has been said about 'if you sit and have patience, things will come to you,' I believe that we girls must admit it is up to us to see that things do happen and that we do hook a man.' Of course it has been said that we must go where the men are, but I don't particularly care to go to a dance, or bowling, alone, when I know no one there. Surely there must be some subtle, decorous way of meeting men for a girl who is willing to try hard, but yet wants to stay respectable.

"B. L. M."

As for the way the experts go at the thing, a piece in the September Coronet magazine is a good example. "How to Get a Husband" is the straight-to-the-point title of the article, and the writer of it, Jean Libman Block, puts heart in the girls right at the start by declaring that "The game is one of skill, not chance", and that 'A few simple rules can put almost any woman in the matrimonial markets."

Here, for "B.L.M.'s guidance in her very logical desire to "hook a man," are the rules:

1: Blueprint your minimum requirements for a husband and stick to them. 2: If you're a working girl, find a field that attracts many men, few women. 3: If you're taken for granted in your home town, try a change of environment. 4: Follow Horace Greeley's advice—go West; the ratio of men to women is highest there. 5: Attend conventions, dances, meetings and social and professional clubs and other affairs where men are plentiful. 6: Once you have met the man you want, create opportunities to see him often. 7: Don't overdress. 8: Don't try to be the life of the party. 9: Don't talk about your job. 10: Find out the things that interest him and let him talk about it. 11: Don't alter your personality to suit his. 12: Don't make it too obvious that your object is matrimony. 13; Don't let your family close in on him too swiftly. 14: Once you think you have landed him, do not waste time; set the date and marry quickly.

Some of these things are easier said than done, but, in general, they offer some sound advice and some helpful suggestions.

For a girl in "B.M.L.'s" position, who has just moved to a new town and wants to get acquainted, the advice about attending meetings and other affairs where they are mixed groups, is particularly useful. Of course, as this girl says, she does not want to go to places where she knows no one. On the other hand, there are always groups, clubs, and other organizations where newcomers are welcome. For exmple, there are, as Mrs. Block, points out, church groups, adult education classes, political organizations, sports groups and hobby clubs. Practically every town has a camera club, if nothing else, and if you are not a girl who is a photography enehusiasm, what's the matter with becoming one?

I am not one who scorns all-women organizations, however, such as a Y.W.C.A. class of some sort, or a woman's club, either of the conventional type or one of those business and professional woman's organizations, for most women have brothers, cousins and other male relatives who are frequently met when some women invites another to her home for dinner or a party.

So look around you, "B.M.L.", and make a survey of all the organizations you might join. Select two or three of these that match your own interests most closely, and then become active in their programs. Before you know it, you will make a lot of new friends of both sexes.

Thickeners

During the past few months, Canadian homemakers have had to use different types of "thickeners" for sauces etc. The Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, has received many inquiries as to the relative thickening power of wheat, potato and rice flours, cornstarch and most recently wheat starch. After experimenting with these different flours and starches, they have found that rice and potato flours and wheat starch have approximately the same thickening power as cornstarch and twice as much as all purpose flour.

Eggs are also thickeners and when the supply is plentiful they can be used in place of starch or flour thickeners. Conversely when they are scarce and consequently high priced they may be replaced, at least in part, by other thickeners. One-half tablespoon of cornstarch or 1 tablespoon of all-purpose flour may be substituted for 1 egg and vice versa.

Comparative Table for Thickeners

Cornstarch — 1½ tablespoons to 1 cup liquid.

White flour (all-purpose) — 3 tablespoons to 1 cup liquid.

Wheat starch — 1 tbsp. or 2 teaspoons to 1 cup liquid.

Rice flour — 1 tbsp. or 2 teaspoons to 1 cup liquid.

Potato flour — 1 tbsp. or 2 teaspoons to 1 cup liquid.

CHOCOLATE CREAM

2 ounces unsweetened chocolate.
3 cups milk
4 tablespoons cornstarch (1/4 cup OR 8 tablespoons white flour (1/2 cup) OR 4 1/2 tablespoons of either wheat starch, rice or potato flour.
1/3 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add chocolate to 2 1/2 cups of the milk and heat in top of double boiler until chocolate is melted. Mix cornstarch or white flour or either of the other thickeners with sugar and salt and blend with the remaining half-cup of milk. Add slowly to hot mixture in top of double boiler and stir constantly until mixture thickens. Cook for 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add well beaten egg yolk and cook 3 minutes. Remove from heat, add flavoring and fold in the beaten egg white. Chill. Six servings.

LEMON SNOW

4 tablespoons cornstarch (1/4 cup) OR 4 1/2 tablespoons of either wheat starch, rice or potato flour.
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups boiling water
1 lemon
2 egg whites

Mix cornstarch or either wheat starch, rice or potato flour with sugar and salt thoroughly together. Gradually add boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook over direct heat until thick and clear, about 5 minutes. Add grated lemon rind and juice (3 tablespoons) and pour the hot mixture slowly over the stiffly beaten egg whites, stirring until well blended. Pour into individual sherbets and chill. Serve with custard sauce using egg yolks. Six servings.

Eric G. Adams Acquitted On Espionage Charge

Ottawa, Oct. 23 (CP)—Buoyed by the acquittal of his predecessor, James Scotland Benning, 38, former Munitions Department official, will go on trial in Ontario Supreme Court today on a charge of communicating confidential information to Russia. He pleaded not guilty yesterday.

Benning is the third ex-government official to face the fall assizes of the court. Behind are the conviction and five-year-sentence of his brother-in-law Harold Samuel Gerson and the acquittal yesterday of Eric George Adams.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer directed that a jury be chosen for the Benning case during the nearly four hours in which the Adams' jury came to its decision that he was not guilty of conspiring to communicate confidential information to Russia.

Adams and his attractive wife, Josepha, greeted his acquittal with a happiness that was in direct contrast to the darkness of the months since he was detained by R.C.M.P. officers at Prince Albert, Sask., last Feb. 15. They were to return to their home in Montreal today. Adams said he hoped to return to the industrial development bank, one of four financial branches of the government with which he worked during the war.

Two Charges Pending

Still hanging over him are two charges of violating the Official Secrets Act. His bail of $5,000 was continued while they were put over to the next assizes. It is considered doubtful the crown will proceed with them.

His exoneration, a victory for defence counsel Joseph Sedgwick of Toronto, was the second within a week of persons named in the final report of the Royal Commission on espionage. The other was that of W. M. Pappin, now back at work in the passport office of the External Affairs Department after being acquitted by County Judge A. G. McDougall of a charge of conspiring to obtain a false passport for a Russian agent.

Of the 18 persons so far detained in Canada as a result of the spy probe, five have been convicted, two freed and the others are in varying stages of progress.

Offer Reward For Recovery Of Windsor Jewels

London, Oct. 23 (CP)—Agents for the Duke of Windsor today advertised a reward of £2,000 ($8,000) for the return of jewels stolen from the Duchess last week.

Announcements concerning the reward, which appeared in London newspapers, listed among the missing jewelry a ring set with a 58-carat aquamarine and another with a 41-carat sapphire, as well as a diamond clip, brooch and bracelets, sapphire earrings and a necklace.

The jewels were stolen last Wednesday night from the home of the Earl of Dudley in Surrey, where the Duke and Duchess are staying during their visit to England.

Scotland Yard, meanwhile, was faced with three new major thefts. The loss of jewlry valued at £8,000 ($24,000) was reported by the manager of a gold-dealing firm in the Picadilly area, who said thieves had rifled his showcases after cutting burglar alarm wires.

Jewelry valued at £750 ($3,000) was reported taken from the hotel room of Mrs. Esme Laughton, a relative of actor Charles Laughton, and a truuk containing a mink coat and other articles valued at £2,000 ($8,000) was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. M. Sharp, Canadian writer.

Breeding Hens To Lay Eggs With Thick Shells

By HOWARD DOBSON

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP) — Agriculture Department scientists haven't quite come up with an egg that will bounce—but they're working toward that goal.

Actually, they don't much care whether they produce a shell that really can be dribbled along like a basketball, but they're seriously after an egg that can stand a good bit of knocking around.

No whim, the activity in the department's research laboratory is the result of repeated pleas from poultrymen and egg handlers.

"They have been trying for years to get a more durable egg," the research man told a reporter, "and we are close to the payoff now. We really have something."

What they have, he went on, is an egg that will withstand between eight and nine pounds' pressure. As eggs go, that is a lot of pressure. Most eggs crack at four pounds or less.

Specifically, the department is working for two things: A tougher, less porous shell, and a firmer white of the egg. Both are important in shipping and storing.

Researchers found out that given an even break on food, some hens made tougher shells than others. From there on, the hunt for the less fragile shell was simply a matter of breeding.

By the same route, the laboratory has developed a type of chicken that produces eggs with thick whites.

Besides providing a firmer layer under the shell, that thick white adds to the keeping quality, the research man said.

Prime Minister Arrives in N.Y. To Attend Meeting

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Oct. 23 —(CP)— Prime Minister MacKenzie King arrived in New York this morning from Ottawa to take part in the United General Assembly opening this afternoon and hear the keynote address of President Truman.

The Prime Minister, accompanied only by a private secretary and personal attendant, was met at Grand Central Station by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, secretary of State for external affairs and head of the Canadian delegation, and walked to his hotel suite nearby.

Also at the station were Hon. Paul Martin, Secretary of State, Dana Wilgress, ambassador to Russia, Senator Wishart Robertson, minister without portfolio, George McIlreith, liberal M. P. for Ottawa, and others of the Canadian delegation.

Mr. King was in a jovial mood. "I am delighted to be here," he said, "and particularly pleased to be met by so many of the delegation and to know they are at work so early in the morning."

The Prime Minister said he felt confident that great things could be accomplished at the General Assembly and that he was hopeful that there would be no tendency for it to become a debating ground between eastern and western blocs. There was no reason that it should, he said.

After a meeting with his full delegation the Prime Minister was scheduled to attend a civic luncheon.

Tonight he is expected to attend the reception being given to national leaders and delegation heads by President Truman. He said he would be here only a few days and was unlikely to address the assembly.

Stern Manifesto Says More Mines Will be Laid

Jerusalem, Oct. 23 (AP)— A new manifesto by the so-called Stern Gang, Jewish underground organization, threatened today a "drastic intensification of the mine war against the British." London dispatches meanwhile reported that Lt.-Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker, commanding British forces in Palestine, would be relieved of his post soon.

The Stern manifesto, which followed by less than 24 hours threats to shoot all British officers carrying guns, said more and more mines would be placed in the path of military vehicles, and claimed credit for blasting two railway engines near Jerusalem Monday night.

Gen. Barker, who was the target of criticism on the ground that he wrote an anti-semitic letter to divisional and district commanders after the bombing of the King David Hotel in Jerusalem last July, is to be succeeded by Maj.-Gen. G. H. MacMillan. Gen. Barker will head the army's eastern command in Britain.

Body of Infant Found at Winona

Hamilton, Oct. 22 (CP)— Inspector A. R. Knight of the Provincial Police, disclosed today that the body of a newly-born baby was found Saturday wrapped in torn overalls and buried under about eight inches of ground on property adjoining the factory of E. D. Smith and Sons, canners, of Winona.

Constable Leslie Taylor said John McEachren of Winona, an employee of the firm, was digging in the ground at the rear of one of the buildings when he came upon what seemed to be an old bundle of clothing. He found it contained the decomposed body of a child.

A post-mortem examination revealed that the baby was a fully-developed boy at least a few days old, Taylor said. It was established that the child had lived. The post-mortem revealed no marks of violence, but the child had been buried for a period of two to six months.

BIG POTATO CROP

The latest report on the potato crop in Canada in 1946 places the estimated production of 44,-628,000 cwt. This is an increase of 24 per cent over the crop of 1945 which was smaller than average at 35,986,000 cwt., and is nine per cent greater than the five-year 1939-43 average of 40,-833,000 cwt.

The increase over 1945 is due to substantially heavier average yields per acre and heavier plantings. The average production of the 1946 season is estimated at 86 cwt. per acre, compared with 71 cwt. in 1945. The acreage planted in 1946 is placed at 520,600 acres, while the 1945 acreage was 507,700 acres. The five-year average planting was 521,700 acres.

Practically All Rubber Workers Return to Work

Toronto, Oct. 22 (CP)—Fewer than 3,000 workers in four plants remain on strike of the more than 10,000 in 10 Ontario rubber plants who walked out last June 24 to enforce demands for a 40-hour week and a wage increase of 20 cents an hour. Six plants have settled on the basis of a 13-cent-an-hour increase plus off-shift bonuses.

Latest to accept the settlement terms, 3,000 workers at Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company's plants in suburban New Toronto and at Bowmanville ended their strike last night. The New Toronto agreement is to be submitted to the union membership for ratification today.

Members of the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.) still are on strike at the Gutta-Percha plant in Toronto and at three Kitchener plants — B. F. Goodrich and the Textile and Merchants plants of Dominion Rubber.

Julius Koch, president of the union's local 73 in Kitchener said yesterday negotiations to end the Goodrich strike were proceeding favorably and that an important announcement could be expected shortly.

But in the Gutta-Percha strike, president Stan Thornley of Local 136 said last night there were no new developments there. The company, he said, had not offered more than the two-cents-an-hour increase it proposed before the strike and he may propose that the Ontario Labor Department intervene as conciliator.

Peace-Feelers Again at Work In Nanking

Nanking, Oct. 22 (AP)— China's peace-seekers were back at work today in a hectic atmosphere featured by the return of Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator, from a month-long visit to Shanghai and Chiang Kai-Shek's surprising, though previously planned, departure for Formosa.

There were informal discussians seeking a mutual basis upon which to resume formal negotiations.

It was indicated that these preliminary exchanges would continue for several days. The Communist said no machinery had been selected for resumption of full-scale talks.

The Generalissimo met briefly with Chou, explaining that his Formosa trip had been planned for Oct. 20 but delayed one day because of the news of Chou's return. Gen. Chiang and Madame Chiang then left for Formosa for the celebration of the first anniversary of the recovery of that island from the Japanese.

Wang Ping-Man, Communist spokesman, said Chou had returned to Nanking "because we do not want to give up the slightest ray of hope." He added, however, that he saw "no reason for optimism."

Lord Halifax Sells Hickleton Hall

Doncaster, Yorks, England, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Lord Halifax, former British Ambassador to the United States, announced today he had sold Hickleton Hall, his big Yorkshire home near here, and planned to move into his stables.

Size of the establishment and staff difficulties were given as reasons for the decision, which Lord Halifax said was taken "with great reluctance and much regret."

"I am most anxious to retain my connection with the district," the former ambassador said, "and propose to occupy a cottage in the village until I can convert my stables into a residence."

Purchaser of Hickleton Hall was the Sisterhood of the Order of the Holy Paraclete. The building will be converted into a girls' school.

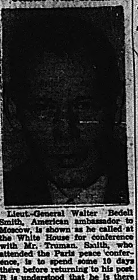
RECORD TOBACCO YIELD

Simcoe, Oct. 22 — (CP)—Canada's 1946 flue-cured tobacco crop was disclosed last night to have been a record-breaking 113,000,-000 pounds — 24,000,000 pounds more than the previous record year of 1939 when 89,000,000 lbs. were grown. Last year the total crop was 78,000,000 pounds. These figures were released as the board of directors of the Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Association met to fix prices for the crop. They had not arrived at a minimum average for the current crop when they adjourned at 6 p.m.

UNION MEMBERS ACCEPT

Oshawa, Oct. 22 — (CP)—General Motors division of Local 222 of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO) last night approved acceptance of wage increases of 11-13 cents arising from lengthy negotiations between the General Motors Company and the union. The increases are retroactive to Sept. 1.

Confers With Truman



Lieut.-General Walter Bedell Smith, American ambassador to Moscow, is shown as he called at the White House for conference with Mr. Truman. Now Who's Crazy Students Wonder

Dunedin, N.Z., Oct. 23. — (CP)— Two Otago University students sitting in their automobile were approached by a stranger who admired the car and asked if they wanted to sell it. They named a price which the stranger promptly accepted.

One student went into a garage to give the purchaser an official receipt and the car was handed over to the stranger, who drove off. Then the students found that neither had received the money, as each thought the purchaser had given it to the other. They hired a taxi and gave a frenzied chase, but could not find the car.

They reported their loss to the police who informed them that the purchaser was an escaped inmate of the Orokonui Mental Home. After "buying" the car he had driven back to the home and reported his return.

The two students are still wondering just what the transaction makes them.

FOUR CARRIERS RETIRE

Brockville, Oct. 22 —(CP)— Four mail carriers, last of the staff which inaugurated house-to-house delivery in Brockville in 1911 retired this week. Between them, James Pennock, Matthew Easton, George Hall and Edward Venney have a combined service of 138 years.

Engineers Ponder Destructive Jet

Lympne, Kent, England, Oct. 23. (CP)—Apparent ability of a peculiar acoustic property of jet aircraft motors to break glass and even marble has indicated future engineering problems at an airport near here.

A de Havilland Vampire jet machine preparing to take off had its jet orifice pointed toward an adjacent house. When the plane had gone, the householder found the glass of two pictures had been broken and a solid marble clock split.

The explanation, advanced by engineering experts, was that the engine note somehow caused the damabe.

Distance, Crowded Field, Big Handicap Burden Finally Beat The Australian Wonder Horse

Bernborough Rose From Obscurity of Country Tracks to Ranking With Phar Lap

By WILLIAM STEWART
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 23. (CP Cable)—Distance, a crowded field and a big handicap burden combined to finally beat Bernborough, the seven-year-old Australian wonder horse which has risen from the obscurity of country tracks to a ranking with the great Phar Lap.

Loaded with 150 pounds and running against 26 other entries, Bernborough met his first defeat in ten months in last Saturday's 1 1-2 mile Caulfield Cup event. The Melbourne track was crowded with 107,000 persons who saw the "Toowoomba Terror" extricate himself from the pack in the last 200 yards and turn on his usual blazing finish too late to catch four horses whose handicaps ranged from 24 to 46 pounds lighter.

Winner of the race—a prelude to next month's Melbourne Cup for which Bernborough remains the favorite— was the South Australian Royal Gen which carried 126 pounds. More than $1,500,000 in bets, it was estimated, was involved in Bernborough's performance. His upset was the weekend's big news in Australia.

From the time of his debut last December in Australian big-time racing until his Saturday defeat, Bernborough had run away with all his races at distances under a mile and a half.

First Race False Start

The graceful bay's first race was a false start but after that, though handicappers loaded him up to 151 pounds, Bernborough broke track records, went beyond Phar Lap's string of 14 victories in a row, and won $81,500 in purses for owner Azzelin Romano who runs an expensive Sydney restaurant.

Little more than a year ago, Bernborough was a tramp performer in small Queensland towns because a stable to which he belonged had been at odds with the racing authorities. Though a grandson of the well-known English Gainsborough, Bernborough was unacceptable company to the elite of Australian tracks until Romano bid $10,000 for him at public auction and got him a clean bill.

On the investiment, Romano has already made a fortune in purses and wagers and established a country-wide reputation. Bernborough by his victories, despite his age, has become the idol of Australia's little punters who bet their pennies and shillings carefully.

For them the "Toowoomba Terror" had been a consistent sure thing thought the odds at which the horse now runs are so short the minimum 90-cent "totaliser" bet brings only about 15 cents gain.

Seventeen hands high and easy to handle, Bernborough with George Mulley in the saddle usually runs one kind of race. He starts easily, hanging at the rear of the field until about the last half-mile.

Only Twice Close

Then Mulley picks an opening and Bernborough with his head low produces the great flashing stride and remarkable bursts that have often made other runners appear bogged down.

Only twice have Bernborough's finishes been at all close. Once was when Mulley eased up after catching Bernborough's only challenger, the fast roan Magnificent, in the last 150 yards of the Warwick stakes in Sydney in September. The crowd muttered that Mulley had cut the win too fine. Mulley said Bernborough needed an easy race just then.

The second occasion was the recent Melbourne stakes when Bernbrough had an off-day and trouble with a slippery tracks. Mulley drew the whip to nose out Attley, a fleet four-year-old which with the Sydney Mare, Shannon, is among two or three horses expected to finish in front of the Queenslander sometime with weight in their favor.

While Bernborough is beyond Phar Lap's performance in consecutive wins, he hasn't surpassed that of three other horses, Ajax which had 18 in a row, and Desert Gold and Gloaming which had 19 each. Neither has Bernborough won a Melbourne Cup as Phar Lap did in 1930.

Australian trackmen have been reluctant so far to rate Bernborough ahead of the New Zealand-bred Phar Lap, but one leading owner and breeder, Sol Green, has finally come out with the opinion that Bernborough as a seven-year-old is better than Phar Lap at his five-year-old peak. Others tend to agree.

Called "Toowoomba Terror"

Against Bernborough in the Caulfield Cup were the record books which show that no horse has won the cup with more than 134 pounds—16 less than the Terror carried.

Bernborough had faced a similar situation when he made his triumphant return last June to Queensland where he had run on out-of-the-way tracks including rural Toowoomba where he picked up the nickname "Toowoomba Terror".

Bernborough's handicap for the Doomben Cup at Brisbane was the unprecedented 151 pounds. But his winning time of 2:14 3-44; for the distance of nearly a mile and three furlongs was a record for the track and his last half-mile in a fraction under 46 seconds was extraordinary.

For both races, Jockey Mulley used a 28-pound "Bernborough Saddle" designed to spread out for the horse's comfort extremely heavy handicap loads. Mulley weighs about 110 pounds himself. For the Classic $30,000 Melbourne handicap for the difficult two-mile distance may be increased from the present allotment of 149 pounds set for him in July.

Record weight for a Melbourne Cup winner was 145 pounds on Carbine in 1890. Phar Lap made it with 138 pounds in 1930 but failed the next year with 148 pounds.

New York, Oct. 23 — (AP) — Tex Sullivan and Bill Daly have bought the contract of heavyweight Al Hoosman for $4,000. Half the money goes to Jimmy Johnston's widow . . . Bob Carse, Cleveland Barons' player, spent six months in a German prison camp. No wonder he tries to keep out of the "cooler."

Prep Reps

Kansas High School grid followers are high on halfback Wallace Elstun of Sterling, who scored all of his team's seven touchdowns in its first two games on runs of from 33 to 92 yards . . . In Tennessee they still like Bob McCoy of Chattanooga Central, who had scored in 17 consecutive games before he was injured early this season . . . the prize prep story, however, comes from Ames, Iowa, where the high school swamped Perry 55-0 recently. Coach Ken Wells had used up his entire squad of 39 players when he spotted Ken King tooting a hot trumpet in the orchestra between halves. Wells hustled King into uniform and in the second half Ken tossed a touchdown pass.

"WHIPPER" WATSON

The dashing young gentleman pictured above needs no introduction to Belleville wrestling fans. He's none other than the "Whippah", last name Watson, from the sunny confines of East York Township. The "Whip" who bopped the Sheik Emir Badui, from Iraq last Friday night and had that colorful gent howling to high heaven that he wuz robbed by the timekeeper, meets his olive-skinned Arabian opponent gain Friday night here in a re-match. The dusky scion of Arab nobility has a few holds that surprised even the Whipper who figured he had seen them all in his checkered rassling career. However, the Emir is fully confident that he can reverse the decision in their second meeting—and brothers, that holds possibilities. Both are clever, speedy, aggressive matmen who favor the agile, scientific style rather than the knock-em-down-drag-em-out method. In any event it will be well worth watching. On the same card is the giant Russian Cossack Kola Kwariannl, a wrestling Stalinese who is some shakes in pachydermic circles who tilts with Frankie Taylor from Hollywood. Jim Doble meets Natie Brown in the curtain raiser.

Chips Off The Sports Block

Chatham, according to reports from that hotbed of baseball boast a starry left-hander by the name of Bob Grant. Grant, apparently is some punkins as a southpaw for he struck out 16 Windsor sluggers last Saturday in his second straight win over the Border City crew in their semi-finals series. Grant let Windsor down with five scattered hits all of them singles.

So if M'sieu Grant is up to advance notices and the Easton men throw in "Smoky" Smith, there should be a stirring forkside duel before the sun sets over the district of tobacco, sugar beets and baseball players.

Manager Easton was quietly confident this morning that his team will measure up to Western Ontario standards of baseball, and feels that the Shoemen will give a fine account of themselves whether in defeat or victory. The team will be at full strength barring eleventh-hour accidents. They're pulling for a win but personally we are taking along a couple of rabbit's feet, just in case.

Tommy Colden, manager of the Stewart Warner Alemite Ladies' Softball squad is wearing a broad smile these days. And he should. For he introduced to the city its newest ladies' softball player on Monday in the form of a bundle of happiness who will grace the name of Carol Elizabeth. Yep, it was a gal, and the Coldens are the happiest couple in town. Tommy is recovering from his "Agony Parade" jaunt, and Mrs. Colden and Baby Carol are doing well, thank you. Congrats Tommy m'lad. Please omit cigars.

Competition is getting keen in the Major Bowling Loop up at the Bowl-O-Drome these Thursday nights. The keglers are knocking the pins for plenty of falls with scores getting closer than a moustache to a lip. Eight teams; CNR; Belleville Golf; Optical; Lawn Bowlers; Sargent; Kinsmen; York Trading and Central Cigar are vying for top honors and all friendship ceases when the boys gather at the Bowl for their weekly sessions.

The end of the first fifteen-game schedules saw the veteran Joe Legault top man in high averages with a score of 240. Versatile "Toots" Holway, is second with 239, Anderson is third with 231 and Les Lennox fills fourth slot with 227.

Jack Wardhaugh knocked off the high single score with 374 while Les Lennox had the high three-string with a count of 842. The boys start another 15-game session tomorrow night and at the present rate of high calibre bowling the first session winners are in for a busy five weeks if they are to retain their titles.

• • •

The experts are calling Branch Rickey the year's baseball genius. Anybody, they say, who can wangle 36 automobiles at one sitting qualifies as a genius, miracle man, and out-and-out swami.

• • •

The season's worst job of umpiring in the major leagues occurred in a game between the Tigers and the Browns, on a Sunday in September — and it wasn't an official game at all. When the teams were stopped by rain in the third, the umps breathed long sighs of relief.

• • •

In the first inning a runner was tagged in a close play at third — but there was no one to call it. The umpire at second thought the plate arbiter was to call it, and you know what the plate umpire thought. An inning or so later a long drive hit the top of the wall in left. The umpire at third called it a homer, the one at second said it was still in play. But the prize came in the Browns' second. On a three-two pitch to a batter, the plate umpire raised his right hand in the air, but simultaneously yelled, "Ball four." Both Zach Taylor and Steve O'Neill rushed out to learn what was going on.

"What was it, strike or ball?" O'Neill asked.

"A ball," the umpire said. "I called it, didn't I?"

"But you put your hand in the air," O'Neill said patiently.

"Did I?" asked the umpire, in some surprise.

Taylor and O'Neill looked at each other, grinned, said, "Oh, well," and walked to their respective dugouts. Then, happily, the rains came.

• • •

The year's best comeback was probably Rudy York of the Red Sox who was considered washed up when the Tigers traded him for Eddie Lake. York played in every game, batted in over 100 runs. Also rating a mention is Joe Medwick. Unable to stick with the Browns in spring training, he came home and apparently gave up baseball. Then Branch Rickey reached him and he won half a dozen games for the babbling Brooks with his potent bat.

• • •

And the most dramatic moment came with Bob Feller's no-hitter over the Yankees early in the season; not because it was a no-hitter but because it was delivered under pressure. On his arrival in New York, Feller found that newspapers there believed he was washed up, that his fast ball had lost its zip. He went into the game determined to make his critics eat their words — he did and they did too.

RAMBLERS EARLY SURPRISE OF AMERICAN LOOP

Only One Point Behind Hershey Bears, Eastern Division Leaders

By The Canadian Press

One of the early season surprises of the American Hockey League is the performance of Coach Lynn Patrick's New Haven Ramblers.

The Ramblers, who finished last in the circuit's eastern division last season while operating under the name of the Eagles, are currently only one point behind the unbeaten Hershey Bears, the eastern-sector's leaders.

Composed of former and prospective members of New York's Rangers of the National Hockey League, the Ramblers have won three games while losing one and tieing another.

The Rangers farm club defeated St. Louis Flyers 6-3, last night in the only game played in the circuit.

Although they piled up a 3-0 lead, the Ramblers, were tied by the Flyers early in the third period but shortly thereafter Joe Bell, leading goal getter in the loop last season, rifled home his second goal of the evening to put the Ramblers ahead to stay.

Jim Henry, one of the top netminders in the game, had a busy night in the cage, clearing 35 shots while rookie goalie Red Gilbert of the Flyers stopped 18.

Three games are scheduled for tonight. Providence Reds meet the Bisons at Buffalo, the last place eastern division Philadelphia Rockets clash with the Bears at New Haven and the western division pace-setting Cleveland Barons entertain Springfield Indians.

Lengthy Schedule Arranged For Basketball Loop

New York, Oct. 23 —(AP)—A 330-game schedule for the 11-team basketball association of America was announced today by Maurice Podoloff, President of the new pro circuit.

Each of the teams will play 30 home games and 30 away with the season opening Friday, Nov.1 when New York Knickerbockers visit Toronto Huskies.

The following night eight clubs will swing into action with the New Yorkers playing at Chicago, Washington at Detroit, Boston at Providence, and Pittsburgh at St. Louis. On Sunday, Nov. 3 Toronto will play at Cleveland. Philadelphia, the 11th club, won't get started until Nov. 7 when it enterains Pittsburgh. The five month regular campaign will end March the 30 with Boston at Cleveland.

Two divisions have been set up with six teams in the eastern half and five in the west. There will be a play-off at the end of the season although the number of teams that will qualify for the rich harvest has not yet been announced. Red Irish, head of the New York squad, says a $75,000 to $90,000 jackpot will be offered.

The eastern section is made up of New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Providence, Boston and Toronto. The west is comprised of Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

All of the games will be played under United States Collegiate rules with the following exceptions: Unlimited substitutions will be allowed; there will be no option on a foul shot, a fouled player being forced to attempt the free throw without the option of taking the ball out of bounds; coaches may talk to their players from the bench during a timeout, and the game will be played in quarters of 12 minutes each instead of 20-minute halves.

Johnny Mowers to Replace Lumley in Nets at Detroit To Give Team More Power

Three Leading Goalies, Brimsek, Broda and Durnan, Will be in Action Tonight

(By JACK MITCHELL)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

With the return of Johnny Mowers completing the old "Big three" of national hockey league netminding, goalie Bill Durnan of the Stanley Cup Montreal Canadiens may as well prepare now for a first -class struggle to defend his strangehold on the Vezina Trophy these last three years.

Durnan like the Canadiens themselves, has drawn accusations of "Ersatz King" of the netminders from some observers, who contended through the latter war years that the test of greatness of both the team and its individuals will come in this season when the roster of returning stars from the services is completed.

The other two of goaltending's big three, Frank Brimsek of Boston Bruins and Walter (Turk) Broda of Toronto Maple Leafs rejoined their clubs late last season and this year will be their first full test. Now manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings has decided that the 31-year-old Mowers is "ready to go."

That means the old big three and the Johnny-come-lately Durnan all will be showing their wares tonight when the N. H. L. stages its first all-out hockey night of this new season that started last Wednesday.

Show in Different City

Each will show in a different city. Mowers, Adams said, last night, will replace 19-year-old Harry Lumley in the Detroit nets for their home game against Chicago Black Hawks; Brimsek will be Toronto Maple Leaf's stumbling block at Boston and Durnan will help Canadiens welcome New York Rangers at Montreal.

With Montreal scored on only once in their two games, a victory and a tie, to date, Durnan already has served notice he will be in the thick of the "least-scored-on" fight. Broda, unfortunately from a personal standpoint, is on a Maple Leafs team that is concentrating on attack this season and has been beaten six times, despite Toronto's win and a tie that leaves them tied for first with Canadiens.

In Boston's two games, both draws that put them in a second-place deadlock with the Rangers, Brimsek has given up three goals.

For Mowers, it will be a fresh start and it's just as well. In three games, the Red Wings have given up 12 goals in counting the single point that finds them tied for the cellar with Chicago. The Hawks have played only one match, that a 2-2 draw with Boston.

Regina, Oct. 23 — (CP)—Always one of the happiest hunting grounds of National Hockey League scouts, Saskatchewan promises to retain its position with a new six-team junior circuit and an 84-game schedule opening next week.

Prospects that a Memorial Cup winner might emerge from the group brightened last weekend when Regina Patricias dumped Winnipeg Monarchs 3-1 in an exhibition match against last year's Dominion champions — a depleted squad with only four of last year's regulars.

The bustling Pats brought a lump to the throats of oldtimers who remembered their namesakes of more than a dozen years ago. Regina Abbotts and Commandos merged this season and took the famous name.

Coach Moose Stinson has the same beef as most western amateur hockey mentors this season—lack of defencemen — but with the best of two teams to choose from he has emerged with a strong outfit.

Moose Jaw Canucks, tended by pre-war N.H.L. star Ken (Mighty Mite) Doraty, also licked the Monarchs at the weekend to the tune of 4-2. Doraty has gathered his flock from all parts of the province.

Notre Dame Hounds, fabulous Father Athol Murray's crew from Wilcox is the third member of the southern section of the league. The kids will get some first-hand knowledge of their province as each team will make two sweeps during the season through the opposite section of the league.

The northern section include Saskatoon Quakers, Prince Al bert Black Hawks and Humbold Indians.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A strip-end has everything to gain and nothing to lose. If it fails, you are no worse off than when you started the attempt. You can still take the finesse it was intended to replace.

When it fails, you have not exhausted enough suits. Or the wrong opponent has been thrown into the lead. Or your timing was off.

In most cases, you know in advance from which opponent you need the return lead. In many such cases, an erstwhile bid or lead or play has tipped you off that you can exit to that particular player.

If a player leads to you a king or a queen, you may assume he has the next touching honor card. This tells you of a card in his hand that you know he must use for taking a trick.

If you have had no such lead, watching the opponent discards may tip you off as to who holds what card. With nothing in that department to tell you, even a guess is better than nothing.

However, there are some deals in which you need no advance advice. Your own cards may be such that you will know exactly that it must happen as you desire. This is known as an automatic endplay.

Take an interest in this deal:

NORTH
♠8 5 4
♥K J 6 3
♦8 2
♣A Q 8 6

WEST
♠K J 6
♥8 5
♦A K 5 4 3
♣10 9 7

EAST
♠9 7 3 2
♥9 7 2
♦Q 10 9 7
♣J 4

SOUTH
♠A Q 10
♥A Q 10 4
♦J 6
♣K 8 6 3

The bidding goes like this:

South	North
1 H	2 C
3 C	4 H

South's opening shows at least five tricks. His raise over two clubs shows a sixth trick. With four tricks of his own, north then sees a total of ten tricks; enough for a game in hearts.

West takes the first two tricks with ace and king of diamonds. He then leads a club. Go to work on the automatic endplay.

With a cinch in your glance, you should not take a chance.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 23 (AP)—If Margaret O'Brien's mother can talk her studio into it, the little star will appear in a stage version of "Alice in Wonderland" in New York. Mrs. O'Brien thinks the stage experience would be good for her daughter, particularly because she would be coached by the fine actress, Eva Le Gallienne, who is eager for Margaret's services.

MGM is interested in filming the life of William Knudsen, the Danish immigrant who rose through the ranks to become a captain of the automobile industry. It should make an inspiring picture.

It looks as though Winnipeg-born Deanna Durbin is set for two big musicals. She'll do "Up in Central Park" and probably follow with "Song of Norway."

Plans are shaping up—and about time—for a picture co-starring Dinah Shore and George Montgomery. They are Hollywood's most-nuts-about-each-other married couple. She is also being mentioned for a film with Frankie.

Paul Henreid hears that his brother, David, a chemist in South Africa, will be leaving for Hollywood Nov. 15. Their 70-year-old mother flew here from Europe this summer and they will have their first reunion in many years this Christmas.

David O. Selznick moans that the movie labor strife is costing him $10,000 a day, with his two scheduled pictures unable to start.

Undercurrent (MGM) is far from being a Taylor-made vehicle for Bob's return. He plays a "Meanie" between the over-acting of Katharine Hepburn and the under-emoting of Robert Mitchum. Yet Bob steals the honors for the best all-around performance in this Hitchcock-like drama. Director Cincente Minelli uses all the tricks of the trade, plus a few new ones of his own to make you enjoy the suspense of this film.

AT THE CAPITOL — Pert Jeff Donnell appears in her third action-musical as the heroine of Columbia Pictures' "That Texas Jamboree," opening on Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program Laurel and Hardy in the atomic comedy "The Bohemian Girl."

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was writing at her desk, saying to pop, There William, my conscience is clever. I've invited Jeen Nittjacker to the class reunion after all, even though she didn't invite any of the class members to her elaborate wedding reception and all the time she was at school she acted so snooty she wouldn't join a single sorority, she said, and pop said, But the announcements haven't been printed yet, have they?

I'm not even waiting for the formal announcements, ma said. I'm sending her a pleasant little informal note. Just a same, I, hardly think she'll come, she said, and pop said, You dont mean to say you didn't give her the correct date?

Now William I hope you dont think I'd be that underhanded, even in a popular cause, ma said, and pop said, Oh, you meerly addressed the letter to the wrong address?

Dont be preposteriss, I'll reed you the letter, ma said.

Which she did, being, Dear Jeen, I thought you might be interested to know that the class members are thinking of holding a little reunion. Unfortunately, owing to the high cost and scarcity of food, the usual banquet will probably be a banquet in name only. One of the members of the committee suggested serving frankferters and sowerkraut, but I am sure the suggestion was intended laffingly. Anyway, I understand you have not kept in contact with any of the gerls, so the whole thing may not appeal to you. However, if by chance you are interested drop me a line and I will send you details about the time and place, etsettera. Very truly yours in memory of old times, etsettera. What do you think, William? ma said.

I still think it's a women's werld, pop said.

Being what he often says.

'BUCKY' HARRIS NAMED MANAGER N.Y. YANKEES

That is Rumor Circulating Among Those Expected to Know

By TED MEIER

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, a suave baseball diplomat, is the new manager of New York Yankees—that is if the latest rumor is true.

Harris, appointed executive assistant to Larry MacPhail, Yankee President, a month ago, was said by the New York Daily News to have been "sold" on the post at a secret meeting yesterday. The Daily News reported the conference was attended by Bucky, MacPhail, Will Harridge, President of the American League, and Charley Dressen, present Brooklyn coach, who the News said, had been named Harris' No. 1 aide.

MacPhail termed the story "pure cock and bull."

"I don't know who the Yankee manager is going to be," fumed Larry. "And if I did know I wouldn't tell anybody."

Neither Harris, Harridge nor Dressen was available for comment.

The Daily News asserted Harris was given a two-year contract at $40,000 a year.

Harris, who first gained fame as the "boy manager" in guiding Washington Senators to the 1924 American League pennant, went to Buffalo in 1944 as general manager of the International League Bisons, a post he kept until named MacPhail's assistant shortly before Bill Dickey resigned as Yankee manager in the closing days of the season.

PICTON

Castle Villeneuve Purchased By Stanley Tozer

Picton, Oct. 23 — Castle Villeneuve, popularly known as Castle Inn, was this week sold by Mrs. Gladis Fowlie to Stanley Tozer. This is one of the town's historic places, the castle-like structure having been erected by an early resident, Philip Lowe, Q.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Tozer plan to take up residence in the castle next spring. It will no longer be carried on as a tourist resort, as for some years past.

Mr. Tozer has been engaged in the manufacture of livestock remedies, drug products and cosmetics, and will carry on this small industry here.

Farm forums in the county are planning to resume their meetings next week as the broadcasts for the fall series start on October 29.

Heard at Rotary

Guest speaker at the Rotary Club yesterday was Stanley Jackson, Field Secretary of the Boy Scout Association, who stressed the value of this training. He commended the local club on their support of the movement.

Some improvement is reported in the condition of Clarence D. Stevenson, who has been very ill in Prince Edward County hospital here. Mr. Stevenson retired earlier this year as senior district fruit inspector for the Federal Department of Agriculture.

Hon. Russell Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health, is to be guest speaker at the annual meeting of Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, Friday night.

Superintendent of Prince Edward County hospital, Miss A. Arnold is returning from a holiday at Newmarket tomorrow.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Roney of Pittsfield, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Widdifield.

Mrs. C. R. Richmond and sons have returned to town after visiting in Kingston, guests of her sister, Mrs. Anderson and Rev. Allan J. Anderson. Dr. Richmond spent the weekend in the city.

Mr. G. M. Hicks has returned from several days' visit in Windsor.

Mrs. W. G. Hope Swayne, Mrs. S. J. Collier, Faith Swayne, Kathleen Walmsley and Billy Swayne were Kingston visitors this week.

Miss Jean Barber has joined her brother, Charles Barber of London and they are on a motor trip to Detroit.

GOAT LOOKS ON

Verona, Oct. 23 —(CP)— Counting the receipts of a busy day in his garage Tuesday night, Keith Reynolds looked up to see a whiskered face staring in the window. Calling his helper, Keith rushed into the night, where he stepped on the handle of a rake and knocked himself cold. When he came to, there was the culprit —a goat—calmly chewing the label off an oil-can near the window.

CHAPTER 35

Fun! Where was the fun of those old arrogant promises, those old unthinking days, now? Now it was all fear and jealousy and loneliness. Madge was awkwardly, stiffly possessive in her every word to Dennis, her every gesture as she touched his hair in passing his chair, or seated herself on the arm of it, after dinner. How she loved her role as head of his table and mistress of his house!

Isabel's bloom faded; she began to look wan and thin. Easily attributable to the long hours beside Catherine's bed, but she knew it was not that. Dennis was grave and quiet, too, beyond his wont. Perhaps his mother did not suspect it, Madge in her bracing, unimaginative British fashion, saw nothing, but to both Dennis and Isabel the strain of these days was almost unbearable.

Catherine did everything her mother told her to do. To every obedient act, opening her mouth for the medicine, letting the doctors pump blood into her tiny pipestem of an arm, settling down to sleep, she appended the condition; "And you'll stay wif me if I do it, Mummy?"

The tension lessened; Catherine was going to get well. Isabel was crying for joy, deep inside, as she went about smiling and busy; crying from the reactions, the blessed relief, and Catherine's grandmother gave way more than once to exhausted tears; Madge was not so weak, but her gratitude found expression in practical ways. She was not a cook herself, but she got Isabel—whose training under Aunt Mansie had long caused Dennis's mother deep admiration—all the requisites of the veal and chicken broth Catherine loved, and went down the hill for the invalid's ice cream twice a day.

Early in the darkness of the fifth morning Isabel came from a long watch in the sickroom and went out to the porch, to look down at the slope of the hill, and the tops of trees and roofs of village houses, and the ruffled waters of the Golden Gate. There were dim lights on the ships swinging at anchor; there were tiny specks of illumination in San Francisco's windows, across the bay. The bridge that arched the Gate was outlined with bright globes; here out of all the troubled world were safe and empty skies, safe and empty waters, and all the householders in all the houses safely asleep.

Off across the eastern mountains there were dim stirrings of color, dawn was coming even though the moon was not quite set in the west. The world breathed audibly in the soft black dark; Isabel breathed deep, too, drinking in the freshness and sweetness of the hush before the spring sunrise.

Suddenly, noiselessly, Dennis was beside her. He put an arm about her, and without turning to look at him she leaned against him, deliciously resting her head on his tall shoulder, as she had rested it so many times in the old days. For a long while they did not speak.

"It is going to be hard to leave her, Dennis."

"I was thinking of that. I was wondering how we could manage it . I could go away and stay—"

"Not you! That ruins your mother's happiness, and Madge's. I've ruined enough happiness for everyone, all round." Isabel added the last phrase in a low tone, as if to herself.

"Madge's happiness, inasmuch as I contributed to it," Dennis said slowly, in a troubled voice, "is already ruined."

"Don't say that, Dennis." Her tone was shocked. "She knows?" she asked, on a quick, fearful breath.

"Of course she knows."

"How do you know?"

"Because she said so. Last night, when I walked home with her. She asked if I was coming back to this house, and I said yes, that I did not feel safe about Catherine yet. Madge said, "What will you do when Isabel goes, Dennis? You've always loved her, haven't you? And she loves you. You never told me that.'"

"She said 'You never told me that'!"

"Yes." Dennis rested his cheek against Isabel's head. "We've made a mess of it somehow," he said wearily. "You see, when I first came back, confused and upset about everything, wanting like hell to get back to—oh, kids and welcome and home——"

"Oh, don't!" she whispered, under her breath. Resting against him, her head tipped back against his shoulder, her hands were in one of his, and he felt them grip his own the tighter.

"I didn't know for a while that I did love you, Isabel," he finished simply. "My mother and children were here, and here was this other woman, too, who needed me as I needed her. We were both free—I don't remember that we talked much of love. But I knew—oh yes, I knew the very hour that we were married that it wasn't ever going to seem real. It was real enough to talk together, and to take each other, but to be husband and wife—that never came true. You're my wife, and you'll always be my wife, though you leave me a hundred times."

There was a silence, and they looked down at the darkling waters, with the boat lamps reflecting down into them in wriggled spears of light.

"She'll never let you go, Dennis. You'll go to England after the war, and I'll never see you again."

"I could ask her—ask her to let me go," he said.

"No. Oh, never that. No," Isabel answered quickly, her voice sounding as if she were in pain.

"She would do it," Dennis said. "And of course it would mean—it would mean everything solved. You and I—there isn't an hour that wouldn't be paradise, if we were together again."

"We can't think of that. You'll go to England—she says so. But the girls—"

"The girls stay with you."

"But that means you give them up completely."

"Yes, I know. But that's best—now, anyway."

"Then you do go to England?"

"She wants to go."

"She wants," Isabel thought, "to get you away from me, and even from the girls . . . Dennis, you can't give them up!" she said aloud.

"You could live here then, with Mother."

"It isn't fair," Isabel protested.

"It may be easier," he told her. "I'd like to think of them here with you and Mother. I can't — you see I can't live where I can sometimes see you, Isabel. I'm human. I want you. Every fiber of my being wants you. I want to be alone with you and our children—for the peace of it—the rest of it—"

"Oh, Dennis," she said in a whisper.

"You've always been beautiful, Isabel—but it's not that, now. It's seeing you white and tired after hours with Catherine, seeing you reading to Pussy with the firelight on your hair, hearing you talk to my mother— always so gentle—always so eager to help us all. I know that I can never feel this way to any other woman—and she knows it too, and I think she did know it, even when we were married."

"But she loves you, Dennis."

"And I want her to be happy. Only—only," he repeated in a troubled voice, it's not real."

"It's real to her."

"To Madge," he said.

"She wants to build a life with you that leaves me and the children out. Oh, it's not jealousy—it's nothing so cheap as that. It's her eternal reasonableness," Isabel said, with a faint shred of rueful laughter. "I've had my turn, now it's hers."

"But you can't be logical about it."

"You mean it's us—living and suffering," Isabel went on. I know how you feel. And it should be so! This should be our home, these should be our daughters, growing up with a father and mother to love them. But it can't be. And time—time will help us."

"I cannot have you go away," Dennis said. "I know time helps grief, but not a living grief like this."

"You'll come back to America sometimes, and see us."

"Isabel you can't be talking of our being parted this way?"

"I think I am. Only—I'll have this hour to remember, forever," Isabel said in a low voice, her fingers still tightly locked in his. "Dawn coming over the bay, and you and I out here, alone in the world, with your arms around me. I'll always hold it—my hour, out of so many lonely hours!

"You see, for the first time in my life I've learned what loneliness is," she began again, as the sunrise glow strengthened and the birds in the garden oaks began to sing and to fly down to the lawn. "It was giving up the girls first, and then finding you again and having to lose you again— and then Avery was gone, and all my plans to make him happy, to be a good wife to him, were gone., too I've learned something about myself, I think, and what matters to me—what counts."

"Catherine and Pussy will break their hearts if you go away," he said.

"It won't be forever! I've never been so close to them, Dennis, or to you. I've never loved you as do now—when I'm giving you up."

"They need us both," he said slowly, his voice low and hoarse with emotion.

"I told Catherine," Isabel said, cheerfully, "that I have to go back to Woodside Manor to pack up her clothes and get everything ready, and then I've promised her that she and Pussy and I will have a tiny place of our own, where I can read the Oz books to her, and 'The Wind in the Willows,' and where we can have picnics and make popcorn balls. She knows she's to be with me part of the time, and Daddy and Gran part of the time." Isabel's voice came lower, thickening on the words. "Oh, it's so wretched, it's so wretched!" she whispered, trembling into sudden tears, and twisting about to bury her face against his shoulder. "It's all so hard! To hurt them, the trusting little loving things, to hurt ourselves! And Madge, who loves you, and who's had her share of sorrow and change, God knows—"

Dennis did not speak. He tightened his arm about her shoulder, and for a long time there was silence except for Isabel's effort to control her quick, shallow breath. After a while she straightened herself, took his handkerchief from his breast pocket to dry her eyes, and again faced the panorama of the dark hills and the bay, the shadowy outlines of San Francisco across the water, and the strengthening bands of pearl and opal in the east, beyond the Sierras.

"Let's always remember this," she said in low voice.

"Always," he said.

"We may not see each other again in long time, Dennis. Alone, I mean, and to alk the this way. Don't let's forget the beginnings, when we came away from Sutro's Mill together, and our first little flat, where Pussy was born, and the dreadful night we brought her home from the hospital and thought she was choking to death."

"We'll not forget anything."

"My birthday, when we'd all been sick—before Catherine was born. Do you remember poor little Pussy looking like a baby spook, and how we all had milk toast and ice cream in beside your bed. You down with flu, and me just out of bed— Dennis, it's all stored away in my heart, what we had. and what I threw away!"

"You've got to stop blaming yourself, Isabel. You gave me so much, you made me the proudest and happiest man in the world. It isn't for you to blame yourself, whatever you did."

"Oh, don't!" she said.

"After all, Catherine wouldn't be with us if you hadn't come to her," Dennis presently said. "She'd reached the point when a little girl needs a certain pair of arms about her, and if she hadn't found those arms around her, somehow, I think she would have drifted away from us."

"Oh no!" Isabel shivered. "It will be a long time before I can think of this illness of hers without a shudder," she said. "It was such a terribly close thing! It's been a strange interval, Dennis. With Madge here as your wife."

"I know," he said briefly.

"She's very fine, I think," Isabel ventured.

"She is fine. There's something—grand about her. She has seen so much that was terrible, she has lost so much."

"She has you, Dennis."

"I hope that it'll all be happiness ahead for her, now," Dennis said quietly.

"There'll be children someday." Isabel said it with a pang at her heart; it was not what she wanted to say. It said itself.

"Not for a while, I think. She feels—we both feel—that it would not be quite fair to them to have them now, so soon after what she has been through—after what these years have done to both of us."

"You'll have a boy," she said somberly, looking away at the city and the water. "And he'll come first. He'll be dearer to you than our girls are."

"No children will ever mean to me what Pussy and Catherine mean," Dennis answered.

There was a silence, while they watched the sunrise together. Suddenly Isabel turned.

"I am going back," she said, and that instant she saw a figure silhouetted against the dim house lights that were faded and dull-looking in the strengthening light of the sun. A sturdy, straight figure with honest eyes under a faintly wrinkled brow. Madge.

Isabel said the name on a frightened breath. Her hand dropped from Dennis's hand; she took an irresolute step toward Madge. But Madge did not wait. Without a word she was turned and was gone.

"Dennis go after her; she mustn't think—she'll think—Oh, isn't that too bad! Isn't that too bad!"

"I'll see her," he said. "It isn't as if she didn't know."

"And I'll be gone—tell her that. Tell her I'm going away."

"Can't you get some sleep, while Catherine is asleep? I'll see Madge."

"How long do you suppose she had stood there? How she must hate me, Dennis! It frightened me that steady serious way she looked. You tell her," Isabel said, clinging to his brown thin hand, speaking feverishly, that in a day or two I'll be gone! Catherine's getting well now, I can go. Kiss me, Dennis, this good-bye. Don't tell her that these few days up on the hill, having breakfast with you, talking about Catherine, waiting for you to come home at night—don't tell her that being with your mother, having Pussy in my room with me, have made these the happiest days of my life. Tell her I'm gone. Tell her I want her to be happy!"

"You make it very hard, Isabel."

"Ah, when haven't I, Dennis? For everyone! And now for her."

"Madge isn't small," Dennis said. "There's nothing petty about her. Her feelings are deep, and She's very sure of herself. If she felt that she was spoiling my life, she'd get out. She never will feel so. She feels that the devotion she gives me is it's own best argument—to put it that way. She knows that she's given me back my interest in life—my reason for wanting to live. And she says that I've done that for her."

"You've done everything for her! You've saved her."

"Not much quicker than she would have saved herself."

They crossed the sitting room quietly, looked in upon the sleeping child. There was infinite peace in Catherine's little face; her small hand was still curled as it had been when Isabel had cautiously loosened her own hand from it an hour earlier.

"Yes, I know," Isabel presently said, as if the conversation had not been interrupted. "I'm not in this picture. I'm going. You've not had breakfast, Dennis."

"I'm all right." They went through the lower rooms of the house; there was no sign of Madge Isabel began breakfast preparations, and Pussy came sleepily downstairs to join them. The three were sharing their meal when Mrs. Hardisty came in.

Obituary

LATE GEO. NELSON CLARK
(Gardenville)

Trenton, Oct. 23. (Special)—On Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 22nd, the funeral of George Nelson Clark, who died suddenly at Gardenville, on Sunday, October 20th, took place from the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, to Bethany Hall here where service was conducted by Mr. Simon Brownson, who also conducted the service at Carrying Place Cemetery, where interment took place.

The bearers were Arnott Young, O. Moynes, I. Gregson, T. MacDonald, S. Terrill and A. Lockwood.

Born at Consecon seventy-one years ago the deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George M. Clark. The greater part of his life was passed at Gardenville and he was a retired gardener. He was a member of the Plymouth Brethren.

Surviving him are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Charles Sweet, Trenton; Mrs. Charles Saylor, Belleville Road, and Mrs. Roscoe Taylor, Carrying Place; twelve grandchildren. A son and two daughters died some time ago.

LATE CHARLES LEE CLARK
(Consecon)

Trenton, Oct 23 (Special) — The funeral of Charles Lee Clark of Consecon, who died in the Kingston General Hospital on Friday, Oct. 18th., after an illness of five weeks' duration, took place from his late residence at Consecon on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 22nd. The service there and at Carrying Place cemetery was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Bartlett, pastor of the Consecon United Church.

The bearers were William Steinburgh, Ray Spencer, Melvin Carnrike, Leonard Phillips, Dave Cooper and Andy Donald.

The late Mr. Clark, who was in his 61st year, was born at Consecon and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Clark. All his life was passed in the district where he was born and for 45 years he was engaged as a railway section foreman. He was a member of the United Church.

Surviving him are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Spears of Trenton and Mrs. Stanley Phillips of Consecon; one son, Roy Clark, Consecon.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Oct. 23 —(CP)— The industrial stocks took an index loss of 1¼ points in the early session of the Toronto Stock Exchange today and the base metals were off .62. Other groups held quite steady. Turnover was small at 479,000 shares for the first three hours.

The steel, textile, liquor and miscellaneous industrial groups weakened moderately. Bell Telephone continued an active trader at a firm to strong price, Donnacona Paper added ½ and gains were showing at mid-day for Western Grocers, National Grocers and Orange Crush.

Soft spots in the gold list included Giant, Frobisher, Tech Hughes, Louvicourt, Osisko, Chesterville and Buffadison.

Preston, Pioneer and Rush Lake were gainers. Rush Lake traded about 75,000 shares and it touched a high of 61 cents. Noranda, Steep Rock, Sherritt and Smelters were among the weak base metals.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Oct. 23 —(AP)— Steel, motor and rubber shares led a mid-day decline in the stock market today. The slide hour when the losses of fractions to around two points were scattered liberally through the list. Dominating the market, according to most brokers, was concern over the possibility that current labor-management spats might again flare into strikes.

Leaders in the retreat included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Gooderich, Chrysler, General Motors, Kennecott, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, U. S. Gypsum Johns-Manville, General Electric, American Can, and Du Pont.

Canadian issues followed the trend. At mid-day, Canadian Pacific, Hiram Walker (new) and Distillers Seagrams each was off 1-2, Dome Mines eased 1-8.

HOGS

Toronto, Oct. 23 —(CP)— Grade A, dressed, bacon-hogs, delivered, were unchanged at Hull $20, Brantford $20.10, Stratford to farmers $19.90, to truckers $20.05, in markets reporting early today.

Judge Requests Blood Test Soon After Accident

Cobourg, Oct. 23 — (CP)—The preliminary hearing of Judge J. C. M. German of Cobourg on a charge of dangerous driving today went into its second day after the court was told yesterday that the judge himself asked for a blood test to determine whether or not he was intoxicated shortly after Mrs. Jean Taylor was injured in a traffic accident last Sept. 3.

Judge German also faces a charge of drunk driving but Magistrate D. Menzies of London granted a defence request that its hearing be deferred until after disposal of the dangerous driving charge, an indictable offence which would go to a higher court if he is committed for trial at the present hearing.

A prolonged medico-legal battle on efficiency of blood tests to determine whether a person was intoxicated appeared likely before conclusion of the case. Professor Joselyn Rogers, University of Toronto pathologist, was expected to testify for the Crown. Dr. W. H. Avery, Toronto alcohol expert, is one of the expert witnesses likely to be called by the defence.

At yesterday's hearing Constable Joseph Taylor of Cobourg testified that Judge German smelled strongly of alcohol after the accident and was "not fit to drive." Defence counsel Arthur Green of Oshawa said Judge German was a diabetic and asked the constable whether he knew anything about insulin deficiency.

Other witnesses — including 15-year-old Betty Taylor, daughter of the injured woman — told of the accident in which Mrs. Taylor was struck by a car as she was walking along the side of the road. Mrs. Taylor has been in hospital since the accident and will be there for another six weeks, Dr. F. G. Robertson said.

Thomasburg — Mrs. Murney Geen entertained a number of friends and relatives at her home on Tuesday evening at a reception in honor of her son Harold and his bride who were recently married.

The many friends of Mr. Edward Carter will be sorry to learn that he is critically ill at his home here.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Arnold Harrison, a former and a highly esteemed resident of this community was largely attended in the Thomasburg United Church on Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Mr. Shorten of Foxboro and Rev. Bernard Heywood taking charge of the service.

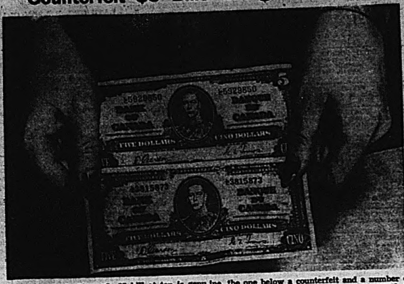
Friends from here attended the funeral of the late Mr. Foster Simpkins at Roslin on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. F. C. Beazer was in charge of the service and interment was made in Thomasburg Cemetery.

Mrs. James Way is visiting with her son Dalton and Mrs. Way in Peterborough.

ENGINE CHIEF OFFENDER

Toronto, Oct. 23 —(CP)— A railroad locomotive was the chief offender in the smoke nuisance case heard here Tuesday. Throughout questioning the prosecution and defence referred to locomotive 2544 as the cause of all the trouble—smoking up the Parkdale section of the city. The magistrate dismissed the charge, but hinted that if locomotive 2544 was caught at this sort of thing again, the view might not be so lenient.

Counterfeit $5 Bills Being Circulated



Which One's Phoney?—$5 bill at top is genuine, the one below a counterfeit and a number of Ontario citizens have been fooled by the nearly perfect bogus bills which are being passed in Toronto and other Ontario centres. So far, numbers on all the bills picked up by the R.C.M.P. start with L-C 381.

Toronto, Oct. 23—(CP)—Passing of a number of counterfeit $5 bills in Toronto during the last three weeks has been done by persons unaware that they were counterfeit, Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today in reporting only "a dozen or more" bills have appeared so far.

Inspector Hugh Matheson said the R.C.M.P. believes the bogus bills are ones passed in a number of Western Ontario cities and which came to Toronto in ordinary money transactions. He said as yet there are no indications the counterfeiters themselves are passing the bills in Toronto.

Toronto police are working in close co-operation with the R.C.M.P. and officials of the city force said "a few persons have been brought in for investigation." He added that the persons questioned were not known criminals but "just ordinary people."

Inspector Matheson said he didn't know if an organized ring was producing and distributing the bills but "counterfeit bills of that nature are not made by an amateur. The persons who made these has some knowledge of photography and lithography."

The Inspector emphasized that the bills discovered so far all have a serial number beginning with L over C 381. The remaining four digits are frequently out of alignment.

The bills first made their appearance in the province about a month ago, a number being picked up in Sarnia, Windsor, Kitchener, St. Catharines, Waterloo, Stratford and Brantford as well as in a few other centres.

Inspector Matheson said there was nothing to the talk going around Toronto that counterfeit 50 cent coins were being distributed in volume. He said the odd counterfeit 25 or 50 cent piece has been passed but there is "no epidemic."

CIRRHOSIS PROBED

New Delhi, (CP)—Investigations carried on at the Haffkine Institute, Bombay, show that, contrary to the general belief, cirrhosis of the liver, a disease common in certain parts of India, is caused by deficiences in diet rather than by excessive use of alcohol. With the aid of a grant from the Indian Research Fund Association, experimental work on animals fed on diets deficient in Vitamin B2 complex has been conducted and useful evidence has been collected regarding the effect of deficient diets on liver cirrhosis in animals.

CJBQ to Present HiroshimaBombing In Four Programs

Recently, New Yorker magazine devoted an entire issue to John Hersey's 30,000-word article on the result of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and of the bombs effect upon four obscure men and two obscure women among the city's 240,000 people. The New Yorker's imaginative treatment, in turn, has now made its impact on and through radio.

Robert Saudeck, chief of public service of the American Broadcasting Company, had the good judgment and the sensitivity of a true showman in letting himself be swayed entirely by Hersey's manner and style, by the New Yorker's adult handling of a super-serious theme. He has spotted an abbreviated version of the Hersey piece—totaling 20,000 words of the original 30,000 in four half-hour programs.

These four programs are being featured on the networks and are being hailed as masterpieces. the writing is excellent and Hersey's fine sense of the dramatic is evidenced in each of the programs.

Through the courtesy of the American Broadcasting Company and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation CJBQ, "the Voice of the Bay of Quinte" is pleased to present these four programs to the radio listeners of Belleville and district this week, beginning Wednesday night and continuing through until Saturday. They will be heard at 9 o'clock.

Four Injured In Bloody Clash Between Workers

Port Arthur, Tex., Oct. 23 —(AP) — Four men were slightly injured in a bloody clash yesterday between National Maritime Union (CIO) workers and non-union seamen augmented by members of the Seafarer's International Union (AFL).

Police reported that the rival groups clashed after the N. M. U. business agent, Albert Peterson, announced the end of a three-day strike which had affected tankers of the Texas Oil Company. Mr. Peterson said the company had agreed to a contract with the N.M.U.

Non-union seamen protested the contract, threw up a picket line and called upon S.I.U. seamen for aid.

Deputy Sheriff Nick Hyde and Constable O'Neil Provost took 5 pistols from seamen during the battles, in which they said black jacks also were used. None was arrested and no one was shot, the officers said.

Arnold Wrinkler, a spokesman for the non-union seamen, said not more than 30 per cent of the crews belong to the N.M.U.

Representatives of both the N. M. U. and the S.I.U. said they would ask a Labor Relations Board election to determine bargaining rights on the company's tankers. The N. M. U. claims it won bargaining rights in an election six years ago.

Attlee Govt. Embarrassed By Query on Russ Strength In Soviet Occupied Europe

By WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS

London, Oct. 24 (AP)— Winston Churchill appeared today to have embarrassed both the Labor government and some of his own followers by his inquiry in the House of Commons last night as to whether Russia was maintaining 200 divisions on a war footing in Soviet-occupied eastern Europe.

There were strong indications that the government had intended Prime Minister Attlee's call for a review of the use of the veto in the Security Council—time to coincide with the United Nations Assembly meeting in New York —as the main point of a two-day debate on foreign affairs.

The British press generally treated it as such, with no papers supporting Mr. Churchill, and the Times administered a rare editorial spanking to the wartime Prime Minister for tossing his bombshell into the closing hours of the debate.

"Public debate on the degree of mobilization of an ally can only stimulate further alarmist talk of war throughout the world," the Times said. "Nor is it any excuse that the Russians embarked first on these melancholy mathematics," referring to Russian demands to know British strength in Greece and Egypt.

Hector McNeil, Minister of State, replied to Mr. Churchill some hours after the former Prime Minister put his question with the information that the government was "unable to say" whether Mr. Churchill's figure of 200 divisions was correct or what proportion was on a war footing.

"A more definite statement by the government will be needed," said the Times, "if only to undo the harm done by the way Mr. Churchill chose to put his question. It should have been put first to the government in private."

Mr. McNeil, in his response to Mr. Churchill, said it was "well known there are very considerable Russian forces" in Eastern Europe and that he would admit that what gives cause for alarm is that the Sovitt seems to continue to build up areas which one might construe as areas of defence."

"Yet I think that is capable of explanation," he added, with a comment that one country's defence moves often look "muzzle-ended" to other countries.

Force Needed To Disembark Some Jewish Refugees

Jerusalem, Oct. 24 (CP)— The Palestine government said today it had been "necessary to use force" in order to disembark some of the 814 Jewish refugees who were deported to Cyprus Monday after attempting to enter Palestine illegally.

pproximately 200 of the refugees refused to go ashore when the two deportation vessels reached the port of Famagusta yesterday and "some minor casualties" resulted when they were forcibly debarked, the announcement said.

The refugees were deported after the schooner Fenice, on which they were attempting to enter Palestine without immigration permits, was intercepted off the Palestine coast by a British warship.

WAIF WITH WANDERLUST

London (CP)—Twelve-year-old Willie (Wanderlust) James has run away from the Dr. Barnardo Home at Woodford Bridge eight times this year, four times in September alone.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Oct. 24 —(CP)— Weather synopsis: An extensive fog area formed again this morning in the southwesterly flow of warm air over Southern Ontario and Quebec. A cooler air mass from the West now is entering Northern Ontario. It is expected to continue this eastward motion and to move across Southern Ontario on Friday morning. Showers are occurring along the leading edge of the cooler air. Pressures are falling rapidly southwest of Lake Michigan and a rain area will likely develop along the Chicago-Detroit line Friday morning and then spread into Southern Ontario.

Mother Dies In Plunge After Lovers' Quarrel

Niagara Falls, Oct. 24—(CP)— Mrs. Audrey Holder, 23, died in hospital today following a 100-foot plunge into the Niagara gorge last night.

Her companion at the time of the leap, Paul Coscarella, also 23, described her action as "a trick to deceive me into thinking that she was going to commit suicide after a lovers' quarrel." The dead woman, mother of a three-year-old child, had been his fiancee, he said.

He told police the couple had had "a few drinks" and that Mrs. Holder threatened to jump into the river. She jumped over a wall bounding the gorge and fell down the almost-perpendicular slope. Had she picked a point 10 feet to either side of the place where she jumped, she would have landed on firm ground.

Coscarella related: "I walked to the scene, still thinking she was hiding on the other side of the wall. It hit me like a thunderbolt when I looked down and saw nothing but inky blackness."

Badly mangled, Mrs. Holder was brought to the top of the incline by firemen, who lowered themselves by ropes and placed her in a basket.

Churchill Sues Publishers And Author of Book

London, Oct. 24 — (CP)—Winston Churchill today sued Harper and Brothers, New York and London publishers, and author Louis Adamic for libel, seeking damages for passages in Adamic's book "Dinner at the White House."

The suit also sought an injunction banning further publication and sale of the book, which was written around a White House dinner table conversation among President Roosevelt, Mr. Churchill, Adamic and other guests.

The libel writ listed no specific amount of damages, which in Britain are determined by a jury if it decides in favor of a plaintiff. The writ will be tried in the high court, at a date which the court will set later.

British Ambassador Goes and Sees For Himself Life on Iowa Farm

Webster City, Iowa, Oct. 24 —(AP)—Baron Inverchapel, British Ambassador to the United States, found out about Iowa farm life by spending three days on a farm near here, keeping his visit secret for nearly a week.

The Ambassador's visit last week was not disclosed until he was back in Washington.

At Francis E. Newburn's farm north of here, the Envoy dried dishes after each meal, helped weed the strawberry bed, ate regular farm fare and retired nightly at 9 o'clock.

Arriving last Wednesday with his secretary, Walter E. Bell, Baron Inverchapel donned a pair of gray slacks and tweed sports coat. Then he toured the farm, looked at the hybrid seed corn plant at Clarion, Iowa, saw his first combine and corn picker in operation and visited with neighbors the Newburns had invited to their home to meet the Ambassador.

"God has been good to this country," the Ambassador commented.

The Envoy came to the Newburn farm after an invitation from Roger Newburn, 21. Last summer Roger attended a 4-H (Farm Youth Club) encampment for citizenship in New York and after the encampment he and other youth went to Washington where they obtained interviews with several personalities, including Baron Iverchapel.

During the discussion at the British Embassy office, Roger boasted about his home state and the Ambassador accepted the youth's good natured invitation to "come to Iowa and see for yourself."

Move to Restrict Big 5 Veto Power Likely to Cause Clash; Canadians Want Less Talk

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Oct. 24 —(CP)— A move to restrict or end the Big Five veto power, and the Canadian propose to curtail speech-making and time-wasting procedure in future meetings, were expected today to provide the first clashes at the United Nations General Assembly.

As the assembly got down to business during the morning there also were reports that a Soviet motion would be made to adjourn for a day or two — a suggestion likely to meet with much opposition.

The United States delegation today decided to insist that it was within the scope of the assembly to discuss now the proposal of Australia and Cuba to amend the San Francisco declaration by eliminating the provision under which any of the Big Five can veto a majority decision of the 11-power Security Council.

However, the United States delegation has made it known that it will oppose the small powers' proposal and instead seek to get agreement on an interpretation of the veto right that will prevent its abuse.

Will Command Support.

In both cases the United States undoubtedly will be in sharp disagreement with Russia and other Soviet states but will command support of virtually all other members, including Canada.

Russia also is opposed to giving consideration now to the Canadian formula, presented a month ago, to restrict speeches at opening sessions to 10 minutes, and otherwise streamline procedure throughout the organization to prevent time-wasting.

Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Canadian secretary of state for external affairs and delegation leader, planned to make his opening speech on that subject.

His presentation probably will be delayed until next week when it will be known whether or not the time-saving proposal may be discussed in the Assembly as a part of the official agenda. The United States is reported to oppose the Canadian plan although it would support a general, informal proposal to expedite business in a similar way.

Mr. St. Laurent told a press conference this morning that he felt President Truman's speech of yesterday could be applied in almost every respect to the Canadian attitude toward the United Nations.

Friendly Toward Canada

He also said that there was evident a friendly attitude among the Soviet delegates toward Canada, judging from the cordiality of their remarks at social meetings so far.

Yesterday Dmitri Manuilsky, Ukrainian Foreign Minister and delegation leader, and a fiery advocate of Soviet ideas, warmly thanked Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Mr. St. Laurent for the kindness shown by Canada recently when a Slavic delegation visited that country.

First business when the Assembly resumed this morning was the swearing in of six assistant secretaries General and hearing the address of Secretary General Trygve Lie accompanying his voluminous report which was not read.

The delegates of 51 countries sat down in their temporary headquarters on Flushing Meadows Park to start work on the task of welding the United Nations into an efficient and irresistible power to maintain peace and increase the prosperity and security of all mankind.

SUGAR, SYRUPS, RICE ONLY FOODS NOW UNDER OPA

Some Signs Seen Congress May Kill Office of Price Controls in January

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP) — Congress may kill the Office of Price Administration in January, some high United States administration officials predicted today.

But they added that by then only a slim list of very scarce, badly needed items in addition to rent will remain under ceilings.

As if to emphasize this forecast, O.P.A. snatched its price tags from cosmetics and a long list of non-food products today in a quick followup to last midnight's sweeping food and beverage decontrol.

Together the two actions swept overboard another big segment of wage control because the government applies its pay curbs only when higher price ceilings are involved.

Statisticians said that in the case of food and restaurant industries alone, some 1,500,000 workers were cut loose from wage control.

On the food list, only sugar, syrups and rice remain under O.P.A.

Predictions

Frankly acknowledging that there is widespread belief in the government that Congress will come back primed to knock out O.P.A. quickly and finally, one ranking official said privately the policy between now and year's end will be get rid of ceilings rapidly but in orderly sequence.

This official said the view is that it would be to President Truman's political advantage to trim the controlled list to the bone, then let Congress take the responsibility if it wants to go the rest of the way.

Housewives and their husbands meanwhile watched retail costs of American groceries, restaurants and liquor stores, as O.P.A. officials predicted the cost of living and drinking would certainly go up, at least temporarily, as a result of the bread-to-beer retreat from ceilings.

One O.P.A. food authority said increases can be expected in bread and baked goods; jams, jellies and preserves; dry beans, canned fish; bananas and most whisky.

Liquor industry spokesmen predicted that some aged bourbon, Scotch and other whisky may appear again but at somewhat higher prices. They said O.P.A. ceilings had tended to keep them from markets.

OPERATOR SHOT TWICE IN TRAM; SUSPECT IS HELD

Passengers Terrified as Trolley is Swept by Bullets

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 24—(CP) — Bail was refused Bergen Nixon, 33, of nearby Merritton when he appeared in court today charged with occasioning grievous bodily harm to Peter Wirt, 30-year-old streetcar motorman of St. Catharines. Accused was remanded seven days.

Meanwhile Wirt's condition was described as satisfactory by hospital attendants. Bullets which pierced his side and cheek yesterday had not yet been removed.

Crown counsel E. R. Lancaster today asked that Nixon be remanded without plea. Defence counsel John Franklin applied for bail, saying that his client should not be considered "a public nuisance."

"A man goes around with a gun and fires two or three bullets into a man — isn't he a public nuisance?" asked Magistrate J. H. Campbell.

Police said the attack took place at mid-afternoon yesterday as the Canadian National Railways St. Catharines-Niagara Falls tram paused at a wartime housing district stop where a woman, a would-be passenger, was waiting.

When the streetcar stopped, police said, a man carrying a rifle ordered the woman to stand back and he tried to board the car.

Wirt hastily closed the door in his face but the gunman fired two shots, police said, one of which smashed into Wirt's side.

The motorman staggered to the nearest seat and told Sam McPherson, off-duty C.N.R. motorman:

"Sam, take the car!"

McPherson had been reading in one of the seats before the shooting started. He sprang to the controls.

Almost simultaneously the gunman ran to the rear of the car, caught the guy rope and snatched the trolley pole from the overhead wire. That made it temporarily impossible to move the car.

Climbed Into Tram

Then the rifleman battered in a rear vestibule window and climbed into the car.

Wirt saw him and, passengers said, cried out:

"Don't shoot me—I didn't do anything."

But the man with the rifle ignored the plea. He drew a bead on the wounded motorman and shot him in the face, police related.

"Lie down and you won't get

PRESIDENT ASKS NATIONS TO STOP TALKING WAR

Tells U.N. Assembly Freedom From Fear 'Attainable Now' And War 'Unwarranted'

New York, Oct. 24 (CP) — Delegates from the 51 countries represented in the United Nations General Assembly sat down today in their temporary headquarters on Flushing Meadows Park to start work on the tedious and critical task of welding the organization into an efficient and irresistible power to maintain peace and ncrease the prosperity and security of all mankind.

They were launched on the second stage of that task in a short and quiet ceremony yesterday when President Truman, speaking for the host country, told them that freedom from fear was "attainable now" and that war talk was entirely "unwarranted".

But in the weeks ahead there is certainty that the differences which have split the Security Council deliberations since last March and handicapped the Foreign Ministers' Peace talks in Paris, will flare up again in the Assembly.

Veto Main Issue

One of the differences—the veto issue—appeared certain to kick up a prolonged argument in the Assembly's general debate, beginning today after U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie reports to the 51-nation body on the progress of the peace organization to date. Two full-dress sessions were scheduled —at 11 a.m., and 4 p.m., E.S.T.

Cuba, Australia and the Philippines all have come out for ending the voting system by which any one of the Big Five powers—the United States, Russia, France, Britain and China—can block action in the Security Council.

Apparently foreseeing this President Truman reminded the Assembly in his speech yesterday that it was a peace-keeping body and that peace-making remained the task of the former warring countries and the Foreign Ministers' Council which resumes meetings here Nov. 4.

Upholds Rule

Without referring specifically to their proposals, Mr. Truman upheld in his assembly address "the rule of unanimous accord" among the Big Five, but said that it imposes on them a "special obligation" to agree on major issues rather than to block agreement.

Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Tex.), a member of the American delegation, told newspapermen the United States would continue to favor a "discriminate use" of the veto power but would oppose its use in inconsequential matters. Russia is known to oppose any change in the voting system and also has indicated a desire that it be broadened where possible, rather than curtailed.

Whatever may lie ahead of the assembly yesterday's opening ceremony brought only expressions of optimism and displays of goodwill.

Warmly Congratulated

President Truman was warmly congratulated on his speech and his plea to the nations to stop talking of war, which nobody wanted, and talk about peace which was essential to everyone.

The congratulations came from Foreign Minister Molotov, Russian delegation leader and leader of the slavic viewpoint in the assembly, and from virtually all the delegation leaders, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who was an interested observer of the ceremonies.

Russian Policy Of Isolationism Assailed by Attlee

Says Russian People Kept Ignorant of World Events

Brighton, England, Oct. 24. (CP) — Prime Minister Attlee today assailed what he termed the Soviet viewpoint and said a resolution before the Trades Union Annual Congress here was "filled with the kind of misrepresentation to which we have been accustomed from members of the Communist Party, their dupes and fellow travellers."

Enlarging on his definition of the Soviet viewpoint, the Prime Minister told the Congress that "if anywhere the Communists fail, then, however fair the conditions, it is regarded as Fascism."

"Thus an election in Greece supervised internationally, which results in an anti-communist majority, is at once denounced.

"On the other hand a plebiscite taken where the Communist Party is in power is regarded as the sacred voice of the people."

The Prime Minister said that to Communists "freedom means the denial of liberty to all those who refuse to accept the Communist philosophy."

The Prime Minister said "democracy is becoming a much abused word. It is often used by those who have never understood or practised democratic principles."

Mr. Attlee also attacked the Russian government for its isolationist policies.

Prevents Intercourse

"It is one of the tragedies of the world situation that the Soviet Government appears deliberately to prevent intercourse between Russian people and the rest of the world.

"They are not allowed to know what is being done and thought by their fellows in other parts of the world.

"The Russian newspapers give fantastic misrepresentation of the world outside Soviet Russia. A wall of ignorance and suspicion is built up between the nations."

Mr. Attlee said a resolution pending before the Congress criticizing British Foreign Policy, was "filled with the kind of misrepresentation to which we have been accustomed from the members of the Communist Party, their dupes and fellow travellers."

The Prime Minister said Britain was attempting to co-operate with all nations by bolstering the authority of the United Nations, and was "not following selfish and imperialistic aims."

Epresses Concern

The resolution Mr. Attlee criticized expressed "serious concern with certain aspects of the government's foreign policy". It said the policy in Greece had "strengthened the hands of the reactionary forces, facilitated favorable conditions for the return of the monarchy and led to suppression of the progressive forces." In Spain, the resolution said, the continuance of diplomatic relations with the Franco regime "assists in maintaining a Fascist state of society". It charged "failure to denazify" Germany and said this was a violation of the Potsdam agreements. The resolution also deplored the deterioration of British-Russian relations "and the isolation of the Soviet Union, along with the typing of the economy of Britain with that of capitalist America."

Says He Will Move for New Trial For Mrs. Dick in View of Development

Hamilton, Oct. 24 — (CP) — Inspector Charles Wood of the Ontario Provincial Police is in Hamilton today following the announcement yesterday of a surprise witness in the celebrated torso case, — 60-year-old George Hines, who helped Mrs. Evelyn Dick pull her car out of the mud last March 6, the day her husband, John, was slain.

Inspector Wood declined comment on this new development. Mrs. Dick was convicted of a charge of murder in the slaying of her husband whose dismembered body was found last Mar. on Hamilton Mountain. She was sentenced to be hanged Jan. 7 although it is expected the Crown will seek a stay of execution because she is a material witness in the trial of her former friend, William Bohozuk, and her father, Donald MacLean, also charged with murder. Their trial, which opened last week, was traversed to the January Assizes when Mrs. Dick refused to testify.

Today John Sullivan, Mrs. Dick's counsel, said he would go to Toronto to move for a new trial for his client in view of the new evidence.

Mr. Hines declined to give details of what he saw last March 6 although he told a reporter: "I could commit an innocent man or let a murderer go free." He said he was warned by police not to discuss his evidence.

One of Mrs. Dick's statements to police, read into court records at her trial, quoted her as saying that she was driving with her husband and Bohozuk on Hamilton Mountain last March 6 and the car became stuck in the mud. The statement said that after this incident Bohozuk shot Dick.

British Action Aims to Boost Zone Output

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 24 — (CP Cable) —Unilateral action to boost industrial output in the British zone of Germany — announced Monday by Foreign Secretary Bevin — is aimed at breaking what an all-party committee of the House of Commons calls "vicious circles — shortages of food, shortages of coal and shortages of consumer goods."

Mr. Bevin said during the foreign policy debate in the House this week that the key to the British plan will be an effort to boost the output of coal in the Ruhr and will allot a greater proportion of it to German civilian industry. Coal exports to Western Europe will be curtailed temporarily.

In this section of his speech Mr. Bevin was almost quoting from the report of a select committee on estimates which went to Germany in July to study the situation first-hand in an attempt to reduce the £80,000,000 ($320,000,000) annual burden placed on the treasury by the administration of the zone which never has been self-supporting.

Retain More Coal

The only solution on which the just-published report decided was to hit "the vicious circle" dead centre: retain more coal in the British zone, allow German production of extra fertilizers and consumer goods, and thus reduce the need for British-financed imports.

"There is a grave risk that, if the countries in Western Europe do not accept a temporary cut now, deterioration of the Ruhr industrial position will enforce on them an inescapable cut later," the committee said.

For the time being the burden on Britain would be increased through a loss of revenue from coal sales outside the British zone but this will be "later more than retrieved through subsequent increases in the British zone's exports, not only of raw coal, but also of much more profitable semi-manufactured goods, resulting from the gearing up of the entire zone's industrial production."

Now the committee's advice is being taken. Coal shipments to France, Belgium, Denmark, Luxembourg, Norway, and other countries which have been taking about 28 per cent of the British zones coal, will be cut as will shipments to other zones of Germany which have been getting about 30 per cent.

TWO SQUASH WEIGH 125 POUNDS

Ross Fairman, Huff's Island farmer doesn't fool when it comes to growing squash.

For he has two of the "Mammoth Chili" variety which collectively tip the scales at 125 pounds. And that is a lot of squash in any man's language.

Mr. Fairman planted ten cents worth of seed last Spring which was labelled "Hubbard Squash". Only twelve plants came up and these grew and developed 24 large yellow pumpkin-like vegetables.

The weight of the squash ranged from 25 pounds to the two largest mentioned above. While the "Chili" variety resembles pumpkin in color and shape, the texture and flavor are definitely those of squash.

Says Soap Delivered Was Manufactured During U. S. Civil War

East Weymouth, Mass., Oct. 24 (AP)—Samuel Schofield ordered some second Great War army surplus commodities—and reports he received 64 bars of soap made for use in the civil war. On the label of each piece was the slogan, "save soap to win the war," and the stamped signature, "Commander-in-Chief, Abraham Lincoln."

SKUNKS BLOCK POLICE

Fort Erie, Oct. 24 — (CP) — Fort Erie police have a stinker of a job on their hands these nights. Armed with .22 rifles, they are on a skunk extermination campaign. Raiding garbage cans, the little animals have on more than one occasion blocked police on their nightly rounds.

PICTON

Bell Telephone Laying Additional Underground Lines

Picton—In anticipation of an increase of more than 300 telephones in the Picton exchange within the next five years, the Bell Telephone Co., is installing additional underground cables here, G. W. Proctor, area manager, stated here yesterday. These added facilities will provide relief for aerial cables already overburdened with more traffic. Long delayed by war and material shortages, the work includes the construction of 4,200 feet of main conduct and 220 feet of subsidiary conduit and 220 feet of subsidiary beth Streets.

Wherever possible, manholes and cable will be located under paved boulevards, but on Main Street, from Bowery to Paul Streets, it will be placed under the roadway. It is expected this project will be completed before the end of the year.

Praise Centre

Following an inspection of the Recreational Centre at Picton this week, Charles Austerberry, field secretary of the Community Welfare Council of Ontario, stated "the set-up in Picton is the best so far in Ontario."

Mr. Austerberry had high praise for the director, Reg. Fox who came here from Kingston few months ago and whose variour centre activities embrace some 700 children.

Mr. Austerberry was also favorably impressed by the support given local groups, and the enthusiasm of members. He noted that additional space is necessary to continue the wide variety of activities. These include handicraft, wood-working, tap dancing, boxing, basketball, badminton, teen-age dances, parlor games, outdoor sports.

John de B. Arnaud, who suffered a broken leg in an automobile accident last week, has been removed from Belleville to Prince Edward County hospital here. He is making a good recovery.

G. A. Buchanan of the Kingston branch is on relief duty during the absence of manager Arnaud.

Opening Banquet Of Brotherhood Held at Church

The Brotherhood of Victoria Ave., Baptist Church held their opening banquet on Tuesday evening in the church parlors with a good representation present. The President, Mr. W. G. Smith, was in chair. Song leader was Eric Naylor and pianist Alec Gordon. Scripture was read by Alan Haw and prayer given by Rev. H. O. Eastman. The dinner which was prepared by Mr. Fred White, assisted by the Senior Boys' Class, was both plenteous and appetizing.

The guest speaker was Rev. J. W. Houston of Tabernacle United Church, who spoke on the subject, "The Fact of a Neglected Church". He referred to the many criticisms levelled at the church today in regard to its type of service, the people who attended and the methods of those who gave leadership. But whatever might be wrong with the church, said Mr. Houston, it was essentially right in its message and its Master.

More Than Hand-Made

"The minister is trying to interpet Christ," declared the speaker. "He must speak about the evils he sees around him, whether the truth hurts or not. When people criticize they must remember that the church is made up of individuals such as they are.

"But the church is something more than man-made," pursued the speaker, "it is the body of Christ. It has been here a long time and will continue to last. The church has the Divine element in it and it exists for the safeguarding of the truth. It has been a progressive revelation of God as the people were able to understand. It exists for the foundation and establishment of His Kingdom."

Mr. Houston pointed out that many people give their time and talents whole-heartedly to the clubs and lodges but had no time to give leadership to the church. And often these very people were the ones who criticized those who were trying to do their best for the church.

In his experience as a padre overseas Mr. Houston discovered that the solders who ordinarily shunned church services or attended only under compulsion were nevertheless glad to find the representative of God available at times of stress, anxiety and tragedy.

Mr. Alec Gordon delighted the gathering with two piano numbers, "On The Trail" from the Grand Canyon Suite and "Trees". The benediction was given by Mr. Bert Orr.

Mrs. Cliff Argue New President Bowling Club

A chicken dinner with all the trimmings featured the closing exercises of the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club held at the clubhouse on Wednesday evening. The women supplied the trimmings and the chickens were roasted at the clubhouse and served steaming hot. The tables, beautifully decorated were set in the main lounge and presented an attractive sight as thirty-three members sat down to enjoy the good things provided. Naturally the talk was of bowling and all were agreed that the past season was one of the most successful in the women's division of the club. The financial report showed a healthy balance on hand and the membership up from last year.

At the business meeting, which followed the dinner, Mrs. Charles Hyde, acting president for Mrs. Gerow, who was unable to fill the position due to illness, thanked the president for her interest in the club although unable to attend and especial thanks was given to her for making the curtains in the clubhouse after the men's club had renovated the building. Mrs. Hyde asked the women to accept office if it was tendered to show their interest and she was sure that the officers would receive the support of the members. Before calling for nominations, Mrs. Hyde thanked all for the co-operation shown her during the year and hoped for the incoming officers a grand season next year.

Mrs. Argue President

Mrs. Cliff Argue, was the unanimous choice of the meeting for President with Mrs. George Watkin as 1st Vice President and Mrs. Cyril McBride as 2nd Vice President. Mrs. A. E. Wonnacott is Secretary and Mrs. Gilbert, Treasurer. The house committee will be in charge of Mrs. Charles Mott, the games committee in charge of Mrs. Elgin Ford and the bridge committee in charge of Mrs. Hart. Following the selection of officers, the games committee took charge and a most pleasant social evening was enjoyed. Euchre was enjoyed with Mrs. Gerow being the winner, Mrs. O'Connor winning the lone hand prize and Mrs. Charles Hyde the consolation.

A guessing contest was held in which a number of articles were placed on a plate and each one present was allowed to survey the plate for one minute and then write down the articles and Mrs. Elgin Ford had the best memory, winning the prize. The highlight of the evening was the smelling contest and provided plenty of fun for the contestants. A number of articles were placed in the kitchen and the women were taken in three or four at a time and allowed to smell the contents of the different bottles and plates and then had to write down the articles. Three women tied in this contest but Mrs. Watkin won the prize in the cut. Several prizes were presented one being from Mrs. Black to Mrs. Hyde, who provided transportation for the members during the summer months. Prizes were also distributed for bowling and bridge, won during the season.

The social evening broke up near the midnight hour with the members expressing the opinion it was one of the finest evenings every enjoyed by the club.

Priorities Given For Sewer Pipe

Approved housing priorities for sewer pipe for 75 dwellings have been granted the city of Belleville, Comptroller Harold D. Bateman announced today. Deliveries will be made on submission of required material.

The priorities were issued from the offices of the Department of Reconstruction and Supply, Ottawa.

Granting of the priorities is an aftermath of the conference held here a short time ago between Mayor Frank Follwell and the city council and members of the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation of Ottawa.

The order gives the city the power to authorize sub-contractors or purchase the required material, providing they comply with the clauses laid down in the priorities.

Kinsmen Quiz, Screen, Variety Show at Capitol Theatre Proves Entertaining to Large Gathering

Talented young soprano with the Philadelphia Opera Company, Miss Rose Zoccano sang her way into the hearts of a Belleville audience at the Capitol Theatre Wednesday evening when as the featured artist on the Kinsmen Quiz, Screen and Variety Show she delighted an audience of over six hundred persons.

Miss Zocanno proved herself entirely versatile singing classical and old favorite numbers with delightful ease which won for her the instant admiration of her listeners. As an encore for her first number the talented young soprano sang "Annie Laurie," while on her second appearance on the stage she sang "Sweethearts" and choosing as her encore a rhythmic Italian number.

Internationally famous cartoonist Lou Skuce, direct from the Roxy Theatre in New York City, literally amazed his audience with the speed and cleverness of his work. Using a special cartoonograph projector which projected the cartoon onto a screen on the theatre stage, the cartoonist rapidly drew the likenesses of General Eisenhower, Winston Churchill and other internationally famous characters. Scenic cartoons depicting favorite romantic songs flowed from the artist's pencil with the same apparent speed and skill. The fitting climax of the act was the drawing of Winston Churchill which the cartoonist developed with amazing rapidity from the outline of a map of England. When inverted the cartoon showed the bulldog countenance of Churchill with his inevitable cigar.

Local Talent Heard.

Local talent had its place in the show as the Rhythm Ranch Riders appeared in person to play popular and old time numbers. The quartette's vocalist, Miss Barbara Diment also appeared in a song and dance act and sang a catchy song with modern tempo as her final number.

The quiz show which was broadcast over the local radio station proved to be a half hour of top notch entertainment as volunteers from the audience sought to prove their acquaintance with the business life of Belleville.

Announcer Jack Devine had no questions that would stump one particularly lucky, or possibly clever, young girl who walked off the stage just $64 richer after answering the theoretical "$64 question."

Each contestant chose his or her own category, consisting of song, riddles, slogans, or other entry and from the questions placed was required to answer the name of some Belleville firm or business which each particular song or other entry suggested.

Fine Impersonations.

Master of ceremonies for the program was the one and only Jack McLean, comedian and impersonator, who kept his audience in continuous laughter with his clever jokes and impersonations of popular screen and radio characters. Impersonations of George Formby, Amos and Andy, Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd, and others were realistically enacted.

For the bobby soxers the dance team of Dennis and Maxine of Toronto demonstrated the correct art of jitterbugging, of doing the rhumba and other popular dances, while their act was climaxed with a lovely waltz number.

President of the local Kinsmen Club Mr. Newton Wilbur officially welcomed those in attendance and officiated at the drawing of door prizes which saw three lucky persons called to the stage to accept their prizes. The showing of two screen features, "Glass Alibi" and "Kitty" completed the evening's program.

Patrol Boat Used to Protect Fish and Wild Life in Bay

James deC Hepburn, M.L.A. for Prince Edward County, announced today that a patrol boat will go into immediate service on the Bay of Quinte for the full protection of fish and wild life in this district.

The new arrangement, Mr. Hepburn said, was effected with the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

The patrol boat will be one of the former "crash" boats used by the Royal Canadian Air Force during the war. Its skipper is Captain A. Joslin who for the past week has made his headquarters in Picton. The boat is now being commissioned at the Prince Edward Yacht Club pier in Picton.

Salary Schedules Of Customs Clerks Adjusted Upward

Salary schedules for customs examiners were re-adjusted to higher levels it was announced early this week following the Customs and Excise Officer Association convention which was held early this week at Ottawa.

According to the announcement made from the convention the Treasury Board has passed an order-in-council raising the minimum salary of customs examiners from $1,524 to $1,800, and the maximum from $2,184 to $2,220. The order-in-council is retroactive to October 1st.

The order also provided for an increase for all officers receiving less than the new minimum to bring their salaries up to a minimum of $1,800 per annum, and also a general increase of $120 per year for all those now receiving more than $1,800, limited in some cases so that in no instance would the total salary exceed the maximum of $2,220 set forth in the order.

Application forms for the writing of Civil Service examinations are now available and examinations will soon be scheduled, it was reported.

Birthrate Higher In Late Twenties

Washington, Oct. 23. (CP)—Although very young women in the United States are more likely to have children than women in Canada, Canadian mothers over 20 years of age give birth to more children than Americans.

Figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show that Canadian women are most likely to have children when they are 25 to 29 years old. American women experience their peak fertility between the ages of 20 and 24.

Canadians between 25 and 29 had 15,984 births per 100,000 women, 29 per cent more than Americans. Between the ages of 20 and 24 the reproduction rate in the United States was three per cent lower than in Canada.

Coal-Handling Dock Placed At Depot Harbor

Depot Harbor, Oct. 24 (CP) — Once a major link in the great lumber empire of the late J. R. Booth, subsequently an important inland grain trans-shipment point and of late years a near-deserted village, this community looked forward to commercial rebirth today with the opening by the Century Coal Company of Toronto of the largest coal-handling and storage dock in the Georgian Bay district.

The dock and equipment in a nearby cove of the bay near Parry Island is capable of handling 1,000,000 tons of coal during the seven-month navigation season.

Coal will be received here from lake vessels operating out of Lake Erie ports for shipment by Canadian National Railways to mining and industrial regions of Northern Ontario and Quebec. The dock and adjacent facilities have been leased from the C.N.R. by the Century Company, a subsidiary of Canada Steamship Lines Limited.

There is 24 feet of water at the dock-face so that the largest deep-draft Great Lakes vessels can be accommodated. The unloading tower, brought here from Superior, Wis., is 112 feet high and weighs 320 tons.

Many houses vacant here for eight years are occupied again and it is expected that when the coal-handling business gets into full swing next year the community's population of 500 will rise sharply.

K. of C. Council Bids Farewell To Father O'Donnell

The regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus held on Tuesday night was extra well attended.

Grand Knight Maurice Callaghan conducted the meeting. After all business was attended to the Grand Knight called on the Lecturer, Frank High, who had provided some excellent entertainment this being occasion of honoring the assistant chaplain, Rev. Father O'Donnell, who is leaving St. Michael's Parish next week, going to Trevelyan as administrator.

The Grand Knight thanked Father O'Donnell for the support he had given to the council during the past five years and expressed the best wishes of the council in his new parish. Rev. Father O'Donnell thanked the members of Belleville council for the wonderful reception extended to him. Chaplain Rev. Monsignor Nicholson spoke very highly of Father O'Donnell. The Grand Knight then presented Father O'Donnell with a cheque as a gift from the council, with all singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Entertainment was provided by Bruce Sills playing the accordion, Chas. Thorne, violin, Jack Hull better known as Cowboy Jack singing Western songs, E. Baragar, electric guitar. The entertainment was very much enjoyed by everybody. A vote of thanks was extended to Lecturer Frank High for providing such a fine entertainment. Refreshments were then served.

Government Calls Pilots, Officials Into Conference

By JAMES J. STREBIG

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—The government stepped into the three-day-old strike of 1,400 Trans World Airline pilots today, with both sides accepting a federal mediation offer after 15,000 additional company employees were thrown out of work.

Frank Douglass, chairman of the National Mediation Board, called opposing leaders in the dispute to his office for an 11 a.m. (E.S.T.) conference.

The speed with which both parties responded to Mr. Douglass' invitation rekindled dwindling hope for an early settlement of the walkout which has grounded 115 planes, tied up 28,000 miles of routes extending from California to Arabia and paralyzed a $150,000 daily payroll.

David L. Behncke, President of the Air Line Pilots Association (A.F.L.) and Jack Frye, President of T.W.A. agreed to the meeting.

Mr. Douglass' telegram went out only a few hours after Mr. Frye announced that all but a few employees were being "furloughed" without pay for the duration of the strike.

The pay issues in the dispute—confusing enough with such items as base pay, hourly pay, mileage pay, differentials for day and night flying, and extra pay for flying international routes—have been further complicated by the fact that the company and the union use different working periods in computing them.

In his 30-hour ultimatum to Mr. Frye Saturday, Mr. Behncke said the union wanted a top figure of $1,096.98 a month ($13,163.76 a year) for a Douglas DC-4 Skymaster pilot flying 920 hours a year, and $1,187.43 a month ($14,249.16 a year)—for a Lockheed Constellation pilot flying 62 1-2 hours a year in the domestic service. An unannounced sum in addition it sought as extra pay for flying the same planes along international routes.

Mr. Frye issued a computation of the union demands on the basis of 85 hours a month (1,020 hours a year) of flying, calling for $15,296 a year top pay for Constellation pilots and $13,366 for DC-4 pilots.

The present extra pay for international flying is $750 a year.

Cocktail Lounge Reports Called 'All Surmise'

Toronto, Oct. 24 —(CP)— Attorney-General Blackwell yesterday described as conjecture reports that the Ontario Liquor Licence Act will be proclaimed shortly and that cocktail lounges may open in a few weeks.

"These reports are all surmise," said Mr. Blackwell. "It is obvious that when administrative machinery is ready, regulations will be formulated. One step in the administrative detail is to hear representations from interested parties and this has yet to be done.

"But I have never at any time been prepared to say when regulations will be ready. Any talk of opening cocktail bars within the next few weeks is pure conjecture."

The Liquor Licence Act—paving the way for sale of liquor by the glass in the five Ontario cities with a population of more than 50,000—was passed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature but has not yet been proclaimed. Once it is proclaimed Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, London and Windsor could have cocktail lounges. Smaller cities could get them under local option.

Eleven Delegates Stranded

Rome, Oct. 24 — (AP)—Eleven delegates to the United Nations Assembly stranded Tuesday when a T.W.A. pilots' strike grounded two giant Skymasters at Ciampino Airport, left today for New York aboard a United States Army transport plane. Departing today were eight members of the Indian delegation, two Egyptians — Mohamed Haykal Hussein Pasha, president of the Egyptian Senate, and Georges Tewfid Habib — and Colin Troup Moddie at Australia.

SCRAP EXPORTS HELD AT MINIMUM

Washington, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Commerce Secretary W. Averell Harriman said today that exports of scrap iron and steel are being held to a minimum. The new cabinet member said the United States' exports, not including those made to Canada, amounted to only 29,522 tons in the first seven months of this year, due to the "extreme scarcity."

Does Your Farm Need
A MOISTURE-SAVING SYSTEM?

CONSERVING moisture may soon become your topmost farm problem. For almost the last century drought periods have occurred at 22-year cycles. IF history repeats itself, another such period is approaching.

We recommend these two basic steps in establishing a moisture-saving system with your regular Allis-Chalmers tractor and companion equipment:

① Harvest more legume and grass seeds, soybeans and sorghums. Their fibrous root systems soak up rainfall, keep moisture on the slopes and hold soil in the grip of intertwined roots. Your All-Crop Harvester can be easily adjusted to save all these seeds . . . over 100 crops all told.

② Build a contour and terrace system with your own Allis-Chalmers tractor and moldboard plow, direct-attached disc plow or pull-type disc tiller. Ponds, reservoirs and waterways, too, can be built with these outfits.

We will be glad to furnish you with free copies of two Allis-Chalmers booklets, "Harvest the All-Crop Way" and "You Have What It Takes to Contour and Terrace." They explain how you can start your moisture-saving system now.

The National Anthem

"God Save the King," played and sung since 1745, was played and sung in a new form on Sunday last in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, at a special service of intercession for the United Nations, attended by Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth and a large representative gathering. A stanza was substituted for one of the original stanzas, the change being considered important in stressing the spirit of the prayer for the world of human brotherhood, which the British peoples and other nations make at this time. The change was with the approval of His Majesty.

The stanza which was eliminated runs in these words:

> "O Lord our God arise,
> Scatter our enemies
> And make them fall;
> Confound their politics,
> Frustrate their knavish tricks;
> On Thee, our hopes we fix,
> God save us all."

The stanza which was substituted and played and sung at the close of Sunday's service appeared in a hymn written about eighty years ago by a nonconformist minister. It was just slightly changed to suit the context. This verse as sung is:

> "Nor in this land alone—
> But be God's mercy known
> From shore to shore
> Lord, make the nations see
> That men should brothers be
> And form one family
> The wide world o'er."

This latter stanza will seem familiar to many people for it has been used in its original form before this time and had considerable vogue especially after the close of the First World War. The singing of the stanza in St. Paul's is the first official recognition of it as a part of the National Anthem. It is in the spirit of the hope that the world has in the principle of human brotherhood.

"God Save the King" was first played and sung publicly two centuries ago and has since been the National Anthem. Its majesty of expression has always been deeply felt.

Work of Navy League

Special activities this week have been marking the golden jubilee of the Navy League of Canada and its long service to Canada and the Empire. The peacetime work of the League is considered important as those undertaken during the war. Since 1896 when it was formed it has consistently promoted Canada's interests as an exporting nation and over the same period it has sponsored the Sea Cadet Movement.

By continuing to provide clean, wholesome, home-like clubs and hostels where a high standard of morale is encouraged and seamen may live decently and properly when ashore, The Navy League is rendering a distinct service which has a direct bearing upon the manpower handling our export trade.

By maintaining and operating, in co-operation with Naval Service, nearly 100 Sea Cadet Corps and 14 summer camps, The Navy League is helping to provide a youth-training program second to none in its benefits to young Canadians. Business and professional men are finding that this training is good, whether for civilian employment or a sea career.

The extent to which The Navy League will be able to carry on its work among merchant seamen and further develop the scope and influence of the Sea Cadet Movement depends upon the extent to which it receives the support of municipalities, public bodies and private individuals.

Catching Colds Scientifically

The common cold is such an unpleasant thing, and in England, at any rate, so difficult to avoid, that it is interesting to hear of people who deliberately catch colds in the cause of science. Speaking recently in the BBC's Overseas Service, Dr. C. H. Andrews, F.R.S., a member of the National Institute for Medical Research, explained that animals are not very useful for research purposes. Cats and dogs and other animals often get snuffy noses but these are not true colds. The only known susceptible animal is the chimpanzee, but they are difficult to get and expensive. So research workers on the common cold have asked for and obtained volunteers, chiefly university students, willing to act as human guinea-pigs, to have the test material dropped or sprayed up their noses. To avoid the danger that volunteers might, through excessive interest and nose consciousness, imagine that they were developing colds, some of them receive only a harmless fluid — looking exactly like the cold material. Neither they nor the doctors recording the result know at the time which they are getting, thus avoiding one source of false results. It might also lead to fallacious results if those volunteers were walking about at large, exposed to the danger of picking up a casual cold in a train or elsewhere. The only colds they may get are the one deliberately given to them. So the volunteers are kept isolated in a hutted hospital near Salisbury in Wiltshire. Here they are housed together for ten days in pairs, for most people find solitary confinement too dull. Each volunteer has his or her own bedroom, the pair share a sitting-room and small kitchen. Food is brought at meal-times in a heated container and left at the entrance to the isolation quarters. Each pair is kept away from each other pair and from people in the outside world. They may, however, go out for walks, provided they enter no building and talk to no one but one another. After a few days' isolation to ensure that they are not incubating a cold picked up before arrival, they are infected up the nose with the test material and then observed daily to see if anything happens. The doctor who sees them each day has of course to wear a mask and gown to make sure that he does not bring any infection in on his own person.

And so while many of us are catching colds because we cannot help it, miserable colds that are no good to anyone, other people are deliberately setting out to catch the cold to end all colds.

Making Soap at Home

If our memory hasn't gone soft in the intervening years, soft soap was a washing soap which had its genesis in wood ashes. The ashes were carefully saved during the winter months and put in a barrel with a slit in the bottom. In the spring the barrel was set up on a stand, slanting towards the slit and the ashes were given all the water they would absorb.

As the water percolated to the bottom of the barrel and out the slit where it ran into a stone crock, it leached out the lye in the wood ashes. When enough of the liquid had been gathered in the crock the big scalding kettle — or probably an iron sugar kettle from the sugar bush — was brought out, a huge fire placed under it, the lye solution was poured in and along with it fat from pork and other sources was mixed with it.

Boiled continuously for we don't remember how many hours, eventually a soapy mass evolved which was put into a barrel in the woodshed from which the housewife dipped on Monday mornings as she did the week's wash for the family. It made a wonderful suds when combined with rain water from the rain barrel under the drip of the eaves.

—Lethbridge Herald.

Film of the Victory Parade in London has been in great demand. The Gaumont-British technicolor film turned out a success, no less than twenty-five countries wanting to receive the newsreel and every one of these received its copy by air. Britain's war effort was before the world for long hard years and the stout little Isle and the British Commonwealth earned a place in the nations' hearts for their devotion to liberty and the maintenance of freedom on earth. It is no wonder that pictures of the "Parade" in London were wanted in so many parts of the world.

Newspaper Facts

As an illustration of the moral support daily newspapers gave the war effort, The Times of Malta never failed to publish every day despite the heavy aerial bombardment.

THINGS ENDURING

Country going to the dogs?
Not at all.
There'll be garden catalogues,
Spring and fall.

There'll be children everywhere,
Off to bed,
And some lovely, simple prayer
Being said.

There'll be tender songs of love,
Poems penned.
There'll be faith in God above
To the end.

Men may quarrel, as they will,
Power to claim;
But the joys of life will still
Be the same.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

When did the habit of chewing gum originate?

Many ancient peoples chewed various natural resins and gums. In "Precepts About Health" Plutarch (46-120 A.D.) wrote that "chewing of mallow is very wholesome."

Resin exuded by spruce and other evergreen trees was chewed by some of the North American Indians. A Spanish monk with the conquerors of Mexico observed that the Aztec women had uniformly regular and beautiful teeth, a fact he attributed to their habit of chewing chicle, which is now the adhesive base and chief ingredient of chewing gum.

"Chicle," pronounced "CHEE-k'l," is from an Aztec word meaning simply "saliva" or "juice," but it has long been applied specifically to the milky sap of the Sapota tree, a native evergreen of Central America and tropical South America.

Americans, however, did not borrow the gum-chewing habit directly from the Mexicans. The first commercial gum used in the United States was the unprocessed resin exuded by spruce, cherry, tamarack and sweet gum trees. Later parrafin wax was mixed with natural gums and flavoring matter added. William F. Semple, of Mount Vernon, Ohio, obtained the first patent on chewing gum in 1869.

Chicle, the solidified sap of the Sapota tree, was first brought to the United States as a substitute for "India rubber," which it resembles. In fact, chicle gum was at first called "rubber gum" to distinguish it from resin and wax gums.

A legend says that Santa Anna, the Mexican dictator, accidentally introduced chicle into the United States. According to the story, he was fond of chewing "aztec gum" and gave a small piece of chicle to James Adams, who was his secretary while in exile in New York. Adams showed the chicle to his father, who tried to vulcanize it in an attempt to find a better grade of rubber. From Mexico Santa Anna later sent Adams about 20 pounds of chicle to experiment with. About 1860 the elder Adams, aware that chicle was used as chewing gum in Mexico, discovered that chicle flavored with licorice made a chewing gum superior to the spruce and cherry gums then on the market. The Adams family began to import chicle and went into the chewing gum business. In 1871 the Adam's obtained a patent on the first gum-making machine.

Fifty years later millions of pounds of chicle was being imported every year and chicle gathering in the forests of Central America and gum manufacturing in the United States had become large industries. Most of the chicle is still obtained from wild trees, although some is produced on plantations.

Gum chewing is regarded as a harmless habit that relaxes the nerves, aids digestion by increasing the flow of saliva, and preserves the teeth.

Timber Operators And Workers To Meet on Tuesday

Toronto, Oct. 24 (CP)— In a move aimed at settlement of the 12-day-old strike of Northern Ontario bush workers, Labor Minister Daley has invited representatives of timber operators and Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (AFL) to meet Tuesday.

This was the most recent development in the dispute involving approximately 12,000 bush workers in the Port Arthur and Timmins areas. There have been conflicting reports as to the number of workers who have actually heeded the strike call.

Mr. Daley said yesterday, "I am summoning the heads of the striking Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union at the head of the lakes to meet with me in my office on Tuesday at 10 o'clock."

The strike involves workers not only at the head of the lakes but throughout Northern Ontario.

At Timmins, five striking bush workers—Simon Allard, Albert Martineau, Leopold Blanchette and Jean Paul Lord,—arrested in connection with alleged strike violence at a sawmill there, were granted bail and remanded to Oct. 29.

The arrests following an incident at the A. E. Wicks sawmill in which A. Lalibert, 57-year-old night watchman, was knocked down.

Following a charge by union leaders that members of the Provincial Police force tried to "intimidate" strikers, the Timmins town council kept away from picket lines. The resolution was forwarded to Attorney-General Blackwell.

Squatters Take 5 Vacant Houses In Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 24 (CP)—As five war veterans settled their families in a new home today, leaders of Montreals first squatters intend that other vacant houses are likely to be taken over.

"This is the first squat we've tried," said Ben Lubell, head of the Homeless Veterans League which late yesterday moved five families, including four British war brides, into an empty, three-storey dwelling on McGill College Avenue in the Montreal shopping district.

"We've covered the city by districts and found all the different vacant places and all we can about them. We've found quite a lot."

One of the war brides said that in Scotland she had had a roomy, comfortable home, but since coming to Montreal to join her war veteran husband she, her husband, and their two children had been living in one room, 10 feet by 10. Their doctor had advised them the children were beginning to develop tuberculosis and urged them to find a more suitable home.

Of the five families, three were French-speaking. Two had been living in tourist cabins without heat and said their children's health was affected.

"The families that moved in are desperate cases," said Henri Gagnon, one of the vets. "Most of them have searched for dwellings for one or two years without finding any. All have jobs and are ready to pay their rent."

The squatters lost no time in getting settled. Furniture was brought to the door in trucks and league members helped in moving it in. A weeks supply of coal was found in the basement and within an hour the furnace was going.

Police Inspector Frank Rawley sent two officers to investigate the situation, but said he had received no complaint from the owner or manager of the building.

"For the moment, the police must assume the veterans have a right to be there," he said. "We can only move them with a court order."

FIRST KRAFT PAPER TO ICELAND

Port Arthur, Oct. 24 — (CP)— What is believed by company officials to be the first shipment of its kind, 50 tons of corrugated kraft and 50 tons of kraft paper were shipped to Iceland last week by a paper mill at Red Rock, 80 miles north of here.

OH, OH! QUICK, CHILDREN, YOUR MASKS!

Even old timers who still believe the world is flat and almost any indisposition or illness you happen to catch is a "cold" settled here, there or everywhere until it develops so well that any fool can see it is measles diphtheria, chickenpox, infantile paralysis or whatever—even the health "authorities" who hand out funny rules to people how to avoid "the common cold" a mysterious disease which no physician or health authority dares to describe or define.

In 1942 newspapers had reports and pictures of the commendable attempt of teachers and pupils in Harden-Looker School, Hillside, New Jersey, to combat the indiscriminate spread of the cri (kree)—or call it C-R-I if you prefer—wearing masks in school whenever they have the cri.

The news picture I saw was not encouraging, for the centre of interest in the picture was one of the pupils applying a stethoscope to the necktie of another pupil who wore a mask. Just make-believe, you see. By now, I suppose, the whole business has been forgotten in that school. But, shucks, it could hardly last long anyway, for teachers, superintendents, principals, parents, nurses, physicians and health authorities in general are pretty difficult about that sort of restriction when it hampers their personal liberty in any way.

In a way I don't blame anyone for rebelling against wearing a gauze mask throughout the school, work or business day. It is not comfortable, even for an hour or two in the operating room. Moreover it is a little frightening to look at—at least to children and adults who do not understand its purpose.

The Silvers mask is more efficient than the gauze mask in the operating room or anywhere else, it is cleaner, more comfortable to wear, pleasanter to look at. It was introduced to the medical profession by Dr. Lewis J. Silvers of New York especially for nose and throat surgeons, nurses, dentists to wear at work. Being transparent it is little more conspicious than spectacles.

I say teachers, physicians, nurses, health authorities in general are pretty difficult about wearing masks when, by all that is consistent, they should not be without them.

For instance, a nurse in the office of a nose and throat specialist who makes great pretensions was hurrying from waiting patient to waiting patient one day spraying nose and throat to prepare the patients for the doctor's treatment, and pausing often to blow her nose or sneeze. She explained that she guessed she was getting another you know what a nurse of that type would call it. One patient who had learned something out of school inquired why the nurse didn't wear a mask then. "Oh, we never wear them," explained the nurse. "The doctor fears they would frighten patients."

Now I ask you which—but, shucks again, what's the use. All this goes in one ear and out the other, for all the effect it may have on the aseptic technique or conscience of people who really do know better but who, nevertheless presume upon the ignorance of the layman concerning hygiene.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Anti-Gray Hair Factors

Much interested in your article telling of the anti-gray hair factors, para-aminabenzoin acid and penththenic acid, but I find these are two expensive. Can you state what foods if any contain the anti-gray hair factors?

(Mrs.G. A.)

Answer—They are components of the vitamin B complex, and one of the best food sources of vitamin B complex is plain wheat or wheat bran, or wheat germ.

Prostatic Obstruction

Cystoscopy and X-rays showed moderate degree of benign prostatic hypertrophy with partial urinary retention. Transurethral prostatic resection was done. Four days following this procedure the patient was discharged and is now completely recovered.

(...., M.D.)

Answer —Thank you, doctor what a vast difference from the reports I received on such cases twenty years ago. Then the patient was confined to bed in the hospital, under exceedingly trying conditions, for two or three weeks or longer. Men with bladder trouble from prostatic obstruction may have the pamphlet information if they ask for it and inclose stamped self-addressed envelope.

Whitehall Notebook

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 24 — (CP)—Brig. A.R.W. Low, Conservative Member of Parliament for Blackpool North, feels at home with Canadians but he says there must be more direct association between peoples of the Commonwealth and Empire if the understanding necessary for unity is to be achieved.

He attained the rank of brigadier in his early 30s and is the friend of many of Canada's younger generals who were his acquaintances from 1939 on. He himself served in the Mediterranean and Austria and hopes to visit Canada next year.

Brig. Low said in an interview that he already had suggested to the Conservative party that delegations of young Conservatives should be sent throughout the Commonwealth to meet and consult with like-minded people.

But this would only be the start. His plan is that others should copy the Conservative example so that there would be a consistant stream of visits going on, with Dominions visitors sponsored by various parties or organizations, or completely independent, coming to the United Kingdom and a major movement of travellers in the other direction.

He said he feels some action is needed to obtain practical co-operation with the Dominions in setting up common organizations which would assist in preserving peace. Imperial security would breed world security. One essential was that the Dominions share fully all decisions and responsibilities associated with defence as Britain could not carry the load alone.

Hide and Hair on Engine That of Moose, Says Engineer

Lindsay, Oct. 24—(CP)—When engine 388 rolled into the station here Wednesday morning, Engineer Wakelin explained that the hide and hair spattered all over the front of the engine was the mortal remains of a moose. "We hoisted it several feet but it did not damage the engine," he said, adding "We came in on our own steam."

FIRE IN FREIGHTER'S HOLD

St. Nazaire, France, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Port authorities announced today they had received a radio message from the 7,191-ton American freighter Howard A. Kelly saying that fire had broken out in the vessel's No. 2 hold. The Kelly is en route to St. Naaire with a cargo of coal, port authorities said. Her position was not given.

Dress Helps to Make the Woman

Not far distant is the day when you'll be thinking of your winter wardrobe. You may be flirting with the idea of a fur coat right now. Shop windows beckon. The summer outfit looks as all clothes look at the end of the season; you are to familiar with them. Considering that sartorial trappings are a large factor in charm of appearance, it is a wise and sensible thing for a woman to give thought to the matter, to educate herself in line and color, find out what modes flatter her.

Impulsive buying of hats, frocks and accessories is the easiest possible way to get rid of money and acquire a wardrobe of which one soon tires. A gay coat seizes the fancy of the shopper. She must have it. There's something about it that says "Take me with you; give me a home, lady." She does that little thing. She has a new red hat and the coat snarls at it. The cute little brown frock that she expects to wear another year is completely submerged by the coat, which refuses to make friends with anything in the way of dry goods.

What then, my hearties? More pilgrimages to the fashion marts to find a frock and hat that won't throw the coat out of color gear. Maybe they're too expensive for the clothes budget. Tears and lamentations.

When money is a stern consideration—as it is with most of us—the clothes problem is not precisely easy. You don't do it casually, if the old brain is on the job. You remember the mistakes of the past, the purchases you made and that your conscience made you wear. Clothes effect moods and feelings, as every woman has found out. Dismal duds; dismal thoughts. Gay attire invites a feeling of high spirits. Isn't it so? A pair of red shoes can make a woman feel ten years younger.

Here's a good shopping rule: when in doubt, don't buy it. It is not for you. If there is one single detail of a dress that does not appeal to you, keep on going.

Be suspicious of the fussy frock with too many decorations. A woman never tires of a simply designed dress of appealing fabric. It becomes a part of her, is a good friend.

Be dubious about that too-ornate buckle on the belt; you'd always be conscious of it. That two-color bow dangling at the side may be just a touch too much; the designer who put it on didn't know when her work was finished. It has no meaning. Small details like that can ruin the sartorial composition.

Economy may force the shopper to ask herself, "Will it wear?" But the more important questions are, "Is this my style? Will I be happy and at ease with myself when I wear it?"

Some Advice for the Teen-Agers from "Old 22"

If I had a nickel for every letter that comes in fro ma teen-ager who thinks she's hopelessly in love, I'd be a very wealthy woman! There are so many who write almost the same identical message that it sometimes sounds as though it were one great chain letter streaching from teen-ager to teen-ager. It goes something like this:

"I am 16 years old (or 13, 14, 15 or 17, as the case may be) and am in love with this fellow, 17, (18, 19, etc.) My parents think we are too young to marry and want me to go out with other fellows, but I can't forget him and I know I will never love anyone else as much as this one. Please tell me what to do".

So then I try to explain that parents are quite right in refusing to allow their teen-agers to marry; that they have very real and sound reasons for doing so; and that teen-agers usually believe themselves deeply and permanently in love several different times before they grow up enough to be able to make a wise choice of husbands.

I tell them that it's easier to "forget" than they think, and that if they will just be content to have lots of friends and go out with many different boys for awhile, they'll find that, surprisingly soon, they've lost interest in the boy they were certain they would love forever, and discovered a brand-new interest in some other boy.

And then, after I've told them all this, I tell myself something: I remind myself that of course these teen-agers aren't likely to believe a thing I say; that they'll never be willing to believe they are going to fall in and out of love a dozen times before they settle on the one they'll marry; that they'll just think sadly that adults "don't understand" and can't realize what it is to be so much on love!

I wonder if they would have any more confidence in what a person nearer their own age told them? For I have a letter from a girl of 22 who married at 17, and now has some things she would like to say to those teen-agers who are convinced that their current heart interest is the one and only love of their lives.

Here she is, telling her own story:

"Dear Miss Fairfax::

"I read so terribly many letters of teen-agers falling in love and having broken hearts Honestly, I think they should wait until they grow up before they make themselves sick with worry. Sure, there are love crushes, and all that, but you outgrow them just the same as you are going to outgrow clothes at the age of 16. I know. Here is my story:

"I'm 22, and married for five years, which makes it 17 when I married. I thought I was big and smart, but, oh, what I learned! In thoase five years I've gone through enough to make me feel about 50 which I do. There've been bills, babies, sickness, operations and death. We've got one child now, and lost one two years ago. We've had everything, and to top it off, all we ever do is quarrel.

"I've had a better life than when I was single, as far as money, clothes and necessities go. But my husband and I can not agree. I wasn't ready to cope with all these problems, and neither was he. But we were in love. I wish I was back to "Sweet 16", and I know my husband does, too.

"So, teen-agers, go easy. There are only seven years of teen age, and about 50 of life age. Maybe if I'd waited, I would understand things more, or I would have met a man I could get along with. This goes for my husband, too. We were both too young; too eager for life.

"So don't get mad at your parents when they tell you things or discipline you. They know what's best, and I know now. Twenty or 22 is plenty of time to get married. Don't rush things or you'll be sorry.

"Old 22."

I hope the youngsters listen to you, "Old 22", but I wonder. My guess is that most of them will think: "Oh, that could never happen to my boy friend and me! We're different. We're too much in love!"

Engagement Ring Christmas Present Should be Returned

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

On Christmas Day last year I announced my engagement (as a matter of fact, you very kindly answered some questions for me as to the procedure for the announcement-party). The engagement ring my fiance gave me on Christmas was also my Christmas present. Now, most unfortunately, I have had to break our engagement. I know that when an engagement is broken, the engagement ring should be returned. But I am wondering if this would also apply to my ring, which was also my Christmas present. As you have undoubtedly guessed, I don't want to return it unless it is incorrect for me to keep it.

Louise

You certainly should return this ring to your ex-fiance. Although the ring happened also to be a Christmas present, it really should be considered as the engagement ring, and as such should be returned. And, although you may not think so now, you will be much happier not to have in your way-of-life this symbol of an engagement that no longer exists.

For their Twenty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Next month my parents are planning a party to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. It is to be an informal party at my parents' home for about sixty people. Do you think my mother should write the invitations, or could I, her married daughter?

2. What kind of entertainment could one have for so large a crowd?

W. A.

1. Since, as I judge, your mother and father are to be the hosts of the party, your mother should write the invitations, or cards may be sent in both their names. For an Open House party, this form of invitation may be written on plain white cards (and, for this anniversary, may be written with silver ink):

1921 1946
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall
at home
Tuesday, the fifth of November
four until seven o'clock
Two Home Place
Pleasant, New Jersey

Or your mother may write notes of invitation:

Dear Jane,

Bob and I are to celebrate our Twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Tuesday, the fifth of November, and we hope you and Jim will plan to come in to see us sometime between four and seven o'clock. Do tell us we can expect you, for our party won't be complete without you two dear friends!

Affectionately.

2. Generally no special entertainment is planned for this kind of party. You'll find that the time passes quickly with all the congratulating and best-wishing that is to be done, with the "reunioning" of relatives and friends, with the serving of refreshments. There are the toasts to be proposed (there should be a something-cold, perhaps fruit punch, with which to drink the toasts); and there is the anniversary cake (this cake should always be a feature of an anniversary party), the first piece of which is cut by your mother, the "bride", and shared with your father, the "bridegroom", as at the original wedding reception.

GOODMURPHY—MILLER

Picton, Oct. 23. —The Church of St. Mary Magdalene was decorated with white chrysanthemums for the marriage on Wednesday afternoon of Elsie Fern, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Miller, Picton, and Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Goodmurphy, Wellington. Rev, W. G. Hope Swayne officiated and Mr. Frank Bronskill was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. J. N. Rosseau, the bride wore a gown of white satin with full overskirt of net. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of rosebuds and she carried a white prayer book with a cascade of red roses.

Miss Ivy Miller, was her sister's maid of honor, wearing blue satin with full skirt. She carried Sweetheart roses.

Ralph Goodmurphy attended his brother.

A reception followed at the home of Mrs. J. Dunlop. The bride's mother received in a gown of blue crepe and the groom's mother was in black crepe. Assistants were Misses Addie Dunlop and Betty Pettet.

For travelling to Hamilton, the bride donned a blue pin-stripe suit with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodmurphy will reside in Picton.

BRUYNSON—GRILLS

In the home of the bride's parents, Thomasburg, at 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of October 12, a very pretty wedding was solemnized when Hester Fern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Grills was united in marriage with Charles H. Bruynson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Scotti, of Belleville. Rev. Bernard Heywood, of Thomasburg United Church officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Roy Johnson, of Hamilton, entered the drawing room to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mr. Fred Porter, making a charming picture in a floor-length gown of white silk jersey with a fingertip veil, and carrying a bouquet of red roses and 'mums. Her only adornment was a gold pendant, a gift of the groom.

The bridesmaid, Miss Connie Scotti, sister of the groom, wore a gown of pink taffeta, with shoulder-length veil, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Kenneth Grills, brother of the bride, performed the duties of groomsman.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid, was a gold glamor pin, and the groom's gift to the groosman a collar clip and tie pin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held with Mrs. Scotti receiving in a black gown with matching accessories, and wearing a corsage of red roses. Assisting her was the groom's mother, wearing a gold colored suit and a corsage of yellow 'mums.

For travelling to Hamilton and Niagara Falls, the bride donned a blue dress with black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Bruynson will reside in Belleville.

Foxboro

Foxboro — Mr. and Mrs. E. Yorke were Thursday guests at Mr. Wm. Hodgen's.

A number attended meetings last week in Belleville conducted by the Crusaders' Cavalcade.

Mrs. John Dainard, Hastings' spent the week with her daughter Mrs. Harold Stewart and Mr. Stewart.

Miss Wilma Thomas, Mrs. A. Shorten and Rev. L. Shorten were recent tea hour guests at Mrs. J. G. Sills'.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Reid and Mrs. Bessie Jones of Campbellford were Sunday callers at Mrs. A. Shaw's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stoughton and son Gary of Kingston spent a few days at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Bill Rombough.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Annie Bonkin in the passing of a brother the late Edward Ketcheson of the North West.

Mrs. Wm. Prentice and Miss Ethel Gowsell were dinner hour guests on Sunday at Mrs. J. G. Sills'.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Fleming, Alex and Edmund of Springbrook were Sunday guests at Mr. J. Chappelle's.

The regular meeting of the W.A. was held on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday School rooms.

Friends are pleased to see Mr. Arthur Reid at home again.

Anniversary Services

Large numbers attended anniversary services in the United Church on Sunday last. Cut flowers and plants were in profusion at the altar and beautiful fall weather added to the day's enjoyment. The guest speaker was Rev. Harold B. Neal of Renfrew who chose as his morning text Psalm 78-41, "They limited the Holy One of Israel." The choir under the direction of Mr. S. C. Gay rendered an anthem "God's Beloved Son" with Mrs. E. Tummon taking the solo. A quartette contributed by Messrs Harry Dafoe and S. C. Gay and Mrs. E. Tummon and daughter Miss M. Tummon was greatly enjoyed.

The speaker chose for his evening address the words "If any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of His" in which he stressed that the world is looking for Christ in us." The choir again rendered two numbers "Redeeming Love" and "I Would be True," with Mrs. S. C. Gay as accompanist.

Both the addresses and music were appreciated by those attending and the Thankoffering most gratifying.

Mrs. Minnie Latta of Frankford is visiting her cousin Mrs. Murney Reynolds.

Sunday guests at Mr. Clifford Wilson's were Mr. and Mrs. Seldon Homan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howes of Corbyville and Mr. and Mrs. Forester, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hicks, Carmel, spent Sunday at Mr. George Hicks' home.

Sunday guests at Mr. J. W. Daniels' were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Carmel, Mrs. Wanda Sine and Miss S. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McKeown of Belleville were Sunday callers at Mrs. J. G. Sills'.

The following were Sunday guests at Mr. Clare Finkle's home. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Finkle and daughter, Mr. Allyn Finkle, Mrs. Frank Finkle and Mrs. Campbell of Marsh Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sine and Cameron.

Afternoon Tea Held at Home Of Mrs. Cameron

Warm October sunshine with the haziness of Indian Summer in the air proved a combined inducement to be out-of-doors on a glorious Autumn afternoon, Wednesday, as was evidenced by the large number of ladies attending an afternoon tea, under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Cameron, Queen Street.

Receiving with Mrs. Cameron were Mrs. J, G. Hornsby and Mrs. C. Baragar, President of the Society; while Mrs. A. R. Cameron invited the guests to the tea room.

Floral decorations in the reception hall, drawing room and tea room were carried out in the Autumn shades of bronze and yellow; the flowers used being 'mums, large and small.

The tea table, covered with a beautiful lace-edged cloth of madeira embroidered linen, had as its centrepiece a cut glass bowl of 'mums attractively arranged with the greenery of fern, flanked by pairs of orange and green candles in silver holders.

Pouring for the first hour were Mrs. Arthur McGee and Mrs. H S. Graham. Later they were relieved by Mrs. J. F. Hall and Mrs. A. McCullough. Passing the tempting array of sandwiches and dainties were Misses Helen Blair and Leila Weir, also Mesdames S. D. Wood, E. Pigden, J. Wilson, Gordon Robertson and M. W. Barlow with Mrs. James Reid replenishing the plates.

Kitchen supplies were under the able direction of Mrs. W. Mantle, Mrs. A. Bell and Mrs. D. L. Fleming.

In the reception hall, a table, where Mesdames W. J. Mills, James Miller and Alex. Kidd were displaying several kinds of home baking, was well patronized during the afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Parsons acted as treasurer for this very successful tea, the results of which are most gratifying to the hostess and to the ladies sponsoring it.

Shoulder Baring Interest

By ALICE ALDEN

THE SHOULDER bears much of the interest in new evening frocks, as the bared shoulder appears on ever so many of the smartest designs. This smart shoulder-baring New York evening dress combines multi-colored striped taffeta for the bodice with its noval little weskit points, and black tulle over black taffeta for the graceful skirt. A big shoulder bow of the striped taffeta makes for additional interest.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CLUB

The October meeting of "The University Women's Club" was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. Locke, 50 Bridge Street East.

At this meeting the members of the Club listened to the broadcast of "Citizens' Forum", "Immigration" was the topic of the Forum and the questions, "Does Canada need more people?", and "Should we open our doors to refugees?", were discussed at the conclusion of the broadcast, the discussion was continued among the members of the Club.

The meeting closed with the serving of refreshments by the hostess.

Twenty Selected On First Ballot For Directorate

An address by Gordon Friesen on his experiences as Military Governor in occupied Germany, which has been given to members of the Rotary and Kinsmen clubs was delivered to the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon at the Hotel Quinte on Tuesday. Mr. Friesen, who is administrator of the Belleville General Hospital left that position in 1941 to serve his country and on his discharge came back to his old post. His address was most timely and intensely interesting and some of the stories told of the conditions in occupied Germany could hardly be believed. The address was fully covered at the Rotary Club on Monday and published in this paper on Tuesday.

Boosts Hospital

Mr. Friesen, before starting his address, spoke on behalf of the local hospital and requested the moral and financial support of the club. He told of the amount of money that was spent each year in this city by the hospital and also the number of cases that were treated and the operations performed there last year, which showed a decided increase over the previous years. The speaker thought that Belleville residents and also in the district should take a greater interest in the institution. He also made the announcement that the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital were offering $500 scholarship to the student nurses in order to provide more incentive in their work.

20 Names Selected

The club members submitted their first ballot on the selection of their directors for the coming year. Twenty, including R. M. Anderson, H. D. Bateman, Maurice Button, Charlie Cawker, Aubrey Coe, Frank Creeggan, Len Dandeno, Norman Edwards, Len Fozard, Taylor Franklin, Archie Harris, Albert Jones, Dick Kuntze, Douglas McIntosh, Bert Reid, Ted Schwab, Harold Seldon, Ross Stiver, Harry Trepanier and Jack White, were chosen on the ballot and these names will again be ballotted on next week, the high ten to be the directors for the year. The directorate will then meet and submit the names of those intending to stand for the election of president and vice president, the club ballot electing these two officers. In previous years the directors selected the president from among those elected but the club voted to change that procedure.

President Mark Vanner presided at the luncheon with Harold Carrumers as song leader and Bill Navin at the piano. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Reg Anderson and Kiwanis appreciation was expressed by Bill McCreary.

10,000 Vacancies In Active Force Of Canadian Army

Ottawa, Oct. 24 —(CP)— Recruiting for both the Active and Reserve forces of the post-war Canadian army is "proceeding steadily," Defence Headquarters announced today, but there are still 10,000 vacancies in the Active force and an undisclosed number in the Reserve force.

The Active force, when up to strength, will number 25,000 officers and men, while a Reserve strength of 180,000 is planned.

Headquarters said both these forces are "swinging into action to recruit up to full strength as soon as possible," and that recent approval of the new rates of pay, terms of service and the revised pension scheme had opened the way for a full-scale recruiting drive.

Military districts across Canada now are being given instructions to start filling their assigned quotas by enlisting volunteers from either veterans or young men who have had no previous military training.

Since the number of additional recruits required for the Active force is not large, it is not intended to open recruiting offices, but information on how to enlist will be available to prospective recruits on application to any army unit — Reserve or Active— in Canada.

In a statement heralding the recruiting drive, Defence Headquarters had this to say:

"The army today offers one of the most interesting and useful careers open to the youth of Canada, with better than average opportunities for advancement coupled with a pay scale which compares favorably with that in civilian life.

"The training available in any of the technical branches of the service is a stepping stone for those who might wish to follow professions in civil life, but even more important is the inculcation of the principles of leadership and the ability to think clearly and make sound decisions.

"These attributes to good citizenship resulting from an army career will no doubt appeal to large numbers of Canadian youth irrespective of the revised provisions for pension after 10 or more years of service."

Anyone Can Draw With 'Schetchaid'

By ARLENE WOLF

New York (AP)—Would-be Da Vincis, who can't draw a straight line with a ruler, now can stop repressing their drawing ambitions. A new gadget invented by Latvian-born artist Leo Michelson will enable them to do a portrait of Aunt Lizzie without having it turn out like a surrealist's nightmare.

I tried out this new gadget, using the artist-inventor himself as a subject and ended up a few minutes later with a sketch of grey-haired Michelson that really looked like him, and the conviction that dormant drawing talent suddenly had been released.

The reason I had been able to reproduce his likeness, Michelson explains, was that his "sketchaid" permitted me to see the subject through the artist's eye—gave a two-dimensional visualization of a three-dimensional subject. All I did was peer through a one-eyed viewer at a pane of glass in a frame, placed before the subject's face, and practically traced his likeness directly on the glass with a special grease pencil.

Two Dimensional View

The artist discovered that it was possible to give almost anyone the painter's eye when he taught art in adult education classes in New York after his escape from Paris the day before the Nazis invaded it in 1940. Visualizing a subject in two dimensions—exactly as if it already had been painted—was the student's trouble, he found.

In desperation one day, he took a picture frame, held it up in front of a subject, and asked the class to imagine that it was already drawn on canvas. To complete the illusion, he had the students squint at the object through one-eye over the tip of their pencils. The idea worked, and Michelson decided to make a permanent "sketchaid' to help others.

After the would-be artist has reproduced the outlines on the sketchaid glass, he transfers it to paper by wetting the paper and rubbing a spoon or other hard object over it. The same method, Michelson says, works with oils or water colors, and is simple enough to keep children quiet on a rainy day.

The artist, whose paintings hang in the Luxembourg, dies not like the word trace used in connection with his invention. Proof that it's not tracing, he points out, is the fact that several different people can do exactly the same subject and end up with entirely different conceptions.

A similar device, he believes, was used by some of the great artists of the 15th century, and by Durer, who has been depicted sitting before an upright stick, viewing his subject through a glass boxed off into squares. Durer's method, apparently, was to use paper boxed off into proportionate squares, and reproduce the curves and lines in each box as he went along.

No More Letters Will be Written Between Parties

Ottawa, Oct. 23 — (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a letter written prior to his departure for New York Tuesday agreed with Premier Drew of Ontario that no further exchange of correspondence between them on the subject of the Dominion-Provincial Conference would serve any useful purpose.

The letter released by Mr. King's office Wednesday said:

"I have received this morning your letter of yesterday which had been previously made public by yourself.

"I agree with you that no further exchange of letters will serve any useful purpose. The points you bring up in your present letter have all been raised and answered in our previous correspondence."

In his letter Monday, Mr. Drew said Mr. King's duty was to act on the request of the majority of provincial premiers that the Dominion-Provincial Conference be reconvened immediately to discuss temporary tax arrangements to replace wartime agreements which terminate at the end of the present fiscal year.

"You are still chairman of the conference," said Mr. Drew. "You and you alone have the obligation and the opportunity to make it possible to find a basis for general agreement which is so essential to the future welfare of all Canadians. No further exchange of letter will serve any useful purpose."

In an earlier exchange of correspondence, Mr. Drew had charged Mr. King with closing the door on requests for a resumption of the Dominion-Provincial Conference which broke up in failure last May.

Mr. King's reply to the charge was that he had not closed any door. He said the people had not forgotten the circumstances which brought about failure of the conference and that the Federal government believed "it would be inadvisable to have the conference reassemble before the provinces have indicated their attitude toward the proposals of the Dominion government."

Round Table Knights Bar Women From Their Gatherings

By WILLIAM BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 23. (CP)—Their Camelot is a large room in the May Fair Hotel and they no longer champion damsels in distress. But the Knights of the Round Table still have a round table.

Cut more than 75 years ago from a solid Spanish mahogany, their immense one-piece festive board is 27 feet in circumference, and around it have sat more celebrated names than at any other table in the course of history.

It is supposed to be the biggest table in the world and when the knights are gathered round it, no women may eat with them.

The Knights of the Round Table do exist. Current Knight President is Viscount Bennett, who is to be succeeded Oct. 25 by "adopted" Canadian, the Earl of Athlone, former governor-general.

As the oldest luncheon club in the world, founded in 1720, the Knights proclaim as their purpose "the cultivation of the gentle art of chivalry, oratory, dining and international goodwill."

Yearly Pilgrimage

The contemporary knights no longer charge about on horseback seeking causes to uphold, but do make one pilgrimage yearly (in a bus) to Winchester, supposedly the Camelot of King Arthur.

For more than 100 years after the club was founded it met for lunch at Simpson's in the Strand. Later it moved to the Hotel Cecil, now Shell Mex House, but the May Fair Hotel has been the table's resting place for the better part of this century.

Membership in the club is limited to 150, and members are admitted only after an elaborate swearing-in ceremony.

Their twice-yearly luncheon meetings are formidable tourneys of eating and speech-making. They usually last upwards of three hours and provide for an average of eight toasts and eight speeches in reply. The prescribed form of address for luncheon speakers is, Sir Knight President, Your Excellencies, Sir Knights and Honored Guests."

POOR INDIAN

Heir to a fortune of $50,000,000, Birendra Singhi, ABOVE, 31-year-old native, of Calcutta, India, is living in a modest tourist cottage in Mobile, Ala. Hotels could not prepare to his liking the Indian dishes to which he has become accustomed. His own servant can do it nicely at the tourist cottage. Besides, because of British restrictions in the moving of currency, Mr. Singhi only brought a few thousand dollars with him for his stay. He expects to leave for New York soon for treatment of a chronic ailment.

The storied "Hall of the Fellowship of the Knights of King Arthur" at Tintagel, Cornwall, is their formal home though no official visit to it is on record. It was in the family of the Knighthood's founder, Frederick Glossock, and ultimately came into the hands of the club.

GYPSY ROSE LEE AT STATE FAIR

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 23 — (AP) — Gypsy Rose Lee, strip tease artist, is appearing at the Texas State Fair. She told police someone "stripped" her hotel room of a $2,000 pair of gold and sapphire ear rings. It happened in room 313 but Gypsy Rose said she wasn't superstitious: "I was married once on the 13th and another time on the 31st."

Stirling

Stirling.—St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, observed its 93rd anniversary on Sunday, October 20. The special speaker was the Rev. Dr. Norman Coll, M.A., O.B.E., of Parkdale United Church, Ottawa. Services were held at 11 a.m., and 7.30 p.m., with a splendid attendance. Special music was furnished by the choir under the direction of Mr. Gerald Clute. At the morning services the anthem was "Fear Not Ye O Israel" and Mrs. H. West rendered a solo "The Silent Voice". At the evening services the anthem "Calvary" was rendered and a solo "I walked Today Where Jesus Walked" by Mr. W. Reynolds, was greatly appreciated.

"Bob" Cook, local trucker, had his truck badly damaged in a sideswipe collision with a truck driven by B. Spry, of Bonarlaw, last week. The accident occurred on the southern outskirts of Marmora Village and three of the load of pigs being transported by Cook were killed.

I.O.D.E. Presentation

On Thursday evening members of the I.O.D.E. gathered at the home of Mrs. A. Stinson to make presentations to seven brides of the last year. Among those to whom gifts were presented were Mesdames Lorne Wilson, Carl Potter, Tom Shannon, Bob Cook, Gilbert Finkle, Elmer West and Desmond Jackman. A mock wedding added to the merriment of the evening and community singing and contests were enjoyed by all. The brides were presented with china, candy dishes and a delicious lunch was served.

Father S. LeSage was in Kingston, on Wednesday attending the "Profession" of the Hotel Dieu nuns held in the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Warren spent a few days this week in Marmora visiting Mr. Warren's mother, Mrs. Theresa Warren.

"THIRD PROGRAM" GIVES LISTENERS "HIGHBROW" FARE

Serious Music, Solid Discussion Feature New BBC Series Devoted to Intellectual Rario Public

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London (CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation's Third Program—unofficially "the highbrow program"—came into being on a peaceful Sunday afternoon without disturbing it.

Enthusiasts for good music in quantity, uninterrupted opera, long speeches with solid thinking and poetry untrammelled by time had been anticipating the program for a year.

An announcer calmly described the coming programs. He was followed by a burst of sedate music and a tricky 45-minute program on "How to Listen," introduced with the dramatic phrase—"How to listen . . . how . . . how . . . how . . ." in diminishing scale like a Indian saying hello as he walked away.

At this point one listener at least—a lad whose idea of fine music is an old-time dance tune—disappeared, and was not seen again as the Third Program went on through a Bach harpsichord recital; Field Marshal Smuts on world affairs and a choral and orchestral concert in two parts.

The interval was used by Sir William Haley, BBC director-general, for a pithy discussion of BBC purposes. Later came a sober talk on "The World We Fought for," records of Monteverdi Madrigals; Sir Max Beerbohm on "London Revisited," and Bible readings from 11:30 to midnight.

Unembarrassed Silence

Sometimes the announcers said with an air of satisfaction they could report a program finished ahead of time. Then there was silence without embarrassment for a minute or so until the next item came on. The Third Program has a more leisurely way of broadcasting in which silence will spell rest instead of catastrophe.

Listeners who want to laugh will seek comedians and glib remarks on the other BBC programs—the Light and Home—but the "How to Listen" opening of the Third Program was entertaining for a starter.

It recounted the anxieties of those associated with a new radio program and their hopes of being able to interest perhaps $1,000,000 separate audiences." In imagination they went into homes of various listeners, including their ideal, who saw the fire properly made up and settled down to listen for 40 solid minutes.

Then the Third Program, continuing instruction in listening, instanced rhythm—the beat of the heart, the sound of train wheels; cheerful sounds—dogs barking about a pond, a horse trotting past on a hard-surface road; eerie sounds—wind shrieking, a creaking door.

The make-believe listeners reacted, one woman saying her radio was company and she couldn't do without but she just couldn't get on with what she was doing if there was too much talking.

All this presumably was designed to put the Third Program enthusiasts in proper perspective with radio. Later they had Sir William's statement that whole evenings would be devoted to single operas. He added it was hard to speak about raising public taste without "sounding governessy" but the BBC would attempt it.

New Designs Are Seen As Key to Export Markets

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London (CP)—Intent on regaining her position as "workshop of the world," Britain is emphasizing the importance of modern, industrial designers.

A conference, sponsored in association with the "Britain Can Make It" Exhibition by the Council of Industrial Design and the Federation of British Industries, has stressed the importance of machines which make them.

"Rule of thumb methods" provide an easy but dangerous course in modern manufacture, Sir Thomas Barlow told the delegates, stressing that "careful, exact and objective inquiry into market conditions and consumer needs was the course of simple common-sense, yet allowed for the exercise of individual judgment, taste and flair."

In order to keep designers in industry manufacturers would have to pay them better, while to exploit their ideas best more attention would have to be given to latest technological improvement in materials and processes — factors which affect design.

Research Needed

Manufacturers couldn't expect designs to "burst into flower" without long cultivation, Sir Miles Thomas, vice-chairman of Morris Motors, Ltd., said. Potential designers had to be given first-hand experience of all sides of the business and the intended market, both at home and overseas.

Instancing the importance of form in productive equipment, Mr. T. P. N. Burness, managing director of William Asquith, Ltd., said "a good-looking, well-finished machine-tool, capable of doing its job well, is a thing of beauty and a real joy to the mechanical mind. By paying attention to the artistic as well as to the practical side of design, sales appeal is enhanced."

John Gloag, director of F. C. Pritchard, Wood and Partners, Ltd., said the handful of "remarkable British industrial designers" practising today ought to be increased and, "if given the opportunity, they could re-establish the industrial leadership which Britain enjoyed in the 19th century when it was the workshop of the world."

"If British industry used the men who know how to design machines and products for the 20th century, their disciplined and trained imaginations could ensure a permanent place for our goods in the markets of the world," concluded Mr. Gloag.

Worry One of Chief Causes Of Sick Headaches

(By W.L.C. in the Windsor Star)

When Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox couldn't play in the fifth World Series game at Boston against the St. Louis Cardinals because he had a headache, some fans wondered what kind of ailment it could be.

Even when it was explained that it was a migraine headache, some of the fans still could not see how a little thing like a headache could keep a star ball player off the diamond during a World Series..

That is because they have never had a migraine.

Sick Headache

People used to call migraine sick headaches. That was the term before migraine became more like a 35-cent word for a super duper pain in the head. But, anyone who has experienced one of those sick headaches would give a lot to get relief.

There are both men and women who are plagued with migraines all their lives. Sometimes they grow out of them, sometimes they are never sure about not getting one any old day or night.

There is something comforting in the thought that Bobby Doerr should be laid low by a migraine. Those who believe that sick headaches are a malady affecting only the weak and sickly must realize that any man capable of playing ball for the Red Sox of 1946 is no sissy and no weakling. He is a big, strong, husky chap, who can run fast and hit hard. Yet, a migraine knocks him flatter than a bean ball.

Migraines visit the nervous people more often. Sometimes people get to worrying about nothing, but they worry so hard about it, they get themselves all in a tizzy and before they know where they are at, they are flat on their back with a splitting headache and an upset stomach to boot.

That's the way a migraine works.

Warning Signals

Very often migraine victims can tell an attack is coming. If they catch it soon enough, there are remedies that can help nip the headache in the bud and save the retching seasickness that follows.

Somtimes the veins along the forehead of a migrainer will begin to swell. It will hardly be noticed at first, but in a couple of hours the veins will stand out like cords. The victim will become restless and headache tablets will be sought, if they have not already been taken in liberal doses.

Those forehead veins tell the story of migraine in so many cases. Once they have become like cords, if the doctor has not been summoned, it is time to get him to come along and do what he can.

Stomach Upset

After the headache turns into a splitting pain, the stomach becomes unsettled and vomitting starts. It is the doctor's job to stop the vomiting. In cases of severe migraines the vomiting can continue for a week at a time with the patient being unable to hold anything on the stomach for more than a few minutes at most.

When that happens, artificial feeding has to be resorted to so that the patient can have some sustenance. Intra-venous fluids are injected into the veins. While it is not a particularly complicated procedure, it is uncomfortable and it is also a poor substitute for real food.

Some doctors dope their migraine patients to stop the vomiting. They put them to sleep and trust that the rest given to the stomach will be long enough to get things sorted out inside and then the migraine patient can start eating and get better.

Doctors also resort to giving medicines that provide a coating for the stomach in an effort to soothe it and allow food to be retained.

Remedies Differ

What is good for one patient is not always good for another.

One young woman suffers from migraine and says it is the only time her husband ever thinks to bring her flowers. She does not know why she has to have a migraine to get a bouquet, but that's the way it is in her family.

A Toronto lawyer had his own method of coping with migraines. He used to lie down on his office floor and roll back and forth across the rug. When a surprised friend dropped in one day, he thought tht lawyer was drunk and was astonished, because the lawyer was not given to liquor. The friend still wonders if the migraine explanation was the correct version of the floor-rolling episode.

Definite Help

Some migraine sufferers get relief through injections of gynergen, which can be secured at drug stores. It is best to take this under the direction of a doctor, because gynergen has queer ways of reacting in some people. The gyneren can also be had in pill form, but it is not as effective that way. Also, the gynergen has to be taken as soon as the attack is noticed to get the best results.

There are many causes of migraine. Worry is the chief one. Coming back to Bobby Doerr, perhaps his last week's headache came from worrying about those 20 basehits the Cardinals rapped out in the fourth game. That was enough to give anyone on the Red Sox a sick headache.

YOU'D NEVER BELIEVE SHE IS 48....

She's one of the peppiest, happiest-spirited women you ever saw. At the time when most women think life is passing them by—she's right in the midst of things—always ready to go places and do things . . . as popular with the men as girls half her age. To look at her you would never believe she was a day over 38.

How does she do it? She gives the credit to Dr. Williams Pink Pills . . . for well she knows how important it is to have plenty of rich, red blood during those years when so many women are "pulled down" in health by bodily changes.

If you feel "always tired", if you look pale and dragged out, if you are suffering from a feeling of nervous exhaustion, are jittery and irritable, you may be paying the price of poor blood make-up. Don't wait—start Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They contain an easily assimilable form of iron—fortified with a generous amount of Vitamin B₁—and are wonderfully effective in helping to build the rich, red blood so necessary to vigor and energy. IRISH WAR BRIDE ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

For Bridget Waters, Irish war bride on trial in the slaying of her husband last Sept. 2, there is one hour each day in which thoughts of the murder trial are far from her mind and heart. Prison officials have permitted Mrs. Waters to visit her young son, Frank, Jr., at the hospital where he was taken after the fatal bullet grazed his leg. She is shown playing with her son during a visit. The 26-year-old war bride shot her husband to death with a pistol concealed in the folds of their baby's blanket as he reached to take the child in his arms when he visited his son in a Las Vegas, Nev., home where Mrs. Waters was employed.

Survey Shows Less Livestock on Farms

Ottawa—According to the survey of the principal classes of live stock on Canadian farms as at June 1, 1946 ,a decrease in number was recorded in all classes—horses, cattle, sheep and hogs—compared with 1945, as follows:

Horses, 2,396,850 in 1946, a decrease of 187,950 since 1945. Milk cows, 3,913,900 in 1946 ,a falling off of 84,300 compared with the numbers at the corresponding date in the previous year. Cattle (including milk cows), 10,385,000 in 1946, a decline of 373,600 from 1945. Sheep and lambs, 3,378,400 in 1946, a drop of 243,400. Hogs, 5,377,300 in 1946, is a decrease of 648,300, says the Dominion Department of Agriculture Farms News bulletin.

The decline of horses on farms occurred principally in the Prairie Provinces. In regard to sheep, the only Province showing a gain over 1945 in numbers is Saskatchewan where a slight increase is recorded (518,400 head as against 513,200 in 1945). The all-over reduction in numbers of sheep for Canada was 243,00 0of 6-7 per cent.

EXPERTS LISTEN AS WAVES "TALK"

Scientists Experiment With New Meteorological Device

(By FORD BAXTER)
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. [illegible].—(CP)—There used to be a popular song called "I Wonder What the Wild Waves are Saying", but the "wonder" is being removed by oceanographic scientists, a group of whom have arrived here in the Atlantis, research vessel of the Wood's Hole Oceanographic Institute, for a survey of Bermuda's deep waters.

The waves can talk. and what they say will have a great deal to do in making travel on and over the oceans a safer proposition. Scientists have learned that waves, indicative of the weather to follow, roll on ahead of storms, arriving on beaches many hours before the storm. Thus a systematic study of waves may be used to forecast weather.

"Old fishermen in Bermuda can tell when a hurricane is approaching this island simply by observing the motion of the waves," said Dr. Hilary Moore of the Bermuda Biological Station.

Apparatus and personnel were aboard the Atlantis for the wave recording experiment off Bermuda. The recording device was used to great advantage in forecasting weather conditions during the war when ships at sea and land meteorological stations were not permitted to broadcast weather information to central areas where forecasts were made.

Aided Normandy Invasion

Dr. Moore said that weather forecasts were gained in this manner prior to the invasion of Normandy beaches.

The wave recording mechanism consists partly of a pressure instrument anchored at a reasonable depth some distance off shore. Leading to the shore is a cable attached to another piece of apparatus which records on a chart the variations of pressure caused by different-sized waves passing over the pressure instrument. From this chart, trained specialists can forecast approaching weather, the distance the storm is away, and the rate at which it is approaching.

Another project for the scientists aboard the Atlantis will be a measuring of ocean currents.

Dr. D. E. S. Brown, Canadian-born director of the Biological Station, describes Bermuda as a "laboratory in the middle of the ocean." Oceanographic studies, he explains, include wave motion as well as deep water currents.

Bermuda is ideally situated for this sort of work because it is out in the ocean separate from any of the continental shelves. Storms building up around Bermuda can be studied as they approach the continental shelf. Studies of the magnitude of storms and the time required for them to approach the continent furnished useful information.

The study of wave motions was commenced and the equipment for it designed during the war when the British wanted to chart the Channel and the Mediterranean Sea in preparation for military and naval operations. The same equipment will be in use at the Biological Station.

Mine Workers Want National Labor Code

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Truro, N.S., Oct. 24 (CP)— A national labor code that would guarantee free collective bargaining, provide for union security and outlaw company unions was sought today by the United Mine Workers (C.C.L.) of District 26.

Nearly 100 delegates, voice of 13,000 Nova Scotia and New Brunswick coal miners, passed a resolution at the district convention yesterday urging representations to the government to obtain such a code.

The resolution referred to serious industrial unrest in Canada and attributed it to division of jurisdiction over labor matters between the federal and provincial governments.

The motion was one of the first of nearly 180 which will come before the convention, dealing with everything from wage contracts to slum clearance and housing.

One of the more important motions will deal with the new wage contract to be negotiated with Nova Scotia coal operators before the old one expires Jan. 31.

The union was expected to seek a 40-hour week and higher wages compared with the current 48-hour week and the $5.80 basic datal wage for more than 10,000 Nova Scotia miners.

He advocated establishment of industrial councils, composed of government, company and workers' representatives, to replace war labor boards. He urged miners to continue "to fight" the government for continuation of coal as a national industry.

PRAVDA'S REACTION TO VOTING IN BERLIN

Moscow, Oct. 24—(AP)—Pravda's Berlin correspondent said today the results of Berlin's municipal elections last Sunday demonstrated that many Germans "dream of entering again the same fatal path which the Germans followed after 1918—a path which led to increasing strength of reaction, victory for Fascism and World War II." (The elections resulted in a setback for the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party, which ran a poor third).

Corvette Engines in Steamers

Port Colborne, Oct. 24—(CP)—Two lake steamers, the Laketon and the Bayton, are ploughing the waters of the Upper Lakes with increased vigor and carrying capacity since they were fitted with engines and boilers from Canadian Navy corvettes, scrapped when their usefulness ended at the close of the war.

LEARN PROCESS OF DEVELOPING SYNTHETIC RUBBER

Newsprint isn't the only product of wood pulp, discovered members of the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association at their convention in St. Catharines, Ont. At the Ontario Paper Co. at Thorold they found that a by-product is synthetic alcohol, made of waste liquor, which played an important part in Canada's development of synthetic rubber during the war. ABOVE, William McCarthy, LEFT, explains the process to Glyn Bowden, Brantford Expositor; Treasurer Harold Turnbull, St. Catharines Standard; Bruce Lundy, Niagara Falls Review; President Eddie Brackenbury, Ottawa, O.N.S. bureau; Secretary William Stewart, St. Thomas Times Journal, and Romeo Comette, mill manager of the Ontario Paper Co.

IVANHOE

Centre Hastings Ministers Guests Of Ivanhoe Pastor

Ivanhoe, (Special.)— Rev. J. F. Everson and Mrs. Everson were hosts on Monday to the members of the Centre Hastings Ministerial Association. The following ministers were present, Rev. Bernard Heywood, Thomasburg; Rev. A. L. Shorten, Foxboro, Rev. Harold. H. Lackey, Frankford, Rev. James R. Holden, Springbrook; Rev. Alfred Poulter, Madoc; Rev. George J. Crabbe, Eldorado ;Rev. George Patton, Queensborough; Rev. H. Hunter Hillis, Sidney; Rev. J. Murray, Brownlie, Marmora and Rev. A. C. McCallum, Bayside.

Rev. George Crabbe was pianist, Rev. J. F. Everson read the Scripture and the Chairman, Rev. J. M. Brownlie, offered prayer. It was planned that the November meeting would be held in Plainfield parsonage with a paper to be given by Rev. C. C. Brazil, and the December meeting in Marmora Parish Hall with a paper by Rev. E. M. Cadigan.

On Monday, Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten gave a very helpful and instructive paper on "Some Aspects of Pauline Eschatology". Prayer by Rev. A. C. McCallum closed the meeting, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

BEHIND BARS AGAIN

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, one of the three defendants acquitted at the Nuernberg trials, is shown here in a German jail where he is being held pending de-nazification procedure. His freedom, after his release at Nuremberg, was short-lived.

Mr. Percy Wood of London, is the guest of his brother, Arthur and Mrs. Wood.

Mr. Robert McCrea, Sudbury; Mr. John McCrea, Thessalon and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elliott, Sault Ste. Marie, were recent guests of Misses Bessie and Annie Fleming.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw were Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston, Salem and Messrs. Howard and Harold Ashley, Stirling.

Rev. J. F. Everson supplied the work of Rev. A. S. R. Delve of Seeley's Bay, on Sunday in lieu of Mr. Delve, who was taking charge of anniversary services at Salem on the Ivanhoe pastoral charge.

A Thanksgiving service of praise and worship was held in Beulah United Church on Friday evening.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffs; Mount Pleasant; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thresher, Mount Pleasant and Mr. Harry Lovibond, Ivanhoe.

Mrs. Absolom Parks, Plainfield is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Benjamin Lovibond and Mr. Lovibond.

The members of Beulah W.M.S. held a quilting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Wood on Tuesday, which was attended by 22 ladies.

Mrs. Henry Wallace entertained Rev. J. F. Everson and Mrs. Everson to dinner on Wednesday evening.

Beulah United Church congregation was represented by the attendanc of a large number of its members at the services in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

A quilting held at the home of Mrs. Ward Holland on Thursday was sponsored by the members of White Lake Women's Association.

The many friends of Mr. John Clements will be sorry to learn that he is still in poor health.

The heavy frost which visited this district on Saturday night destroyed all outdoor flowers for another season.

The recent heavy rains have gladdened the hearts of farmers whose fields were so dry and who were conveying water for long distance both for household use and for their stock.

Tear Gas Device Is Demonstrated To City Police

Members of the local police force are just as soft-hearted as city residents or any other profession, but it was not soft-heartedness which caused stalwarts of the local law department to shed crocodile tears at the police station Wednesday morning.

A representative of an American chemical manufacturing firm called on Police Chief Walter Probert and demonstrated the use of a tear gas billet. The police station garage was the scene of the demonstration and officers after a very brief whiff of the gas quickly sought the outside air.

No immediate decision was made by police authorities as to whether the tear gas equipment was needed by the local department.

Motive Sought In Arsenic Bread Poisonings

Montreal, Oct. 24 (CP)—Officers of the Montreal homicide squad and the Health Department today continued their investigations to bring to light the motive of the person or persons responsible for the arsenic poisoning of 300 members of 60 east-end families.

There were no fatalities and all persons affected are out of danger. The poisonings were first reported two weeks ago.

The police department was called in after health inspectors, examining samples of food from the affected homes for more than a week, found bread containing traces of arsenic.

Those affected usually suffered cramps, stomach upsets, vomiting and a slight fever.

Health Department Director Dr. Adelard Broulx said "all measures to avoid a repetition of this incident have been taken by the department."

It is believed the bread was baked during the Oct. 7-8 period and out of 10 batches, only one showed signs of poison.

Bread from the affected batch had been delivered to homes and stores in east-end Maisonneuve district and this led homicide squad detectives to work on the assumption that criminal intent or culpable negligence was responsible for the poisonings.

The XS-1 is the plane that is expected to travel faster than sound. It was to have been test-flown by Jack Woolams, test pilot, who was killed on Aug. 30 while flying a racing plane over Lake Ontario. Goodlin is an ex-U.S. navy flier. He also served with the Royal Canadian Air Force and the British Royal Air Force.

Dairy, Poultry Workers at Swift Plant on Strike

Winnipeg, Oct. 24 (CP)—Dairy and poultry workers at the Swift Canadian plant here went on strike yesterday following a breakdown of negotiations between the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) and In announcing the strike last the company. night Adam Borsk, union field representative, said the dairy and poultry division of the company had refused to give the union the same security as negotiated in a company-wide agreement reached a few weeks ago. He added the management at the main plant here had been advised that if they attempted to assist in operation of the dairy and poultry division, the union would shut down the entire Winnipeg plant.

Company officials were unavailable for comment, and it was not known how many employees were involved in the walkout.

QUIET LITTLE VILLAGE IS UNITED NATION'S DREAM OF PEACE

The old white New England church built in 1789 nestles in the hills of this quiet community of 150 persons. Here township meetings are held annually to elect the three selectmen who govern the whole community. It was a scene such as this that convinced U. N. delegates that they accepted it from a miscellaneous group of photo- the world cries and for which the United Nations labors.

By Central Press Canadian

Six miles northeast of Bennington, Vermont, lies a quiet little valley through which traffic rushes north to Montreal and south to New York. The little community is known as Pownal Centre. A few short weeks ago it was not even a wide place in the road. Today, it is internationally famous as the epitome of the deep and abiding peace which the United Nations hopes to achieve for the world. Pownal Centre was chosen by the United Nations as the graphic representation of its peace aims. So impressed with the quiet beauty of the old houses and the valley in the background were the delegates that they expected it from a miscellaneous group of photographic landscapes sent in when the organization was looking for a quiet rural scene to summarize peace. These pictures take you to peaceful Pownal in which there is neither juke box, pool hall, corner drugstore or motion picture theatre and no crime.

Florence Wilson Townslee is the town clerk and justice of the peace of Pownal Centre, quiet and peaceful community of 150 persons which has been selected by the United Nations as its choice as the graphic representation of UN peace aims.

Arthur H. Burke, born in Pownal Centre in 1882, has been sheriff of the township for six years. In all that time Sheriff Burke hasn't had to jail a single person. "We just don't have any serious crime," Sheriff Burke said. Good Vermont stock makes law-abiding people. While the rest of the world is plagued with juvenile delinquency, Pownal Centre, UN's choice as the epitome of peace, sits back and wonders why parents can't manage their young'uns. The centre has never had a case of juvenile delinquency.

Bees at Fire Keep Crowd Back So Firemen Work

Dar-es-Salaam, Tanganyika, Oct. 23 — (Reuters) — When a fire broke out near gasoline storage tanks here today, the fire brigade found their task complicated by a swarm of bees, disturbed and infuriated by the flames. Despite burns and stings the fire brigade completed their task. "At least the bees kept the crowd back," a fireman commented.

PRIVY COUNCIL FINDS QUEBEC ACT IS ULTRA VIRES

Legislature Cannot Claim Bank Deposits That Are Unclaimed After 30 Years

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 23 (CP Cable) — The Privy Council, in a judgment handed down today, found ultra vires of the Quebec legislature, the 1939 statute relating to ownership of bank deposits unclaimed after 30 years.

The judgment, read by Lord Simn expressed the view that the provincial legislature had entered the field of banking which was a federal responsibility under the British North America Act.

The act in question was an "act respecting certain vacant property without an owner" under which the Quebec Attorney-General instituted proceedings against the Bank of Montreal in November, 1940.

The action alleged the bank was a "credit institution" within the meaning of the act and that deposits held by the bank more than 30 years were "vacant property and without an owner."

Court Supported Claim

The Quebec Court of King's Bench supported the attorney-general's claim. The Bank of Montreal and the Attorney General of Canada appealed to the Privy Council which found for the appellants and ordered the respondents to pay costs.

The judgment said none of the judges who dealt with the case in Canada accepted the contention that the statute did not apply to hands in general and the Bank of Monteal in particular. The Privy Council agreed with this view.

The real issue was a constitutional question: First, does the exclusive power of the Canadian parliament to legislate in the matter of banking established under the British North Amercia Act, established the validity of provincial law dealing with unclaimed bank deposits and second, do provisions of the Dominion Bank Act conflict with Quebec legislation rendering it invalid.

Not Trust Money

"If the true subject matter of the Quebec statute is 'banking,' it is ultra vires of the provincial legislature; if its provisions conflict with the Federal Act, the Federal Act must prevail. The answer therefore to either question in favor of the Dominion is sufficient to invalidate its provisions."

The judgment then dealt with the arguments submitted and concluded that "money deposited with a bank is not trust money which the trustee must preserve and not use; on the contrary it is lent for use and the bank is not a trustee but a debtor to the depositor.

"The difference between property and possession of deposits does not come into question; the only obligation under which the bank lies is to repay a like sum in like currency."

The province had contended the bank must repay money it held to the legal claimant but the province could determine who that legal claimant should be.

Maori Districts Important Factor In N.Z. Politics

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

Wellington, N.Z. (CP)—One of the brightest features of New Zealand general elections is always the campaign for the four Maori seats in the House of Representatives. The Maori election this year will be held on November 6, the day before the polling for the 76 European seats in the House.

Although the four Maori seats are in all respects equal to the others and the Maori M.P.s have full rights with European members, the Maoris have their own ways of conducting election campaigns.

Maoris are natural orators and there are always many anxious to stand for Parliament. Those who fail to gain nomination for one of the main political parties often stand as independents and it is not unusual to find eight or nine candidates for a single seat. Nominations for the coming election have not yet closed, but numerous candidates have already announced that they will stand.

Sometimes two or more candidates arrange a joint election meeting. They stand at different sides or ends of the hall or meeting house and address the audience in turn. The one who wins greatest applause takes over the meeting while his rivals withdraw. Then the audience and the favored candidate discuss the political situation at length, often until two or three in the morning.

Many candidates are chieftains or men of high descent and in the past the opinions of tribal elders have had the greatest bearing on results. In recent years, however, the European political divisions have been more decisive and all four seats are at present held by official Labor nominees.

Opposition Hopeful

However, the National party says it hopes to capture at least two of the Maori seats. In one Sir Apirane Ngata, a former Cabinet Minister, who was narrowly beaten at the last election after 38 years continuously in Parliament, is again standing for the party.

The four Maori electorates cover the whole of New Zealand, three in the North Island and one in the South. Maoris have been represented in Parliament for 80 years, since the early days of parliamentary government in the Dominion. Persons of more than half Maori descent must vote in the Maori electorates, but halfcastes may vote as Maoris or Europeans as they prefer.

Until 10 years ago voting was by declaration, but with the increase of literary Maoris now have a secret ballot in the same way as Europeans. However, no rolls of Maori electors are prepared. Natives give their name, age, tribe and sub-tribe at the polling booth and having identified themselves to the satisfaction of the returning officer, are given voting papers Tribal pride and the general outlook of the race ensure that there are few abuses of the system.

Maori M.P.s almost always speak in the House in English and, indeed, are often by far the best speakers in Parliament. They are permitted, however, to speak in Maori and have their speeches interpreted.

Several Maori M.P.s have become Cabinet Ministers, and have administered European portfolios as well as that of Native Affairs with conspicuous success.

Week in Jail And Seven Lashes For Five Youths

Kingston, Oct. 23 (CP)— Five youths were sentenced yesterday to one week in jail and seven strokes of the strap each for indecent assault of two girls under the age of 16. Six juveniles who pleaded guilty to a similar charge were placed on suspended sentence of two years each by Magistrate James B. Garvin in city court.

Those sentenced to jail and lashes were Wilfred Giberson 17, Albert Davis 16, Robert Warmington 17, Arthur Gray 16 and Norman Pappa 16, all of Kingston.

The offence took place Oct. 14 when the girls were dragged into the women's washroom by the 11 boys involved.

FALLS INTO BONFIRE

Brantford, Oct. 23 (CP)— Two year old Brian Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chase, Burford, is in the Brantford General Hospital, suffering from burns to the front of his body and face. The lad is reported to fallen into a bonfire near his home in Burford. He was attended by Dr. A. G. Tellson, Burford, and brought by ambulance to the hospital.

His condition is reported today as good.

STABBING REMAINS PUZZLE

Sudbury, Ont., Oct. 23 (CP) — The stabbing during the night of 50-year-old Alex Lindstrom of adjacent McKim Township remained a puzzle to police today. After a call at 5:15 a.m. they found him at his home with cuts about the face and neck. He related he was at a party — he didn't say where—was unconscious for a while and then walked home. Police have been unable to find the weapon. Lindstrom is in hospital where his condition is said to be fairly good.

PICKED OVER BULBS

Stratford, Oct. 23 —(CP)— The thief who stole three bushels of bulbs from the city parks board warehouse Monday night was not only a tulip-fancier, but a fussy one. He picked over the thousands of tulip-bulbs and rejected the culls.

30 Killed in Java as Japanese Sea Mines Explode

Batavia, Java, Oct. 23—(Reuters) — Thirty people were killed and 27 wounded when 18 Japanese sea mines exploded at Menado, Celebes. The Netherlands news agency reported today. A report received in Batavia today from Menado said the mines exploded while a Dutch naval mine disposal squad was engaged in rendering them harmless.

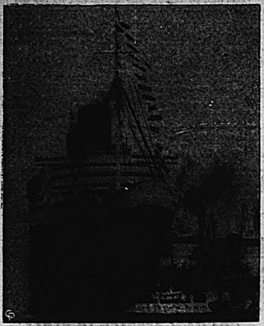
MAIDEN PASSENGER RUN OF QUEEN ELIZABETH



The Queen Elizabeth, world's largest luxury liner (84,000 tons) is shown being nudged from her dock by tugs on the start of her maiden voyage as a passenger ship. Her skipper, Commander Sir James Bissett, said that he would not attempt to set a speed record for the Atlantic crossing. The vessel's speed became famous during the war when she made numerous crossings, virtually unescorted with thousands of soldiers aboard. Uncompleted when the war broke the Queen Elizabeth sped to the United States, where she was converted into a troopship. Even in a heavy gale, the big ship averaged 29 knots, well ahead of the speed of 27.50 knots required to keep her on schedule.

MYSTERIOUS BLAST

Copenhagen, Oct. 23 — (AP) — Danish naval authorities said today they believed the explosion of 20 tons of German munitions, dumped into the sea by Britain after the war, was responsible for a mysterious blast which yesterday rocked the city of Aarhus, Jutland. What caused the explosion was not determined.

Jap Firemen Parade with Creaky Old Vehicles

Tokyo, Oct. 23 — (AP)—Japanese firemen today paraded their might and equipment — creaky, antiquated vehicles — and Americans, after taking one horrified look, rushed to check their portable fire extinguishers. The occasion was fire prevention week.

Woman Lawyer Can Cook Too

Regina, Oct. 23. (CP)—Regina Lawyer Dorothy Greensmith recently celebrated the 21st anniversary of her admission to the Saskatchewan bar by baking a cake and sending it overseas.

The fiftyish staff member of the attorney-general's department of Saskatchewan's C.C.F. government said it was the human element that made the law profession interesting.

"Cases never become routine to me because of the people involved. I always feel that every conviction is a real tragedy in a private family."

Part of Miss Greensmith's work now is handling estates of deceased veterans which she finds "gratifying" because of the appreciation shown by veterans' relatives who do not care for the burden.

A stenographer in the attorney-general's department following the First Great War, she decided to continue her education and attended the law college at the University of Saskatchewan. Miss Greensmith received her degree in 1925 and was admitted to the bar the same year.

"By staying away from downtown where I would have spent my money I was able to save enough to put myself through university," said Miss Greensmith, who makes tennis and gardening her main hobbies.

She believes there is a place for women in the legal profession "but women lawyers should remember to be feminine and not to attempt to ape men."

Italians Drink Peroxide Milk

New York, Oct. 23. (CP)—A simple method of sterilizing milk by stirring in a small amount of hydrogen peroxide, the familiar antiseptic, is being used n Italy.

The milk is said to taste better than pasteurzed milk, an American Chemical Society magazine reports, and sterilization is complete in three days. The idea has been studied before, but an Italian chemical company in Milan, Italy, apparently solved the problems of producing hydrogen peroxide that is high enough in purity, stability and concentration to be used in milk.

American investigators are studying the treatment. Containers for the peroxide-treated milk have to be made of tinned iron, aluminum, glass or clap products since the peroxide is reactive to iron, copper, lead and alkalies.

MORE NATURAL RUBBER

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—Approximately 20 per cent more natural rubber than at present will go into the manufacture of auto and truck tires and other products in the United States during the first quarter of 1947, the civilian production administration announced yesterday. At the same time, James W. Sears, director of C.P.A.'s rubber division, disclosed that the agency is considering an upward revision of natural rubber allocations to

MAY BE NEW CAPITOL OF THE WORLD

With the support and approval of the board of estimates, Mayor O'Dwyer has announced that the City of New York has offered a portion of Flushing Meadow Park, Queens, to the United Nations as its permanent home. The site consists of about 350 acres, once the scene of the world's fair (1939-40). It is estimated that the project can be built at this location fof $65,000,000. If United Nations accepts the site, the city is prepared to carry out the terms of the offer. In upper photo is a view of the area during the world's fair and lower photo shows an architect's drawing of the proposed world capitol.

London Letter

By JACK SULLIVAN.
(Canadian Press Staff Wr'ter)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 23 (CP)—There's no doubt that Britain can make it, but to an old-time prowler around the Manufacturers' Building at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition, this country's government-sponsored post-war exhibit is no better than the pre-war "ex."

The "Britain Can Make It" show whips its Canadian counterpart in the matter of display. The picasso-like settings sometimes are bewildering to the visitor who hasn't a catalogue and more than one person has been seen admiring the wierd trappings, completely overlooking the exhibit.

The lighting effects give the impression of an extravagant scene from a Hollywood musical. Parachute-silk ceiling-to-floor drapes line the corridors and odd-shaped plastic sections. In some ways it's like banging through the C.N.E.'s "House of Mirrors."

There are no eager attendants to pass out literature, ready with pencil and order-book to do business on the spot, because most of these "luxuries," which form an everyday part in a Canadian home are marked in bold, black type: "Available Later" or "Available soon." The export market is the first customer.

Despite the garish settings, it is a matter-of-fact show. Women look longingly at the labor-saving kitchen devises and gadgets, at the electric irons with four or five "heats," read the "later" or "soon" signs and pass on. There are no excited comments no apparent enthusiasm.

As one woman, viewing a model kitchen said: "Britain can make it all right, but Britons can't have it."

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was reeding his paper and ma was reeding hers, saying, Really, William, I mean really, this makes me smile out loud.

You sound as though you were practically laffing, pop said, and ma said, The Daily Speeker has been running a series of letters on the question of whether men or women make the best drivers. It's not a question at all for land sakes, it's an established fact, because there's simply no comparison, she said.

You mean everybody knows that men are far and away the best drivers, pop said. That's very broad minded of you my dear, he said, and ma said, You mean men think they're such wonderfill drivers, but there's many an accident between the thought and the fact, unfortunately. Nine out of 10 men dont even know the meening of careful driving. They act as though they were in a Roman chariot instead of an automobile. They act as if they never had a minute to spare or a second to lose. They'll dash up behind you in the mist of traffic and then put on their brakes with a shock that must be enough to dislocate their teeth, or else they'll fly passed you without a hair's breath between their paint and yours. It really almost amuses me to watch them —from a safe distance, naturelly, ma said.

Well, I guess you're right, women are the only leisurely drivers, pop said. I saw one of them hold up about 40 cars at a downtown intersection today while she took off her gloves, pollshed her nales, arranged her hair, took an envelope out of her bag, sharpened a pencil and jotted down a few notes, spread peanut butter on a cracker and then put her gloves on again, he said, and ma said, Now William there's not a shred of a grain of truth in that.

Yes there is, too, I'll swear before a jury that she took off her gloves, pop said.

Not being quite the end of the subject.

Five Killed as Truck Goes Over Embankment in Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, Oct. 23—(AP) — Four German girls and an American soldier were killed and two other soldiers and eight German girls were injured when a truck plunged over a 22-foot embankment near Hersfeld while returning from a dance, United States 3rd Army announced Tuesday. The girls had been hostesses at a squadron dance.

Automobile Pioneer Dies

Chicago, Oct. 23 — (AP) — Charles C. Hanch, 78, a pioneer in the automobile industry, died yesterday after several weeks illness. He was chief of the automotive products section of the War Industries Board in the First Great War. He became general manager of the Maxwell Motor Company, Detroit, in 1919 and was named executive vice president of the Lexington Motor Company, Connersville, Ind., in 1921.

RATIONING DISCONTINUED

Fredericton, N.B., Oct. 23—(CP) —With the close of its fiscal year Oct. 31, the New Brunswick Liquor Control Board is tossing its four-year-old rationing system into the discard, board chairman W. C. Lawson announced here Tuesday.

8 Perspicacious* People

 According to Webster, this five-dollar word means clear-sighted—of acute mental vision or discernment . . . which pretty well describes the "eight out of ten" who plan to invest in Canada Savings Bonds.*

In recent advertisements we have been suggesting that the way to save money is to have a plan and stick to it.

Now comes this Dominion Government savings plan, ready-made for your needs. It enables you to add to your present holdings of Victory Bonds by the same tried-and-true method you used during the war; paying for your purchase in cash, if you like; but better still by convenient instalments, as you earn.

You found out for yourself, with every Victory Bond you bought, that this is a savings system that works . . . convincing proof that you can "save some for yourself."

Simply call at your Royal Bank branch, sign an application for one or more bonds, to be paid for by convenient instalments spread over a year if you wish. Keep up the war-time saving habit. Invest in Canada Savings Bonds.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

- Are as good as cash—backed by the Government of Canada . . .
- Can be bought for cash, or by instalments out of income, at any branch of this bank . . .
- Can be bought by salary deductions at your place of employment . . .
- Can be sold at any chartered bank any time, for what you paid for them, plus earned interest . . .
- Are available in four denominations: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.
- Are registered — each bond you buy is registered in your name at Ottawa.

BANCROFT

Lions Club Hold Monthly Meeting

Bancroft (Special)—At the regular semi-monthly luncheon of the Bancroft Lions Club some fifty three members were in attendance. The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada" after which all those present repeated the Lions' Grace in unison. Hotel Bancroft served a very hot evening meal and during the course the Lions disposed of some of their energy by singing several of the well-known songs from the Lions' song book.

After the toast to the King the members relaxed and President Lion Rolley Harryett commenced the business part of the meeting by having Lion Mike Burns read the minutes. Several discussions took place during the meeting and the chief subjects dwelled upon were that of the safety of the children crossing the three main intersections in the village on their way to and from school; some time was also spent regarding the further organization of a volunteer fire brigade for this village. During the past years there has been plenty of volunteers when a fire did occur but the lack of organization hindered the prompt action which a fire requires. Following the close of the regular meeting with the singing of The Maple Leaf, the chairmen of the various committees remained for an executive meeting.

Got Prompt Relief From Gas, Headaches, Dizziness

Also Suffered With Backache and Rheumatic Pains. Limbs, Joints and Muscles Sore and Painful. Tells of the Good Results Obtained by Taking Few Bottles of Syntona.

MR. J. H. SMITH

How often have you heard a friend or neighbour tell of the good results they got, simply by taking a few bottles of Syntona? This grand herbal compound is highly praised and recommended by men and women everywhere. Time and time again you read or hear how it has relieved people of common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels, or how it helped to rid them of gas, bloating and heartburn, lame, aching back, dizzy spells, nervousness or tired, worn-out feelings.

"I wouldn't take anything for the good results I got by taking a few bottles of Syntona," said Mr. J. H. Smith, 72 Harrison Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent statement.

"I had no appetite to speak of, but what food I did eat gave me gas, indigestion and sour acidity afterwards. I would get awful cramps in my stomach and belch up hot, sour liquids. Many days I had bad dizzy spells and throbbing headaches. Rheumatic pains had set in my joints and muscles. They often got so stiff and sore it was hard for me to get around.

"A friend told me about Syntona and this medicine has done me a wonderful lot of good. Now I can eat well again without having all that distress in my stomach, and I have a good appetite. The headaches and dizzy spells are gone away, the pains have left my back, joints and muscles and I sleep more soundly at night. As a result I feel better all over and don't get as tired as I used to."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how it can help you, too.

Boston Red Sox Dominate A.P. Major Loop All-Star Selections With Four Players

Cardinals Land All Three American League Positions

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dominated by Boston Red Sox with four members, the 1946 Major League all-star team chosen for The Associated Press by 122 baseball writers showed a strong American League complexion, with seven representatives to the National League's three.

St. Louis Cardinals, world series conquerors of the Red Sox, landing all three National League positions.

One player each from Detroit, Cleveland and New York Yankees completed the roster and gave the American League its huge majority.

Of the ten men selected (two pitchers were named), eight are former servicemen.

No player was a unanimous choice. Ted Williams drew the most support, the Boston Red Sox outfielder being named in 120 of the 122 ballots cast. Bobby Doer, his teammate, ranked next with 117 votes. Then came Hal Newhouser, Detroit Tiger ace left-hander, with 102, and Stan Musial of the Cardinals, with 96. Musial received 81 votes for first base, the rest for centre and right fields.

The selections:

Outfielders: Ted Williams, Red Sox; Dom DiMaggio, Red Sox; and Enos Slaughter, Cardinals.

First Base: Stan Musial, Cardinals.

Second Base: Bobby Doerr, Red Sox.

Third Base: George Kurowski, Cardinals.

Shortstop: Johnny Robinson, Yankees.

Pitchers: Hal Newhouser, Tigers, and Bob Feller, Indians.

The closest race developed for third base when Kurowski nosed out George Kell of the Tigers, 57 to 55. The widest divergence of opinion involved the catchers, nine receiving support.

One of the biggest surprises was the failure of Hank Greenberg, the majors' home run and runs batted in king, to receive a single vote.

Newhouser and Feller had little competition among the pitchers. Only three other hurlers, Dave (Boo) Ferriss of the Red Sox, Howie Pollet of the Cardinals and Johnny Sain of Boston Braves, received mention. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, who won three games for the Cards in the recent world series, did not get a vote.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

(By The Canadian Press)

Robert (Red Hamill and George (Wingy)) Johnston, Chicago, who each tallied twice as Black Hawks edged Detroit Red Wings 6-5.

Billy (The Kid) Taylor, Detroit, who aided in three tallies in the same game.

Gaye Stewart, Toronto, whose unassisted goal, his second of the game, with 17 seconds to go gave Maple Leafs 3-3 tie with Boston Bruins.

Charlie (Chuck) Rayner, New York, who turned in a stellar game in the nets as Rangers thumped Montreal Canadiens 4-1.

HERSHEY BEARS STILL UNBEATEN IN AMERICAN LOOP

Team That Finished Second Last Year Now Has Won Five in Row

(By The Canadian Press)

Hershey Bears once again are off to a flying start in the American Hockey League's Eastern Division.

Second place finishers last year after leading the league's eastern half until late December, the Bears notched their fifth straight victory without a defeat last night by overwhelming Philadelphia's Rockets 8-1.

The triumph boosted the Bears' sectional lead over the idle New Haven Ramblers to three points while the loss was the fifth in a row for the last place Rockets.

Pete Babando led the Hershey attack by scoring three goals, the Bears tallied twice in the opening session on markers by Pete Slobodian and Lloyd Gronsdahl. Gordie Bruce made it 3-0 in the first three minutes of the second period and then Babando came through with two goals in less than two minutes to give the Bears a 5-0 lead.

The veteran Phil Hergesheimer notched the Rockets' lone tally late in the middle frame and in the final session Babando scored his third counter and Frank Mario and Mark Marquess collected goals to make the game a rout.

Suffer First Loss

Cleveland's Western Division front-running Barons suffered their first loss of the season when Springfield Indians came from behind and scored four times in the third period to down the Barons, 614. Harry Frost rammed home what proved to be the winning goal at 18:30 of the final chapter. Frost also tallied the Indians' second goal while Johnny Holota scored twice to pace the Baron offensive. The victory was Springfield's first in three starts. Hank Goldup and Pete Leswick notched the Barons' other tallies. Springfield's other goal-getters were Pargeter, Bill Summerhill, Squee Allen, and Eldred Kobussen.

Springfield lost its goalie Yves Nadon late in the third period when he was hit with a puck over the left eye. The wound required three stitches. The game was held up 15 minutes before the veteran Floyd Perras substituted for Nadon.

Battle to Draw

In the only other game, Providence Reds battled Buffalo Bisons to a 4-4 tie at Buffalo. Goals by Murdo McKay, Fred Hunt and Roger Leger in the first period gave the Bisons a 3-1 lead but the Reds tied the count with a goal in the second by Johnny Chad and another midway in the third by Bus Brayshaw. After Hunt's second goal again put Buffalo ahead 4-3 with less than two minutes of the final frame left, Bill McComb slammed home the equalizer for the Reds 23 seconds before the final buzzer. Marcel Fillion notched Providence's first tally before the initial session was two minutes old.

PLAN KETCH VOYAGE

Boston, Oct. 24 — (AP) — A 30-foot ketch built in spare time, which carried Mr. and Mrs. Roland J. Rosinski from Detroit to Boston over a 4,000 mile route, was ready today for a more lengthy voyage to Miami, Bermuda and Caribbean waters. The couple sailed to Boston by way of the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence and Bay of Fundy and Atlantic coast.

Injury Added to Insult For N.H.L. Goalies as 22 Scored in Three Games

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Beware of the forward who holds his fire until he sees the whites of your eyes, then tries to blacken them.

That was the watchword today for the National Hockey League's goal-tenders, who had injury added to insult last night when the playmakers, besides poking a total of 22 goals past their six members, laid two of them low with even better-aimed pokes.

At that, the insults probably hurt most. For instance, goalie Bill Durnan's face must still smart from catching a puck full in the face, but how must he feel over the once-despised New York Rangers pouring enough rubber past him for a 4-1 victory over the Stanley Cup Canadiens right in Montreal?

For his poke in the eye, which necessitated four stitches, goalie Frankie Brimsek had considerably more compensation for his Bruins held out for a 3-3 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs at Boston. Goalie Johnny Mowers, making his first start in the Detroit Red Wings nets, came out unscathed physically against Chicago Black Hawks but on the wrong side of a 6-5 count.

Standings Scrambled

The results meant a scrambling of the league's young standings. The Rangers now are in an intoxicating first-place tie with Toronto, one point ahead of three clubs all tied for third. The Red Wings are a poor last with one point in four games.

An unassisted goal by Gaye Stewart with but 17 seconds to play gave Toronto their tie before a crowd of 13,900 at Boston. With Boston's Bill Cowley serving a penalty, the Leafs had replaced Broda with a sixth forward for the final 45 seconds, and the move paid off.

The tie was Boston's third in as many starts. They had taken a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period on Milt Schmidt's tally and played the Leafs even in the second when Toronto goals by Ted Kennedy and Stewart, his first of two, balanced Boston scores by Schmidt and Bill Shill.

Brimsek retired to the dressing room for repairs in the second period when Gus Bodnar, trying a golf shot, caught the fallen goalie in the face with his stick.

The Canadiens were leading 1-0 before a Montreal crowd of 10,448 when Edgar Laprade drilled a shot that caught Durnan square between the eyes, forcing a five-minute halt, in the second period. After that, the New Yorkers poured in four straight tallies.

Only Team With Two

Glen Harmon was the lone Montreal scorer, with the Rangers' goals going to Laprade, Phil Watson, Brian Hextall and Rene Trudell. The victory made Rangers the only team with two in the win column.

Playing before a crowd of 11,679 at Detroit, the Red Wings spotted Chicago a 5-1 lead in the first session and fell one goal short in their uphill fight.

For the Hawks, Red Hamill and Johnston each scored twice with Max Bentley and Alex Kaleta getting the others. Roy Conacher was a two-goal scorer for Detroit the other going to Lundy, Jack Stewart and Ted Lindsay.

SPORT SHORTS FROM BRITAIN

By JACK SULLIVAN

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 23 (CP)—Probably the oldest, and most unique horse race in the world, the Newmarket Town Plate, went on as scheduled this year and the winner was ridden by a 17-year-old Irish girl, Mollie McGrath.

The race was inaugurated in 1666 by King Charles II to commemorate his accession to the throne. He ordered that "the plate is to be rid for yearly, the second Thursday in October for ever".

Much of the original character of the race remains. It is run over four miles, the only flat race of this length on the British turf; entries close about half-hour before the start and prizes to first, second and third jockeys are valued at about £30 ($120).

It was a local affair until some years ago when women began to take part. In 1940, the last time the race was held, a duke's sister, a jockey's sister, a bookmaker's daughter and the daughters of four trainers took part.

Only professional jockeys are barred by the clause which reads "no man is admitted to ride. . . that is either serving man or groom".

Here's a touch to take the chill out of these breezy October days: The annual Oxford-Cambridge boat race will be held March 29 next at 5:15 p.m., instead of the usual 11 a.m., start.

The late start is enforced by the tides.

Josef Szczygiel is mortified, that's what.

He filled out his weekly football coupon, placed it in his wallet and went out to post it. At the post-office he discovered police station. It had been The wallet was handed in at the policse station. It had been dropped into a house letter-box. Had it been posted, his entry would have netted him the record price of £40,747 ($162,988) on his penny chance.

To complete his mortification, more than £3 was missing from his wallet.

Billy Baxter, Nottingham Forest football club halfback, has figured in the shortest transfer in the game's history. He moved to Notts County, whose ground is three minutes' walk from Forests.

The transfer price wasn't revealed.

GIVES UP CHAMPIONSHIP

London, Oct. 24 —(CP)— The snooker and billiards champion door that Australia's Horace Lindrum and others have been battering at for the last 2o years, has been opened wide. Joe Davis has thrown away the keys and declared it an open house.

"Mighty Joe," who has held the world's snooker title for so long—since it was first put up in 1927—that it is known as the "Davis Cup," has given up championship play — just because he wants some of the others to have a chance.

THE BIG SEVEN

(By The Canadian Press)

Roy Conacher and Billy (The Kid) Taylor, Detroit Red Wings forwards, each notched three points last night as Wings dropped a 6-5 decision at Chicago Black Hawks and moved into a three-way tie with team-mate Syd Abel, held scoreless, for first place in the National Hockey League scoring race with five points apiece. Chicago's Max Bentley and Toronto Maple Leaf's Ted Kennedy are tied for second spot with four points. Six players are grouped with three points apiece for third berth.

The leaders:

WEST COWHANDS MAKING MONEY AT N.Y. RODEO

Bud Linderman Leading Parade With $7,500 in Prize Money

By JACK HAND

New York, Oct 24. (AP)—Riding the old Manhattan trail for the 21st time ,the lean weather-beaten cowhands from Canada and Western United States are giving blase New Yorkers their annual taste of live horse opera with the "world championship rodeo".

Sophisticates who look down the end of the nose at such 'corn' may be surprised to learn that the cow 'rasslin' will draw about $1,500,000 into the Madison Square Gardens coffers during its 52-performance stand. Only the circus does better.

Unofficial estimates place the total attendance at 650,000 by the time of the Sunday night closing.

Everett Colborn, a ranch operator from Dublin, Texas, owns most of the 700-head herd of stock used in the two-hour performance and is a major stockholder in the organization that runs the annual event. Gene Autry, the star performer and radio and movie ace, also owns a piece of the show as does the Garden Corporation.

Current leader of the 200 competing cowboys is a 24-year-old rider from Red Lodge, Montana, Bud Linderman, who has been at the business seven years or since he was 17. If it wasn't for a broken neck that sidelined his brother Bill for the rest of the season, Bud probably still would be just a runner-up. The elder Linderman boy was the all-around champion cowboy last year and led in 1946 until he was injured in August at Deadwood, S.D.

Top man of the New York show figures to take away about $7,500 of the $154,000 prize money. But the season, now almost over, runs about 11 months and rewards it highest winner with $25,000 income

Although the average hand grosses about $7,000 annually, Earl Lindsey, business representative of the boys, figures a cowhand has a good year if he winds up with $3,000 net to take back home for the winter.

Teddy Morris Says 10-yard Rule NotBeingEnforced

Toronto, Oct. 24 — (CP) — In Eastern Canada's "test season" of football's 10-yard interference rule, a first-class controversy shaped up today not so much over merits of the regulation, but over alleged abuses of the help it permits teammates to give their ball-carriers on the way to the opposing goal.

The finger was pointed squarely at the teams in both the east's leagues that challenge for the Dominion championship Grey Cup—Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Wildcats.

Even coach Ted Morris of the champion Toronto Argonauts, who resists any attempt to "Americanize" the Canadian game, conceded that spectator thrills were added when the three-yard interference rule was extended to 10, thus eliminating for a trial season that last major difference in the Canadian game as played in east and west.

"So long as it stays at a 10-yard limit and is enforced, I won't kick," said Ted. "But it isn't being enforced. For instance, the rule says only men on the line can interfere for 10 yards, but Montreal use their backfielders for blocking all the time."

Kansas City Pla-Mors Move to First Place

(By The Canadian Press)

Kansas City Pla-mors took over undisputed possession of first place in the United States Hockey League's northern division, by out-classing Fort Worth's Rangers 9-1 last night.

Johnny Muretich and Paul Platz each scored three goals to pace Kansas City. The Pla-mors held to one goal in the first period, put on a spurt in the middle session to score five times and added three more in the final stanza. Fowler tallied twice and Harms once for Kansas City. The Rangers' only goal came in 15:28 of the final period when Johnny Baby tallied.

In the league's only other game Dallas Texans, noticeably strengthened by between-season additions to their roster, opened their season with an 8-4 victory over Tulsa's Oilers. Ken McKenzie scored, three goals for the Texans, and Jerry Belemare, Mickey McKay, Bobby Thorpe, Boothman and Jaydee McArthur tallied the others.

Scotty Mair notched two goals for Tulsa and Vinnie Hellyer and Buck Jones supplied the other pair.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

Whether the heavyweight championship will continue to reside in Canada or be torn off Whipper Watson's head and carried away to Iraq on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean will be decided here tomorrow night.

• • •

Emir Badui the wrestling Sheik gets his asked for chance against the B. E. champion in the arena ring and there will be no time limit on Friday night for the Sheik to sthreik over. Badui claimed that last week's bout was given a shortened life and that another few minutes and he would have had Whipper completely crippled which of course would have meant that the Empire crown would have passed sadly over to the Arabian. Actually there is no good reason for doubting the timekeeper's word that he stuck right to the second on the sixty-minutes time limit.

In any case this time they'll have the whole of the night to settle it. Apart from the Arab's squawk over the time, the match proved to be one of the most interesting seen here. The Sheik is different and Watson was the first to admit it after the bout. "He's a problem alright but since he's come so far for the championship I'm willing to give him another bout." Careful Whipper, the colorful desert-man might not give you the same break this time.

• • •

Besides the important main event Friday's card has two outstanding preliminaries In the semi-final handsome Frank Taylor of Hollywood meets the new Russian threat Kola Kwarianni the great wrestling Cossack. Kwarianni wears his native dress while in North America and makes a magnificent figure in his fur hat and Cossack riding togs.

In the third bout the clever and slippery Jim Dobie comes in to test Natie Brown the ex-fighter who stayed ten full rounds with world champion Joe Louis.

President Don Thomas of the Belleville City and District Baseball League unofficially presented the handsome Kelleher-Robinson Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the loop championship to the victorious Batawa team yesterday at a luncheon held in the Recreation Hall of the Batawa plant.

Strangely enough, there was not a member of the team present for they were speeding on their way to Chatham where right now they are in the throes of championship battle with the squad of that city.

• • •

The trophy was presented to Dr. Karel Burz, vice president of the Batawa company at the luncheon of executives and department heads of the company. M'sieu Art. Duncan, ubiquitous editor of the Batawa Bugle, introduced the baseball representatives to the gathering and they were given a warm reception.. ... ...

• • •

Prexy Thomas garnished his presentation of the lovely silverware with gems of verbal but timely thought. He extolled the virtues of the Batawa club and informed the execs that they had a squad they should be proud of. And the boys forgot the day Ducky threw their prize hurler "Smoky" Smith out of the game and roundly applauded the prexy's Churchillian efforts.

• • •

He and his executive as well as all connected with the league were damwell proud of the diamond accomplishments of the loop champions Mr. Thomas told his audience after they were roundly gorged on one of the tastiest chicken dinners I have ever tasted. He had, he said, quietly secreted a piece of luscious pineapple pie in one of his hunting coat pockets, (the other was filled with chicken wings), predicted that the Batawa squad would win the title and the trophy.

• • •

"When I first saw the trophy" he said, as he beamed on his audience, and hastily replacing two pieces of Batawa silverware which through some strange manner had found their way into his hunting boots, "the first thought that came into my head was, 'How nice it would look in the Batawa Recreation Room.' "

• • •

That, ladies and gentlemen, was diplomacy touched up with a little mental stratey. Don forgot, or at least it must have slipped his mind, the day he wooed a pretty RCAF WAC at Trenton how nice the trophy would look in "Moose" Mathews' fire-fighting emporium at the station.

• • •

But you've got to hand it to the guy. He told his distinguished audience, seriously, how proud he was of the Batawa squad and that the whole city and district were pulling for a win today in Chatham and the title clincher on Saturday. Then ordering his third plate of delicious chicken, corn, peas, dressing, potatoes, and reminding a pretty waitress that he would probably remain for supper, the loop president sat down, to the accompaniment of salt and pepper shakers, knives, forks, two sugar bowls, a pie plate and 2 of the Batawa trophies which jangled on the floor as he grabbed his chair.

Speaking of Chatham, the boys who sit in the seats of the municipal mighty in that city welcomed the baseball invaders from this district in a royal manner today. This morning the mayor and members of his council arranged a sight-seeing trip for Bill Easton and his crew and at noon today they were entertained at a luncheon tendered them by the Chamber of Commerce. If any city aldermen read this, we're N-O-T fooling.

That is the true Canadian spirit of hospitality and sportsmanship. The mayor of Chatham and his council are to be commended on their gesture and they have set an example that is well worthy of emulation by other municipal bodies. It is things like that, that make a fellow feel proud he is a Canadian. The columnar orchid goes to His Worship, the Mayor of Chatham.

Don Barrett nursing a sore right knee received when he forgot to duck when a speeding Boston Olympics defenceman charged him in a practice session down Boston way the other day, returned to the city yesterday to recuperate before reporting to the Stratford Junior "A" squad for regular duty.

Barrett liked the treatment he got in Boston and was assured that there would have been a permanent berth for him on the Olympic squad, if he had not made arrangements with: the Stratford team. He centred Peni Lund, and Eddie Berry, the first string wings on two occasions and his work caught the eyes of the railbirds as well as the Olympic management.

• • •

He learned a lot, too, he says. He now holds his head up when charging into a defence. On one occasion he sped in to the opposing defence zone with the goalmouth looking as large as a barn door when suddenly a sweatered atomic bomb hit him. He sailed through the air and crashed down on the ice seven feet away. Opening his eyes he saw a snorting defenceman standing over him. "That'll learnya to keep your head up when you come in to the defence" the big pallooka growled as he skated away. It did.

U.S. Senator's Son Found Dead

Shreveport, La., Oct. 24 (AP)—The death of 31-year-old John H. Overton, Jr., son of the United States Senator, from a pistol wound last night was classified as a suicide. Overton, an assistant United States attorney, was found dead in his office. A German pistol was lying on the floor.

SENTENCED FOR ROBBING

Los Angeles, Oct. 24 (AP) — Eugene Striplin, who confessed kidnapping and robbing showman Earl Carroll of $240 in cash and stealing his automobile, was sentenced yesterday, to serve from five years to life in San Quentin prison. He was arrested a few hours after the robbery, Oct. 4.

Alonzo Stagg, 84, Football Coach, To be Honored

(By The Canadian Press)

Alonzo A. Stagg, 84, the Connie Mack of college football, was scheduled to arrive today at the scene of his greatest triumphs when the College of Pacific team, of which he is coach, reached Chicago for Saturday's game with Northwestern. It was at the University of Chicago that "Mr. Football" directed 444 games of his 542 contests over 56 years. Stagg is to be honored at a banquet Friday night and during the college fixture the following day.

While a student at Yale Stagg earned a place on the first all-American team to be named by the late Walter Camp. He invented the tackling dummy at Yale in 1889 and became first coach of University of Chicago in 1892, remaining there until 1932.

Looking some distance ahead, arrangements were announced yesterday for a soccer match at Glasgow May 10 between Great Britain and a continental team chosen from Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

Fourth arrest in connection with alleged doping of Old Westbury at Tropical Park last March was announced yesterday at New York by the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Association. The latest to be charged is James Scaffidi, Philadelphia horse owner.

Knocked out by Joe Louis in the fourth round of a bout at New York back in 1935, Paulino Uzcudun, now 45, was quoted last night in his home town of Madrid, Spain, as wanting to return to the United States to "beat Joe Louis" for the heavyweight crown.

Parkdale Lions kept their unbeaten string intact by beating University of Toronto 4-2 last night in the first game of last night's Ontario Rugby Football Union junior doubleheader at Toronto. Ajax withstood a late Balmy Beach rally to hold an 8-6 edge in the nightcap.

The executive committee of the International Soccer Federation of Zurich, Switzerland, yesterday announced the barring of Russia from European games on the ground that the Soviet had ignored an invitation to join the governing body.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By JIM McCURDY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Vancouver, Oct. 24 — (CP) — Something new is on the sport horizon for Vancouver come those rainy winter evenings just around the corner. It's professional basketball — the kind that draws big money in the south and east — and plans are underway for a Vancouver entry in a new Pacific Northwest League.

Classy amateur hoop teams are nothing new to Vancouver, home of many a Dominion championship club but this will be the first attempt to make the game a paying proposition.

But there are difficulties. John McClachan, a basketball warrior of the thirties himself, has taken the job of business agent for the new league which reports say will be part of an international pro hoop setup operating in Toronto and the U. S.

His main worry is getting a Vancouver team together to provide west coast Canadian competition for other P.N.L. teams.

The wily Mr. McClachan is said to have approached Victoria Dominoes veteran guard Porky Andrews for the coaching job with the thought that maybe Porky will bring with him a lot of Victoria stars, such as Art Chapman, Doug Peden and others. He's also after Vancouver's Sandy Robertson and was also after Dominoes' Norman Baker until that worthy signed a contract with a Chicago pro loop at a reputed $4,800 a year.

The amateur boys may be attracted by the salary lure which reports say is something like $100 a game in Toronto. What Mr. McClachan may be willing to offer is not yet known.

Meanwhile the British Columbia Basketball Association isn't saying much — yet. At its recent meeting McClachan declined to stand for re-election as secretary in view of his new pro connections and the amateur moguls were sorry to see him go.

But, surprisingly, they seem to favor establishment of the pro setup as a sort of basketball revival in Western Canada.

The Soviet government announced the creation of an award of "excellent sportsman", at Moscow yesterday, for presentation to promoters of physical culture.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Look out for the flood . . . while the football coaches still are in mid-season crying form, college basketball tutors are beginning to shed copious tears about the lack of practice space . . . several schools — Villanova, Indiana, Virginia to name a few — have been using their gymnasia as temporary dormitories and the cages can't manoeuvre between bunks . . . A lot of others find there are more sports - minded students than there are seats in the gyms so they're having season-ticket trouble . . . Wayne College of Detroit, has been dickering to rent the state fair grounds colisium for a "home" court.

One-minute Sport Page

First Flight, who appeared to be the best of the two-year-olds in winning the Belmont Futurity, won't be nominated for the Kentucky Derby — which likely will save a lot of dough for future book bettors . . . Leo Houck, veteran Penn State boxing coach, will stage a series of high school boxing clinics this fall, using his college fighters to demonstrate.

Natural Conclusion

Dumb Dan Morgan say that Jack Britton and Ted Kid Lewis fought each other 22 times and never shook hands . . . probably by the last time they were so old that their hands shook anyway.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Akoolap Oxhead could learn to play winning hands of bridge with very little effort. He has already spent more time, sweat, and toil on the losing brand he is now using.

One of the easy clever plays to learn is the strip-and-endplay. The easiest of these is the automatic endplay. Like you will find in this deal:

NORTH
♠8 5 4
♥K J 6 3
♦8 2
♣A Q 5 2

WEST
♠K J 6
♥8 5
♦A K 5 4 3
♣10 9 7

EAST
♠9 7 3 2
♥9 7 2
♦Q 10 9 7
♣J 4

SOUTH
♠A Q 10
♥A Q 10 4
♦J 6
♣K 8 6 3

Assume you are the declarer in the south at a game contract of four hearts. West steps out and picks up the first two tricks. He does so with his king and ace of diamonds.

By the time he sees what happens on these two tricks, he will be warned not to lead that suit again. He will switch to the lead of a club. What will you do about it?

If you take the two spade finesses and they lose, you are sunk. You can afford to lose one but not two spade tricks. So, you must lend your attention to trying to save a spade.

Is there a way of saving a spade? Yes. You can save the second spade if west is forced to lead that suit. Or if he returns a diamond when you still have a trump left in each hand.

To force west to do one or the other of these acts, you must first strip him of hearts and clubs. So, take three rounds of trumps and two more clubs to strip him of these two suits.

Now lead a dummy spade and finesse the south ten or queen. It matters not after that who holds the other high spade. The endplay is automatic.

When west wins the spade, a return spade gives you both. If his return is a diamond, simply trump in dummy and throw away spade queen.

You knew the endplay was automatic. If your first finesse loses, west must be in the lead. Any return from there saves your second spade.

Endplays automatic make your plans emphatic.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 24 —(AP)— You may not realize it, but you buy a lot of power when you plunk down cash for a movie ticket. For instance, you can tell Winnipeg-born Deanna Durbin what to do.

Since she achieved maturity, Deanna has been experimenting with different kinds of pictures, order to widen her range. She has appeared in a Western, a murder mystery and psychological drama. The fans said, "nix; give us the Durbin of old."

So again Deanna is her lilting, charming self that moviegoers have become familiar with. Once again she is performing in a whimsical piece, this time called "I'll Be Yours." But now she is being chased by Tom Drake, substituting for Robert Cummings, who has grown out of that sort of thing.

"Wouldn't you like to do a drama without music some day?" I asked.

"You bet," Deanna declared. "But they wouldn't let me."

"They" means you, fellow customers. All because of you, she can't make a picture without pausing to burst into song three or four times.

But if she can't determine the bent of her own career, Deanna has definite ideas concerning her daughter's. "I figure Jessica will either hate show business or love it," she said. "In either case, it will be all right. But I won't let her start in it until she's able to decide for herself. . . ."

TOT PICKED UP BY SAFETY CRADLE

Toronto, Oct. 24—(CP)—Death missed Linda Conboy, 2½-year-old Toronto child, by a few inches Wednesday. When the tot ran out in front of a street-car near her home, the safety cradle on the vehicle picked her up and saved her from serious injury or possible death.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a walk with pop before supper and we started to go passed the big drug store, and there was a cardboard man's face in the window shaving itself with a imitation razor, and a big sine saying, Breezo Blades Are Best. The Breezo Organization Stands Behind Every Blade. Accept No Substitutes.

By gollies I'm clean out of razor blades, pop said. I owe a dett to the Breezo Organization for reminding me, so I'll try some Breezo blades. The Breezo Organization stood behind me and I'll stand behind the Breezo Organization, he said.

And we went in and the gerl at the perfume counter, said, Good afternoon, can I do something for you? and pop said, Well yes, you can let me have some Breezo Blades.

The razor blades are at the cigar counter, the gerl said, and pop said, Thank you, that means the cigars must be in the razor department.

And we went to the cigar counter and pop said, A package of Breezo Blades, please, and the man said, I'm sorry, but I'm just out of Breezo's, I can let you have a package of Gliding Marvels.

Does the Breezo Organization stand back of them? pop said, and the man said, Why no, the Glider Marvels are put out by the Twitch and Twitchitt people.

Then they must be substitutes, and the Breezo Organization advizes me to take no substitutes, pop said. They advize me right in your own window and I intend to stand fermly behind the Breezo Organization. Besides, I have a distinct impression that my wife is going to ask me to go out and play bridge tonight, but if the Breezo Organization have made it ethically impossible for me to shave, I'm afraid I must stay home with my books and my cigars. Benny, we'll stop at the soda fountain on our way out and drink a toast to the Breezo Organization, he said.

Which we did.

Look to Truman For Hint On Impending Strike

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Oct. 24 —(AP)— Strike-worried officials looked to the White House today for a possible sign of Presidential intentions toward the threatened walkout of 4,00,000 soft coal diggers.

Meanwhile, Interior Secretary J. A. Krug expressed doubt that the miners will quit their jobs on Nov. 1 —as John L. Lewis has intimated — unless a conference on new wage demands begins in Washington on that date.

In emphatic terms, Mr. Lewis has set a Nov. 1 deadline for reopening negotiations declaring that otherwise the government's contract with his United Mine Workers Union will be "void." By tradition, that would mean a strike, since the miners follow a "no contract, no work" policy.

"I don't see how I can be there Nov. 1," Mr. Krug told newspapermen last night in Boulder City, Nev.

While Mr. Lewis himself remained silent, William Blizzard, president of the United Mine Workers District 17 assailed what he termed the government's one-sided interpretation of the existing contract as "a plot by unscrupulous members of the Democratic party to destroy our union."

Simultaneously, the National Coal Association — commenting for the first time on the new crisis brewing in their mines — declared the strike threat constitutes "a challenge to the government's authority."

Some officials believed that President Truman, faced with a deadlock between his secretary of interior and Mr. Lewis, might deal with the matter at his (10.30 a.m., E.S.T.) press conference today.

Coal stocks today are much the same as when Mr. Lewis' miners struck for 59 days six months ago —something over a month's supply.

But the potential demand for coal, with the full winter ahead, is much greater than it was last April and May.

CHAPTER 36

"I thought Madge was here?"

"Did you see her?" Isabel said.

"I saw her from my window, walking in at the side gate. Perhaps she just wanted to look at Catherine. She still feels it was her fault."

"It absolutely wasn't Dennis said.

"With Miss Waterman gone, I do feel that the darling baby is out of the woods," said Catherine's Grandmother.

"And I'm the next one to go," Isabel said cheerfully, spreading honey on buttered toast for Pussy.

"Mummy, don't go!" Pussy said instantly, tears gathering in her eyes. "You're our Mummy."

"You go to Woodside, Isabel?" asked the older woman, her expression pained and sad.

"Yes, straight home." Only it wasn't home and never had been and never would be!

"You're alone there?"

"Avery's mother's with me, or rather, I'm with Avery's mother."

Dennis had not spoken; he was eating his meal in silence. He presently said that he was going to the factory.

"How do you go, Isabel?" he asked, getting to his feet.

"I'll telephone Martin to come for me tomorrow or next day."

"I see." His mother asked him if he would be back for dinner, and after a moment's absent-minded study of her face he said yes, he thought he would. Certainly he would. He would be back early.

"I think I'll go over and see Madge—she didn't come for breakfast," Isabel said. She walked out to the drive with Dennis. "Madge saw us," she told him. "I think I ought to talk to her."

"I think perhaps—she'd feel better."

He went without a glance, or another word, to his car. Isabel went back into the house; she was silent as she and Dennis's mother commenced the familiar routine of dishes and dusting.

"Funny that Madge didn't come over to breakfast," Isabel said uneasily after a while.

"Miss Carter is staying there while Catherine is ill," the other woman said. "I think she wanted to have it with her."

"Madge seems to feel that this scare about the baby is her fault. I wish she wouldn't. She's like a changed person."

"I don't think it's that, Isabel. Not all that, anyway."

"You think it's—" Isabel paused in the bathroom doorway her hands full of wet towels. "You think it's Dennis and me," she said slowly.

"Don't you?"

"Yes, I suppose I do." Isabel came into the bedroom and sat down on a chair, looking anxiously at Mrs. Hardisty. "What to do, Mom?" she said.

"I know what I ought to say, Isabel, and I know what I can't say," the older woman said, in her rational, even voice. Isabel's eyes narrowed slightly in surprise. It was not like Dennis's mother to admit a divergence between what was right and what was easy.

"I ought to say that this accident—this crisis—had no significance," said Mrs. Hardisty. "That if it had not happened, everything would be as it had been before. But it has happened—and I have seen—and I know that Madge has seen— that this is a hard time for you and Dennis."

"It is almost over," Isabel said in a lifeless voice, without a change of expression.

"Yes. But I suppose the effects of it are not over."

"Oh no," the younger woman conceded lifelessly, "they will never be over."

Toward noon she walked over to see Madge. It was a Saturday there was no school; Ann Carter, who was Madge's assistant, was burning rubbish in a little bush fire, with Pussy, Esme, and two or three other little girls dancing about her.

"Did Madge go down to the village?" Isabel asked.

"No, she's here —upstairs. Lying down. She said she had a headache."

Isabel went upstairs, thinking that Dennis and Madge had grown to be friends in this house, in the days when Madge had been asked over to have dinner with the Hardisty's only now and then, had been that Englishwoman, Mrs. Somers-Cox, who had opened a school across the lane. They had discovered their love for each other here, perhaps on some warm night when Dennis had walked home with her in the streaming warm moonlight, and she had said, "Stay with me, Dennis. I need you.

Today Madge's bedroom door was shut; Isabel rapped twice, with a wait between when she could feel the fast beating of her heart. Then she opened the door and went in.

Madge was lying on her back crosswise on the bed, her eyes on the ceiling. A folded handkerchief was in her hand, but she had not been crying. She moved her serious gaze to Isabel, as Isabel came in.

"Oh, hello," she said quietly Isabel went over to sit on the bed beside her, and somewhat timidly covered Madge's hand with her hand.

"I am terribly sorry, Madge," she said.

"What about?" Madge asked, in an interested, pleasant voice. Isabel felt that she was going to be difficult.

"About this morning."

"You mean," said Madge, "that I saw Dennis with his arm about you. That was alright."

Hard, she was very hard. There was no way of attacking this.

"This is all my fault," Isabel began.

"Yes, I think it's all your fault," Madge conceded, after a moment's thought. Isabel felt so dashed by this that for a full minute she could think of nothing to say.

"It was my choice in a way," she offered then. But in another way it wasn't—I had no idea what I was doing."

"I confess I don't understand American women," Madge said simply. "You had a man like Dennis—I know you loved him, and of course I've known all along that he loved you— he always will."

"I was crazy," Isabel admitted. "I didn't know how it would be —I didn't know what the children meant to me—or what Dennis did."

"Pity," Madge said, with the same unsympathizing brevity.

"And now it's all mixed up," Isabel finished, forlornly, somehow feeling that she was not making way.

Madge sat up, brought her feet to the carpet on the other side of the bed, went to the muslin-frilled dressing table and sat there, beginning to unpin the braids of her heavy, lifeless yellow hair.

"I don't see—honestly—how you can exactly call it mixed up," she said. "It seems to me perfectly plain. I loved Dennis, we were both free, and since there was nothing to prevent it, we were married. Now, naturally the only thing for me to give him up and give you the right of way."

"That isn't to be the way of it at all," Isabel said quickly. "It was an accident that brought me here, I never would have come. It won't happen again."

"Your coming or not coming wouldn't affect the fact that Dennis loves you," Madge said. "I knew it long before this week. I've always known it. But awkwardly enough for me, and you you too, and Dennis, I happen to be his wife."

"But you don't think," Isabel said, growing angry, and pleased to feel that anger would save her from tears and make what she had to say less emotional, too, and Dennis, I happen to stepped down, I would complacently be married to Dennis, and remember—always remember—that I had spoiled your life?"

"I don't know," Madge said coolly. "I have no idea what you would do. I know I am going away."

"Madge, please. If I go away today—if I never see him or you again—"

"I'm not thinking so much of you," Madge said. "I'm thinking of—several other considerations. He couldn't do that, anyway. I thought—I've thought for months —that by degrees I could win him to happiness—to not thinking of you. But that's over. It might have been that way—it never can be now."

Her dull thick hair hug in strings about her strong, plain face. She took up a brush.

"It can be that way," Isabel said.

"No, not now. I'm going away. That's settled."

After a minute of silence Isabel dared to say: "It isn't settled at all."

Madge turned suddenly and looked at the other woman through the brushed loosened strands of her hair.

"Isabel," she said roughly, "can't you see that this is hard for me? I know I'm behaving badly. I'm being unreasonable. I don't mean to be."

"I'm the one that's behaving badly," Isabel said.

"No—I've known, I've known for some time that I had to go away," Madge said. "But remember—remember that I found this work up here on the hill when I thought all life was darkness and sadness—this was the place Esme and I found, and it was so right. Don't blame me that I took it!

"It was like being a child again," she went on as Isabel, for sheer pity did not speak. "An orchard, and quiuet, and waking up in the morning not being afraid of anything, and the children—that seemed heaven enough..

"And then when Dennis and his mother came, and I knew the things were that he needed, and that a woman was one of them—her arms about him, and no talk of the past and no worry about the future, then—But there is no use talking about it! Anyway, I've had it. I can always remember that," Madge finished abruptly, turning about as she firmly pinned a braid into place.

"It's all yours still," Isabel said stubbornly. "You have more right to it than I have."

"It never was mine," Madge countered, going on busily with her hairdressing. "I know that now.. You're very beautiful," she went on abruptly, after a brief pause, "but it's not that. It's that you're simply in Dennis's blood, and he'll never get you out. I'm not going to make any particular fuss of goodbyes, but Esme and I are getting out," she said.

"That solves nothing," Isabel assured her warmly.

"John Somers-Cox and I grew up together, although he was ten years older than I, and naturally despised me when I was small," the other woman presently said, musingly following some line of thought of her own. "His sister Alice and I were of an age; Arthur was younger. I spent the long vacation with them once—I was fifteen, and John liked me, and of course it flattered me no end. Then for years we didn't see each other, he was in China, and I was working in a photographer's studio in London—arty photographs, children a specialty. I'd not married, I was well past thirty, and when he came back we saw each other again and he liked me as much as I'd once liked him. Everyone was immensely pleased—my mother especially."

"He was head of a boy's school?"

"And I took the smaller forms —it was quite fun. My boy was born, and then three years later Esme."

"You had a horrible time, Madge."

"I don't mean to make a martyr of myself, it's not that," Madge said in her brusque way. "What I was trying to say, I suppose, was that John was the good husband and the fine companion, and that we planned very happily together—we were going to have a bigger school—"

"But that you loved Dennis differently," Isabel supplied simply, as Madge stopped, scowling at her own reflection in the mirror and reaching for words.

"I suppose so," she said.

"Isn't that important? Doesn't that mean that you have the right of way?" Isabel argued.

"Why, my dear girl," Madge answered impatiently, "you love him, too, and he loves you. Let's not talk nonsense! Esme and I get out, and that's all there is to it."

"A fine chance of happiness we'd have, knowing what we'd done to you," Isabel said.

"I wouldn't die for it, my dear. No, Esme and I'll get out. We'll go to Canada first, I think, and she'll see her cousins there, and then we'll go on to London. There's a lot I want to get out of my mind—there won't be bombs now ,and houses falling, and the people running and screaming in the streets. All that's over—I want to have a hand in building things up again."

Isabel allowed her heart for one moment ' to consider the breath-taking prospect of herself and Dennis and the children safe here on the hilltop again; it blinded her eyes, and she lost what Madge was saying.

"I know what it is to be his wife without his loving me, but you've always had it—all of it!" Isabel presently heard, and she interrupted Madge in sharp rebuke.

"You can't say that, it's ridiculous! There is a tie between Dennis and me, we both know it—we had our young years together, our children. But we're not high-school girls, you and I, to talk about who loves us and who we love and who is insanely jealous and who likes Frank Sinatra and who is mad about Charles Boyer!"

Madge laughed her hearty deep laugh and the atmosphere cleared.

"We are women," Isabel went on soberly. "We know we have jobs to do, and we have to do them. I promise you that I will not see Dennis when I go away from here, and I'm going away tomorrow or next day. I'll get over it. I'll rejoice when you have a baby someday and write me about your school."

"No, I'm the one who's going away," Madge said quietly. "I'm the one who must forget. We both love the same man, but he loves you."

"And he is your husband," Isabel completed it.

"That's what I'm going to forget," said Madge.

There was a silence. Madge took off her loose cotton wrapper and hung it in the closet. Isabel sat on the foot of the bed, staring into space, a faint frown between her brows.

"It doesn't help much that we like each other," Madge said, and Isabel laughed without much mirth.

"I've made an awful mess of things,' she said sorrowfully.

hurt," the gunman snapped at the tram passengers and they flattened themselves against the trolley car.

"I had my jacknife out—I was frightened," confessed one passenger, 18-year-old Abe Enns of Niagara Falls, later.

One tram rider didn't lie down. He was R. W. Shiers, an engineer, who tackled the armed man and wrested the weapon from his hands. The man then fled from the car.

Soon afterwards, Constable John Jackson of Merriton arrested Nixon, a paper mill worker, at his home.

Police said Merriton residents told them there had been disputes for some time between Wirt and Nixon. Both are married.

PRESIDENT ASKS

In his speech which urged the International Assembly to get on with the business of organizing peace as rapidly as possible, Mr. Truman told the delegates that "the United States will support the United Natoins with all the sources that we possess."

He urged that the delegates reject "talk of war" but warned that "to permit the United Nations to be broke into irreconcilable parts by different political philosphies would bring disaster to the world." He did not specifically mention the existing tensions between the United States and Russia.

Supports Byrnes

Some American diplomatic authorities said the chief immediate effect of his address, which made clear that he supports the foreign policy operations of State Secretary Byrnes, should be to remove any doubts left in the minds of foreign diplomats as a result of the criticisms of Mr. Byrnes' policies voiced by former Commerce Secretary Wallace.

The comments of foreign delegates ranged from "very interesting" to Foreign Minister Molotov's statement to Mr. Truman himself that it was a "great speech". Mr. Molotov met the President as he left the U.N. Assembly building, on the former New York World Fair grounds.

VON PAPEN LEAVES JAIL

Nuernberg, Oct. 24 (AP) — Franz Von Papen finally left the Nuernberg jail yesterday three weeks after his acquittal of war crimes, and promptly charged the German denazifiction courts were shot through and through with former Nazis. The "gray old fox" of German diplomacy challenged the right of Bavarian denazification courts to try him, and said that he agreed with statements by Robt. A. Taft, United States Republican Senatir from Ohio about the war crimes trials.

MAY SEEK EXPLANATION

Berlin, Oct. 24 (AP)—United States authorities were reliably reported last night to be preparing a demand for an explanation from the Soviet military administration of reports that several hundred skilled German workmen and their families were being forcibly deported from Berlin for labor in Russian-occupied territory. The Social Democratic party of Berlin charged in a formal resolution that more than 200 such workers had been deported "against their will," beginning the day after the Russian-backed Socialist Unity party lost the city-wide election.

CATHOLIC HERALD REPLIES TO CRITICISM

London, Oct. 24 —(CP)— The Catholic Herald editorially called on Anglican archbishops today to quit "sniping and gibing at the Catholic Church."

Replying to criticism of Roman Catholic conditions for marriage between Catholics and non-Catholics by Dr. Cyril Garbett, Archbishop of York, the paper expressed "surprise that so little is being done to reciprocate the constant Catholic invitation to better relations."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 24 (CP) — The industrial and mining groups were narrowly higher at mid-day and the western oils were down narrowly. Trading continued in comparatively light volume and the total turnover for the first three hours was 475,000 shares.

Prices were higher in the industrial section for the paper, liquor and utility stocks and the foods showed a margin of losses.

Quemont continued to trade in heavy volume at a fractional advance and among the stronger base metals were Noranda, Hudson Bay, Mining Corporation and Normetal. The junior golds lived up and sizable gains were posted by Beaulieu, Armistice, Lagurre, Detta and Orlac. Negus gained 20 cents on the news of a new find on the property.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—Scattered rails and industrials, including food issues, managed to keep on the upside in today's stock market although many leaders operated in losing territory.

The latest batch of decontrols, brokers said, inspired further bidding for shares of companies expected to benefit. Another assortment of pleasing dividends and earnings provided scant stimulation. Observers thought that growing labor disputes, combined with threats of a coal strike, tended t oaccentuate investment and speculative caution. Resumption of erratic commodity shifts also restrained buyers.

In the Canadian list, liquors slipped in line with the trend in that group. Hiram Walker at midday was off 1 1-4 and Distillers Seagrams eased 1-4, C.P.R. was up 1-8.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Oct. 24—(CP)—Prices were steady on a plain quality supply of cattle in trade up to mid-session on the livestock market here today. A few weighty steers were $11.75-$12.60, butcher steers and heifers $10-$12, boners $8.50-$9.50, and a few butcher cows and bulls $8-$10. Calves were steady at $15-$16 for choice vealers with heavies $10-$13.50. Lambs were steady at $14.50 good ewes and wethers $13.50 bucks and $10 culls. Sheep were steady $4-$8.25. Hogs were steady, dressed, Grade A $20.25, Grade B1 $19.85 sows mostly $18. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle 120, calves 50, hogs 250, sheep and lambs 150. Unsold from yesterday were 600 head of cattle, mostly stockers.

HOGS

Toronto, Oct. 24 — (CP)— Grade A, dressed, bacon-hogs, were unchanged at Stratford to farmers $19.90, to truckers $20.05, delivered, unchanged at Hull $20 delivered, unchanged at Brantford $20.10 delivered, in markets reporting early today.

FAMILY HOSTEL NEAR HOSPITAL AIDS SOLDIERS

Bringing Wives and Families From Britain Aids Recovery of Injured Allied Soldiers in South Africa

Johannesburg, Oct. 23. (CP)—In what they described as "heaven", the families of five British soldiers are justifying a revolutionary experiment in psychology which a Rand soldier started as a means to help Allied soldiers who were seriously injured.

The experiment, which involves the transporting from Britain of the wives and families of these soldiers was first thought of by the commanding officer of the Baragwanath Military Hospital, Johannesburg.

The Y.M.C.A. was consulted and within a day and a half a house had been bought at Kenilworth.

This house, which is now a hostel run by Mrs. D. H. Glynn, the previous owner, is the home of five families from Britain, who look upon it as "heaven", because they are near their menfolk and can relax after their grim wartime experiences. More families are expected to arrive later on; as the idea develops.

A reporter who visited the hostel found a happy group of women drinking tea and eating buttered scones preparing for their daily visit to the hospital.

There were four women and their children in the hostel at the time: Mrs. J. E. Gullick, of London, and her son, age three, Mrs. I. Mooney, of Nottingham and her adopted boy, age one, Mrs. J. Dixon of Manchester and her six-year-old daughter, and Mrs. A. Riley, of Ireland, with her daughter, age three.

Break For Youngsters

The children are not yet accustomed to having unlimited quantities of rich food, and they were eating scones as though they were the finest pastries.

Mrs. Gullick interrupted the tea party to say how excited she and her husband had been to see each other again. She had last seen him three years ago.

Mrs. Mooney's husband has been in the army for ten years and has been in the Union since last Christmas. He is a survivor of Dunkerque and was taken prisoner in Malaya, where he contracted tuberculosis.

"My husband has improved so rapidly," she said, "that he now is awaiting discharge from the hospital."

Mr. Dixon was a "desert rat" and fought with the South Africans in the desert. He has been in hospital for three years, two of which have been spent in the Union. This couple was separated for five and a half years, until this scheme enabled them to be re-united.

Mrs. Riley's husband was in the R.A.F. in the Far East, and their reunion followed a break of nearly three years.

HOUSING PROBLEM SOLVED—FOR DOLLS

The all-plastic house is here at last, but it won't be much help to the thousands who are seeking homes; for it is a miniature house. Complete in every detail, even including window boxes, the miniature house is the latest creative toy—a building set in plastic—with which children can build their own. Tiny homes, shops, churches, theatres, supermarkets, parking stations, hamburger stands and firehouses may be built with the sets, all parts of which are made of vinylite plastic. ABOVE Barbara Clarke is constructing a dream house for her doll with one of the sets.

British Conferees Bewail Dad's Fate

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 23. (CP)—It was all very confusing when experts of 57 social, scientific, medical and educational associations in Britain sat down around the conference table and talked about Mom and Dad. The things they said!

Visitors might have been forgiven for thinking they were in the wrong room at the British Medical Association House. Perhaps this was the annual meeting of the Mutual Admiration Society—not a down-to-earth analysis of Mr. and Mrs. Britain and their offspring.

Cyril Bibby of the Eugenics Society said: "Today the father is practically disappearing. . .so much stress is being laid on the mother that the father seems scarcely necessary."

He had hardly taken his seat when William Griffiths of the National Union of Teachers popped up with:

"A husband comes home in the evenings to enjoy himself." Okay. But does he? How about it, Mr. Griffiths?

Poor Pa!

"The husband listens to the radio and reads the paper while his wife is slogging away, cooking and washing dishes.

"I do not think it makes for good family life. A father (get this, Dad) loses his influence with his children like this, and they only take notice of what mother says."

Things seemed to be going along swimmingly for Mom, but a woman got in the last word. Mrs. Margaret Langford of the National Froebel Foundation and mother of three children, said:

"Life for children is becoming very unhappy because father is left out in the cold."

She said servicemen fathers "lost touch" with what Mom has learned at maternity and child welfare clinics and when he comes back he has the old ideas about upbringing and they clash with the mother's.

Her parting shot: "In many cases the child would be happier if the father, as in the old days, had supreme control, and therefore was law in the house."

Visitors still wondered just who in the opinion of the experts wears the pants in the family.

Mom and Dad can "battle" that one out.

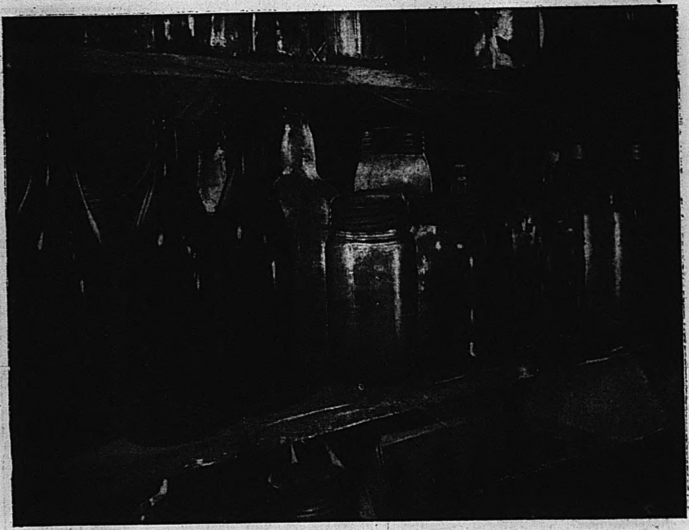
NINE MILLION IN BRITISH ZONE TOWNS

Hamburg, Germany, Oct. 23 — (Reuters) — The British News Service in Germany reported last night that 9,000,000 persons now are living in towns of the British zone of Germany. The figure is an increase of five per cent more than in 1939. The increase is attributed to the influx of refugees and a rising birthrate.



MISSING....

Bottles, jars, all sorts of glass containers are MISSING! The warehouse shelf, the wholesaler's storeroom, your retailer's shop . . . they're all feeling the bottle shortage. The shelves that used to be packed with full bottles, jars and containers are now empty—very empty. Your manufacturer and dealer are depending on you to return these empty bottles so that he can refill them again. You depend on him to deliver the goods you need. Doesn't it seem reasonable for you to help each other out? Remember, no bottle means no refill. Please gather up and return to the dealer ALL your empty bottles today.

WHY A BOTTLE SHORTAGE?

Canadian glass factories normally produce MILLIONS of bottles every month. The vital ingredient in bottle making is soda ash. The only big Canadian soda ash factory was strike-bound for months. Stocks of soda ash have been used up . . . bottle factories are closed down . . . bottles are not being made today. Beverage bottlers and all producers of bottled liquids must have your bottles back to keep going. Bottling plants will close down too . . . if your empties are not returned.

JOHN BRACKEN MEETS F. M. SMUTS AT UNO

British Speeches Show How Far Russia Antagonizes Non-Reds

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

One of the claims made in behalf of the Labor party in its 1945 campaign for control of the British Government was that it would be able to get along better with Russia than could Winston Churchill's Conservatives.

Now, 1½ years later, we find the Labor Prime Minister speaking bitterly of Russia's isolationism and propaganda warfare against every system except her own. Mr. Attlee, as the London dispatches point out, has taken a view very similar to that of Mr. Churchill in his famous speech at Fulton, Mo.

This cannot properly be termed a turn of events, since there never was any official indication that the Labor party would depart from traditional British foreign policy. Neither Socialism nor Communism has yet equalled the force of Nationalism. But it does serve to emphasize how far Russia has gone within a comparatively short period to antagonize non-Communist elements abroad with whom she might have been able to establish at least a modicum of co-operation.

This also is evident in the vociferous campaign now being waged for elimination or modification of the veto right in the U. N. Security Council, where Russian usage has weakened the support originally given the veto idea by Britain and, particularly, the United States. The latter, a reservoir of all the things which others covet, containing the industrial power which has decided two great wars and the most likely initial target for the next, has the best reasons of all for desiring to retain the veto for self-protection. United States interests are world-wide. She does not wish to have outsiders vote her, willy nilly, into positions at violent variance with these interests, no matter how wholehearted her support of the U. N. To that eftent, the United States' position on the veto is mucn like that of Russia.

But to have one country use the veto to help establish half a world of its own, vis-a-vis the other half, was never envisioned. It is such intemperance which has produced the strange picture of the United States withholding economic aid from Czechoslovakia, a country which Americans godfathered; of Messrs. Bevin and Churchill lining up together against the veto; and of British labor and Conservative leaders equally exasperated over Russia.

It indicates that the veto will eventually be eliminated or modified, perhaps depriving the great powers of a really needed device.

Deluded Driver Not Responsible Verdict of Court

Toronto, Oct. 25 — (CP) — A Toronto truck driver who suffered from delusions that his transport was under remote control by an electrical beam from the head office of his employer, preventing him from controlling the speed of the vehicle or bringing it to a stop, cannot be held responsible for a collision with a Toronto street car in which a motorman suffered injuries, Ontario Court of Appeal ruled yesterday. The decision reversed a judgment which granted $963 damages to the Toronto Transportation Commission and $475 to Thomas Buckley, operator of the street car, in their suit against the Smith Transport Company and the truck driver.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Oct. 25—(CP)—Synopsis: Strong southwesterly winds occasionally gale force are sweeping over Lakes Ontario and Erie in advance of a low pressure trough approaching from the west. An intermittent rain belt about 200 miles wide is moving across the provinces at 30 mph thus bringing an end to the protracted spell of good weather. The rain is followed by shifting winds bringing clearer conditions and cooler air from the west.

Trade Congress Defeats Motion Rapping Policy

Brighton, Sussex, Eng., Oct. 25 —(CP)—The British Trades Union Congress today defeated a resolution rapping British foreign policy. Prime Minister Attlee protested that the measure was filled with Communistic "misrepresentation."

In another resolution the T.U.C. urged the government to cut all relations with Spain — a move Mr. Attlee opposed on the grounds that outside interference strengthens Franco's grip.

The defeated resolution rapped British policy toward Greece, Spain, and Germany and declared:

"The relationship between the Soviet and this country has deteriorated during the past twelve months due to the policy of Anglo-American domination; and the isolation of the Soviet Union, along with the tying of the economy of Britain with that of capitalized America, in in our view extremely dangerous . . ."

G. B. Hunter of the Distributive Workers' Union, arguing for the resolution, declared : "If we throw in our lot with America, we are heading for inevitable war and the British Isles will be destroyed."

Harold Clay of the Transport and General Workers' Union opposed the resolution. Mr. Clay, a member of the labor party executive committee man, recently talked with Premier Stalin in Moscow.

700 Former R.C.A.F. Aircrewmen Respond to R.A.F. Recruiting Drive

Ottawa, Oct. 25 (CP)—Air Force Headquarters disclosed today that some 700 former aircrew members of the R.C.A.F. have responded to the new R.A.F. recruiting drive in Canada.

Officials said their applications accompanied by biographical material from R.C.A.F. records, were being forwarded to the Air Ministry in London, which will select the men it desires.

"We don't know how many will be accepted or how many men the R.A.F. want," said one officer. "The R.A.F. have given us no quota but presumably they'll advise when they have enough."

The flood of applications followed an announcement Oct. 16 that Canada has concluded an agreement under which the R.A.F. would recruit trained Canadian aircrew from former members of the R.C.A.F. for service anywhere in the world.

150 JERUSALEM JEWS DETAINED AFTER BLASTS

Bombings Come Less Than 3 Days After Stern-Gang Warning Of Intensified War

Jerusalem, Oct. 25 (CP))— Police detained nearly 150 Jerusalem Jews today following a night of bomb and mine blasts which came less than three days after a Stern-gang warning of intensified mine war against British forces.

Twelve persons—11 soldiers and a civilian—were wounded in four bomb and grenade explosions in Jerusalem. The condition of three was listed as "dangerous."

The Jews were detained after an all-night police screening of Jewish residents at the scenes of the bombings. The army said, however, that no actual suspects had been arrested. The city was tense today. Soldiers on patrol seemed sullen and grim.

The explosion of three bombs and a hand grenade in the Jewish quarter here followed the 6:30 p.m. deadline of a nightly dawn-to-dusk curfew imposed in the quarter a week ago by the British because of a "serious recrudescence of Jewish terrorism in the Jerusalem area."

The soldiers wounded were enforcing the curfew. In addition, a 10-year-old Arab boy was cut by flying glass from broken store windows.

Soon after, heavy firing went on for half an hour near the Sarona police station east of Tel Aviv.

Shortly before midnight, part of a highway bridge was destroyed by a bomb explosion near Hadera on the north coastal plain.

At about the same time, a military truck was demolished by a road mine a few miles away. The driver was taken to a hospital bleeding and unconscious.

Sport Leaders Called Upon To Solve Delinquency

Washington, Oct. 25. (AP)—United States Attorney General Tom Clark today called on sport leaders everywhere for help in solving the juvenile delinquency problem.

"If every community had a first rate, well planned sports program," Mr. Clark told a reporter, "many a potential delinquent could be saved".

As Attorney General, Mr. Clark is ward of 500 youngsters in the National Training School for boys.

His talks with the boys have convinced him, he said, that sports are tops as a crime preventive.

A baseball and football fan himself, Clark thinks an interest in sports works two ways:

1. Games, or supervised recreation, give the boy something to do, keep him off the streets, and help him to develop, physically and mentally.

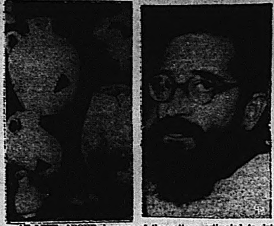
2. Boys like to have heroes. And Mr. Clark believes a boy who admires a great hitter in baseball or a fine passer in football is less likely to be impressed with the big talk of some local thug.

Mr. Clark said he has a reason for appealing to sport leaders now.

There will be a National Council on juvenile delinquency Nov. 20-22. More than 1,000 civic organizations of almost every kind already have agreed to attend. He said he hopes that sports groups also will send representatives.

He said he thinks it would be a good idea if some sports editors showed up, too.

POTTERY FOUND IN BURIED CITY IN PALESTINE



AT LEFT, ABOVE, is some of the pottery, estimated to date from 2,000 years before Christ, found in excavations near Nablus, N. Palestine, on what is believed may be the site of the city of Tirsa, ancient capital of the Israelite kingdom 5,000 years before the Christian era. The excavations cover an area of 600 square yards at Tel Farra, 10 miles northeast of Nablus. Ruins of at least 20 houses have been uncovered, dating from 5,000 to 900 B.C., when it is believed the city was finally deserted. At RIGHT is Father R. P. Roland du Vaux, director of the French Biblical School of Archaeology in Palestine, who is supervising the excavation work.

Churchill and Attlee Blasts on Communism Seize British Headlines

By WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Winston Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee captured Britain's headlines today with almost simultaneous verbal blasts against Russia in what appeared to be shaping up as a solid British front against Communism.

Mr. Churchill told his constituents in suburban Loughton last night that he had "facts" and "evidence" to support his suggestion—made in the form of a question before the House of Commons Wednesday—that the Soviet Union now has 200 divisions—more than 2,000,000 men—on a full war footing in Russian-occupied eastern Europe.

He lauded Mr. Attlee's speech before the Trades Union Congress at Brighton, Sussex, earlier in the day in which the Prime Minister bluntly accused Soviet leaders of erecting a "wall of ignorance and suspicion" between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

"The fact that the British government have decisively broken with the Communists and are fronted with them, although it does not immediately affect the course of affairs in this island," said Mr. Churchill, "has an important and beneficial result abroad, because there are countries on the continent—like France—quivering under the Communist attack."

He said his Wednesday speech should be regarded as "a serious warning," and added:

"I did not ask the question (about Russian forces) without weighing very carefully the whole matter and without consulting others, my friends and colleagues, and laying before them the evidence on which I proceeded.

"Nor did I ask the question without informing the government before hand of my intentions, but you can take it from me that the facts I adduced are correct."

Government spokesmen remained cilent with regard to Mr. Churchill's inquiry, but some sections of the press were increasingly critical of the wartime prime minister's methods.

TEN KILLED IN RENEWED HINDU-MOSLEM CLASHES

Bengal Officials Move to Rush Food to Several Indian Districts

Calcutta, Oct. 25 (CP) — Ten persons were reported killed and 33 injured in this provincial capital up to noon in renewed Hindu-Moslem clashes, as Bengal officials moved to rush food to the strife-torn Noakhali and Tipperah districts of the province to prevent mass starvation.

In New Delhi, meanwhile, a high source within the Hindu-led All-India Congress Party said the Congress and the Moslem League have reached a compromise on the distribution of portfolios in the interim coalition government, an issue which had threatened to bring about the resignation of all Congress Party ministers. The informant said an official announcement on the allotment of cabinet posts would be made shortly by the Viceroy.

Most of the new deaths in Calcutta's disorder, continuing to spread on this second day of Hindu observance of Diwali Puja (a religious light festival) were reported to have been caused by stabbing affrays. Street car and bus service into the affected areas was halted. On three occasions police clashed with mobs during the morning.

(Reuters News Agency said shots were fired by police.)

Provincial officials prepared to use planes, boats and trains to rush food to Noakhali and Tipperah.

Sir Frederick Burrows, Governor of Bengal, flew yesterday from his residence in Darjeeling to attend a meeting of the Bengal cabinet at which plans were considered for the relief of thousands of persons driven from their homes by bitter communal disorders.

Rice is the staple food for these districts and for several years local production has had to be supplanted by imports from Burma and other sections of India.

WESTINGHOUSE STRIKE SETTLED, NO TERMS GIVEN

Two Other Strikes at Windsor and Kitchener Virtually Settled

Toronto, Oct. 25 — (CP)—The strike picture in Ontario was further improved today with one more strike actually settled and agreements reached in two others, needing only artification by union membership to make them effective.

In Windsor area, hard hit by strikes since early summer, settlement of the only remaining strike — at the Truscon Steel Company plant — was completed yesterday with acceptance by members of Local 195, United Automobile Workers of America (CIO) of terms which included a 12-cents an hour wage increase for all hourly-rated employees, vacation concessions and a revised collective agreement, containing the irrevocable check-off. Union members voted 74 per cent in favor of the terms.

Approximately 300 employees were affected by the strike which began June 27. Original union demands were for a 25 cents an hour wage increase and 40-hour week.

The last of Hamilton's "big three" strikes, which at one time left a total of 10,000 men and women idle, is nearing an end. Yesterday Canadian Westinghouse Company officials and the negotiating committee of the United Electrical Workers issued a joint statement saying an agreement had been reached in the Westinghouse strike.

PREMIER DREW CALLS FOR EXPOSE COMMUNIST AIMS

Asks Labor to Rid Ranks of Members Of Anti-Labor, Anti-Democratic Force

Toronto, Oct. 25 (CP)—In no other field of human associations in Canada have Communists worked so hard as in that of labor relations, Premier Drew of Ontario said last night in an address broadcast over a CBC Ontrio network.

"Organized labor can greatly strengthen its position in this important period of transition if it will take the simple democratic steps that are necessary to remove from its ranks the representatives of this anti-labor and anti-democratic force, these trained salesmen of hate who learned their villanous business in the "School of Political Warfare in Moscow," he declared.

He said he had a special reason for speaking on the subject because the national war labor code lapses next March and every government will be considering new law to guide labor relations for the future.

The Communists would claim that he was "attaching the red tag" to all those engaged in labor disputes. That was not the case. The majority of organized workers, he felt, had no use for communism and they, themselves, had the power to remove Communists from office in labor organizations.

All Falsehoods

"You have seen statements to the effect that we have used Provincial Police to break strikes. You have seen statements that the Ontario government has ranged itself on the side of management against labor.

"These and similar falsehoods will be repeated. The Communists not only wish to undermine confidence in government, all government. They are seeking to undermine in the people upon whose protection the safety of your wife, your children, your home and all you cherish constantly depend.

"And may I say in passing that all democratic institutions depend on the rule of law and that the Ontario government intends at all times to enforce the laws of the land fairly and impartially."

Increase Ration To Four Bottles During November

Toronto, Oct. 25 (CP)— Ontario's liquor ration will be increased from one to four bottles a month starting Nov. 1, Liquor Commissioner William Griesinger announced yesterday.

It is expected the quantity will be increased still further for December and ration restrictions may even be removed on rum and gin.

Of the four bottles a month that ration holder will be able to purchase starting Nov. 1, one only may be Scotch whisky. Two bottles of other spirits may be bought the first half of the month and the other two the second half.

The ration was reduced from eight bottles a month to one bottle Oct. 1 because of a bottle shortage, greatly aggravated by a strike in Amherstburg where soda ash—vital in the manufacture of glass—is made.

Britain, U.S. Clash With Russia Over The Veto Question

Soviet Delegates Ask Veto Items Be Left Off Agenda

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Oct. 25 — (CP) — Great Britain and the United States clashed with Russia today over a Soviet attempt to bar discussion of the veto question from the United Nations Assembly.

While making it clear that they were not committing themselves on the issue of whether the veto provisions of the charter should be changed, the two big western powers insisted that the assembly must not be denied the right to discuss the question.

The clash occurred at an open meeting of the general committee after the Soviet representatives demanded that the items dealing with the veto be stricken from the assembly's provisional agenda.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, declared the American delegation felt that the assembly had a right to discuss any matter within the scope of the charter and that it was clear that the veto rights of the five permanent members of the Security Council came within the charter.

Should be on Agenda

Mr. Austin declared, however, that in opposing the Soviet proposal the United States "does not express any attitude with regard to the substance of the items" dealing with the veto.

"We think it is important to defeat this motion and to have these items on the agenda," he said.

Mr. Austin was backed by Sir Hartley Shawcross, British representative, who said the British delegation was in agreement with some of the observations raised by the Soviet Union but that this committee was not the place to accept or reject such items.

Sir Hartley urged that the committee, without prejudging the case, pass it on without making any recommendations.

He added that Great Britain "should be likely to oppose any amendment to the charter" but that this committee has no right to delete such items or take positive action on them.

Paul Hasluck of Australia, invited to the table, said the Soviet objections were "without substance."

He struck especially at the Russian reference to solidarity, declaring that some "members think it is in the interest of solidarity to discuss the question openly."

Would Be Heavy Blow

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, declared that any change in the two provisions of the U.N. charter would be "a heavy blow" to the New World Organization.

In a brief statement before the 14-power committee, the Soviet representative said:

"Soviet Russia will reserve its right to express its opinion more in detail at the right time. I will now say only that these items should be stricken from the agenda."

He referred to Australian and Cuban proposals for a thorough discussion of the veto issue, with a view to restricting its use of eliminating it.

Mr. Vishinsky said unanimity was "the basis of solidarity" in the Security Council. He then said that "in the spirit of solidarity" Russia called on the committee to join in eliminating the veto question from the discussions.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, British Attorney General, immediately took the floor to oppose the Soviet demand.

The United States and British are leading the opposition.

Committee in Row

The committee held its first session on approving the program of 53 issues, plus a supplemental list, last night, but became involved in a legalistic snarl over a row between India and South Africa and failed to get to the veto dispute.

The India-South Africa fight was settled only after Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross asserted hotly that "we are in danger of reducing this committee to a laughingstock" by failing to decide a relatively minor question. Committee chairman Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium said he was not quite sure about the meaning of two votes taken on the question, but added that the assembly could figure things out for itself.

Meanwhile the assembly itself was pushing forward through a lengthy general debate which today was scheduled to include addresses by Philip Noel-Baker of Britain, Jose Arce of Argentina, Dr. Carlos Stolk of Venezuela and Mrs. Viajaya Lakshmi Pandit of India.

'Murder of Hundreds of Thousands' Charged Against 23 Nazi Doctors

Nuernberg, Oct. 25 — (AP) — Twenty-three Nazi doctors were indicted today on charges that they 'murdered hundreds of thousands of human beings' in Germany's wartime program of medical killings and brutal experiments with living prisoners.

A woman, Herta Oberhauser, and Dr. Karl Brandt, one of Hitler's personal physicians, were among the 23, who will be tried next month in the first of a series of war crimes trials by special American military courts.

Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for the courts, said between 250 and 500 former Nazi military, industrial, financial and governmental leaders would be arraigned during the trials, expected to last through 1947.

Gen. Taylor told a press conference the defendants would include top officials of I. G. Farben, giant chemical and industrial combine, and 'some one' from the Krupp munitions works.

Friedrich (Fritz) Thyssen, prewar head of big armaments and steel works, is "under study like anyone else." Other official sources indicated that Thyssen would not be tried, saying he was not in Germany during the war.

Two Are Slain, Two Wounded

Garden City, N. Y., Oct. 25 — (AP) — A prominent New York doctor shot and killed his wife and mother-in-law today and then wounded his navy veteran son and himself, reported the Nassau county district attorney, James N. Gehrig.

The district attorney said he believed Dr. Frank H. Lasher committed the act in disappointment over his son's failure to resume medical studies because of war-inflicted disability.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Gladys Lasher, about 45, and her mother, Mrs. Emma Bryan, 75. Police found their bodies in the 10-room home of Dr. Frank H. Lasher in an exclusive residential section of this Long Island community.

Dr. Lasher, about 60, surgeon on the staff of the Brooklyn Eye and Ear hospital for more than 20 years, was taken to hospital at nearby Hempstead where his condition was described as "extremely critical" as the result of four bullet wounds.

Douglas Lasher, his 21-year-old son, was taken to hospital in Mineola with a bullet wound in the chest. His condition was reported serious.

Press Relations Officer Causes Some Confusion

Toronto, Oct. 25 (CP)—It all boiled down to an erroneous announcement by a press relations man, this business about Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden and his wife being en route to Toronto via New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Eden came to Toronto today but they were not the former Foreign Secretary and his wife. They were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Howard Eden.

American Airlines announced yesterday that the wartime Foreign Secretary and his wife were coming to Toronto Friday morning. Government officials in Ottawa, Washington and London, all said in effect: "Really? We've heard nothing of it. The visit must be unofficial."

The story was published in newspapers, was broadcast and cabled abroad.

Finally, in London today, Conservative headquarters said Mr. Eden was still there, had no intention of flying to Canada.

In Toronto today, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Howard Eden arrived by plane from Britain.

At American Airlines they said: "Our press officer is not around at present . . . Someone apparently got confused over the name Eden."

BRIG. H. D. GRAHAM GIVEN HIGH POST

Brigadier Howard Graham, C.B.E., D.S.O. and Bar, former Deputy Chief of the General Staff, National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa, has been appointed Chief of the Canadian General Staff in Britain, it was learned here today. Brigadier Graham leaves for his new post early in November.

The brigadier was in town the other day and expressed his regrets at the cancellation of his assignment as guest speaker at the Remembrance Day banquet sponsored in the Armouries here by the Belleville branch of the Canadian Legion.

PICKS ENOUGH RASPBERRIES TO MAKE PIE

This morning Mrs. Marie Lockwood of Carrying Place brought to the editorial room of the Ontario Intelligencer a berry box containing clusters of both ripe strawberries and red raspberries, which she picked on the fruit and vegetable farm of Goodman brothers. She remarked that last Saturday she picked enough raspberries to make a pie, and that at present about forty raspberry bushes are full of blossoms, although they are not supposed to be bearing until next year.

Belleville Man Involved In Fatal Accident

Port Hope, Oct. 24 —(CP)— Robert Fox, 59, was killed Tuesday when struck by one car and run over by another at nearby Newtonville during a fog.

Driver of the car which first struck Fox, Lawrence R. Buck, of Belleville, said he did not see the man until he was within a few feet. He swerved but was unable to avoid the accident. Walter Ferguson of Peterborough, driving immediately behind Buck, did not see the accident and drove over Fox's body.

Harold Cameron Accepts Cheque On Camp's Behalf

Mr. Harold Cameron, representing the Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp was a guest at the Y's men's weekly dinner meeting on Thursday evening, when he accepted on behalf of the Boys' Camp, a cheque for $400. to pay for installing electricity in the camp. Jerry Hyde, chairman of the Boys' Work committee presented the cheque. Mr. Cameron expressed the thanks of the committee, and congratulated the club for the splendid work being done for the boys' camp. Mr. Joe Shortt of the Y.M.C.A. also spoke briefly. There were 340 boys who took advantage of the Y camp last year and the contributions of the Y's men both in money and time were deeply appreciated.

President Archie Boyd presided at the meeting. Bryson Leslie played for the sing song. Bill McCoy was song leader. Reports on the Y regional conclave at Brantford were given by Archie Boyd and Bud Trill.

Bud Trill, newly elected District Governor spoke to the club, announcing a visit by the Regional Director, Gord Henry the first week in December.

Berlin Girl Shot By U.S. Soldier

Berlin, Oct. 25 — (AP) — A Berlin girl was accidentally shot and killed last night by an American soldier who was using a gun in an attempt to force a lock in his billet, the United States Army's criminal investigation division reported today.

The soldier, Sgt. Joseph Lacascia, about 20, is being held for court martial. A statement to the C.I.D. said Lacascia was entertaining Gertrude Schwarzloff, 18, in his billet. Lacascia said that when they ran out of cigarets they went into the room of another soldier to obtain some. There they found a cabinet locked and in attempting to force the lock with a German Mauser pistol the weapon was accidentally discharged and Miss Schwarzloff was shot through the temple.

F.A. Scott and Dr. Shipsides Will Stand Jury Trial on Charges Of Conspiracy in Cattle Export Case

Picton, Oct. 28 —(Special)— Fred A. Scott, Belleville, Bay of Quinte district drover, and Dr. S. H. Shipsides, Wellington, former accredited veterinary, will appear for trial on charges of conspiracy to evade the Contagious Diseases of Animals Act as result of preliminary hearings held in Picton Thursday afternoon before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Separately appearing on the conspiracy charges, the two accused elected trial by jury and following the preliminary hearing Magistrate Wills stated there was sufficient evidence to place them on trial. Bail of $5,000 on the recognizance of the accused was set in each case.

Mr. Scott also faces five charges of forgery, with Dr. Shipsides facing five charges of forgery and five charges of uttering false documents. All charges are in connection with shipment of cattle to the United States, the tentative date for the hearing having been set for Nov. 13th at Picton. R. A. Pringle appeared as counsel for Mr. Scott and C. R. Widdifield for Dr. Shipsides. Malcolm Robb acted as special prosecutor.

U. S. Buyer Pleads Guilty.

Thursday morning Mr. Leon Switt, cattle buyer from New Jersey, at Belleville pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy in connection with the shipping of cattle to the United States, and was fined $1,000 by Magistrate Wills.

Charges of conspiracy against all three above men arose following investigations by the R.C.M.P. into alleged infractions of regulations concerning shipment of cattle across the American border and involved the substitution of ear tags in cattle to show cattle from non-accredited herds as being eligible for shipment into the United States.

Gives Crown Evidence

After pleading guilty to the conspiracy charge here in the morning, as he said, in an effort to "get the thing settled and to remove any black spot against my name," Mr. Switt in the afternoon gave Crown evidence against Mr. Scott and Dr. Shipsides.

In his evidence Mr. Switt told of buying cattle in Prince Edward and Hastings in January, 1946, for shipment to New Jersey. He had been acting with another American buyer and with Mr. Fred Scott. He said that "several" of the cattle bought in Hastings were not eligible for shipment across the border, but that tags from eligible cattle had been substituted in order that the shipment would go through all right.

Tells of Method Used

Export papers for the ineligible cattle were secured by taking samples of blood from Prince Edward county cows which were known to be clean, this blood being sent to Kingston for test. When the tests came back approved the substitute tags were placed in ears of the ineligible cows and the cattle exported. Dr. Shipsides drew the blood from the healthy and signed the export papers for the cows which were shipped according to witness.

Under cross examination by Mr. Widdifield, counsel for Dr. Shipsides, Mr. Switt stated that he was not giving testimony for the Crown in the hope of getting reinstated as a cattle buyer. "I have been promised nothing," he said.

Asked if he had ever sought to have Dr. Shipsides test cattle or take blood samples, the witness replied he had done business with the accused for the first time in January, 1946. He said that Dr. Shipsides had previously solicited business from him.

District Inspector Testifies

Dr. William Moynihan, district veterinary inspector for Ontario, gave evidence during the preliminary hearing against Mr. Scott and stated that with Dr. Younghusband of Belleville, he had discussed with Mr. Scott certain irregularities regarding shipment of cattle to the United States. At the time Mr. Scott had wanted to make an admission of tags being substituted but claimed he had nothing to do with the actual switching as he had merely acted as the agent, the witness stated.

Dr. E. N. Harrop, assistant veterinary at Health of Animals Branch in the city, in giving evidence in the hearing of the charge against Dr. Shipsides, stated that the Wellington veterinary had been an accredited veterinary and that as such his signature had been acceptable on cattle export forms at the United States border. He stated that his department relied implicitly on the integrity of accredited veterinary men.

Inspected Hastings Herds

Dr. H. M. Younghusband, city, was also called to the stand and told of inspecting accredited and supervised herds in the Hastings area, owners of which had sold cattle to Mr. Scott. These particular cows, although from accredited and supervised herds, could not be exported as result of their age or physical condition. Tags from these cows were later found in cattle for export, it was stated.

Several Hastings county farmers testified as to selling cows to Mr. Scott and as to the cows' physical condition at the time of sale, while Dr. Brown, former accredited veterinary of Selby, testified as to making the tests in connection with the sales.

Belleville Bd. Takes No Action On Ont. Cheese Producers' Assoc. Proposal to Purchase All Cheese

That the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association is prepared to go into the cheese purchasing business on a volume basis was learned at the regular meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board Thursday evening when a communication from the above organization was read indicating that it would now accept all cheese eligible for domestic distribution.

Decision to enter the cheese buying business on a large scale had been made by the Association executive after careful consideration, according to the communication and it was hoped that cheese factories would lend their best support in carrying out the plans.

On Commission Basis

Legal commission for the Association to handle the cheese will be 1-2 cent per pound out of which expenses will be paid, the balance to be paid back to each factory in the form of dividends to each factory shipping cheese. Initial payment to factories of 22 cents per pound f.o.b. factory will be made as soon as the cheese are weighed and graded with the dividends to be paid as soon as possible following the initial payment.

Notification of the Cheese Producers' Association decision to enter the cheese buying business on a large scale will be made known to all cheese factory officials in the province, it was stated.

Buyer Protests Proposal

W. R. McCreary, local cheese buyer, objected strenuously to the Cheese Producers' Association action and claimed that their move to enter into quantity cheese buying under present regimented conditions could well lead to the establishment of a monopoly. "The program is improper and unfair and I doubt if it has the support of all the producers," he said.

Mr. McCreary also decried what he claimed as the Producers' Association move to disband cheese boards. Order-in-council No. 114 completely revoked the former regulation of compulsory boarding of cheese, he said. When the competitive marketing of cheese is destroyed, it will be a sorry thing for the cheese industry.

"The Cheese Producers' Association has done a valuable service to the cheese industry in Ontario" stated Mr. McCreary, "but it should have no part in the distribution of cheese. By their action the Cheese Producers' Association is seeking to destroy the business of buyers who have spent much money in equipment to provide service for the industry."

Turned Down by Napanee

Members of the Napanee Cheese Board had voted unanimously to have no part in distribution of cheese by the Cheese Producers' Association, and judgment of the Kingston Board had been reserved on the matter, according to Mr. McCreary.

In reply to Mr. McCreary, S. L. Joss, secretary of the Cheese Producers' Association, denied that the association was seeking to carry on an unethical practice and stated the action of the Producers was the direct result of their having to accept orders of which they knew nothing.

"Producers have been told where their cheese is going and what the markup is going to be," Mr. Joss said. He stated there was no compulsion calling for factories to sell their cheese to the Producers but asked their co-operation.

No Action Taken

No action was taken as result of the discussion although Fred Mallory, secretary of the Board, expressed his opinion that the Producers' Association had no intention of closing cheese boards.

Hon. Geo. Dunbar Discusses Municipal Affairs With District Assessing Officers

A recommendation from his department that it appoint a board of three men composed of experienced assessors who will visit Ontario municipalities and assist local assessors in matters pertaining to their duties, will shortly be presented to the Ontario Government, the Hon. George H. Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Toronto, declared here today.

Speaking to the annual meeting of District No. 5 Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario, city and county officials and elected representatives of surrounding districts in the City Hall, the minister said that "If I had my way, I would have assessment high and the tax rate low."

Potential businessmen or industrialists seeking new places of operation always ask the question first "What is your tax rate?" Assessment, the minister said, was often never mentioned.

Equalize Adjustments Fairly

He urged the assessors present to make their adjustments fairly to equalize them as much as possible, try to raise the assessment and lower the tax rate and impress upon the taxpayers that they are not trying to get more money out of them.

Referring to the matter of appointment of county assessors, the minister stated that his department was not trying to force the measure on any municipality. That was a matter, he said, that lies directly in the hands of county councils. If counties decide to make such appointment, his department stood ready to assist in any way possible.

"I have always endeavored," he said, "to impress upon municipalities, that my department is not trying to dictate to them what they are to do. Far from it. We are standing by ready to assist them along the lines of the Municipal and other Acts."

Ridicules Statement

He deplored the fact that there are many people who will viciously attack a government, department, council or municipal official in order to gain a point, and in turn defended his department against verbal charges laid by an assessor in Carleton County.

Quoting a newspaper story, the minister stated, as being "ridiculous" the charge made by the person in question that "the county assessor would be responsible to the Department of Municipal Affairs only." He also branded as "far from the truth" the statement that any assessment work done was final.

The Province of Ontario has given its municipalities in various grants the sum of 36 million dollars, Mr. Dunbar pointed out. "And I can remember when the entire Ontario budget was no more than that. Yet this 'balloon' told the Carleton County Council that all it would get was 50 per cent of road grants."

Little Assessment Litigation

The excellence of assessment work in the provinces is evidenced in the fact that there has been very little litigation over a period of years. Since he became Minister, Mr. Dunbar said, he has had occasion to appoint but two boards, one for Middlesex County and the other for North Renfrew. Yet there was little change made in both cases.

Ten Ontario counties have appointed county assessors, he said. Answering a charge that his department was assessing property, he said, "If it is, I do not know anything about it. The Department does not do any assessing. It merely works with the assessor to help him get his assessments on an equitable basis."

He advocated the pension system for municipalities, where permanent employees would be assured of something for their old age. Business and industry are doing it, he said, adding that the scheme would be something for employees to work for and would result in happy contented staffs.

Schools for Municipal Officials.

Municipal schools will shortly be inaugurated throughout the province, Mr. Dunbar told the association. At these schools members of his department would get together with municipal officials and help them understand the various phases of the municipal and other acts. They will ask and answer questions. "It is surprising," he said, "how many officials are not acquainted with the Act."

These schools will be very beneficial, he said, and should result in stronger township, village and city councils. "There are a lot of things we don't know," he smiled, "and which you can tell us."

He visited the British Isles and several European countries the past summer, the Minister said, and got their ideas on municipal government. They were eager to find out how Ontario municipalities operated, but "we can learn nothing from them."

In London, a homeowner pays income tax on his property. If that were introduced in Ontario there would be a howl heard all over the country. It would be a definite deterrent to homeowning.

In London, if a borough, or municipality wants to borrow money it must do so through and from the British Government at its rate of interest, regardless of the possibility that it could borrow from other sources at a lower rate. The loan is protected, Mr. Dunbar said, by the personal guarantee of every member of the borough board.

Out of 38 defaulting municipalities in Ontario 35 have been refinanced and it is expected the remaining three will be on their financial feet in the near future. Speaking of debentures, the Minister told the association that big interests do not take up the holdings. The little fellow buys them and it is his department's duty to see that he is protected.

Mr. Dunbar was introduced by J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A., Hastings West, and the appreciation of the association expressed by Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., Hastings East.

With the Minister were Mr. A. J. Gray, deputy minister and J. P. Coombs, department supervisor. Following Mr. Dunbar's address Mr. Gray outlined the many amendments to the Municipal Act introduced by the Minister, and explained them in detail to the association.

The assessors and others were formally welcomed to the city by Mayor Frank Follwell, and at one o'clock were guests of the city at a luncheon held in the Hotel Quinte. President Harold Bateman of District No. 5 was in the chair. The meeting concluded late this afternoon.

Sinatras Again Reconciled; Shaws Are Divided

Hollywood, Oct. 25. (AP)— In a night club early yesterday the estranged Frank Sinatras met right after he sang "Going Home". They kissed and made up and went home. The estrangement of several weeks is over.

"Just confirm it, that's all," a press agent quoted Sinatra as saying when he was asked whether there had been a reconciliation. That was as much as the voice would say. His wife, Nancy, was said at her home to have "gone out".

The Sinatras went in separate parties to Slapsey Maxie's night club to hear Phil Silvers in a new act. She was in songwriter Julie Stein's party. Frank was at another table, but as a stag.

During the few weeks Frank has been living away from home, he has been at night clubs at least twice—once with Lana Turner and once with Ava Gardner.

Silvers asked Sinatra to sing a number and during it, Frank spied his wife. And, said Silvers:

"So he rushed down to her the minute he's finished and I goes along and puts my arms around both of them. And then they go home. The whole thing was a minor marital squabble.

And So Goes Love

Los Angeles, Oct. 25. (AP)— The one-year marriage of Actress Ava Gardner and Band Leader Artie Shaw ended in divorce court today with her testimony that he "told me to leave —so I left".

The 23-year-old vivid brunette told the judge: "After a month of marriage his attitude changed. He became completely and utterly selfish."

Miss Gardner, former wife of Mickey Rooney, said the 37-year-old band leader on occasions told her to "shut up" and that at other times asked "Why don't you talk?"

Mayor Follwell Again in Ring

The city is assured of at least a two-way electoral battle for the mayoralty in the December elections with the announcement today by Mayor Frank Follwell that he will again run for office.

Alderman Harold Woodley announced a few days ago that he has thrown his figurative hat into the mayoral ring.

Rumors prevalent on the street that a third contestant would enter the mayoral jousts have almost disappeared, and at the moment it looks as though the mayor and Alderman Woodley will join battle for the chief magistracy for 1947.

Redistribution Bill Regarded As Top Secret

By R. K. CARNEGIE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Oct. 25 — (CP)—Key men in the political parties are hard at work preparing for the redistribution of the federal constituencies of Canada, a major job in the parliamentary session opening next January.

Liberals have a strong committee of members of parliament from each province at work, it is understood, and Progressive Conservatives have a somewhat similar setup. Their identity and what progress they are making is regarded as high-level political strategy and a top secret.

The C. C. F. also is at work and the three parties are massing data with which to enter the redistribution committee when it is set up shortly after parliament [illegible]. Great emphasis is placed on the rearrangement of constituency boundaries because of the possibility of political advantage by putting a block of voters into one constituency or another.

The government is anxious to get an early start on the committee's work, has drafted a bill already but the bill itself will not be cantentious. The argument will be about the schedule which the committee will add defining each constituency.

The constitution provides that a census be held every 10 years for all Canada and be followed by a redistribution. The census was held in 1941 but redistribution has been delayed by the war.

To old-time party war horses the skilful cutting up of a province, getting some strong Liberal townships in this riding and Conservative townships in another, often meant the difference between winning or losing an election.

Election students today do not attach so much importance to such gerrymandering. So many people change party allegiance these days a riding cannot be made safe for any party by manipulating its boundaries.

Old ideas die hard however and when the redistribution committee gets going much of the ancient political heat doubtless will be in evidence. In the 1932 distribution, the Conservatives were in control but this time the Liberals will have the majority.

The entire basis of redistribution will be changed as the result of the amendment to the British North America Act passed last summer by the British parliament at the request of Canada. Heretofore Quebec has always had 65 members and the other provinces the same ratio according to their populations, the number of members in the House of Commons changing from parliament to parliament dependent on the growth of the rest of Canada as compared with Quebec. The present House of Commons has 245 members.

Under the new system the Commons always will have 255 members. Prince Edward Island will have the four guaranteed her by the B.N.A. Act although its population would not rate that number. Yukon and Mackenzie will have one.

To ascertain the representation for the remaining eight provinces, their total population was divided by 250 and the quotient was 45,578. This divided into the population of each province gave the following: Nova Scotia 13, New Brunswick 10, Quebec 73, Ontario 83, Manitoba 16, Saskatchewan 20, Alberta 17, British Columbia 18.

As compared with the present House, Quebec gains eight, British Columbia two, and Ontario and Nova Scotia one each. Saskatchewan and Manitoba each lose one. Alberta and New Brunswick are unchanged.

Time Honored Custom

While there is no law to support it, the time-honored custom had been in dividing each province into its allotted number of constituencies to disregard the rule of representation by population and give the advantage to the rural constituencies. The practice has been to keep the populations in city constituencies around 10,000 above the quotient and the rural constituencies 10,000 below. Under the practice the average city constituency should have a population of 55,000 and the rural riding 35,000.

If this is followed in this distribution it is easy to see which constituencies will have to be changed and which might remain as they are.

Ontario will provide the real headache because it has several top-heavy constituencies. Nipissing has a popualtion of 113,902 which would indicate it would have to be divided, with the help of some of Cochrane's 81,000. Welland has 93,836 and Lincoln along side it has 65,066. There should be another constituency there. There will probably be a demand for another constituency in the heavily-populated Windsor district. Toronto may be entitled to another seat and the Yorks might rate another.

Rural Ontario Must Pay

Something also will have to be done with Ottawa West which has a population of 94,743 almost double what a city seat requires. One of the difficulties is that some of its area cannot be taken over by adpoining constituencies for Carlton on one side is too big for a rural riding and Ottawa east on the other side is already big for a city seat.

It looks as if rural Ontario must pay the price in loss of representation for the flow of population from the country to the cities. Glengarry has only 18,752, Haldimand 21,854, Huron-Perth 21,539, Middlesex West 22,822, and Wellington North 23,605. Two or three others are around 25,000. Several of these are likely to disappear if the ratio of approximately 55,000 for city seats and 35,000 for rural seats is to be maintained.

Will Ask Plebiscite In Peel County On Liquor Question

Toronto, Oct. 25 — (CP)—Edward G. Drew of nearby Port Credit said a petition will be sent to State Secretary Paul Martin next month asking for a plebiscite in Peel county on whether it will remain under the Canada Temperance Act.

Mr. Drew, chairman of a committee of veterans seeking a beverage room licence for Port Credit Canadian Legion Branch, said 25 per cent of the voters in the county have signed the petition. "In another week the petition will be filed with the sheriff's office and will then go to Hon. Paul Martin who will be asked to set the date of the vote."

The C. T. A., which bans sale or keeping for sale of liquor, is in force in the Ontario counties of Peel, Perth and Huron and the district of Manitoulin. A privy council decision early this year upheld its validity, which was challenged by Ontario authorities. The C. T. A. provides for a plebiscite when requested in a petition signed by 25 per cent of the qualified voters in a county. The issue is the plebiscite is decided on a straight majority vote. Should Peel vote out the C. T. A. it would come under the Liquor Control Act of Ontario which provides for sale of liquor in government stores and beer and wine in stores or in hotel or club beverage rooms.

Dr. Stanley. Osborne, also of Port Credit and secretary of the Peel Temperance Federation, said temperance committees would examine the petition and signatures but "we do not know yet what action we shall take."

Ben Buffet To Walk 1,000 Miles As Santa Claus

Glace Bay, N.S., Oct 25 —(CP)—Decked out in a fur-trimmed Santa Claus suit and trundling a barrel containing four rabbits, nearby Waterford's premier pedestrian, Ben Buffet, plans to leave Nov. 1 for a walking trip to Boston.

Buffet's costume is complete with bell-toed shoes.

He has no beard but plans to grow one while making the 1,000-mile trek, which he estimates will take 40 days.

The rabbit barrel is mounted on bicycle wheels and is equipped with two flashlights and a horn for night travel. Two sets of antlers are the finishing touch.

So all may understand, Buffet has added this sign: "Santa Claus and his family, Glace Bay to Boston, 1,000 miles. Plentiful supply of cabbage and carrots for the rabbits."

Twice before Buffet has hoofed it to Boston, each time to run in the Boston marathon. The first year, his shoes gave out; the second year his feet failed after 26 miles. This year he plans no such after-hike exertion — he hopes only to get a job as Santa Claus in a department store.

Diplomatic Announcement Will Come from Mr. King

Ottawa, Oct. 24 — (CP)—Announcement of appointments to Canadian diplomatic posts abroad originally expected to be made this week, likely will be delayed until Prime Minister Mackenzie King returns next week from the United Nations meetings in New York, it was learned today.

Milk Producers Determined To Maintain Prices

Toronto, Oct. 25 (CP) — "Blank cheques" signed by 100 per cent of the membership of three districts of the Ontario Whole Milk Producers' League supporting the league stand on milk prices have been received here, Roy Lick, Secretary of the league, said Thursday.

The three districts are Kingston, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury, Mr. Lick said. Each statement pledged "full support to the executive in any action they wish to take to maintain present prices," and was signed by all the members in each district. At least [illegible] producers are represented in these districts, Mr. Lick said.

"There is no danger of a milk strike as long as producers receive the current average price of $3.45 per hundredweight," the league secretary said. "The farmers were getting worried and they wanted to voice their determination not to accept any reduction."

Harry Watson of Brampton, President of the Toronto Whole Milk Producers' Association said his organization supported the league executive "100 per cent in any action they decide is necessary. He said the Toronto district includes about 4,000 producers.

Naturalist and Author Passes

Naturalist and author, Ernest Thompson Seton, who, born in England, came to Canada at the age of five years and did his first writing in Canada referring especially to experiences in and about Lindsay and Toronto, has passed at the great age of 86 years and with a following of readers of all ages. His kinship with wild life and the haunts and life history of the creatures of the field and wood brought him that serenity of outlook which reached its culmination in honored age. His intimacy with nature's creatures was very close and he has left a record of that association which will keep his name one long before the public after his death as it has kept the attention of people of many lands for many decades.

Vote in Berlin

The democratic parties in Berlin led by the Social Democrats made an impressive showing in the elections just held, the first since Hitler's Third Reich went down in ruins before the United Nations' forces in 1945. The predominance of the democratic vote was a surprise in Communist circles.

Commenting on the election, the New York Times sees as one reason for this result the supervision of the election by all four occupying powers, which assured some liberty for the occupying parties. And the Berlin result is sufficient commentary on the election methods in the more conservative provinces of the Russian occupation zone, where the Socialist Unity party was credited with a plurality and sometimes even a majority. But there were at least two other factors which may be credited with decisive influences on the vote. These the Times writer gives as Berlin's first-hand acquaintance with Russia rule, "which discouraged even a lot of Communists," and the other as Secretary Byrnes' Stuttgart speech "which not only compelled Mr. Molotov to repudiate the Communist propaganda about the return of German territories, but which also promised that American forces will stay in Germany as long as any others and thereby gave the Germans courage to express their real views."

Further Rise in Britain's Exports

A continued rise in Britain's export trade is shown in the quarterly returns published this week by the British Board of Trade.

During the third quarter of this year the export volume is provisionally estimated at 104% of the 1938 figure. This compares with 84% for the first quarter and 98% for the second quarter of 1946.

The steady upward curve in Britain's exports is indicated more clearly by these quarterly returns than by the monthly accounts, which are influenced by various factors such as seasonal fluctuations, the number of working days and so on.

On the basis of a twenty-six day working month, exports in the earlier part of the year rose from fifty-five millions in January to eighty-two million pounds in May (an average increase of about 10% monthly). The average for June and July on this basis was eighty-one billions and that for August and September seventy-six millions.

The fact that the reduction in September exports was determined mainly by the holiday factor is underlined also by the fact that this decline was shared by almost all classes of goods. The only important increase was a rise of nearly one million pounds in the overseas deliveries of vehicles. These represented one-seventh of the country's total exports during the month.

Relief and rehabilitation supplies to the liberated areas, together with shipments by N.A.A.F.I., accounted for five percent of the total of Britain's exports in September as in August.

Britain's imports during September totalled 106.1 million pounds, 14.9 million less than the high total for August. About one-quarter of this reduction was due to the shorter month. Re-exports fell by 1.1 million pounds from the relatively high August figure to 3.8 millions. Taking the third quarter of 1946 as a whole, the volume of retained imports was about 70% of the 1938 rate.

The only substantial change in imports of manufactured articles occurred in the non-ferrous metals groups, the September total for which increased by 1.6 millions to 5.8 millions, the highest for over two years. This rise was due to larger imports of aluminium and copper.

To Reduce Blindness

Three investigators, sponsored by Britain's Institute of the Blind and the Colonial Office are investigating problems of blindness in the Middle East and in Africa. The party will specially consider what can be done to reduce blindness by improved education in hygenics, increased medical services, particularly in the expansion of pre-natal clinics and an increase in midwifery services. Territories to be visited are Palestine, Cyprus, Aden, Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, Zanzibar, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Nigeria, Gold Coast and Sierra Leone. The party is expected to return in March, 1947. It is hoped later to extend these investigations to other parts of the Colonial Empire.

Rustling Days

Nature, of course, is a quiet creature, except when she stirs up thunderstorm or hurricane. The doings of the seasons are mostly silent ones. There is no commotion in spring when a lilac bush blossoms. And no one, not even an interested lawn mower, has ever heard grass grow. Butterflies and birds use their wings with considerably less noise than planes, dear get through a forest with not much more sound than a fox tracking a deer mouse, and when snow falls it is not at all in its descent like winter-defending coal going down a chute. Man, if he is lucky enough to be able to build a house these days, cannot do it without a certain racket of hammer and saw. But big, dome-like orange roofs of pumpkins have arisen as quietly as a Japanese beetle crawling on a cucumber vine. And the handsome, vegetable Quonset huts will be ready to open their interiors to any Hallowe'en small boy, However, nature, particularly in a time when she can be considered as resting on the fruits and leaves of her summer accomplishments, does have a slight break in her accustomed noiselessness. In September, before the silence of later frosts has fallen on field and bird, there is a brief period of what might be called "rustling days." The rustle comes with ripeness, with that serene and wholesome withering which spreads over a landscape where the sun, yellow as pasture goldenrod, is as warm at midday as a summer not yet entirely mislaid.

Technology in the Kitchen

Not since the invention of the first crude can opener by that London genius, Gamble, in the eleventh year of the last century has so startling an innovation been seen in the kitchen. We refer to the fact that a "jet-propelled" dish washer has appeared on the market, says Christian Science Monitor.

Application of this spectacular engineering principle to the peacetime needs of domestic science promises to emancipate millions of hapless husbands from the lifelong drudgery of "helping with the dishes." And it should do away with such dubious labor-saving devices as turning up the radio or shaking the furnace when the first ominous after-supper sounds of dish-stacking assail the sensitive male ear.

Presumably the new jet method will supplant the centuries-old way of propelling the plates by hand.

The morose man takes both narrow and selfish views of life and the world; he is either envious of the happiness of others or denies its existence.—C. Simmons.

Men are not made righteous by performing certain actions which are externally good, but they must first have righteous principles and then they will not fail to perform righteous actions.—Luther.

SMOKING CAR GENIUS

Heard him talking in the train,
Voicing ways all ills to cure.
Wondered, time and time again,
How can mortal be so sure?

Genius of the smoking car,
Gifted with the master touch,
Loudly voluble you are!
How can one man know so much?

Most of us have doubts and fears.
Tell me now ere I arise,
Seeking rest for wearied ears,
How can one man be so wise?

Signs were placed recently at both ends of the lower and upper bridges in this city giving notice of the sped at which automobiles might travel over them. The rate of speed was set at five miles per hour. Since then complaints were made that this regulation was being ignored and the police checked with stop watches the speed at which many automobiles were crossing. By actual measurement it requires 34 1-2 seconds to pass over the lower bridge and 28 1-10 seconds to pass over the upper bridge at the speed allowed. The longest time occupied in crossing by many automobiles was 22 1-4 seconds. As a result of this checking by the police a number of automobile owners will be summoned to appear in police court.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Snider of this city spent a few days recently with Mrs. Amelia Snider in Deseronto.

Beware of Pork Not Well Cooked

(From Health News)

"And the swine is unclean to you. Of their flesh shall ye not eat and their carcass shall ye not touch."

Such was the admonition given by Moses to the wandering Children of Israel more than 2,000 years ago. Moses undoubtedly had some good reasons for formulating such a law, it being altogether likely that he had noticed that serious illness sometimes followed the consumption of pork. Centuries later Mohammed forbade his followers the use of pork as a food.

Thus millions of people who today adhere strictly to the tenets of certain religious beliefs, are spared the possibility of contracting a disease known as trichinisis. Trichinosis is a disease which 100 years ago was first recognized as one which resulted from eating pork which had become infested with a worm-like parasite—Trichinella Spiralis.

For those who do eat pork, it is imperative that they remember that raw or partially cooked pork is dangerous — that pork and pork products always should be well cooked.

In the year 1835, Sir James Paget, famous English surgeon, was doing a post-mortem when he noticed that numerous small lime and calcium-like swellings in the muscles were taking the edge off his knife. He took out some of these nodules and showed them to Robert Owen of the Royal College of Surgeons. Owen broke open some and examined them through a microscope. He found that inside each shell-like nodule, not as big as a grain of wheat, was a small, coiled up worm, hair-like in size and consistence. He named the worm "Trichina Spiralis" which really means "little hair of spiral shape."

Today, the medical fraternity call this parasite "Trichinella Spiralis" which means practically the same thing. It is known that "Trichinella Spiralis" is a very small worm which is a parasite of the pig, and which, when eaten alive by a human being (as it may be when uncooked or partially cooked pork is eaten) becomes a parasite of the human being, and causes disagreeable and often fatal illness known as trichinosis.

The parasite is a small round worm. The pig is the animal most commonly infected, although rats and bears which eat infected pork may also become infected. The young worm, or larva, is very small and bores through the wall of the pig's bowel and gets into its muscles. In the muscles of the pig these small larvae surround themselves with a sac which after perhaps a year, becomes calcified and forms the hard small nodules which Sir James Paget noticed in 1835.

But, as most pigs are killed for pork by the time they are six months old ,the larvae remain alive in their little sacs or cysts in the muscles. If some of the pork, which contains these larvae, is eaten in a partially or uncooked state by a human being, the sacs digest away in the stomach and the live larvae escape into the bowel where they grow to adult size—the male 1/17 inch long and the female 1/7 inch long.

Each female produces from 1,000 to 15,000 larvae in the bowel. Most of these get into the blood vessels and are carried to all parts of the body settling in the muscles, particularly the tongue, the diaphragm and the eye muscles.

The adult worms in the bowl die in a few weeks and pass out but not before thousands of the larvae escape into the muscles and settle down there. Here they surround themselves with sacs and eventually become calcified and, in the course of time, they die, leaving behind them thousands of minute stony lumps in the muscles which can be shown up by X-ray.

At the time when these thousands of larvae are getting into the muscles the patient becomes ill. He has a fever and his muscles are sore. His eyes become puffy, due to the presence of the larvae in the eye muscles. He may be sick at the stomach and may have cramps. His white blood cells increase in number and one type called the "Eosinophile" is greatly increased in number. These symptoms set in about two to three weeks after eating the infected pork, and last usually from three to seven days. Death occasionally occurs.

Pigs usually get infected in the first place by eating uncooked pig flesh—pork clippings in garbage. Care therefore should be taken to see that pigs are not fed on untreated barbage, and that rats are kept away from piggeries, abbatoirs and packing houses.

But since the pig, when he does get infected, has thousands of these larvae all through his body, it is impossible by means of any practical method of meat inspection, to safeguard the public absolutely. The public must safeguard itself, and the only way is to make sure that pork or pork products are well cooked before eating.

Remember, rare pork is dangerous!

U.N. Spotlight

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Oct. 25 — (CP) — New York's city fathers have been repeating warm invitations to The United Nations to make this city the permanent home of the organization but it would appear doubtful that they represent the feelings of the masses.

The people of New York this week seemed fairly indifferent to the fact that on the day the general assembly opened its sessions in the temporary peace temple on Flushing Meadows Park they were in the presence of those who, presumably, hold the security of the world in their hands.

When the long motorcade carrying more than 500 delegates drove through the downtown and lower Manhattan streets on opening day there was scarcely a ripple of excitement among the thin lines of people along the sidewalks.

There was a great throng at city hall for the civic reception but it was so undemonstrative that Assembly president Paul - Henri Spaak of Belgium commented on it.

"Do not lose confidence in us," he pleaded. "You must put your trust in us and we will do our best to bring you peace. Outside of the United Nations there is nothing that can assure peace so we must succeed."

The storm of protest that has raged over the choice of prospective permanent sites upstate in Westchester county, from those whose properties would be taken over, has rather set the pattern for local reaction to the distinguished visitors of the United Nations.

That has concentrated interest on the possibility that the temporary assembly quarters on Flushing Meadows, site of the World's Fair in 1939-40 may be expanded into a multi - million dollar peace palace as a permanent site.

The Soviet delegation continued to be the most watched United Nations group, not excluding the gaudily costumed Saudi Arabians and their leader, Prince Feisal, son of the King.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King's car got him to the general assembly opening some minutes ahead of the official Canadian delegation. He took up a position inside the delegates' entrance to wait for his colleagues and unwittingly placed himself in the position of a one man reception line. As the arriving delegates trooped into the building they hailed the Canadian prime minister who had met many of them in Paris and at the San Francisco conference and he was busy at handshaking until his own party came along and he moved into the assembly chamber.

Kramer Sentenced To Be Shot for Murder Of R.C.A.F. Officer

Brunswick, Germany, Oct 24—(CP Cable)—Frederick Kramer, former German police lieutenant, has been found guilty by a military court and sentenced to be shot for the murder of an unnamed R.C.A.F. flight lieutenant in July, 1944, it was announced today.

Kramer, who pleaded innocent, said he met the officer on a road after he had bailed out of a Lancaster and shot him when he attempted to escape.

A. F. of L. Representatives Arrive in Berlin

Berlin, Oct. 25 (AP)— Three representatives of the American Federation of Labor arrived in Berlin today to begin a six-week tour of Germany to study the development of the country's new labor union movement. Here on invitation of Lt.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Deputy Military Governor, the trio included W. C. Doherty, Vice President of the A.F.L. and President of the National Association of Letter Carriers; Israel Feinberg, Vice-President of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and Anton Jacob, international representative of the International Butchers and meat cutters Union.

WHY DOESN'T SOMEBODY TELL ME THESE THINGS?

Reader S. F. says his personal experience leads him to question the reply I made to the query whether milk causes increase of mucus. In my reply, S. F. says, I ridiculed the idea that milk or other particular foods cause mucus. Then S. F. explains that he is asthamatic and has always used lots of milk, ice cream etc., until recently when it happened that he was deprived of his usual quota of milk and ice cream for several days. There was such an improvement in his asthma that decided to put all dairy products on the taboo list. That was six months ago. Now instead of wheezing, hawking and coughing all day long to his own embarrassment and the disgust of his neighbors, he expectorates but little and hawks and coughs only occasionally. Politely, then, S. F. asks my opinion of his experience.

Like a flash (probably in the pan) it occurs to me that S. F. may be allergic to something in milk or ice cream—and following blindingly on that one comes another flash, that by coincidence S. F. moved six months ago and so got away from something to which he is allergic. Once more, if you don't mind my flashing like mad, it may be that S. H.'s dog, cat, parrot, canary, horse, goose, cockroaches, mice or orris root using wife left him last April. Allergic sensitivity to these and other casual things in the environment is accountable for more asthma than such sensitivity to anything in milk or ice cream.

All of these suggestions are just guesses in any case. Only by specific skin tests can the physician determine in any instance whether the patient is actually allergic to cat hair, goose feathers or orris root, for example. But such allergic sensitivity has caused a good many otherwise inexplicable attacks of asthma.

There was the Washington man who found freedom from his trouble when he visited Atlantic City, but wreezed all up again as soon as he came back to Washington. His doctor discovered eventually that the man was allergic to parrot feathers — he kept a parrot in his Washington home. Polly got her congee and thereafter the man could keep quite comfortable at home. And the bridegroom whose honeymoon was practically ruined by furious rhinorrhea — incessant drip, drip, drip from his nose. The doctor ferreted out the fact that the bride used orris root powder. She changed to another kind of powder, and they lived happily for at least three weeks afterward.

It is only because S. F. reacts to milk or ice cream with asthma ,spasm of involuntary muscle in walls of bronchial tubes) that I suspect his trouble is allergy. If he had merely an excessive secreation of mucus, in nose, throat, bronchial passages or elsewhere, I'd still ridicule the notion that milk has anything to do with it.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Tall Boy

Son aged 12 is five feet tall. He eats everything. Husband is fairly tall, his sisters nearly six feet but of course all grown up. I have daughter, 7, who is rather tall. Is this unusual or does great stature run in families? (Mrs. J. M.)

Answer—Boys of 12 average 56 inches tall, at 14 they average five feet. Yes, great stature runs in the family.

Color Blindness

Air corps will not take anybody who is color blind. Can anything be done to correct color blindness. (J. E. D.)

Answer—Not if it is congenital (that is, present at birth). In some instances color blindness is due to tobacco excess and may clear up if the tobacco is stopped.

Forty Years of It

After forty years of constant slavery to medicine I am enjoying life for the first time without physic. It is great to be free from that habit. I owe it all to your fine booklet. It was a hard fight, as you no doubt realize—I gave up twice and resumed taking physic, but the third time I stuck it out and everything became normal just as you said it would. Have not used any sort of aid for over six months now and reckon I'll never want to. (J. F.)

Answer—The first five days are the hardest, but then, think how hard the vendors of physic have worked for five generations to keep people enslaved to the habit. Send ten cents and stamped envelope baring your address, for booklet "The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene."

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Where are the Mountains of the Moon?

"The Mountains of the Moon" was the name given by the ancient Greeks in Aristotle's time to a supposed range of mountains in the interior of Africa.

Apparently the Greeks got their knowledge of these mountains from the Egyptians, who in turn learned of them from the wild tribes with whom they came in contact. Ptolemy, the Alexandrian geographer, astronomer and mathematician of the second century A.D., supposed as did Marinus of Tyre before him, that the Mountains of the Moon (Montes Lunae) contained the head springs of the Nile.

Captain John H. Speke, the English explorer, who discovered the source of the Nile in 1861, considered the crescent of mountains explored by him north of Lake Tanganyika to be part of the Mountains of the Moon, while Dr. Charles T. Beke, an English geographer who devoted considerable study to the Nile and its tributaries, applied the ancient name to an extension of the Ethiopian plateau near the source of the Blue Nile.

Previously to the days of Speke and Beke the Mountains of the Moon were vaguely indicated on maps as being in Equatorial Africa.

In 1889 Sir Henry M. Stanley reported that he had discovered the real Mountains of the Moon, but his claim was scoffed at by most European geographers. Referring to Stanley's map, Sidney Low wrote in the "Cornhill Magazine" in 1904: "After that we are directed, by certain dots, along the supposed course of the stream northward , to where it is imagined to take its rise in the Montes Lunae, for which the map-reader can do no better for us than to refer, in brackets, to Ptolemy and Abulfed Edrisi."

Even at the present time there is a difference of opinion as to what particular range is entitled to the classical and legendary appellation, and for that reason "The Mountains of the Moon" is generally omitted from modern maps of Africa.

Sometimes the name is applied to the group of peaks around Mt. Kenya in British East Africa, but more often to the Ruwenzori range, lying farther west and just north of the Equator between Lake Edward and Lake Albert on the border of the Belgian Congo. These mountains are comparatively inaccessible and are interesting because, being virtually on the Equator, they are snow-clad and always cloaked in a heavy mist. In 1906 the Duke of Abruzzi, an Italian explorer, headed an expedition into Equatorial Africa that ascended the principal peaks of the Ruwenzoris.

150 Jerusalem Jews Have Been Detained

Alarm sirens sounded in Jerusalem, Jaffa and Tel Aviv after the incidents occurred, and all Jerusalem was under curfew for 40 minutes.

In propaganda leaflets, the Stern Gang, outlawed Jewish underground group, warned earlier in the week that British soldiers carrying firearms would be shot and that more and more mines would be put in the path of army vehicles.

London, Oct. 25 (CP)— Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons today that Britain would publicize in the United States details of new Palestinian outbreaks which he termed "abominating and cold blooded outrages."

"I should like to express the abhorence which I am confident the House feels at these abominations and cold blooded outrages and our keen realization of the trials and dangers which beset troops, police, administration and indeed all concerned with the maintenance of law and order in Palestine," Creech Jones declared.

Tom Driberg, Labor, asked the Colonial Secretary whether the foreign office "will see the facts of this situation are made widely known in New York where there is intensive propaganda not only on behalf of the Zionist case but actually on behalf of the terrorists."

"We are alive to that," Mr. Creech Jones replied, "and that will be done."

Raised Question

Viscount Hinchinbrooke, Conservative, raised the Palestine question, asking for a declaration "on the increase of terrorist activities in the last few days and what further precautionary measures are contemplated to safeguard the lives of British troops and policy."

Mr. Creech Jones agreed there had been "an intensification of minor terrorist activities" including the mining of road and the planting of explosives in public places and said casualties to troops and police in the last month were five killed and 12 injured, "not counting the casualties in last 'night's outrage as to which details have not yet been received."

"These outrages, which bring sorrow and anxiety to so many homes, come at a time when every effort is being made to bring about a relief of tension in Palestine and to discover a solution of the long term problem of the future of the Holy Land," the Colonial Secretary said.

Only Postpone Day

"Their effort can only be to postpone the day when a just and lasting settlement can be reached."

Viscount Hinchinbrooke questioned whether "the repeated imposition and lifting of the curfew and the comparatively light sentences being passed, such as one year on a man closely connected with the illegal storage of arms, were adequate, having regard to the generally inflamed state of the country."

Mr. Creech Jones said the civil and military authorities were "very alive" to the complexity of the problem and were "taking all precautions to meet so difficult a situation."

"The House will not expect me to enter into details as to the precautions being taken and the measures contemplated for the future," he added.

Thirty P. E. County Milk Producers To Supply Whole Milk for Toronto Area

Cheese factories in the northern Prince Edward district will be forced to operate with considerably fewer patrons when the 1947 making season commences, according to reports from that area.

Representatives of a Toronto Fluid milk distributing company have canvassed the northern townships of Prince Edward and it is reported that approximately 30 heavy milk producers have agreed to supply milk for the whole milk trade in the Queen City and for this purpose have signed application forms which have been lodged with the Milk Control Board to transport milk to Toronto. The agreement, which is stated to be of a permanent nature, will come into effect this autumn, it is believed.

Cheese factories principally affected will be Northport, Ben Gill and Mountain View with some patrons of other factories also reported to have signed agreements with the Toronto dairy company.

Offer of prices considerably above that being currently paid by cheese factories was given as the reason for the factory patrons turning to the fluid milk industry. The price offered is stated to be approximately at Toronto fluid milk prices, less transportation charges, for milk testing 3.2 per cent butter fat. This is about $1.15 per cwt. more than is paid by the cheese factory.

PREMIER DREW

In the official publication of the Communist Party, said the Premier, Labor-Progressive leader Tim Buck said the party proposed, by revolutionary action, to lead the workers to power and victorious establishment of "our Soviet Canada."

"Our Soviet Canada! Please don't laugh. It is no laughing matter. Whatever you may believe their chances are of carrying out these clearly defined objects, the fact remains that these are their objects and that all their activities are directly along that clearly established line."

Premier Drew urged his audience not to be misled by the apparent interest of Communists in the price of milk. Their sole aim was to create as much friction as possible in this and every other case where people naturally object to any increase in price, he said.

"Whether it be milk or hot meals for children or playgrounds or any other worthy object, if they think they can sow seeds of discontent and prejudice as long as enough people make the mistake of thinking that these Communists have any other object than to create conditions within which Communism may grow and spread."

The bitter opposition of Communists to the introduction of religious instruction in Ontario schools was part and parcel of their program.

The 121-day old strike of the Dominion Rubber Company Textile plant workers at Kitchener was the other one virtually settled, with a ratification meeting of members of Local 286, United Rubber Workers (CIO) scheduled for today.

Terms upon which the members will vote include a 13-cents an hour pay increase, "off-shift bonuses" of three and five cents an hour and three paid holidays. The 13 cents boost will be minus four cent increase received in March, but the remaining ninecents raise is retroactive to May 19.

Presto Music Club

The October meeting of the Presto Music Club was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. Alec Gordon. The program, in charge of Mrs. George Wright, was principally for Hammond organ and piano.

Organ and Piano, Clokey, Intermezzo: A. Gordon, L. Riggs; Vocal, Bach Gounod, Ave Maria: Helen Cooke; Organ, Arr. Clokey, Little Red Lark, (old Irish), Purcell-Archer, Trumpet Tune and Air: A. Gordon; Vocal, Franck, O Lord Most Holy: Mrs. Robbins; Organ, Arr. Parmentier, Deep River, Hinchey, W. G. Special: A. Gordon; Vocal, Gluck, O Savior Hear Me: Mrs. Houston; Organ and Piano, Demarest, Rhapsody: A. Gordon, L. Riggs; Organ, Gordon, Fringed Gentians: A. Gordon.

Vocal accompaniments were by A. Gordon, organ, and Dr. Locke, violin.

No Terms Announced

Announcement of the settlement terms, on which the 4,000 idle Westinghouse workers will go back on the job, must await membership voting by secret ballot Saturday and Sunday, officials of Local 504, United Electrical Workers (CIO).

The agreement was reached following negotiations which began Monday with Judge J. C. Reynolds of Kingston, acting as conciliator. Several previous attempts to reach a settlement broke down completely.

Westinghouse strike began last July 5 while Hamilton was celebrating its 100th anniversary. Original demands of the strikers was for a 25-cents an hour wage increase, which was later scaled down to 18½ cents and then to 15 cents. The company had announced its willingness to grant an eight cents an hour increase. The final company concession was for a 10-cents an hour boost.

There was speculation that the terms upon which agreement was reached yesterday included provision for a 13-cents an hour increase with "off-shift" bonuses similar to those granted in other strike settlements recently.

LIBEL SUIT POSTPONED

Toronto, Oct. 24 —(CP)— A defence application requesting that the $100,000 libel suit by Premier George Drew of Ontario against The Toronto Daily Star and Joseph E. Atkinson, publisher, be adjourned to the winter assizes here starting in aJnuary was granted yesterday in closed court by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly. The Justice granted the application after medical evidence was produced that it would temporarily be impossible for Mr. Atkinson to take part in the litigation at the present assizes.

DAUGHTER CARRIES ON

Watford, Oct. 25 (CP)— When her father had to leave his work as publisher of the Watford Guide-Advocate because of illness, Barbara Lee Aylesworth, his 24-year-old daughter pitched right in and did the job herself. Now she is reporter, publisher and printer and she sells advertising in her spare time.

Cream Producers Should Get More Money Says Pres.

Toronto — Cost of production figures indicate that cream producers should receive 74 cents a pound butterfat, compared with 51 cents now, said W. J. Wood, Alliston, elected president of the Ontario Cream Producers Association at an organization meeting here. The 51 cents now received includes 10 cents Dominion Government subsidy. Cream producers also have the skimmed milk for feeding.

Delegates from all sections of Ontario attended the meeting, which set up a provincial organization to replace an organization which faded out before the war. Secretary V. S. Milburn of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said there were 75,000 producers in the province, producing 77,000,000 pounds of butter.

Officers Elected

The meeting elected officers and instructed them to ask the Ontario Government for a vote of producers under the Farm Products Marketing Act to establish a scheme which would empower a negotiating committee of producers and processors to "negotiate and fix agreements respecting minimum prices, forms of contract, conditions of sale, grades, price differentials between grades, weighing, testing and other matters relating to the marketing of cream."

Officers elected: W. J. Wood, Alliston, president; James Gifford, Ennismore, first vice-pres.; V S. Milburn, Toronto, secretary, and the following executive members: Frank Langstaff, Lonark; J. Earl Lane, St. Anns; W. B. Rettie, Fergus; William Davis, Dobbinton, and A. D. Wilson, Chatham.

These provisional officers will serve until the first regular annual meeting.

DESTROY 16,000 MINES

Paris, Oct. 25 (Reuters) — French minesweepers have destroyed more than 16,000 mines along the French Atlantic coast since the liberation and about 400,000 others have been located, Capt. Conge, commander of the French minesweeping flotilla announced today. "Entrances to all Atlantic ports are now free of mines, although an enormous task which will require at least 10 years to complete, still lies ahead," he said.

CANADA UNLIMITED — The Formative Years

Scene from "Expedition Muskox"— after a painting by R. York Wilson, O.S.A., Official Government Artist to Expedition.

+ + + + + The Last Frontier + + + + +

Expedition Muskox. Forty-five men travelling where men had never travelled before with mechanized vehicles, shattering the white silences of the Arctic with the thunder of their passing . . . Breaking through Canada's last frontier—3,500 miles of forest, tundra, and frozen Arctic seas.

Forty-five men pushing forward day by day over the centuries-old trails of the pioneer fur traders. From Churchill to Victoria Island in the Arctic Ocean . . . to Coppermine . . . to Port Radium . . . Norman Wells . . . Fort Simpson . . . the Alaska Highway.

Names,—romantic names that so closely combine Canada's past and Canada's unlimited future. Coppermine, discovered by Samuel Hearne in 1770 . . . Port Radium, as new as tomorrow. Fort Simpson, that knew the tread of Alexander MacKenzie when he charted the route to the Arctic in 1790 . . . Norman Wells, storehouse of oil for Canada's future needs.

And the men of Expedition Muskox, they too combine the old and the new; the courage and hardihood of the pioneers with the skills and methods of the 20th century. They have shown us the ever-widening horizons of Canada Unlimited—a country young, strong, confident . . . marching forward into a new and greater era . . . into a future in which we can share in a way open to every Canadian: our purchase and holding of Victory Bonds.

WEDDINGS

CAMPBELL—EMERSON

A marriage of considerable local interest was quietly solemnized at Bridge Street United Church, Saturday, October 19, when Mary Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. L. Emerson, of Holloway, became the bride of Kenneth Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Campbell, of Belleville ,with Rev. D. C. Amos officiating.

The bride was particularly attractive, wearing a street-length dress of turquoise blue with navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses; while Miss Teresa Lahey her only attendant, wore a grey street-length dress,, with black hat and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Stanley Morton ably supported the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Queen's Hotel for the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

For travelling to Montreal and points in the United States, the bride donned a powder blue wool dress, with matching hat and topcoat of white wool.

After their return Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will reside in Belleville.

Napanee Concert Party Delights Large Audience at Tabernacle

Thursday evening, in the Sunday School room of the Tabernacle United Church, the stage was set for the marriage of Lillian Eliza Seraphina Hopps to Adam Cuttemshort, the rows of chairs being decorated with the usual white "bows" marking the "guest pews", and baskets of rosey hued 'mums adding a touch of color against the white background of the walls.

The Rev. Noah B. Good officiated for the ceremony before an appreciative audience, which filled the room to the limit of its capacity.

That "music hath charms" was shown in the pianist's selections covering a period of decades, and fittingly including—"Two Little Girls in Blue", "Little Annie Rooney", "Good Old Summer Time", "The Sidewalks of New York" and "Among My Souvenirs". During the singing of the "document", the soloist, Patience Peach Blossom, appropriately rendered the ballad "The Last Rose of Summer".

In lieu of a honeymoon the bridal party returned to the stage to assist in the "Olde Tyme" concert, which in every way proved to be an event affording amusement, enjoyment and entertainment of the kind that measures up to all previous expectations.

Supplied Music

Dame Ursula Pleasantface supplied piano "musick" during the assembling of the guests; her repertorie in keeping with the variety of style and color displayed in the costumes and millinery, where plumes of almost every hue hung or swayed precariously at any imaginable angle, and vied with flowers blooming in variegated clusters; all of which was in contrast to the sombre tones of "grandma's" black beaded cape and matching bonnet tied under her chin with wide ribbons. The gowns with trains, bustles and voluminous skirts reminded observers of the fact that "history repeats itself".

All the musical numbers were excellent, the vocal trio and quartette displaying unusual depths of tone and range of voice. The violin solos by Mehitable Paquaina Dersula were well received, as were also the Scottish airs sung by Dame Rachael Nightingale. Highlighting the vocal numbers were the solos "It's Morning" and "Through the Years" rendered by Penelope Ann Paine, who kindly responded to the continued applause with "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise".

Fine Elocutionist

Contrasting with the variety of tones in the musical numbers, was the charm in voice and personality of the elocutionist, Tabatha Herringbone, who, by her powers of expression, carried her hearers away to rural surroundings and the problems of married life on a farm; later directing them, in the spirit of thanksgiving, to the beauties of flowers and fruits and an abundance of "food".

On behalf of the Tabernacle Women's Association, sponsors of the Concert, Rev. J. W. Houston expressed appreciation to the ladies from Trinity United Church, Napanee, who had so ably presented a program of genuine entertainment.

The singing of the National Anthem dismissed the audience; after which the Tabernacle ladies were hostesses for a social hour with the ladies from Trinity.

Mrs. Frances Nicholson, a former valued member of Tabernacle Choir, was among the "guests".

Our Good Friend the Potato

Although there is still a lot of fresh vegetables on the market stalls and in the stores, potatoes, which were more or less forgotten or neglected the past months, are creeping up on us again. All the varieties of root vegetables come more and more general standbys with colder weather but because they are familiar to everyone they don't necessarily have to appear in the same dress every day. A change of dress or at least of appearance is always welcome even if down deep it's really the same familiar food. Many people say that a potato is always a potato no matter what you do to it, so why bother disguising it. . . .They are right in their first statement but the home economists of the Consumer Section, D.D.A. disagree with them on the second one and offer recipes which will settle the argument or differences of opinion.

Basically, whether the potato is boiled, baked, mashed, riced, fried, etc., the flavor is the same but seasonings, other vegetables, mat drippings cheese sauces, will dress it up and give it a brand new dress or rather flavor.

POTATO CHOWDER

2 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, minced
2 cups diced raw potato
2 cups diced raw carrot
2 cups boiling water
1 1-2 teaspoons salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon fat, melted
2 cups hot milk

Melt fat in soup kettle, add onion and cook 5 minutes without browning. Add potatoes, carrots and water ,cook till vegetables are tender, add seasonings. Blend flour with melted fat, add hot milk. Add to vegetables and cook three minutes longer or until slightly thickened. Garnish with chopped parsley if desired. Six servings.

POTATO CREOLE

4 tablespoons fat
4 cups sliced raw potatoes
1 onion, sliced
2 cups canned tomatoes or tomato juice
1 1-2 teaspoons salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper

Melt the fat in a frying pan. Add the potatoes and onion and cook for 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender and the tomato juice become thickened by the starchy potatoes. Six servings.

POTATO BISCUITS

[illegible] cups hot riced potatoes
2 tablespoons grated cheese
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
Or 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

To the potatoes add the grated cheese, chopped parsley and the well-beaten eggs. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Blend thoroughly with first mixture. Shape into rounds like a biscuit and bake in a hot oven, 425 degree Fahrenheit, for 15 to 20 minutes. These biscuits are good served with jam or jelly and require no butter. Yield: 18 2-inch biscuits.

FRANKFORD

Family Honored Before Leaving The Community

Frankford (Special)—On Monday evening Oct. 21st., over one hundred friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charlesworth and Helen at Stockdale to bid them farewell are they leaving for their new home in Frankford.

Rev. H. H. Lackey as chairman, called the gathering to order and spoke words of appreciation for the part Mr. and Mrs. Charlesworth and Helen had taken both in church and community work, and expressed regret at their leaving.

A short program was given consisting of readings by Mrs. Roy Holland, Mrs. Will Johnson and Mr. Harold Pitcher. A vocal duet by Leola and Helen MacDonald was much enjoyed and Neal Hubble in his capable manner, favored with two solos. Mrs. J. F. Lane of Wellington was present and expressed her joy at being able to meet with so many of her Stockdale friends, but regretted the loss which Stockdale is sustaining in the removal of the Charlesworth's from their church and community life.

Mrs. Cecil Frost read an address presenting Mr. and Mrs. Charlesworth with two comfortable chairs, and Helen was presented with a pair of boudoir lamps.

Miss Anabelle Palmer, on behalf of the junior girls Sunday School class read an address and presented Mrs. Charlesworth, who has been their teacher, with a cut glass rose bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlesworth and Helen in replying expressed their appreciation of the many kindnesses shown to them during the past; for the kindly thoughts which made this last coming-together possible and for the beautiful gifts which would be treasured in the years to come, not only for their beauty and usefulness, but also as a symbol of the lasting and loyal friendships of the people of Stockdale community.

National Anthem brought this delightful evening to a close.

TWEED

Neighbors Bid Family Farewell

Tweed—A number of neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ithol Payne of Lodgeroom Road on Wednesday evening to pay their respects to them before leaving to make their home elsewhere. The address signed by Jas. Jeffrey and Bill McCrea and read by Jas. Jeffrey voiced many regrets at their departure and great praise for their fine co-operation and neighborliness, not soon to be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. Payne were presented with a floor lamp, as a token of good-will and fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. Payne thanked their many friends for their kind words and remembrance. Refreshments were served and a social time spent.

Miss Ethel Shaver, of Ottawa, who has been spending some time in Kingston is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sim McCrea.

Mrs. Lionel Peake and daughter Carol of Sundridge, Ont., attended the wedding of her niece Miss Colleen Colgan and Mr. Bill Maybee of Detroit, on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ethel Gillespie of Peterborough is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wesley Badgley and Mr. Badgley.

Mrs. Harry Campion of Marmora, is visiting her sister, Miss Margaret Kerr.

Mrs. Ida Craig had the misfortune to fall off a chair in her home, straining the ligaments of her right leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cotton were guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Simon, Brockville.

PLENTIFUL CROP OF NUTS

Brantford, Oct. 24 — (CP) — Here we go gathering nuts in November. The nutting season is on in Ontario, and the crops are plentiful. Walnuts and hickories are common, but there are few chestnuts this year, the trees having been attacked by a worm scourge.

Consecon

Church Anniversary

Consecon—A large attendance was observed on Sunday evening, October 20th, at the United Church, in honor of the 112th anniversary, Rev. George Campbell of Colborne conducted the service and delivered a very inspiring sermon. Mr. Campbell was the minister thirty years ago on Consecon circuit where he was stationed for five years. Many of his old members were glad to welcome him here again.

The pie and ice cream social on Tuesday evening in the church vestry was well attended. Proceeds $10.00.

A very unfortunate accident occurred during the last preparations for the ice cream social, when Mrs. Malcolm Arthur suffered a fall in the church, cutting a gash in her head which necessitated stitches. She was rushed home and a doctor and a nurse were soon in attendance.

Mrs. C. Weaver from Western Canada is visiting her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Massey.

After a lengthy illness Mr. Lee Clark was taken by ambulance to Kingston General Hospital on Friday evening and there passed away a few hours after admittance. The funeral service was held at his late home on Tuesday, October 22nd.

Mrs. J. McLean, Miss M. McLean and Miss Muriel Howe spent Sunday afternoon at Huff's Island.

Mrs. Louise Bush of Belleville is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bush.

Mrs. F. Terry and Mrs. Eldon Walt spent Tuesday in Trenton.

Miss Lottie Post is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Jenks.

Mrs. Ella Young and Mrs. Nina Stapleton have gone to Bloomfield for a while, visiting Mr. Harper Stapleton and calling on Mrs. H. Stapleton at Picton Hospital where she is a patient.

Visitors at Kenneth Alyea's on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Baden Alyea and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rae Spencer and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Alyea and family and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Alyea.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Miller and family are living in part of the home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Miller.

Mrs. Anson Steinburg returned home on Sunday from Belleville Hospital where she has been a patient for a month.

Mr. Wes. Kaiser has purchased the residence of the late Jno. R. French.

Mr. Fred Chase has purchased the house known as the John McDonald home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simonds, Mrs. J. Moreland, Mr. and Mrs. H. Chase were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Chase and family.

A number from Consecon attended the sale at Mrs. Jennie Alyea's, 3rd concession of Ameliasburg on Wednesday. Mrs. Alyear will be staying with Mrs. W. W. Ward for the winter.

Mr. E. Fitchett is moving into part of Mrs. Florence Clark's home. Mrs. Clark is visiting in Toronto and Sarnia at present.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

REDNERSVILLE W.A.

The October meeting of the Rednersville W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Wannamaker with twenty-three members present.

The opening exercises consisted of the theme song, Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Todd, and prayer by Rev. E. W. Todd.

Business concerning a bazaar to be held in November at the home of Mrs. R. Stafford, was discussed, with committees reporting on their work. It was decided to make the quilt for Mrs. Hough at the home of Mrs. J. Hall, and to hold the November meeting at Mrs. Thos. Thompson's home. Rev. E. W. Todd presented details concerning the Cavalcade recently held at Bridge Street Church in Belleville.

Mrs. Todd had charge of the program consisting of the following: a piano solo by Mrs. Earl McHay; a reading by Mrs. Ralph Pulver, on "The Landing of the Pilgrims", and a vocal by Mr. Todd.

The meeting closed with prayer after which refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

RIPE STRAWBERRIES

Niagara Falls, Oct. 25 (CP)—The Hugh Currie family of Niagara Falls has a real luxury desert for dinner every night—ripe strawberries picked in their own garden.

The Experts Say

By KAY REX
(Candian Press Staff Writer)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Oct. 25. (CP)—Try to tell the men in the family a meat ration can stretch just so far and they won't understand you. But next time your last coupon is gone, come up with a new fish recipe for luncheon or dinner. You can take your next month's meat ration on it—the men will pass their plates back for more.

The time has come. . .to speak of oysters as this is one of the "R" months. They're popular stewed, fried, or even raw. The household budget may decree oysters are a luxury item. (In the inland cities prices range around 75 cents a dozen for the large ones in the shell, or 60 cents by the half pint). However, make a point of having them just once while they're in season.

There's a secret to opening an oyster-shell—no, no, put down that chisel and hammer, and just place a thin knife under the back end of the right valve, or shell (the shallower shell is the right). Push forward until the muscle, which holds the shells together, is cut. The right valve can then be raised from the left.

Oysters should not be placed in water before opening. When serving on the half shell, clean the shells by sprinkling them with water and brushing. In this way the oyster does not open to absorb any water. Lemon juice with salt and pepper, is the sauce needed on a raw oyster.

When frying oysters first put them for a few minutes in cold salted milk, then roll in fine bread-crumbs. Fry in butter or olive oil. The liquid can be used as a base for the accompanying white sauce.

When purchasing fish, such as salmon, halibut, and trout, it's sound economy to buy a pound or so extra. Thus if any is left from the first meal it won't be wasted, but can be turned into a new dish for another meal.

Clever You can make a meal of left-overs taste just as agreeable as something you've freshly prepared. Use that dish of cooked fish from yesterday's dinner for a casserole of creamed fish and potato chips.

Combine one cup of medium thick white sauce with two cups of cooked fish. Place alternate layers of the creamed fish and potato chips in a greased dish. Season. Top with buttered fine bread crumbs and heat well in a moderate oven until the top is brown.

A casserole of green tomatoes with onions and cheese makes a satisfying main course on your menu these frostly evenings.

Known as Green Tomato Cheese Scallop, it requires six medium green tomatoes, four large onions sliced, two cups bread crumbs, two teaspoons sugar, two teaspoons salt, pepper, one-quarter cup grated cheese.

Wash and slice tomatoes and arrange them in layers with sliced onions and bread crumbs. Sprinkle each layer with sugar, salt and pepper. Spread grated cheese over the top and bake half an hour in a medium oven. The recipe serves six.

N.Y. Rangers Prepare to Move Into Glass House as Smythe Blasts Scorers of the N.H.L.

Unbreakable Glass Will be Put Around Ice Surface to Protect Fans

By JACK [illegible]
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With the teams rushing up for an all-out weekend, the National Hockey League came up today with a couple of choice "off-the-cuff" items in a hearty blast at its officials and the revelation that the amazing New York Rangers intend to live in a glass house.

Peppery Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs was the man with the beef, charging specifically that the scorers at Boston had robbed his Leafs of three scoring assists in the Leafs' 3-3 draw with the Bruins. He added he was writing to League President Clarence Campbell asking points for Bob Goldham, Gus Bodnar and Gus Mortson.

The Rangers' came up with a more intriguing item in the announcement that Madison Square Garden's playing surface will be enclosed in glass when the team moves in for their first home game Oct. 30.

The announcement last night said the tempered plate glass screen was put around the rink surface to protect fans from flying pucks and winging sticks. Perhaps so, but from the way the Rangers finished a consistent last in the past three seasons, the management might have had the players protection at heart too.

Rangers Have Two Wins

How were they to know that the Rangers, who whipped the Stanley Cup Canadiens, 4-1, in Montreal Wednesday night, would start off as the first team to chalk up two victories while holding a first-place tie with Toronto in this young season?

At any rate, the Rangers better be good because the glass screen, put up at a cost of $23,000, will not protect them from brickbats from above. It rises just two feet above the 3 1-2 foot boards along the length of the playing surface; five feet high behind the goals.

The Montreal Forum, who originally introduced the glass idea, uses it behind the goals only. They may be thinking now of extend-after the injury to a woman spectator Wednesday night when Maurice Richard lifted the puck over the boards.

With the league standings tightened to a point where only one point separates the first five clubs, the next chance to scramble the standings comes Saturday night when three games are carded. Even the last place Detroit Red Wings could move into the thick of things with a victory.

MILLERS IN TIE

(By The Canadian Press)

Minneapolis Millers moved into a tie for second place with St. Paul in the United States Hockey League's Northern Division" last night by whipping the Saints 6-2.

The Millers, who snapped a two-game St. Paul winning streak took a first period lead and held it to the final stop. Roy Kelly led the Millers with two goals while Tom Forgie and Maurice Vaillancourt each collected a goal and an assist.

Earl Bartholome and Melnyk tallied the other Minneapolis points while Baker and Dew accounted for St. Paul's markers.

CLIMBS BALCONY OF BURNING HOUSE TO FREE TRAPPED MAN

GERARD CHARETTE wins Dow Award

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Victory Bond. Winners are selected by The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of a leading Montreal daily newspaper.

A crowd gathered excitedly around a two-story house in St. Jerome, Que. . . . watching with fear and awe the heavy smoke pouring from the windows. Then the news broke. A boarder was asleep in a room on the second floor—trapped! The firemen had not yet arrived . . . and Gerard Charette, a neighbour, decided to act. Quickly, he leapt onto the balcony and climbed a post to the balcony roof. Then, smashing a window, he stepped inside. In a matter of seconds he found the man —unconscious at the foot of his bed! Charette then carried him back through the window to the balcony roof. By this time, firemen had put up a ladder . . . and both rescuer and victim were helped down to safety.

To Gerard Charette of St. Jerome, father of three children, we are proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.

"THE FLYING WEDGE" A LA 1869

The grand old game of football as played in granddad's day was re-enacted at Princeton the other day. The clock was turned back 77 years to stage highlights of the historic initial contest which brought intercollegiate football into being. That memorable day was Nov. 6, 1869. Anything short of mayhem was accepted in those early days of the sport — a far cry from the streamlined game of 1946. The rules provided for 25 players to a side and allowed participants to "bat with hands, feet, sideways, backwards, anyway to get the ball along." The "flying wedge" in which the player with the ball was "hugged" by teammates and shoved along toward the goal, is shown as it is broken up. The dramatization was a feature of Princeton's bicentennial observance of Charter Day.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By ALAN VICKERY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, Oct. 25 — (CP) — Sports editor Tony Allan of the Winnipeg Tribune has started a furore in Western Canada football circles with a story suggesting:

1. That Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers who open a home-and-home series for the western title at Calgary tomorrow are "only playing for the dubious honor of getting their ears pinned back by the eastern champions whether they be (Toronto) Argos, Ottawa or Alouettes;"

2. That it might be the wisest course "to let the Grey Cup go to the eastern winner by default . . . what would be left of the west's football prestige if its representative absorbed another shellacking such as the Bombers received (35-0) from Toronto Argos last year?"

Stampeders' officials and players might have been restrained in their comment — they said merely they were in complete accord in their decision to go east if they won the western championship — but the Bombers boiled over.

"The west's prestige be darned," said coach Jack West of the Bombers. "What about the players' prestige if we didn't challenge? What incentive would the young western players have if we told them at the beginning of the season they weren't good enough to play the east.

"I'm not conceding anything and I don't believe Griffing — (coach Dean Griffing of Calgary) would either. All that is needed is a couple of completed passes and the same number of breaks as your opponents and even the lightest club has a chance to win."

Captain Mel Wilson, Harry Hood and Nate Shore, veteran Bombers, backed him up in no uncertain terms.

West took another look at the story and his temperature rose another notch. "Nuts," he said.

President Art Chipman of the Bombers also used restraint. He said cooly that the Bombers would go east if they beat Calgary.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

The housing shortage has hit pro hockey. Because of lack of accommodation in St. Louis, goaltender Tom Wilson quit the American League Flyers with the announcement he had retired from the game. He has returned to his home in Indianapolis.

Although he made no announcement regarding plans after resigning yesterday as coach of Brooklyn Dodgers, Charles Dressen was believed headed for Larry MacPhail's New York Yankees. Whether as coach or manager, however, nobody knows.

The 48-year-old Jean Borotra, the "Bounding Basque" of French tennis, is returning to court competition. He arrived in London yesterday with three other French players to meet a British international team in early contests.

Plans for a North American zone of the Pan-American Soccer Federation are expected to be formulated at a December meeting in Havana with delegates representing Canada, United States, Mexico and Cuba.

A hint of differences with president Larry MacPhail of New York Yankees was offered yesterday at Pittsburgh after an official announcement that pitcher Ernie Bonham of that club had become a Pirate. It was pointed out that Bonham had been less effective on the mound since MacPhail became boss of the Yanks two years ago.

Herman Keiser of Akron, O., with a 69, led the pack of 160 golfers at the close of yesterday's first round of the Richmond, Va., Open golf tournament. He was one stroke better than Jim Ferrier of Chicago.

CAPITOLS SCORE THREE IN ROW

(By The Canadian Press)

Indianapolis Capitals, who set an American Hockey League record when they scored 286 goals last year, are once again blasting their opponents into submission.

Held to two goals in their first two games, the Caps have since slammed home 24 counters in racking up three straight victories.

The Caps moved into a tie with Cleveland Barons for the lead in the circuit's western division last night by trouncing New Haven Ramblers 8-3, in the circuit's only scheduled game.

Right winger Jerry Couture rifled in three goals to pace the Cap offence.

George Blake and Lloyd Doran beat goalie Jim Henry in the second to clinch the game. Norm Burns notched New Haven's third counter and Dan Summers drove home Indianapolis' final tally.

Right winger Al Brown of New Haven accounted for the losers' other goals scoring twice in the first period. Tony Bukovich and Tony Licari both tallied in the initial session for the winners.

No games are scheduled tonight but all of the loop's 10 teams return to action Saturday.

FOOTBALL CLUBS PREPARE FOR CRUCIAL GAMES

Toronto Argos Must Win From Ottawa to Remain in Playoffs

By The Canadian Press

Every football coach in all four of Canada's senior leagues better be ready today with his trumps for this upcoming gridiron weekend is the one when tricks count.

In the west, the lone senior circuit that challenges for the Grey Cup is already down to the playoff stage. In the east, this weekend should just about decide which teams are going to be around at playoff time.

The east's intercollegiate circuit which doesn't enter into the post-season fun with the others, has its private fight in the struggle of the second-place University of Ontario and the efforts of supporters of any one university to outdo the others.

A damper was put on the expected intercollegiate hi-jinks for one Saturday game, the Toronto match between winless Queen's and University of Toronto, with an ultimatum from university officials. The repetition of destructive performances of other years will lead to Queen's withdrawal from intercollegiate activities, the Kingston, Ont., university's students were told.

Western on Top

In the other rah-rah circuit clash meanwhile, Western Mustangs will seek to stretch their winning streak to four straight at the expense of McGill's Redmen in Montreal.

The game that may determine playoff positions in the Interprovincial Union is the Ottawa clash between the Rough Riders and the Toronto Argonauts. With Argos two points ahead of Rough Riders, who beat them 12-3 in Toronto last Saturday, old Lansdowne Park should be packed.

Whatever happens here, Montreal Alouettes are expected to come out of the weekend with at least a share of first place, for they are tied with the Argos now and their opponents are the winless Hamilton Tigers at Montreal Sunday.

The Ontario Union spotlight will be on Hamilton, where the unbeaten Toronto Indians and the second place Wildcats clash. They tied 14-14 in a previous meeting, Wildcats falling two points behind in their one loss to Sarnia Imperials.

The Imperials, now tied for third with Balmy Beach of Toronto, can clinch one of the loops' four playoff spots by defeating the fifth-place Rockets at Windsor Saturday. The Beach can cop the fourth berth by defeating the last place Ottawa Trojans in Toronto.

Sauley will sell the scent to other trappers but will not disclose its formula.

Home Run Only One Scored As Chatham Defeats Batawa In First Game of O.B.A. Finals

Grant, Winning Pitcher, Allows Only Two Hits, Smith Allows Four

Stirling Park, Chatham, Ont. Oct. 25—Before a crowd of 1,200 fans, Chatham Seniors won the first game in the Intermediate "A" finals from Batawa 1-0 here Thursday afternoon.

This was the first game in a best of three series with the second game to be played in Batawa Saturday afternoon.

Bill Stirling and Bob Grant shared the honors for the Seniors as they combined to lead the team to victory.

In the first inning with one away, Stirling took a called strike from "Smoky" Smith and then belted his second pitch over the centrefield fence for the only run of the game.

Grant toiled on the mound for the winners and retired the Bata nine in succession for the first five innings rising to starry heights in the fourth when he struck out Spencer, Austin and Cook in succession. The left hander allowed them only two hits and both were singles going to Watson and Rankin in the sixth innings.

Peacock Makes Fielding Play

Ken Peacock pulled the highlight fielding play of the game in the fourth inning as he leaped high into the air to snare Mahon's bid for a hit. Murray Williams was on second base at the time and was easily doubled off by his catch and fine throw.

Bill O'Rourke did everything but climb the left field fence in the eighth inning to grab a long hoist by Watson to rob the Bata player of an extra base hit.

"Smoky" Smith on the loser's mound pitched a good game allowing only four hits and striking out nine but suffered in comparison to Grant who whiffed sixteen. Bill Stirling with two hits, a homer and a single led the Chatham team and Murray Williams with a double and Suitor with an infield single were the other hitters.

800 Hunters Going North

Toronto, Oct. 25 (CP)— The wartime security of Northern Ontario deer is due to come to an abrupt end when approximately 800 hunters, armed with plenty of ammunition leave by special train next month to hunt in the Georgian Bay district.

The group, representing hunt clubs from Sarnia, Guelph, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Oshawa, and other Ontario points, will leave here Nov. 2 to pick up where wartime ammunition and transportation restrictions forced them to leave off in 1939. Increased membership of the hunt clubs and dreams of venison steak long harbored in many a hunter's mind, are responsible for resumption of the pre-war annual trek to Northern Ontario.

Although black bear and rabbits are reported plentiful in the Georgian Bay area, the hunters intend to go all out for deer, they announced.

INQUEST TO BE HELD

Sudbury, Oct. 24 —(CP)— A 90-foot plunge down an ore chute in the Frood Mine here ended in death last night for Alix Kaczmar, a timberman with the company since 1935. Authorities said an inquest will be held. Kaczmar is survived by his widow and three children.

PROTECT YOUR EQUIPMENT WITH A NEW PAINT JOB

Every year rust takes a heavy toll of otherwise good farm equipment. A professional paint job, done in our shop, will stop rust spots and increase the useful life of your machinery.

Right now is an excellent time to have it done. Before your implements, All-Crop Harvester, or other machinery go into the shed, be sure they are fully protected against damp winter weather.

We have modern spray painting equipment and well-trained men who can give you fast service. Before painting, your machine will be thoroughly cleaned with a special solvent that removes dirt, grease and rust.

Have the satisfaction of knowing that your equipment will look better next spring than it does now. A phone call will schedule your job. Give us a ring.

Napanee, Oct. 25 (CP)— Convicted yesterday on charges of causing damage to tombstones in a nearby cemetery Oct. 3, Clare Blute, 21, and Ross Sholer, 24, both of Napanee, were each fined $50 and costs, or two months in jail. They were also placed on suspended sentence for five years on condition that they each pay $550 as restitution for the damage.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

We don't like to adopt a boastful attitude on anything pertaining to sports but we are only human and like any other human being like to predict things to come, or at least air our views of such matters. However we did predict a stirring southpaw duel up in Chatham yesterday if "Smoky" Smith pitched for Batawa. And that is exactly what happened.

• • •

Talking with Mall Dennis of the Chatham News via long distance phone last night, we heard that the duel was one of the best chucking battles seen in Chatham for many a moon and that coming from a town where they grow baseball players on every tobacco plant, is something for the book.

• • •

It was one of the classics in which anything could happen. Twelve hundred spectators, not all of them rooting for the home team sat electrified in the stands as two grand pitchers battled each other on the mound for nine innings. The actual break of the game came in the first inning when Bob Stirling, Chatham catcher, after watching one of Smith's fast ones smoke across the plate, leaned into a second one and blasted it out of the park for a home run, the only tally of the game.

• • •

And as the game went on, with Smith and Bob Grant, Chatham's starry lefthander, mowing down the opposition with almost monotonous regularity, that lone marker began to loom up like the Empire State building. The game was typical championship ball with neither side giving nor asking quarter yet battling for the breaks that usually are the governing factors when two outstanding teams get together.

It was one of these tough games to lose; one that could have been won by either team. The Chatham squad, champions of the Western Ontario district are all that the name implies. They are a fine well-balanced team that packs plenty of power offensively as well as in the field. They know all the baseball answers and are quick to sense the breaks and take every advantage of what is offered them.

• • •

No less finer in defeat were the Bill Easton crew. Led by the doughty "Smoky" Smith the Shoemen battled to the last ditch ready to pounce on that elusive something that spelled victory but which was always around the invisible corner. They gave the Chatham fans a superb display of the summer pastime and there were rounds of cheers for the Batamen as they pulled off spectacular catches afield.

But Saturday is another day. And out at Batawa the two squads hook up in the second game of the two-of-three series. The Shoemen have their backs to the wall and the moral advantage of playing on their own diamond. But that is a mere detail when squads of the calibre of these teams meet. However it should be the baseball classic of the season and no doubt the Bata stands will be overflowing.

Paul Bibeault, Chicago Black Hawks goalie this season is the first French-Canadian to play for a Chicago team since Lolo Couture played right wing for the Hawks back in 1934-35. Couture played seven seasons for the Hawks before being traded to Les Canadiens.

• • •

When Neil and Mac Colville took their places on the New York Rangers defence in Rangers opening game of the season at Montreal it marked the first appearance of a brother defence combination in National Hockey League history. Silver-thatched Neil and chunky Mac were two of the top forwards in the game a few years ago when they were burning up the ice lanes for Rangers on a line with Alex Shibicky.

• • •

Frank Selke, who is beginning his first season as General Manager of the Montreal Forum has brightened up the big hockey house considerably. He has installed a new press box up among the rafters similar to press boxes used in Detroit, Boston and New York. Back of the goals where there used to be heavy wire there are now sheets of Herculite glass which are shatter-proof and puck-proof.

• • •

Dick Irvin, Canadiens coach said the puck took a terrific rebound off the glass. Alterations have been made to the south end of the building to provide more and roomier box seats. Finally there are the bevy of beautiful usherettes who are neatly uniformed and who have already been dubbed "Selke's Sirens".

• • •

Sheik Emir Badui arrived in town this afternoon in all the glory of his native habiliments and ready for his all-important championship bout with Whipper Billy Watson at the Hume Arena tonight. Interest in the return match between these two outstanding matmen has mounted to near fever-heat and Manager Walt Gerow predicts a sell-out. There will be no time limit to the main event and that should eliminate any possibility of a repetition of the Sheik's complaint of last week.

• • •

The Whipper, however, is not selling his dusky opponent short and has been busy all week perfecting a defence against the Arabian's cruel crab hold and arm lock which he used with telling effect in the second fall of last week's show. The bout should be a mat classic so better come early.

• • •

The four umpires who had the regular assignment in the World's series did better financially than the losing Red Sox. The generosity of the Carmine Hose in dividing up their Series melon into 41 full shares, in addition to cash awards totaling $700, and the fact that the players' pool was the smallest since 1933, were responsible. The Birds got $3,742 apiece. Each Red Sox' full share was worth $2,059.99.

On the other hand, Umpires Cal Hubbard, Al Barlick, Lee Ballanfant and Charley Berry each received $2,500, with an $18 per day expense allowance and $25 cab fares. The two alternates, Beans Reardon and Bill Grieve, each were given $750.

Credit for coining the best name for the shift employed by the Cardinals against Ted Williams in the World's Series goes to Vince Johnson, young baseball writer of the Pittsburgh Post-Dispatch. While it was generally called the Dyer Shift, Johnson labeled it the "Dyer-gram."

New York, Oct. 25. (AP)—From Two Rivers, Wis., sportswriter Duke Bridges sends what he claims is a sure way to stop the army team: Line up eleven dogface (infantrymen) and say: "See them second looies, boys: they are the ones that make you salute.'' . . . After such a fracas, the dogfaces probably would salute and like it. That's one reason why they have an army team.

NOURISH EVERY INCH of him WITH GAINES

• There is nothing finer you can do for your dog than to nourish every inch of him with GAINES. He'll know — and he'll tell you in as many ways as he can! —that you are keeping him in perfect condition . . . feeding him the meal he loves . . . doing what is necessary to help him be the vigorous, alert, strong, good-looking specimen he wants to be! For GAINES is Complete Meal for ALL dogs! Gives them most meal—they really go for that!—vegetables, cereals, milk nutrients, vitamins, minerals—every type of nourishment dogs are known to need. And it's easy for you—just mix GAINES with water (soup, milk or gravy for a change) —and feed. Feeding suggestions on the package—and inside the pamphlet "How to Feed Your Dog." For variety try Gaines Krunchon, which is Gaines Meal compressed into crunchy pellets, fed direct from the package.

Here's What He Gets!
. . . all this nourishment
in EVERY POUND of GAINES
As much protein as 1½ lbs. beef
As much carbohydrates as 1½ qts. cooked oatmeal

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Times and a half with overtime somebody gets me wrong about an easy rule. Not deliberately. It may be because I failed to drive home my point. Or because he missed reading part of my story.

The keystone of good bidding is my Horse Sense rule of T-A-N; takeout, assist, no-trump; the order of choice of bids. The first choice is a takeout. Assist is second choice. No-trump is last.

Because a takeout is the first choice, a player may also have an assist or a no-trump bid. So, a takeout to a new suit is forcing for one round. No other bid is forcing except a jump.

Takeouts are forcing as long as they continue uninterruptedly in new suits only. No non-jump bid is forcing unless it is a new suit in an unbroken chain of new suits.

For instance, south opens one diamond; north responds with one heart; south then says one spade. It is still forcing for one round. The chain of new suit takeouts has not been broken.

Suppose north then bids two diamonds. It is not a takeout to a new suit. It is an assist in a suit that was bid before. The chain of new suit takeouts has been broken. It is not forcing.

Comes now a north hand like the one you see here:

♠A Q 7 4
♥7 4 2
♦9 8 6 3

South opened with a bid of one heart. This north hand replied with one spade, forcing for one round. South then bid one no-trump.

North writes: "When south's one no-trump forced me to bid again, my two no-trump bid got us into trouble. There must be something wrong with a system like that."

The trouble was not with the system. North merely had his signals mixed. The south one no-trump was not a takeout to a new suit. So, it was not forcing. With nothing new, north should have passed.

When you mess up the facts, you get stung by your acts.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 25 —(AP)—It happened in a dark, quiet lounge of a Beverly Hills hotel where I was interviewing Gregory Peck. We were having a fine time, along with Mrs. Peck, who is the best possible press agent for his pictures.

Greg was telling about "The Yearling" and I particularly liked the story about the two hound dogs which were the only holdovers from the cast when the picture was started abortively a few years ago. The only scene which was saved from the early footage was of the dogs chasing a bear. So the dogs had been kept on salary until the film was started again this year. But by this time the hounds were old and fat and not inclined to chase bears or anything.

We also talked about John Hersey's "Hiroshima" and the atom bomb and then D. W. Griffith walked past. A lone, impressive man, well-dressed and dignified, he walked quietly by our table and out the door.

We talked longer, but the content is not easily recalled. More remembered is that fleeting moment when the old Hollywood and the new almost met. Here was Peck, riding the peak of success with two pictures forthcoming that cost over $10,000,000. There was Griffith, a pioneer in motion pictures, now passed up by Hollywood and virtually unknown to a new generation.

Veteran producer Harry Joe Brown is currently in the throes of creating a picture called "Twin Sombreros" with the new cinecolor he has some seasoned views on colors in films. Cheap color is yet to be found, he claimed, as cinecolor requires as much and sometimes more lighting than technicolor and costs only a little less is processing. He scoffs at the notion that all pictures will be in color some day.

"It's hard to create a mood in color—except a gay mood," he explained. "Dramatic pictures are most effective through good shading of black and white."

Furthermore, said the realistic producer, there may be no color pictures if costs keep rising and the box office happens to take a slump.

PERCY UTMAN HEADS HOCKEY TEAM AT STIRLING

May Operate Juvenile Team and Also One in Trent Valley League

Stirling (Special) — Prospects for hockey in Stirling during the coming winter were thoroughly discussed at an enthusiastic meeting of fans and players held in the Agricultural Office on Monday night. Percy Utman occupied the chair and F. R. Mallory acted as secretary for the meeting. The financial report of last year's activities was presented and adopted by the meeting.

Election of Officers

The election of officers resulted in Percy Utman being re-elected to the office of President for a third term. C. R. Bastedo was chosen vice president; Harold Baker, secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. Ewart Bailey, Walter Elliott, Earl Wallace and X. P. Mayhew as an executive committee. Xavier Mayhew, local jeweller, was again chosen as coach, with Douglas Bastedo as assistant and Earl Wallace was again named as manager and Bruce Bell as trainer. A property committee composed of C. A. Wells, John Munro, Thos. Shannon and J. V. Holt was also named.

No decision was reached as to what type of hockey the local club will sponsor. With a number of last year's championship junior "C" team over the age limit some doubt was expressed as to whether sufficient replacements were available. A suggestion that a juvenile team be sponsored was also made as well as the possibility of operating in the Trent Valley League. However, final decision in the matter has been left in the hands of the executive, who will investigate the various possibilities and report at a later meeting.

Personals

Miss Eileen Bradshaw has resigned her position in the office of H. C. Martin, local insurance broker, and finished her duties on Saturday last. The vacancy is being filled by Mrs. Eva Morrow of Bonarlaw.

Friends of Mrs. Wm. C. West will regret to learn she underwent an operation in Belleville Hospital on Monday. Latest report is that she is doing as well as can be expected.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Rowland of Peterboro are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin.

Bob Richardson, Jim Colquhoun, J. Davidson, A. Malcolm and Fred Eggleton all second year medical students of Toronto University, attended the Varsity-Queens rugby game at Kingston on Saturday and spent the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. N. E. Eggleton.

QUEENS STUDENTS AND EX-STUDENTS WARNED BY BOARD

If University of Toronto Buildings Damaged, Team Will be Withdrawn From League

Toronto, Oct. 25 — (CP) — If boisterous students or ex-students of Queen's University at Kingston smear paint on University of Toronto buildings or otherwise damage property when football teams of the two universities meet at Varsity Stadium tomorrow, the Queen's team will be withdrawn from the Intercollegiate Rugby Union.

There is a possibility, too, that it would mean the university's withdrawal from the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union which arranged sports contests between Canadian colleges.

Warning of these drastic steps aimed at heading off a repetition of expensive incidents of other football seasons came last night from Dr. R. C. Wallace, Queen's principal, and from Geoff F. Bruce, president of the Queen's Alma Mater Society.

Paid Advertisement

A paid advertisement inserted in Toronto newspapers by the Alma Mater Society urged Queen's supporters to refrain from damaging University of Toronto property and Dr. Wallace said in a telephone interview that the appeal had his full approval.

"We can't have this kind of thing happening," said Dr. Wallace. "And we have to take some action to ensure that it doesn't recur."

"Does this mean if students or supporters create further damage in Toronto, Queen's will withdraw from the Intercollegiate Rugby Union," Dr. Wallace was asked.

"Very definitely," he answered.

University of Toronto officials recalled that on the occasion of one intercollegiate game last year paint was smeared liberally on permanent university buildings here. Queen's students and supporters got the blame.

Pillars Painted

"The pillars of Convocation Hall were painted and Hart House was literally sprinkled with paint," said Warren Stevens, director of athletics for University of Toronto. "It cost $500 merely to try to remove the paint. This type of vandalism accomplishes no good purpose."

McGill University billed Queen's for $450 campus damage.

The Alma Mater Society's advertisement, addressed "To supporters of Queen's," read:

"As we return to a full intercollegiate athletic program, we ask you to share with us in the efforts now being made to prevent defacement of buildings and property in Toronto on the occasion of the Queen's-Varsity football game.

"Should such incidents recur, we shall have to withdraw from the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union. The students at Queen's hope you will appreciate the seriousness of the problem and share with them in this responsibility."

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was reeding his paper and ma was reeding hers, saying, Freedom of the press, hee hee don't make me laugh. We haven't got enough freedom of the press to choke a small fly, she said.

Isn't that a rather strong statement, my dear? pop said, and ma said, It's the truth, and if the truth herts, put it on the other foo. As long as htte papers dont tell the people what they've got a right to know, where's the freedom of the press? she said.

Everything is comparative, even freedom, pop said. The great flyer soaring in the skies is a slave to his engines, and the powerful bizzness man in his hours of ease must bow to the whims and fancies of his frail little wife. Yet in this lucky land, everyone is free to print his opinion of what the truth is, and everyone else is free to read it. But what's bothering you, my dear? What does your paper say, or what doesn't it say? he said.

I'll tell you in a nutshell, ma said. There's a notice here among the social notes, about our coming class reunion, and it distinctly fails to state that I am head of the committee on arrangements, although the paper was informed to that efefct in my own handwriting. Now I ask you point blank, is that freedom of the press or is it repression of the news? ma said, and pop asid, It's lack of space, my dear.

How much space did they save by leaving out one line with my name in it? ma said, and pop said, Just one line, my dear, but everything is comparative, or did I say that before?

I've got a good mind not to even cut the item out of the paper, ma said.

And she got her scizzers and cut it out.

MINK COAT

By Kathleen Norris

CHAPTER 37

"Well, thanks to that," Madge countered briskly, "I've known some months of happiness. I don't mean that I'll never be happy again. No, nor lonely either. I mean that Dennis Hardisty is the wisest, sanest, most lovable man I've ever known, and I've had this—this—I suppose you'd call it dream—with him for my husband.

"You know, Isabel," she went on, as Isabel continued to stare forlornly into space and did not speak, "this was my doing. It was one evening when we were over at the other house, he and I—with a talking by the fire. We'd known each other only weeks—perhaps three weeks. I was the one who said, "This is a hell of a world, Dennis, and we don't know what's ahead for either of us. But you need me—or some woman—and I need you. Why not take what the gods provide? We're not children, either one of us'."

"Just as I took New York and Avery—and a mink coat," Isabel said. "The feeling, 'Ah, we'll only be young once, and we must live'!"

"And millions of men and women are saying the same," Madge said. "So there we are, a hell of a world!"

"But I needn't have contributed to the sum total," Isabel observed.

"Too late now," Madge reminded her.

"Not as far as you're concerned—as Dennis is concerned. This is a completely unprecedented circumstance—this chance of my coming home, living in his house again," Isabel began earnestly. The other woman interrupted her.

"I saw you in each other's arms this morning."

"Yes, I know you did, I know you did. I was tired—I'd been in Catherine's room for hours yesterday—"

"Yes, and that has nothing to do with it!" Madge said, not unkindly. "You will make me one promise?"

"I don't—quite—think I will," Madge hedged, with her cautious half smile.

"I want you to give all this time."

"Time?"

"Yes. Let me go away. Think it all over," Isabel urged. "Promise me—promise me that you'll give this a little time—let it all cool down. We've all been beside ourselves with anxiety about Catherine, we're not reasonable. Please—"

Madge was still regarding the other woman with the absent, abstracted look that seemed to go right through her. Now she pulled down her sweater, shook out her pleated skirt.

"I've not cried for months" she said. "But I rather think I'm going to. It will probably do me good. Anyway, I'm off for a walk. There's something I have to think out."

"You'll be at the house for dinner?"

"Oh yes. You might keep an eye on Esme. But I'll not be too long. I'll walk up through the can'yon as far as Espinosa's, and bring back some fresh butter, if he has any."

"Mom and I have supper pretty well in hand. The rest of the aspic, and baked sweets, and waffles."

Madge had seated herself, bending far over, changing her house slippers for practical walking boots. She straightened up, squared her shoulders, and got to her feet.

"As I say, it doesn't help matters that I really like you," she said abruptly. And with a nod she was gone.

Isabel, on her way to the other house, saw the sturdy figure mounting into the shallow gorge that divided the ranges, appear again farther away, inching nearer and nearer to the old Portuguese ranch house on the second ridge.

She herself went back to Catherine's room, sat for a while in pleasant afternoon shadows that filtered in from the branches of the apple tree just outside the window. Catherine was full of energy and high spirits now; hearing of waffles, she demanded waffles for her supper.

Isabel did not try to think. She let the quiet hours move in a vague dream, concentrating only on the task of the moment; to sponge Catherine's face, to brush back the silky fine baby hair from her small forehead, to put a kiss on the downy temple of her tar baby. Nils, with his marvellous trip on the back of the Goosey-gander, was the hero of the moment; Isabel turned the big pages, leaned over to show Catherine the pictures, handed the book down to Pussy and Esme, who were sitting on the floor, so that they might see them, too. And all the while she was but dreamily conscious of what she was doing or saying.

The day was clouding over; dusk came with restive winds and flurried spatters of rain. It was good to be snugly indoors and hear the crackle of the sitting-room fire. Rain was dreary enough when it was viewed through plate-glass windows of "Laurel Lawn," but here on the hilltop, with her children close to her, and Dennis presently to come home weary and content, there was something infinitely restful about it.

She came blinking out of Catherine's room at six o'clock, to find Madge laying the supper table in the room that was dining room and sitting room combined. Isabel had not known until this moment that she had been uneasy about Madge, that something in Madge's actions and manners earlier in the day — something determined and desperate and hopeless—had frightened her. But she did know that it was a great relief to find Madge quietly busy, and to hear Madge's usual pleasant voice.

"Now, don't try to do anything, Isabel. There's nothing to do. We're practically finished."

Isabel subsided thankfully into a fireside chair.

"I get perfectly groggy reading to her," she admitted, combating a yawn.

"No Hing tonight," said Mrs. Hardisty, bringing in a plate of butter.

"I'd forgotten that. Oh, this is luxury," Isabel said lazily.

"Isabel, is it your recollection that waffle batter is very thin?" the older woman asked. She came to the hearth and touched a great log with her foot, pushing it back.

"Yes, I think it is. But I'd try a sample."

"The girls are helping me."

"Then you need supernatural help, too," Isabel said.

"I wish I could cook as you do," Madge said. 'I've never done it. I'm frightfully stupid. Who taught you?"

"My mother first, I suppose. Then my aunt Mansie." They were all more or less ill at ease; the conversation was brightly casual. But any talk was better than silence tonight. "I made a pie when I was eight," Isabel said.

"D'you mean that they could eat it?" Madge was in the opposite chair now, her hands clasped behind her head.

"I don't know whether it could have been eaten or not. I took it to school to show the teacher, and then my father took it to the store and showed it to everybody. By that time, as I recall it, it didn't look too inviting, and I think the chickens got it."

This, Isabel thought, when the other two women had gone back to the kitchen, is where I belong, and there is no possible way of my getting here. When I go away, tomorrow or the next day, how long will it be before I sit beside this fire again and hear the children laughing in the kitchen and the rain on the porch roof?

The outer door opened on a gust of wind, and Dennis came in, blown and weary.

"Well, this looks——" he began appreciatively. But whatever the sentence was to have been, he did not finish it, but closed the door and turned to hang his damp coat and cap in the hallway.

She knew what he had meant to say. She knew that to find her sitting there, with firelight glinting on the glass and silver of the waiting supper table, had made him think of what might have been. It was a relief to her that as he came in, rubbing his hands together, the two little girls came circling out of the kitchen, announcing waffles and telling him that it was raining.

"The Silva boy. He came over and offered to do it at fifty cents an hour, and we took him up."

"I had to go to town," Dennis said, taking his usual chair and waylaying Pussy for a kiss. "Well, this is nice," he added, as the children rushed away again. "It's very blustery outside."

"It's lovely to hear it on the roof. I got quite stupid reading to Catherine, and I've been all but asleep here."

"Small girl going on well?"

"Wonderfully. Full of life and spirits. She's coming out to have supper with us."

"No?"

"Yes. The doctor said she might be up for a while. We'll bundle her into a blanket."

"We're well out of that scare."

"When you see the frailness, the littleness of their bodies," Isabel said, "it makes you shudder to think of a great steel machine touching them. It makes you wonder that they ever can escape alive."

"I can't bear thinking about it," Dennis took out his pipe, looked at it, put it back in his pocket.

"You want to smoke."

"Mother doesn't like it before dinner, and I don't blame her."

There was a silence, filled with nervous tension for Isabel. Presently she said, almost against her own will:

"I'm telephoning Martin to come for me tomorrow, so this is our last night.

Dennis did not speak for a full minute, and the silence spread about them like rising water.

"Is that the plan?" he said then, noncommittally.

"Yes. Then I look about for a little place—in Berkeley, I think."

Another pause. Then the man asked:

"Why Berkeley?"

"It has no associations, for one thing," Isabel answered, somewhat hesitantly. "It has nice schools. It's sunny."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 25. (CP)— The mining groups and the Western oils were up narrowly at noon and the Industrials registered a small decline. Trading was sluggish and the aggregate turnover for the first three hours was down to 368,000 shares.

Strength was displayed in the Industrial section by the Liquors and Utilities. Steels were lower and other groups showed little net change.

Among the stronger Golds were: O'Brien, Dome, Wright-Hargreaves, Elder, Hasaga, Preston and Calder-Bousquet. Amalgamated Larder was down 8 cts., Diversified 6 and Louvicourt 7.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Oct. 25 (AP) — Stock generally wilted in today's market after an early rallying attempt failed to attract adherents.

Good dividends and earnings — there were scattered exceptions— inspired a certain amount of forenoon bidding which never followed through. Brokers attributed light liquidation to labor disputes, highlighted by the threat of a coal walkout, and predictions of widespread strikes after the election. Renewed weakness of commodities was seen as a factor.

Canadian issues generally were off fractionally at mid day. Hiram Walker and Distillers Seagram each lost 3-4 and Canadian Pacific 5-8. McIntyre gained 1-2.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

Members of Picton District Softball League Entertained at Banquet

Picton, Oct. 25—Nearly two hundred members of teams who took part in Picton and District Softball League during the past season were entertained at a banquet Wednesday night at the Presbyterian church here. Guest speakers were Dr. Bert Howard, principal of Albert College, and Pete Beach, physical director at the college, who served with the Y.M.C.A. war services in Italy and elsewhere. Both gave outstanding addresses.

President of the Athletic Association, Norman Mallett presided and referred to the great success of the league. He stated that a twelve-team league was likely next year. Picton set an example for the province when it floodlighted the softball diamond, he declared. It had enabled both fans and players to enjoy the game.

Secretary Treasurer Creighton Lockyer gave a financial report in which he gave receipts from collections at ball games as $1,-600. There was about $800 revenue from other sources. The lights and bleachers had been paid for and there will be $400 for further improvements next year. Teams divided half the silver collections with the Athletic Association taking the remainder.

Vice President Sid Lockyer referred to the value of the A. A. Association in sponsoring sports. He also led in community singing with F. Bronskill at the piano.

Each of the team captains, nine in number, gave brief remarks and all agreed the season had been a success in ways other than financial.

Philip Dodds, finance chairman, had charge of presentations. He extolled President Norman Mallett as official scorer and for his work for the league. He made the presentation of a Parker 51 pen. Creighton Lockyer, from whose idea the flood-lighting originated, and who was largely responsible for its success, came in for much praise, and he was presented with a windbreaker. Mrs. Lockyer, who had assisted as secretary, was presented with cosmetics.

Prizes were presented to players, winners being Jimmy Hedges, most valuable player; Jack McNeill, best batting average in playoffs; B. Vallean, J. McNeill, Douglas Minaker, tied for most home runs in playoffs; Homer Talcott, best average by pitcher during the season; Jack Hobson, most home runs during the season.

DON'T BORROW FROM personal FRIENDS

It was Shakespeare who said:
"Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
"For loan oft loses both itself and friend."

Shakespeare's advice is as sound today as it was when he wrote it, but, then, he was talking of personal friends.

Today, there is no need to lose friends because you need money, for lending money is everyday business at the Bank of Montreal, and, because it is done on a sound and businesslike basis, the Bank, instead of losing friends, makes more and more every day.

To anyone in a position to repay without hardship, the Bank of Montreal lends money for any constructive purpose and at a rate so low as to be negligible—

27¢ a month for a $100 loan

Screen Actors Guild Steps Into Labor Situation

Hollywood, Oct. 25 (AP)—The powerful screen Actors Guild (A.F.L.) stepped into the turbulent movie labor situation today and, a spokesman said, obtained promises from leaders of two rival American Federation of Labor groups to arbitrate their dispute by telephone with members of the 15-man A.F.L. executive council in Chicago.

The arbitration was scheduled later today, the spokesman said, adding that the union heads, Herbert Sorrell and Roy M. Brewer, had agreed to abide by the council's decision.

First break in the month-long jurisdictional clash came from a secret session called by the actors last night, which broke up in the early hours of this morning. It followed a suggestion from dancer Gene Kelly that Sorrell and Brewer accompany him to Chicago, where an actors' delegation pleaded during the recent national convention for an arbitrational set up which would end jurisdictional squabbles within the federation.

Thirty-eight of Hollywood's 43 unions were represented at the meeting.

Sorrell heads the 7,500-member conference of studio unions, which has been conducting sometimes—violent picketing of major studios and film processing plants. Brewer is local chief of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, whose 15,000 members have been crossing the picket lines and maintaining production, producers say, at normal.

Both groups—the C.S.U. composed of 12 unions, the I.A.T.S.E. of 13, many in parallel crafts — have been at odds periodically for 18 months over which has jurisdiction in building film sets. This the National A.F.L. Council would determine, under the arbitration plan.

Reduced Income Taxes Requested By Convention

By MEL SUFRIN

Truro, N. S., Oct. 25—(CP)—Resolutions calling for reduced income taxes and criticizing the government's stand on wage and price controls were placed on the minutes of the United Mine workers (C.C.L.) district 26 convention today.

The decisions were made at a busy session when topics ranged from social security to the sale of beer in Nova Scotia.

First of the motions to be approved yesterday by 88 delegates representing 13,000 Nova Scotia and New Brunswick miners, asked for a six-point public works program. It would give work to 16,000 and its chief projects would include bridging the Strait of Canso and double-tracking the Canadian National Railways line from Sydney, N. S., to Moncton, N. B.

After that delegates went on record as asking the Nova Scotia government to call for reconvention of the Dominion-Provincial conference. They requested the province's consent to a federal social security plan.

One resolution suggested the miners join with other unions throughout the Dominion to press for reduction of income taxes in the lower wage groups.

Another criticized the government's stand that wage increases must be followed by price boosts. It suggested that control of profits should come before wage control and that the government should "reinforce" price controls to protect living standards and offset economic depression.

Death for Seven Defendants Asked At Jap Crimes Trial

Yokohama, Oct. 25 (AP)— One of the longest trials of Japanese war crimes suspects closed today with the prosecutor demanding death for seven defendants charged with causing numerous other Allied deaths by "beatings, insufficient food, forcing sick men to work and gross disregard for prisoners' health." One of the defendants was Masao Nishizawa, who commanded Yokohama P. O. W. Camp No. 1. The trial began Aug. 12. A verdict is expected Monday.

JAP PRETENDERS BEATEN UP

Tokyo, Oct. 24 — (AP)—Nagoyans, tiring of pretenders to the throne, beat up the latest so severely that he quickly forsook his claim, the newspaper Jiji Shimpo reported today. Emperor Hirohito, visiting Nagoya the first time in 18 years, found pretender Hiromichi Kumasawa in his caravan Monday. Kumasawa disappeared after his chief aide was injured slightly by the crowd. Tuesday, another appeared and began shouting his claims. The Japanese "fell upon the pretender with heavy blows," the paper said.

LAST OF UNWANTED GERMANS ARE EXPELLED

Prague, Oct. 25 (AP)—Interior Minister Vaclav Nosek told parliament that only about 400,-000 to 600,000 "reliable" Germans remained in Czechoslovakia today, the government having completed the expulsion of more than 2,000,000 unwanted Germans. He said the last trains carrying the deportees left for the frontier last night, thus ending the program of transportation of the unwanted Germans into Germany. The ones who remain, he added, eventually would be given Czech citizenship.

Synthetic Rubber To Find Growing Post-war Market

Sarnia, Oct. 25 — (CP)—Synthetic rubber, produced in increasing quantities here during the later war years, will find a growing post-war market despite the fact manufacturers once more may obtain natural rubber, A. P. Machin, manager of the Polymer Corporation Limited, a federally-owned synthetic rubber-producing unit, said today.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Lions Club of Sarnia, Mr. Machin compared current development of various types of synthetic rubber to that of plastics in that the trend was away from "all-purpose materials" toward "tailor-made synthetics designed for special purposes."

When manufacturers were enabled to obtain the exact type of raw material suitable to their proposed product, he argued, it did not matter that the pric synthetic rubber was higher t that of the natural material much as the fact a superior pr duct had been obtained.

Some observers believed a ty of synthetic could be develop for any specific purpose whi would be superior to natu rubber employed for the sa purpose.

Orders on hand at Polym were of sufficient number to wa rant plans for increased produ tion and 118,000,000 pounds wou be turned out in the current months. Previous highest 1 month figure was 107,000,000.

TWENTY CANADIAN BEAVERS FLY TO SOUTH AMERICA

Destined for Buenos Aires and eventually 1,000 miles farther south, 20 live Canadian beavers, valued at $20,000, from the wilds of Saskatchewan, were flown by Colonial Airlines to New York on the first lap of their journey via Miami. They were accompanied by Thomas Lamb, who is showing the beavers to Captain Joe Columbe, LEFT, of New Rochelle, N.Y., pilot of the Colonial Airlines plane which flew the animals from Montreal. Mr. Lamb, the muskrat king, brought the beavers from his muskrat and beaver ranch at Moose Lake, Sask. He will confer with the Argentine government upon arrival with a view for setting up breeding in South America. Rations for the animals, 10 of which were six months old, and the remainder up to three years, consisted of 150 pounds of fresh poplar saplings. The beavers were transported on a regular Colonial airliner as air express, being caged in steel mesh crates of various dimensions. The Argentine consul general in Montreal, Jorge Peralta-Ramos, was at the airport to see them on their way.

Regulation of Downtown Traffic Big Headache for Canadian Cities

By TIM DICKSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

How to regulate automobile parking without shooing would-be customers from downtown shopping sections or adding to congestion of streets already thronged with more traffic than their designer ever envisioned has high priority on the problem lists of municipal councils across Canada.

Every city dweller has his own pet theory of the way to end the tangle but a Canadian Press survey shows two main methods favored by Canadian communities: Underground parking (still in the blueprint stage) for the big cities and parking meters for the smaller ones.

As post-war cars roll from the assembly lines, the parking puzzle takes on fresh complications but the basic difficulty stems from the nature of the streets of most of Canada's cities, especially the older ones.

Lusty youngsters like Winnipeg and Edmonton pride themselves on their wide thoroughfares and their worries are lighter than those of sister cities in the east. Downtown streets in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax date from another era which never dreamed of today's dilemma.

Problems in Older Cities

The 'nineties were never like this.

On the narrow streets of the older cities there simply isn't room these days for parked cars, moving cars, trucks, streetcars, bicycles and buses but they all insist on their right to be there. Merchants, especially, protest any suggestion of banning downtown parking, claiming that customers will not come to their stores unless they can park the family automobile within a stone's throw of the store entrance.

Parking lots are fine, but most of them have long ago been crowded far from shopping districts. Many are taken up by all-day parkers and the driver who wants to leave his car there for a few minutes or an hour is out of luck.

Toronto is contemplating a de-luxe underground parking garage on a new civic square west of the present city hall. The plan is modelled after San Francisco, a city of similar size, where Union Square's underground parking facilities will accommodate as many as 1,700 cars at a time. But the best guess is that Toronto's subterranean parking is still several years away and meantime the city has banned parking, except for commercial vehicles, in the downtown business section for a three-month trial period starting Jan. 1.

Regina forbids parking on its main street, 11th Avenue, but makes extra parking space available on side streets and near parks.

Montreal Underground Plan

In Montreal, the Royal Automobile Club of Canada has suggested an under-the-surface parking space on Dominion Square, a large public park located near main railway stations, hotels and large office buildings. Supporters of the plan say it could be used in other parks in the downtown area.

Vancouver and Hamilton are among Canada's few big cities which use parking meters. These devices enable a motorist to park 12 minutes for one cent and an hour for five cents—with a parking ticket if he exceeds the limit.

Parking meters also are operating, or about to operate in the Ontario cities of Peterborough, Brantford, North Bay, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Guelph, Woodstock, Kingston, Owen Sound, Cornwall, St. Thomas, Welland, London, Chatham, Oshawa and Kitchener. Proposals to instal meters were turned down by Belleville, Niagara Falls and Stratford while Timmins and Galt say they can cope with traffic problems without them for the present.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, October 26 (CP) — Synopsis: Cooler air pushed eastward through Ontario and the Eastern States on Friday with rain occurring along its leading edge. A storm is developing in the Midwestern States just east of the Rockies. It is expected to move eastward giving rain in Southern Ontario on Sunday.

Be Sure to Save Those Old Rubbers

Toronto, Oct. 26 — (CP) — Don't throw those old rubbers, galoshes and rubber workboots away — you'll need them soon and new ones are going to be scarce this winter, according to rubber manufacturers. Strikes in 10 out of 13 Ontario rubber plants, majority of them now settled or nearing settlement, have caused shortages which manufacturers say will be difficult to cope with.

Mrs. Inez Lungren Given Seven Years For Manslaughter

Winnipeg, Oct. 26 — (CP) — After a five-day trial which drew hundreds of curious spectators, Mrs. Inez Lungren, 52, was convicted of manslaughter by an Assize Court jury late yesterday and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Charged with the slaying of Joseph O'Connell at her suburban St. Vital home last June 24, Mrs. Lungren claimed the 28-year-old ex-sailor had attempted to rape and kill her and that she had shot him in self-defence.

Prior to passing sentence, Mr. Justice W. J. Donovan said he approved of the jury's verdict.

"It couldn't have been anything less. I have given serious consideration to this case during the trial. I wasn't surprised the jury returned such a verdict. The jury has given you the benefit of doubt on the main charge."

Mr. Justice Donovan said there would be a "very great miscarriage of justice" if the verdict had been one of acquittal.

Earlier, in his charge to the jury, the Judge told them they could reduce the charge of murder to manslaughter if they felt there had been sufficient provocation for the slaying. He noted Mrs. Lungren had testified she had given no warning to O'Connell before she shot him, and apart from her own word there was no evidence that the man had advanced toward her threateningly.

Welsh Bus Workers Returning to Work

Swansea, Wales, Oct. 26 (CP Cable)—Bus workers in seven South Wales and border counties who have been on strike for a week, began returning to work today and normal services were expected to be operating by tomorrow.

The bus workers council, an unofficial organization which called the strike, said a basis had been reached with employers for discussion of workers demands in connection with wages and working conditions.

About 3,000 miners were unable to reach their work because of the bus tieup and it was estimated that coal production dropped 16,000 tons a day during the stoppage. Six thousand workers were involved in the strike eventually following a minor dispute between 1,000 workers and the western Welsh omnibus company.

$40,000 JEWEL THEFT REPORTED TO SCOTLAND YARD

Owned by Marchioness Of Hartingdon, Other Jewels, Furs Taken From London Homes

London, Oct. 26 —(CP)— Daring jewel thieves have taken $40,000 in gems from the home of the Marchioness of Hartington, daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former United States ambassador to Britain, Scotland Yard announced today, and made away with a rich loot in two other homes.

Gems and furs valued at $20,000 were stolen from an Orme Square home, and diamonds and heirlooms worth $3,200 were taken from the St. Jame's Palace home of Lady Piers Legh.

Scotland Yard, still hunting for the wily cat burglar who stole $80,000 in gems from the Duchess of Windsor 10 days ago, noted a similarity in the crafty preparation and almost ghostlike entry in the new robberies.

The victim of the St. Jame's Palace robbery is Lady Piers Legh, the former Sarah Polk of Nashville, Tenn., who married Sir Piers Legh, master of the King's household, in 1920. Sir Piers was equerry to the Duke of Windsor when he was Prince of Wales.

A housekeeper at Lady Hartington's residence in Westminster's Smith Square — a five-minute walk from Scotland Yard —said the value of the gems stolen there might be much higher than the initial estimate of $40,000. Police waited for the former Kathleen Kennedy to return from a holiday in the country to obtain detailed descriptions of the missing items.

The thieves displayed the same exact foreknowledge which marked the Windsor robbery and other recent burglaries at homes of famed Londoners. They left an open front door at Lady Hartington's residence. The household staff had last night off.

The personal maid of the 26-year-old Marchioness told police of two mysterious telephone calls yesterday, one by "a man who spoke with an American accent". This man asked for Lady Hartington's sister, saying he was a friend of hers, the maid said.

On the second call, she related, "I lifted up the receiver and said 'hello' a number of times. There was no answer."

A few minutes later the maid went out. Two hours later, when the housekeeper returned, Lady Hartington's boudoir had been rifled and her jewel case was missing. The rest of the house was untouched.

Benning Denies Statements Of Crown Witnesses

Ottawa, Oct. 26 (CP)—A flat denial by the accused of espionage allegations was in the Ontario court records today in the trial of James Scotland Benning, 33-year-old, Montreal-born former official of the munitions department.

On the witness stand in his own defence for more than an hour, he said he had never given information obtained in his work to any unauthorized person. His testimony will continue Monday in a trial based on the charge that he communicated confidential information to Russia.

Benning, a former seagoing deckhand, an ex-factory hand and a wartime reject of both the navy and army, gave an answer to one of the most damaging pieces of evidence against him.

That was the discovery in his notebook of both the Ottawa home and office phone numbers of Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive member of parliament who has appealed a six-year sentence for espionage activities that allegedly made him one of the keys in a Russian network in Canada.

Under the official Secrets Act of 1939, the statute under which he is charged, such a fact, is unexplained, establishes a presumption of guilt. Benning, before the Royal Commission on espionage, said Rose was only a casual acquaintance and could give no satisfactory reason why he should

Lost Hunter Grows So Thin Ring Drops From Finger

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 26 (CP) — Syrian-born steel worker Charles Shaheen was safe at his Sydney home today after wandering through marshy Cape Breton woodland for eight days.

Shaheen staggered from the woods in the Framboise district yesterday to climax an intensive search that had almost been given up. When he emerged from the dense underbrush he was 17 miles from the spot where he had entered on a hunting trip last Friday.

Bearded and tattered, he stumbled to the home of elderly Mr. and Mrs. Michael Curtiss of Louis Bay West who gave him food and notified Sydney authorities.

In broken English he later told of his experiences in the baffling Framboise country:

" eat partridge and rabbit, but no can cook them because my matches got wet when I fell in water. So I just skin them down and eat raw, in slices."

He told of coming across an old bear and two cubs, and said:

"The little ones had beautiful nice fur. Would have made a nice blanket for me to sleep on at night. But I wasn't taking any chances of tangling with old bear."

"Look, this finger got so thin my ring drop off and I lose it," he said, telling of the bitter fight he had to gather food.

When asked if he would go hunting again next season he replied: "Hell no. No more woods for me. The only time I will want to see woods from now on is from automobile."

ATTORNEY-GEN. OF UNITED STATES FIRES ASSISTANT

Claims O. John Rogge Disclosed Confidential Information in Public Address

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP)—Attorney-General Tom Clark accused O. John Rogge today of disclosing confidential information in a public address and dismissed him from the post of assistant to the Attorney-General.

In a crisp letter to Rogge, Mr. Clark declared "you wilfully violated" regulations by quoting from a department report in a speech detailing what Rogge said were Nazi schemes to defeat President Roosevelt in 1936, 1940 and 1944.

Mr. Clark said the information came from Rogge's own report on the wartime sedition cases against 30 Americans, which have been in abeyance since a mistrial in 1944.

Rogge, in a speech Tuesday at Swathmore College, said he had learned from captured Nazi documents and interviews with German officials that, among other things, before the 1940 election "the Nazis had a fantastic scheme to get John L. Lewis, the Labor leader, to come out against the election of President Roosevelt.

"This scheme involved Hermann Goering, a Nazi agent by the name of Joachim Hertslet, and William R. Davis, a promoter in the oil business."

(Davis, whose German and Mexican oil connections once were investigated by Congress, died in 1941).

Letter Published

His dismissal letter to Rogge, Mr. Clark said: "It has come to my attention that you have made certain statements in a public address that could only come from your report filed with me" on the sedition cases. In the report, Mr. Clark noted, Rogge recommended the government nol pros (discontinue prosecuting) the cases.

"In the day before your speech at Swarthmore," Mr. Clark's letter continued, "and during our discussion in reference to newspaper stories appearing that morning, which claimed quotations of your report, you stated to me you had no intention of using the text or substance of your report in such speech and that it would be highly unethical to do so.

5 NEW MOSLEM LEAGUE MINISTERS JOIN COALITION

Compromise Announced By Viceroy Provides Moslem League With One Major Post

By WALTER J. MASON

New Delhi, Oct. 26 (AP)— Five new Moslem League ministers in India's interim government took oaths of office today to complete a 14-man coalition cabinet and pave the way for an end to Hindu-Moslem strife.

In the dignified quiet of Viceroy Lord Wavell's lodge, League nominees to finance, commerce, communications, health and legislative portfolios took the same three oaths as did ministers from the Hindu-led all-India Congress Party, at their installation Sept. 2—including one of allegiance to the King.

Outside the high iron gates, hundreds of Moslem Leaguers cheered "long live the Moslem League" and "long live Pakistan" —the independent Moslem state demanded by the League and opposed by Congress.

Brig. P. N. Thapar, commanding military operations in troubled East Bengal, told a reporter in Chandpur, a Calcutta dispatch said, that "communal troubles in the Noakhali and Tippers districts are well in hand. No incidents have been reported since Oct. 22."

This indicated a slackening of gang killing, looting and burning which has sent thousands of frightened Hindus fleeing from these districts.

In Calcutta, however, 11 persons were reported killed and 54 injured yesterday, and from Bombay came reports of five killed and 15 wounded in bitter Hindu-Moslem clashes.

The Moslem League had demanded four top cabinet portfolios, giving rise to the possibility that Congress Minister might quit rather than yield.

However, under a compromise announced by the Viceroy last night, the League got one major post—finance— and two high Congress leaders, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and Sardar Vallabhai Patel, kept their portfolios.

The cabinet ministers number six from the Congress Party, five from the Moslem League, one Indian Christian, one Parsee and on Sikh.

The new Moslem ministers are League Secretary Liaquat Ali Khan, finance; I. I. Chunerigar, commerce; Abdur Rab Nishtar, communications; Ghanzafar Ali Khan, health and Jogendar Nath Mandal, legislative.

FINDS STOLEN CAR

Butte, Mont., Oct. 26 —(AP)— The owner of a private garage checked with police in an attempt to discover the owner of an automobile who had disappeared in 1943 after paying six months parking fees in advance. The owner, located quickly enough, was William Holdorf, State Highway patrolman at Butte, from whom the machine had been stolen 3½ years earlier.

POLICE UNHAPPY

Los Angeles, Oct. 26 —(AP)— Two members of the police burglary squad were unhappy today. They reported, ruefully, that burglars had broken into their lockers in the burglary squad room, appropriating a gun, ammunition and leather jacket.

Pedestrian, Hunted Man of Paris, As City Goes on Giddy Traffic Jag

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Paris, Oct. 26 — (CP)—Paris, among other things, is on a giddy traffic jag this fall.

In no other big city in Europe is there such vehicle congestion, such fantistically wild driving, or so many speed demons demonstrating their skill, or lack of it.

For a long time after the liberation, practically all Paris rode bicycles. But cars have gradually come back and now with increased gasoline supplies and the return of people from summer holidays, Parisians are driving more cars probably than at any time since 1940. And they drive them with unprecedented abandon.

There are sleek new American and Canadian models, new front-wheel French jobs with cannon-ball pickup and thousands of old jalopies which gave traffic streams an unnerving and unpredictable change of pace.

Pity the poor pedestrian — the hunted man of Paris.

$300,000 Project Up to 1,000 Acres Will be Acquired

Hon. G. H. Dunbar Makes Announcement During Visit

The Ontario Government will acquire land in the immediate vicinity of Belleville in the near future to be utilized as the site for a provincial industrial school and farm, the Hon. George H. Dunbar, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, announced here today.

The Hon. Mr. Dunbar, who is also minister of prisons and reform, told convening members of District No. 5 Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario at a civic dinner, that from 600 to 1,000 acres will be necessary for the project which will cost $300,000.

"It will be," he said, "one of the finest industrial farms in Ontario, or any other province for that matter, and will be used to employ short-term prisoners from the area between Oshawa and Kingston. By installing the farm here, heavy transportation costs formerly incurred through sending prisoners to other institutions will be eliminated."

Large Number Livestock

While the farm will not be as large as those at Burwash and Guelph, it will have from 50 to 60 head of cattle, 500 hogs and sheep.

The land, he went on, must be part tillable and rough close to a highway and railway and near water.

"We want to demonstrate what can be done with free labor to bush and quarry land. If necessary we will bring in men from other institutions who are well versed in this sort of work, to get it started.

The province will not encourage nice warm jails with good food and bedding for short-term prisoners. "We want to get some revenue for the province of Ontario," the minister declared.

He quoted the Guelph institution as being the finest in the British Empire. "It was built solely by prison labor, and the same will be done here. We are now starting classes in bricklaying and masonry.

Guelph Farm Big Producer

The Guelph farm, he said, cost the province $995,000 to operate last year, but revenue amounting to $555,000 was derived from it. There, he said they raise and slaughter cattle, as well as furnishing produce for other institutions.

"If the institution proposed for near Belleville cost $300,000 and we can produce $150,000 in revenue from it by teaching these young men a useful occupation, I feel that we are accomplishing something," the minister commented.

He intends to have segregation in all these types of institutions. There will be no more idleness in jails, with "remands" mingling with hardened prisoners.

His department, he went on had since January 1st instituted a school for boys under 14 at Galt. The venture has been a complete success with the teachers and instructors being the best available. The 105 inmates were taken to a camp for a two-weeks vacation and not one act of misdemeanor, or attempts to escape were committed.

Home Still Best Place

For all this, the minister said, there is no place like the home for the boys and girls of today who are the men and women of tomorrow. If their home conditions are not satisfactory all effort should be made to get foster homes for them. There is nothing in the world like the love of a father and mother."

Mayor Frank Follwell, who presided at the luncheon in the Hotel Quinte, suggested that Hastings County be the site of the proposed school and farm. "We have the right type of land right here near Belleville," he said, urging the minister to consider the suggestion. He spoke of the fine co-operation that has been shown the city officials by members of the minister's department and of the minister himself.

Turning to the minister the mayor said: "Referring to your statement that municipal schools will be formed in Ontario this year may I ask that the first school be located in Belleville?"

The minister nodded his head and smiled: "It will," he said.

Accepts Gift of Cheese

The mayor then presented the minister, deputy minister A. J. Gray and Supervisor J. P. Coomb with Belleville Cheddar cheeses. Acknowledging the gift, Mr. Dunbar stated that he had heard of the fame of Belleville cheese and had completed arrangements with a local company for a number of the cheese which he intends to send to friends in the British Isles and Europe.

Brief addresses were given by J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A. and Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., both of whom urged the minister to locate the industrial farm in Hastings county. Warden James Nickle, also spoke briefly advocating Madoc township as an ideal spot for the location of the farm.

County Clerk Erle Denyes moved a vote of thanks to the mayor and council for the fine luncheon and entertainment. The vote was seconded by Col. Roscoe Vanderwater. Mr. Tom Dredge, manager of the Bank of Montreal branch here, Mr. P. Sloan, Peterborough, and Chairman Harold D. Bateman of the Association of Assessors, also, added their appreciation of the fine reception afforded the visiting delegates and elected representatives.

Executive Officers Of Police Assoc. Meet in City

Executive members of the Ontario Police Association from Windsor to Cornwall and as far north as Sudbury gathered in Belleville on Friday to discuss new police regulations and resolutions passed by the various branch organizations during the summer. Approximately 35 executive members attended the meeting, which was presided over by Chief Harold Nash of Guelph, president of the Association.

Splendid reports from the northern section of the province where it is expected Association branches will be organized in the near future, were received at the meeting. Spade work is also being done with the view of organizing a branch of the Association at Kingston. Assistant Police Chief of that city, J. Truaisch, attended the Belleville meeting.

The business meeting was concluded with a dinner in the main dining room of the Quinte Hotel, where Mayor Frank S. Follwell officially welcomed the Police Association executive members to the city.

Mayor Follwell referred with pride to the efficiency of the Belleville Police Force and pointed out that one of the first requisites of an efficient police force was honesty. He urged police of the province lend a helping hand to the returned war veteran to get him re-established back into civilian life.

Rev. J. Grant Sparling of Christ Church, attended the meeting and gave the invocation, while Chief of Police Walter Probert extended a welcome on behalf of the Belleville Police Force.

New Heating Plant At Holloway St. Church Dedicated

The Sunday School room of Holloway Street Church, tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and ferns, was filled to capacity on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, when members of the congregation and friends, gathered for a night of fellowship in which to dedicate the new heating plant, to burn the notes signifying that it has been entirely paid for, and to join in thanksgiving to God.

Played Games

The first part of the evening was spent in playing games of crokinole and Chinese checkers, following which contests between several organizations created much merriment. A strenuous tug-of-war between the Young People's Union, represented by Gordon Moynes, and the Energetic Club, upheld by Mr. T. Poste, resulted in the Young People's Union being declared victorious, by referee George Greatrix. The W. M. S. and W. A. engaged in a friendly contest of pinning clothes on a line. Mrs. McKee of the W.M.S. was 'pinned' winner although Mrs. Weese of the W.A. gave her keen competition. A quiz, conducted by Mr. A. Lennox was entered into enthusiastically with the winning side having only a two point margin.

The singing of some of the greatest hymns of the church with Mrs. Hubbs as accompanist created an atmosphere of worship for the very beautiful dedication ceremony. This took the form of a candlelighting service with five candles symbolizing the qualities of Faith, Hope, Love, Zeal, and Loyalty and one tall white central taper representing Christ.

Candles Presented

Rev. C. H. Perkins, in explaining the significance of each quality, all of which are needed in the life and work of the church, presented the white candle of Faith to Mr. A. L. Burke, secretary of the Official Board, the green candle of Hope to Mrs. E. Shortt, president of the W.A., the red candle of Love to Mr. L. Buck, superintendent of the Sunday School, the yellow candle of Zeal to Mrs. D. Fraser of the Energetic Club and the blue candle of Loyalty to Miss Maude Burke, president of the Young People's Union.

Mr. Perkins then drew attention to the tall central taper, symbolizing the source of all light and the one who must have central place in all church projects—even Christ. From this light the candles of Faith, Hope, Love Zeal and Loyalty were lit and their flames applied to the notes. As the notes blazed and burned to ashes, signifying that the heating plant was paid for completely, the congregation sang with feeling, "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Rev. Perkins led in the dedicatory prayer, following which one verse of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung and the benediction pronounced.

Social Hour Enjoyed

A social hour was then enjoyed and tasty refreshments were served by the C.G.I.T. girls and the Tuxis boys. A very pleasant part of this hour was the presentation of a lovely white vase to Mr. and Mrs. Livesey in recognition of their contribution to the life of the church, in decorating it so often and so beautifully with their plants and cut flowers. Mr. A. L. Burke voiced the congregation's appreciation and paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Livesey's spirit of loving service, expressed in this way which brings enjoyment to the whole church.

Mr. G. T. Woodley moved a very warm vote of thanks to the Heating Fund Committee composed of Mr. A. C. Campbell, Mr. A. Lennox and Mr. D. T. Fraser, through whose splendid organizing the clearing of the seven thousand dollar debt has been accomplished in the comparatively short period of fifteen months. This committee, too, assisted by Mr. W. Slavin planned the very enjoyable evening of fellowship—an evening which will be recalled in future days through the medium of a moving picture film taken by Mr. Alec Gordon.

Council Committee Recommends Purchase of Ice Plant for Arena

Although the recommendation still has to be ratified in open council, members of the city council at their regular committee meeting Thursday evening voted to award to the Canadian Ice Machine Company of Toronto the contract for the construction and installation of an ice plant in the Hume Arena.

According to promises of the above company operations for laying of the pipe will commence around the 1st of December, while refrigeration equipment will be installed in time to make ice during late winter and early spring. Contract price is stated to be slightly in excess of $25,000. Mayor Follwell and the city clerk were given authority to sign the contract on behalf of the city.

To Erect Service Station

Under special property lots N, M, S and I on Station Street were recommended sold to Clayton Thompson of Mountain View, at $1 per lot. Mr. Thompson is a veteran of the last war and agrees to construct a garage and service station costing approximately $20,000 within one year.

The building covenant on lot 7 South Lewis Street was recommended released as the residence being constructed by H. Gourley is more than fifty per cent completed. Two lots, one on the N. E. corner of Sidney and Lewis Street and lot 19 on Chatham Street, were re-possessed as the purchasers had failed to live up to contracts.

New Lights to be Placed

New lights were authorized for George Street, while three new lights will be placed at the corner of Bridge and Yeoman Street. The Industrial Commission will advertise in the 1947 edition of the Fraser-Canadian Trade Directory. Also the city will finance the purchase of War Savings Bonds by city employees if the employees so desire.

Under a recommendation passed in committee Mayor Frank S. Follwell was authorized to declare Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, as a public holiday. This, it was felt, would give residents the opportunity of gathering at the Cenotaph to give thanks for the sacrifice made by the honored dead.

Advance Sales Of Christmas Seals

Christmas Seals are being made available in advance of the opening of the campaign, Nov. 25, to meet the overseas Christmas maid deadline as set by the Post Office department at Ottawa.

In anticipation of request, similar to those received in other years, for supplies of Christmas Seals for use on overseas letters and packages the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association announces that those desiring Seals for that purpose may obtain them at the campaign headquarters, 51 Highland Avenue.

"We are glad to see our Canadian seals going abroad," Mayor Frank Folwell said, "particularly on letters and packages bearing the Belleville post-mark. Christmas Seals have become a Canadian tradition and they help to demonstrate how we in this country are fighting to maintain our health standards, particularly, where tuberculosis is concerned."

Large Offering Fowl on Market

Offering of fowl on the local produce market Saturday was the greatest in some weeks as a wide choice of chicken was seen in the market building.

Fowl generally sold at from 38 to 40 cents with a few capons bringing up to 45 cents the pound. Ducks were available at slightly in excess of 45 cents the pound with prices ranging around $2.50 each.

Eggs held firm at 50 cents for firsts with extras bringing 55 cents and mediums 45 cents the dozen.

On the outside market there was a large offering of apples with No. 1 McIntosh and Delicious quoted at $3 the hamper. No. 1 Talman Sweets were $2.75 with cooking varieties ranging from $2 to $2.50 the hamper. Apple cider sold at 60 cents the gallon.

Carrots and beets fetched 40 cents the basket with potatoes being freely offered at from $1.40 per bag up to $1.75 per bag with delivery charges extra. Cauliflower sold up to 35 cents with cabbages, peppers and squashes at regular prices

Whitfish sold at 35 cents the pound; mudcats at 30 cents and pike at 20 cents the pound.

The pig market was crowded with prices generally at $8 each although a few quoted up to ten dollars. Several loads of stovewood blocks were quoted at prices slightly in excess of $15 per cord.

Retail Merchants To Hold Meeting

The retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce is holding a special meeting at the chamber offices on Monday evening at eight o'clock, where a number of important matters pertaining to business and the community in general will form the themes of discussion.

During the recent questionnaires sent out by division officials to city merchants requesting an opinion on Saturday six-o'clock, and which, incidentally was turned down by the recorded vote, a number of worthwhile suggestions were forwarded by merchants to the division.

Many of these suggestions have been found to be worth while considering and discussing and this will form the main part of the business of the Monday night meeting.

Chamber of Commerce officials request every member of the division to be present as it is felt that something really worth while not only to business men but to the city as a whole will develop from the discussions.

Obituary

JOHN H. ROBINSON

John H. Robinson, well known citizen and retired C.N.R. employee, died suddenly immediately after his evening meal on Friday evening at his home, 76 Alexander Street.

The late Mr. Robinson, who was in his 73rd. year, was born at Listowell, Ontario, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robinson, his father being for many years an alderman of this city. For sixty years John Robinson resided in Belleville and for 45 years he was in the employ of the Canadian National Railways. He served as a locomotive engineer for many years and upon his retirement from that branch of the service he filled the position of air brake instructor for a considerable time. Of late years he lived retired. In the regard of the officials of the Belleville Division of the C.N.R. and of his fellow employees, Mr. Robinson held a high place and his sudden death has brought sincere regret to many friends here and elsewhere.

Surviving him are his wife; 3 sisters, Mrs. Charles Wismer, Toronto; Miss Norah Robinson and Miss Annie Robinson, both of Belleville; one brother, Albert E. Robinson, Toronto.

Resting at the Pinkston Funeral Home, Church Street, at Victoria Avenue; the funeral announcement is made in this edition.

MORRIS STANLEY ROSE
(Stirling)

Stirling, Oct. 26 (Special) — Morris Stanley Rose, died at his home, near this village, on Friday evening. He was in failing health for three years.

Born at Halloway the late Mr. Rose was in his 48th. year, and was a son of the late Charles Rose and his wife the late Victoria Bushel. For the past seventeen years he resided in this vicinity and was cheesemaker at Central Cheese Factory. Prior to coming here he made cheese at Halloway. He held a high reputation as a maker of cheese and took much interest in the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association of which he was a past president. To many friends his death has brought much regret.

Mr. Rose was a member of Mount Pleasant United Church and fraternally he was a member of Stirling Lodge, No. 69 A.F. & A.M.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Violet Kerr, two daughters, Miss Marion Rose, Stirling, and Miss Ruth, who attends school in Stirling; two sons, Garry at home, and John, who attends school in Stirling.

Dean of Women at Queen's Describes Switzerland Trip To Members of Study Club

Dr. A. V. Douglas Says Chief Problem in Europe is Caring for Displaced Persons

With Mr. G. E. Currie presiding, the Belleville Lecture and Study Club, meeting in the library of the B.C.I. and V.S., had the privilege, Friday evening of hearing an address by one of Canada's most distinguished women in the person of Dr. A. V. Douglas.

Dr. Douglas is a graduate of McGill University thrice over, having obtained the degrees of B. A., M. Sc.; and PhD. At present she holds the honored position of "Dean of Women" at Queen's University, Kingston, which has been hers since Sept. 1929.

Last evening she told a story of her experiences and impressions during a trip to Zurich, Switzerland, last spring, where, as Canada's representative she attended a convention of the "Council of the World Federation of University Women." Dr. Douglas said she was thrilled beyond words when she received the cable from headquarters in Canada saying she had been chosen to represent Canadian Women.

Made in Freighter

The ocean voyage was made in a small freighter, which, during the war had been a mine layer, but which afforded comfortable cabins to the twelve passengers. During the trip Dr. Douglas had an opportunity of hearing first hand stories about naval experiences from the Captain, the chief engineer, the Radio Officer and others of the crew, who served during the recent world conflict. After thirteen days on the ocean the "Manchester City" passed Liverpool, went up the Mersey River to the great Manchester Ship Canal, and on April 17th., docked in the wonderful harbor on the very outskirts of that great city. While in London, just prior to Easter Sunday, Dr. Douglas was privileged to hear a concert in Royal Albert Hall, with sixteen hundred voices representing every choral society in Great Britain and North Ireland, with Sir Adam Boult conducting.

Health of London Good

The health of the people of London is remarkably good, but they are becoming desperately tired of the monotony of their rations, and appreciate even the smallest of food gifts from Canada. Constantly, wherever she went, gratitude was expressed for what Canada did for them. "They do not realize that the battle was ours as well as theirs," said the speaker.

Arriving in Calais, France, Dr. Douglas saw clearly the positions of gun emplacements, and terrific devastation was evident everywhere. But the comfortable French train service to Switzerland had been re-established and she was able to secure sleep and diner accommodations, "Every French City," she said, "gave evidence of the terrible bombing and blasting along the German route of retreat. Canadians have heard less about Switzerland, perhaps, than of any other European country; but the Swiss are a marvellous people,—courtesy and kindness itself. I crossed their borders April 22nd., when everything that could blossom was in full bloom; horse chestnuts, fruit trees, lilacs; and wisteria on all the stations and many of the houses. Switzerland in April is like England in June.

But, under all the beauty was hidden gun emplacements and tank traps."

Feared Invasion

Dr. Douglas asked why these had been built in a neutral country. "Did you fear invasion?" The answer was in the affirmative In spite of their philosophy of neutrality, no country was better prepared to resist German aggression. It is a Swiss law that all young and middle-aged men enter military training camps for two months every year. In 1943 Germany demanded free transit through Swiss tunnels for war supplies and armies. This was refused and the Swiss Government used propaganda to let it be known that if the North border was crossed, Switzerland would fight. Later they compromised by allowing the Germans to send coal through the tunnels to the factories of Italy.

Speaking of Swiss neutrality, Dr. Douglas said she had frequently been asked what Canadians thought about it;and she had replied that we considered Swiss neutrality to have been a blessing since Switzerland offered the one point of contact for the agencies of the Red Cross, the friends and the Y.M.C.A. sending supplies to our boys in prison camps, without which many of them would not have survived.

Met Polish Doctor

In Zurich, Dr. Douglas met the Polish Doctor of Public Health, Dr. Adamovitch of Warsaw, who is also a woman. She was in Warsaw during the German occupation and told of horrors and cruelties unmentionable, but said she had great hope for Poland. "How much freedom have you?" asked Dr. Douglas. Replying, Dr. Adamovitch said that in spite of the fact that the Polish people cannot see their country objectively, the contrast is in favor the present regime, although the influential men in the Government are Russian appointees. With indomitable faith, she said: "We can still make a great Poland."

Education was nearly uprooted under German domination; Warsaw University was bombed and others were looted; the professors and students scattered, only forty percent of whom survived. Consequently there is great need in Poland for technically trained and educated people. Ten universities have been re-opened.

There is real deprivation in Poland, with not enough UNRRA food to meet the requirements, workers get but two meals a day; others die from lack of nourishment and from the inroads of T.B.

Made Life Difficult

In Holland the Germans made life for the laboratory staff of the universities as difficult as possible. It is on the outskirts of Amsterdam that the International Laboratory stands. Here molds and fungi of many kinds are grown, some of which have already come into common use in medical circles. Dr. Douglas told of conversation with a professor in Holland who said they had eaten tulip bulbs, preparing them in a variety of ways. Ounce for ounce, tulip bulbs contain more real food value than potatoes, but they also contain some chemical substance which is very hard on the lining of the stomach, so the quantities taken had to be carefully calculated.

Must Not Grow Weary

In European countries, formerly under German domination, there is great apprehension lest the United States, Great Britain and Canada become discouraged with patrolling Germany. "We must not," said Dr. Douglas, "grow weary of our surveillance; allowing Germany to ever re-arm for conquest. French and Belgians, who have twice experienced German occupation, constantly reiterate that it must not happen again. However, Germans must not remain weakened and embittered because the improved economic conditions of other closely allied countries depends upon Germany's economic condition. At the same time there must not be preparation for another war. Devastation in Germany beggars all description, but almost none of the people feel any personal guilt, and there is a growing hatred against the belligerent nations, and in some a lust for revenge.

The huge problem in Europe is that of displaced persons, many of Jewish heritage, who refuse to return to the German cities or sections which were their former homes. There are many factions among them, each distrusting the rest. The Americans are going to be asked to receive a quota of these people. Will Canada open her gates to the quota designated as he share?

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT OF JURY

The jury empanelled to inquire in the death of John Wilbert Campbell, age 6, of Springbrook, who was struck by a transport and died from injuries in Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday, October 16th, found his death was accidental and absolved the driver of the transport, Melville Holmes of Peterboro from all blame. The Coroner was Dr. J. J. Robertson and the jury:—Claude D. Tice, Foreman, Freeland Fitzgerald, Clare Reid, William Nash and John Frost. Gordon Robertson interrogated the witnesses called.

Several witnesses gave evidence and all stated that the young lad hesitated and became confused when he arrived at the centre of the highway running through the village. It was apparent he did not see the transport until it was close upon him. The witnesses were all of the opinion that the driver of the transport did everything possible to avoid striking the child.

IN MEMORIAM

ROSE — In loving memory of William Maitland Rose, who died of injuries on October 27th., 1945, also his father, William Ross, who entered into rest on January 19th., 1943.

Our lips cannot tell how we miss them
Our hearts cannot tell what to say—
God alone knows how we miss them
In a home that is lonesome today.
Some day we'll understand.

Labor Delegation To Meet Council On Housing Issue

Representatives of the Belleville Trades and Labor Council will again approach the Belleville city council Monday evening with the view to urging a remedy for the current shortage of housing accommodation in the city.

At a meeting of the above organization held during the week the labor council passed a resolution urging the city council to re-enter into negotiations with Wartime Housing, asking for 100 low rental houses to be constructed here, and also with Housing Enterprises Ltd., for 50 units. The resolution asked that the project be started immediately.

The resolution claimed that the government had failed to curtail the export of building materials to other countries and had also failed to force persons storing lumber and materials to place the same on the market.

ference delegation in August, when Paris was comparatively quiet in its summer lull, said they had never seen anything like the current congestion and lack of adherence to the ordinary rules of the road.

Pte. Ernie Trepanier of Ottawa, who drove Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he was here and has returned to London to drive for Norman Robertson, the new Canadian High Commissioner there, said:

"Driving in Canada, in London or in Canadian Army convoys during the war, didn't have a patch on what you had to look out for here this fall. No car driver seemed to pay any attention to anybody else and going up places like the Champs Elysees it was everyone for himself, with no holds barred."

For a pedestrian in downtown Paris the worst times are at noon and from four to seven p.m. when the streets are jammed with traffic. The gendarmes, waving their white batons and blasting on their shrill whistles, only complicate things. The avenues are so broad you have to be practically a 10-second man to make a safe crossing.

Belleville Cheese In Great Demand In United Kingdom

The widespread fame of Belleville Cheddar Cheese will be further enhanced by distribution to several centres in European countries and the British Isles, according to the Hon. George H. Dunbar, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs who addressed the Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario convention here on Friday.

The minister with his deputy minister, Mr. A. J. P. Gray and supervisor, Mr. J. P. Coomb, were presented with cheddar cheese by Mayor Frank Follwell and members of his council at a civic luncheon at the Hotel Quinte.

The minister in expressing his appreciation, pointed out that he had mentioned the famous quality of Belleville cheese during his visit to Britain and the continent this summer, and many of his friends expressed a desire to sample the product.

During his visit here, the minister told the luncheon guests, he had completed arrangements to secure a supply of the cheese for shipment overseas.

V.O.N. Committee Visits Quarters At Kiwanis Centre

Members of the Victorian Order of Nurses Committee had the pleasure of making a visit of inspection to the nurses' new quarters at the Kiwanis Centre when the regular monthly board meeting was held there on Monday. The members commended the careful planning of the rooms to give adequate space for the many V.O.N. activities which will be held there. Sincere appreciation was expressed to the Kiwanis Club for making V.O.N. headquarters possible in their building, a further demonstration of the practical interest the Club has always taken in the work of the organization.

The President, Mr. N. E. Edwards, was in the chair for the business of the meeting and Mrs. Francis, the secretary, was instructed to forward letters of appreciation to the Kiwanis Club; to the Public Utilities for their generous donation of window space for display in connection with the annual appeal; and to the City Council for their kindness in allowing the V.O.N. office space for so many years and to the staff of the City Hall for their many courtesies and kindnesses during the nurses' tenure there.

New Nurse Introduced

Miss Grace Connor was introduced to the meeting as a new member of the nursing staff. Miss Connor who is a native of Belleville, is a graduate of Grace Hospital and comes to the position with fine training and experience.

In the business session it was decided to order a city directory for the assistance of the nurses.

The monthly report of Miss V. Adair, nurse in charge, described September as a banner month in increased activities. Miss Adair referred to the great pleasure it gave the nurses to welcome the board members in their new quarters. The nurses are well pleased with them as it is so nice to have so much more room and everything under one roof. A debt of gratitude is owing to the Kiwanis Club for their kindness in granting the Victorian Order this additional space. Appreciation of Miss Elizabeth Smellie, Chief Superintendent, to the Kiwanis Club was expressed in a letter read by Miss Adair.

23 New Babies Admitted

September proved to be a banner month, particularly in regard to new babies and conferences attended. Twenty-three new babies were admitted for care and twenty-five were continued from the previous month, making a total of 48 babies and 48 mothers cared for during September. The total attendance at the Child Health Conferences was 148 which is the highest to date. On one afternoon, that of September 20th, there were fifty babies to weigh and fifty mothers to advise.

In addition thirty other new cases, medical, surgical and prenatal, were admitted making a total of 67 new cases and 395 visits made to all patients.

The first dental and toxoid clinics were held September 26th with 45 children having their teeth inspected by Dr. J. Marshall, and sixty-two receiving toxoid. This week also the nurses assisted Dr. Cronk and Mrs. Watt, the school nurse, with inoculations in the city schools.

MOTHER ACQUITTED

Saint John, N.B., Oct. 25—(CP)—Beatrice Margaret Gaudet, Sydney, N.S., charged with murdering her three-weeks-old daughter, was acquitted last night by a jury in Saint John supreme court. The baby's body was found in Saint John harbor early last month. According to medical testimony, death was caused by drowning.

Provincial Pres. Garage Operators Visits in City

First fall dinner meeting of the current season was held Thursday evening by members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Garage Operators Association at the Bar-B-Q on Bridge street with Arthur Bateman acting as chairman for the evening's program.

Special guests at the meeting was Sam Shelton of Ingersoll, provincial president of the organization who spoke on the value of the Association outlining the current program and the work already accomplished.

Also present at the meeting were provincial directors, Mr. Wilson and Percy Edwards, president of the Peterboro branch. Guests were also present from Campbellford.

Arthur Bateman introduced the speaker with thanks being expressed by Lorne Vaughn. Don Brown reported on the success of the association picnic held during the summer, while George Forestell of Marmora was the lucky winner of the $5 cash door prize.

Plant Products Branch Moved To Peterborough

Belleville office of the Plant Products Division of the Federal Department of Agriculture will be transferred to Peterboro in the very near future, it was learned here this week.

Already the department has acquired space in the Royal Bank building at Peterboro and the office is expected to be moved within the next two or three weeks. Requirements for additional space at Belleville by the district dairy graders office, was given as a reason for the change. Formerly the office had been in the same building as the dairy grader office.

Howard R. Parnell, formerly in charge of the Plants Products Branch office in this city has been moved to Ottawa to the head office of the department of agriculture, while he has been replaced by S. A. Bowman, formerly of the Brockville office Mr. Bowman has been with the department for seven years.

Possibility of re-arrangement of the local district to make Peterboro a more central point from which the officer in charge of plant products might work, has been suggested.

5,000 Motor Cars In Traffic Jam

Toronto, Oct. 26 (CP)—A construction company, who blocked off the cross-city Lake Shore boulevard to make repairs without notifying traffice officials, created the worst traffic jam in the city's history when more than 5,000 vehicles and their irate drivers were held up for an hour.

Police removed the barricades set up at the start of the morning rush hour at seven a.m. Traffic Inspector T. J. Lytle described the jam as a "terrible mess" and said the road will be blocked off again Monday and special alternate routes set up to handle the flow of traffic.

Roslin

Youth Sunday Service

Roslin (Special)—Youth Sunday was observed in St. Paul's Anglican Church on Sunday with service at 2.30 p.m. The choir was composed of children, several of whom assisted in the music of the hymns.

Miss Marjorie Elliott of Tweed was present and gave a very interesting description of her trip last summer through the diocese of Qu'Appelle, in Western Canada while she was assisting with the Van work in connection with "The Sunday School by Post."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Van Luven of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Chisholm.

The following ladies from Roslin attended the Women's Institute Convention in Belleville on Thursday: Mrs. W. H. Chisholm, Mrs. Wm. White, Mrs. W. Weir, Mrs. H. Sayers, Mrs. M. Fargey, Mrs. D. Leslie, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. M. Hamilton and Mrs. H. Sills.

A large number were present at the dance in the Roslin Hall on Thursday evening sponsored by the young people. The Rhythm Ranch Riders of Belleville furnished the music.

Mr. Arthur Bates attended the International Plowing Match at Port Albert one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stirk of Granvenhurst spent several days last week with Mr. Sam Stirk.

ONE OF QUADS DIES

New York, Oct. 26 (AP)—Quadruplets — three boys and a girl—were born to diminutive Mrs. Lillian Haupman, 29, but one of the boys died 90 minutes after birth.

The mother and other three children were reported "doing well."

Dr. George J. Berson, who delivered the babies, said Mrs. Haupman, whom he described as five feet, four inches tall, had expected triplets, but the fourth baby was a surprise. The children were born five weeks prematurely, he added.

WHY REO TRUCKS ARE TOUGH
....Big, deep frame Members-
COLD RIVETED!

● Reo frames are one of the big reasons why Reo's are tough. They not only look strong—they are strong. Stock is ¼" and 5/16" instead of usual 3/16"—rails are full depth, full-length—supported by 7 and 8 cross members in all models instead of only 5. Best of all, construction is cold-riveted—30 ton pressures for the ⅜" rivets; 45 tons for the ½" rivets. There's no cooling off contraction or crystallization. In a sample cross-section, you can't tell where the rivet stops and the riveted parts begin.

Let us tell you about the many Reo features—Reo Gold Crown engines, "The Gold Standard of Value"—Reo More-Load design which provides more load space on shorter wheelbase and shortens turning radius—Reo dual primary brakes.

HOW'S YOUR PRESENT EQUIPMENT? We service and repair all makes of trucks. If your equipment needs repair or service—however small or large the job—come in and get acquainted. Let's discuss your problems.

Riding in Safety

A booklet, issued by the Minister of Highways, entitled "You and Your Bike," has been prepared for distribution in the schools. With the large numbers of boys and girls riding bicycles the attention of the riders is drawn to the grave danger involved in any carelessness. In 1945 deaths resulting from collisions between motor vehicles and bicycles increased by 56 per cent from the total for the previous year as compared with an increase of 22 per cent in all motor vehicle fatalities. There are in the booklet illustrations of safe and unsafe practises in bicycling, the importance of keeping the bicycle properly equipped and maintained and the ever-present demand for care and alertness so as to avoid accidents. Some practises are noted as very dangerous, among them riding on the wrong side of the street, zigzagging in and out of traffic, lack of attention to traffic lights and stop signs and riding at night without proper lights on bicycles.

The need for the exercise of care by everyone using highways, the motorcar driver, the bicycle rider and the pedestrian too cannot be overemphasized.

U. N. Assembly Meeting

The New World has had the pleasure of welcoming the delegates and alternates to the United Nations Assembly whose sessions will be of the greatest moment to the future of the world. On this North American Continent the world can see the fine example of nations living in peace and harmony with ideals looking to the peace and harmony of the whole world.

To this gathering have come many nations' representatives many from the Continents of Europe and Asia which have been ravaged by war. The setting of the meetings of the Assembly is one of harmony in which it is hoped that the nations' delegates will be able to establish the machinery of a world society as will assure unbroken peace.

The spirit of world-mindedness has developed greatly since the First World War. Science and invention have had a great part in this and nations have seen the need of agreement for their welfare. The New York Times noting that "when the League of Nations was launched no human voice could be heard around the world" says that "now if one wants to take the trouble one can be . . . West of the international date line it is another day; there today is history. But the voice can be heard at the same time and at all these times, today and tomorrow by people who have just got up or are just going to bed, by people pausing in the midst of their day's occupations. And some of these people, taking to the air, can now fly on scheduled plane at about one third of the speed of the sun at the Equator and soon at nearly half the speed."

The writer draws these conclusions, "we cannot say that the Old League failed because these things that are possible now were not possible when the League took its first hopeful steps. We cannot say that the United Nations will succeed because a voice can travel at the speed of light across the earth and a man can travel at a rate which approaches the speed of sound. What we can say is that these achievements have made it necessary for an international organization to succeed. In limitless space there can be a system of anarchy tempered by improvised justice as there were two or three generations ago on our own western plains. But anarchy does not work well when we can hear each other's voices across the seas and be jostled by someone thousands of miles away. The earth becomes one metropolis — one mother city with its related suburbs. World government with existing national governments does not yet seem possible. World co-operation doing with what we have, agreeing to differ peaceably where we cannot agree, has become imperative."

Suggests New Language

A French linguist, Jean-Paul Viney, with several French and foreign scholars, has just completed according to a story from Paris, at the request of the Office of Cultural Relations, a report in which he outlines a plan for a new international language. It will be published by the International Auxiliary Language Association, that composed the language which is called "Interlingua." It is suggested that the language will facilitate the necessary co-operation between nations in any world organization. First the members compiled a dictionary comrising at present 20,000 basic roots, or with their derivatives, about 100,000 words. Then they set up a questionnaire which every nation will be asked to answer in the form of a referendum, M. Viney who is the inspector of living languages for Paris and who recently returned from the United States thinks Interlingua "E" form of the five different forms to be submitted will have the most votes. It is based on the romance languages and is said to be extremely simple, having but three conjugations, an elementary syntax and no declensions so that it can be quickly assimilated by Latins and by all countries whose languages have many Latin roots. M. Viney thinks it is so easy to learn that it could be used officially in all international discussions as early as next year.

One thing cannot fail to strike the mind, and that is that a good number of people do speak with fair success in other tongues than their own. In recent months speakers of various races have been heard using English with real fluency and ease of expression, which can be clearly understood by English-speaking hearers and doubtless by others of non-English-speaking peoples at international meetings. This success in using a flexible language like English which is so widely spoken may be looked upon as remarkable. English with its gift of assimilation of words from other languages and its simplicity of forms, is, it is felt by many, the one tongue most likely to become fairly universal.

The answer to the questionnaire to be sent out regarding the proposed language based on the Romance tongues will be watched with interest.

Visibility of Pedestrians

At the traditional Chinese rate of exchange, four photographs in a pamphlet on highway safety issued by the Eno Foundation ought to be worth considerably more than forty thousand words. The photographs were taken at night on a macadamized highway to show the relative visibility of pedestrians dressed in dark clothes, gray clothes and white clothes. They were taken at distances of 200, 300, 400 and 500 feet. At 200 feet all three pedestrians are visible; at 300 feet the one in dark clothing is barely visible; at 400 feet the pedestrian in dark clothing is invisible and the one in gray clothing nearly so; at 500 feet only the pedestrian in white is visible.

The pedestrian can make no more dangerous error than to suppose that the ease with which he can see the headlights of an approaching car is in effect mutual. Under clear weather conditions the driver of a car whose vision is not affected by the lights of cars travelling in the opposite direction can see a pedestrian in dark clothing in time to stop only if he is driving no faster than thirty-five miles an hour. Bad weather or the glaring lights of another car can reduce this distance to virtually zero. Since it is unlikely that the bulk of male pedestrians will ever wear anything but dark or darkish clothing, the spot of white necessary for visibility can be provided most simply by use of a handkerchief.

The wedding ring was not neglected by the Romans. These rings were equipped with a seal—symbolizing the wife's right to seal up the property of the household. Whether this wifely prerogative was ever used to coerce an erring husband is not stated, but the possibilities are quite apparent, says Goodwill Journal.

MAN'S MEASURE

How far is the goal away?
Too far for the many.
They will prefer to stay,
Taking life's penny.

Some will not even start,
Fearing resistance.
Only the stout of heart
Dare the long distance.

Only the few keep on,
Failures defying,
'Til the last hope is gone,
Constantly trying.

This is man's measure, then;
Learn it and teach it:
No goal too far for men
Eager to reach it.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

What is the origin of the poet laureate?

The poet laureate of England developed from the minstrels and versifiers in the retinues of medieval kings.

"Laureate" is from Latin "laurea," laurel tree, and refers to the ancient custom of crowning literary men, musicians and heroes with wreaths of laurel, the plant dedicated to Apollo, the god of poetry. This practice, though discontinued in the latter days of the Roman Empire, was revived in medieval Italy, and both Tasso and Petrarch were so honored. "Laureate" denotes one crowned with laurel and came to signify "eminence" from its long association with literary and military glory.

Gulielmus Peregrinus acted as versifier in the train of Richard the Lion-Hearted, and in the time of Henry III (1207-1272) Martin Henry de Avrinces was paid sixpence a day as "the king's versifier," being the earliest officially paid court poet of whom we have authentic record.

Edward III patronized Geoffrey Chaucer by granting him a pension and an allotment of a daily pitcher of wine for life, and Richard II did something of the same sort for John Gower.

Poet Laureate was once a regular degree in English universities and in the preface to "The Boke of Eneydos," printed in 1490, William Caxton, the first English printer, referred to "Master John Skelton, lately created poet laureate in the unyversitie of Oxford."

A "versifier" named John Kay described himself as the "humble poet laureate" of Edward IV. Queen Elizabeth favored Edmund Spenser with a pension, and in 1617 James I virtually recognized Ben Johnson as poet laureate, although the office was not created then and the poet was given no formal title. He was, however, granted a pension of 100 marks and an allotment of his favorite wine. In 1630 Charles II raised Johnson's yearly stipend to 100 pounds sterling and a "tierce (36 gallons) of Canary wine" from the royal cellar. It was presumed that a poet laureate could function better if well supplied with wine.

Shakespeare, the greatest of all English poets, apparently was never considered for the post, but Sir William Davenant, regarded by some as Shakespeare's natural son, succeeded Johnson as virtual poet laureate. Of course the poet laureateship was more or less suspended during the Puritan Commonwealth under Cromwell. John Milton, the greatest Puritan poet, was never poet laureate.

The office became official in 1670, two years after Davenant's death, when Charles 11 conferred the title on John Dryden and granted him a pension of 300 pounds and a butt of Canary wine yearly. Dryden was deposed from the office by William and Mary in 1689 because he had become a Catholic and a partisan of James II. At that time the City of London also had a poet laureate. Elkanah Settle, personal and poetic enemy of Dryden, was appointed "city poet" by the Lord Mayor in 1691.

BUT THERE IS AN ALTERNATIVE

One patient made the very common mistake of going far from home to a "clinic" for examination and advice, because the credulous chap imagined he would find better doctors working on the assembly line in such a large plant than he could find practicing under their own name right in his home community.

When the head man in the clinic scanned all the reports the hired help turned in, he reached the conclusion that the patient's trouble was caused by focal infection —from a septic focus in the tonsils. It was too bad, but there was nothing anybody could do about it, because the patient's heart was not in condition to stand an operation, tonsillectomy. So the patient should go back home and take things easy and—three hundred fifty dollars.

The patient returned home, read some squibs in the local paper by a certain quack, asked the quack for further information, finally sought the treatment the quack suggested—diathermy or electro-coagulation of the infected tonsils, at the hands of the physician the quack recommended, and a few months later found himself practically as well as ever.

Another patient, this one a mere youth, had had a stormy experience with acute infectious arthritis or rheumatic fever. His tonsils were badly infected. But his doctor judged it was out of the question to consider tonsillectomy because the boy's heart was affected. The patient went from bad to worse and finally succumbed.

Remember, I'm not an authority on this or anything. But it does seem to me that even if the young man's heart was affected —as it is in so many cases of rheumatic fever — the doctor might have given the patient the benefit of disinfection, destruction, sterilization, eradication or pasteurization of the septic focus or infected portion or area of tensil without in the slightest endangering or taxing the heart. Diathermy or electro-coagulation treatment is the alternative for the major operation in such cases.

All I know is that tonsil diathermy, electro-coagulation, in the hands of a physician skilled in the difficult technique, is bloodless, safe, not so painful at any time as the usual after-effects of tonsillectomy, and at least as effective in remedying focal infection as tonsillectomy is.

I warn readers that no every doctor who proclaims to the public that he employs this or any other method I recommend, is reliable. In fact I warn the public that honest, reliable doctors never make such claims in the attempt to lure credulous customers. If a doctor is fairly good his pleased patients tell their friends how good he is. If the doctor is no good he has to resort to other means of getting new business.

Incidentally I warn the public, too, against the arbitrary assertions of doctors who know nothing about this method and are wholly without the technical skill tonsil diathermy requires, that the method is "no good" or that it has "been tried and found ineffective" or that it is "dangerous."

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Tetanus Toxoid

Noted physician advises in .... magazine giving tetanus toxoid along with diphtheria toxoid to 6 months old babies. How long would the effects of tetanus toxoid last? (Mrs. C. A.)

Answer—Fact that he wrote for the magazine would make him noted, no matter how obscure he may be. Whatever immunity against tetanus (lockjaw) one or two injections of tetanus toxoid may produce probably lasts less than a year. The diphtheria immunity produced by diphtheria toxoid or toxin-antitoxin injections probably lasts for several years—long enough to protect the child through the first five or six years of childhood, when a child is most susceptible to diphtheria, as a rule.

Headache

Have you any printed matter on the subject of headache? It seems to me that the popular notion, perhaps engendered by radio, that headache merely calls for a dose of this or that pain-killer or sense-deadener is dangerous, especially to those who have headache frequently. (M. B. W.)

Answer—Right you are. Send stamped envelope bearing your address, for pamphlet "Why Have Headache"
